8 Also he broght all the priestes out of the cities of Iudáh, and defiled the hie places where the priests had burnt incense, even from Géba to Beer-sheba, and destroyed the hie places of the gates, that were in y^e entring in of the gate of Ioshúa the gouernour of the citie which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuertheles the priests of the hie places came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalém, saue onely thei did eat of the vnleauened bread among their brethren.

10 He defiled also ^k Tópheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnóm, that no man shulde make his sonne or his daughter passe through y^e fyre to Mólech.

11 He put downe also the ^l horses that the Kings of Iudáh had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nethan-mélech the eunuche, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charrets of the sunne with fyre.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Aház, which the Kings of Iudáh had made, and the altars which Manasséh had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lord, did the Kíng breake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the brooke Kedrón.

13 Moreouer the King defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalém and on the right hand of the ^m mount of corruption (which ^{*}Salomón the King of Israél had buyt for Ashtórieth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemósh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchóm the abomination of the children of Ammón)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the groues and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore the altar that was at Beth-él, & the hie place made by Ieroboám the sonne of Nebát, which made Israél to sinne, bothe this altar and also the hie place brake he downe, & burnt the hie place, & stampit it to powder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned him selfe, he spied the graues, that were in the mount, and sent and toke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the worde of the Lord that the ^o man of God proclaimed which cryed the same wordes.

17 Thē he said, What ríde is that which I see? And the mé of the citie said vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudáh, and tolde these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-él.

18 Thē said he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the ^p Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also toke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the Kings of Israél had made to anger the Lord, and did to them according to all the factes that he had done in Beth-él.

20 And he sacrificed all the priests of the hie places, that were there vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ierusalém.

21 ¶ Then the King commanded all the people, saying, ^{}Kepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord your God, ^{}as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

22 And there was no Passeouer holden ^q like that from the daies of the Iudges that iudged Israél, nor in all the dayes of the Kings of Israél, and of the Kings of Iudáh.

23 And in the eighteenth yere of King Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated to the Lord in Ierusalém.

24 Iosiah also toke away them that had familiar spirits, & the sothesayers, and the images, and the idoles, & all the abominations that were espied in the land of Iudáh & in Ierusalém, to performe the wordes of the ^{*}Lawe, which were written in the booke that Hilkiáh the Priest founde in the house of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him was there no King before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soule, & with all his might according to all the Lawe of Mofés, nether after him arose there anie like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the ^r fearcenes of his great wrath wherewith he was angrie agáinst Iudáh, because of all the prouocations wherewith Manasséh had prouoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord said, I wil put Iudáh also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israél, and wil cast of this citie Ierusalém, which I haue chosen, and the house whereof I said, ^{*}My Name shalbe there.

5 And for the innocent blood that he shed, (for he filled Ierusalem with innocent blood) therefore the Lord wolde not pardone it.

6 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, & all that he did, are they not writen in the booke of the Chronicles of y Kings of Iudah?

7 So Iehoiakim slept with his fathers, and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his steade.
8 ¶ And the King of Egypt came no more out of his land: for the King of Babél had taken from the riuer of Egypt, vnto the riuer Perath, all that pertained to the King of Egypt.

9 ¶ Iehoiachin was eightene yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned in Ierusalem thre moneths. His mothers name also was Nechostaz, the daughter of Elnathan of Ierusalem.

10 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father had done.

11 ¶ In that time came the seruants of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél vp against Ierusalem: so the citie was besieged.

12 And Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél came against the citie, & his seruants did besiege it.

13 Then Iehoiachin the King of Iudah came out against the King of Babél, he, and his mother, and his seruants, and his princes, and his eunuches: and the King of Babél toke him in the eight yere of his reigne.

14 ¶ And he carryed out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house, and brake all the vessels of golde, which Salomon King of Israel had made in the Temple of the Lord, as the Lord had said.

15 And he carryed away all Ierusalem, and all the princes, and all the strong men of warre, euen ten thousand into captiuitie, & all the workemen, & conning men: so none remained sauving the poore people of the land.

16 ¶ And he carryed away Iehoiachin into Babél, and the Kings mother, & the Kings wiues, and his eunuches, and the mightie of the land, euen he away into captiuitie from Ierusalem to Babél.

17 And all the men of warre, euen seven thousand, and carpenters, & lockesmithes a thousand: all that were strong and apt for warre, did the King of Babél bring to Babél captiues.

18 ¶ And the King of Babél made Mattaniah his vncle King in his steade, & changed his name to Zedekiah.

19 Zedekiah was one & twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleue yeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

20 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

And in the ninth yere of his reigne, the tenth moneth & tenth day of the moneth Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél came, he, & all his hoste against Ierusalém, and pitched against it, and they buylt fortres against it rounde about it.

So the citie was besieged vnto the eleueth yere of King Zedekiah.

And the ninth day of the moneth the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.

Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled by night, by the waye of the d gate, which is betwene two walles that was by the Kings garden: now the Caldees were by the citie rounde about: and the King went by the way of the wildernes.

But the armie of the Caldees pursued after the King, and toke him in the deserts of Ierichó, and all his hoste was scared from him.

Then they toke the King, and caryed him vp to the King of Babél to Ribláh, where they gaue iudgement vpon him.

And they slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bounde him in chaines, & caryed him to Babél.

And in the fift moneth, & seuenth day of the moneth, which was the nintenth yere of King Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, came Nebuzar-adán chief steward and seruant of the King of Babél, to Ierusalém,

And burnt the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalém, & all the great houses burnt he with fyre.

And all the armie of the Caldees that were with the chief stewarde, brake downe the walles of Ierusalém rounde about.

And the rest of the people that were left in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen to the King of Babél, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adán chief stewarde carye away captiue.

But the chief stewarde left of the poore of the land to drie the vines, and to till the land.

Also the pillars of brasce that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Caldees breake, and caryed the brasce of them to Babél.

The pottes also and the besomes, and the instruments of musike, and the incense asses, & all the vessels of brasce that they ministred in, toke they away.

And the asse pannes, and the basens, and all that was of golde, & that was of siluer, toke the chief stewarde away,

With the two pillars, one Sea & the bases, which Salomón had made for the house of the Lord: the brasce of all these vessels was without weight.

The height of the one pillar was eightene cubites, and the chapter thereon was brasce, and the height of the chapter was with networke thre cubites, and pomegranates vpon the chapter rounde about, all of brasce: and likewise was the seconde pillar with the networke.

And the chief stewarde toke Seraiah the chief Priest, and Zephaniáh the seconde Priest, and the thre keepers of the dore.

And out of the citie he toke an eunuche that had the ouersight of the me of warre, and fise men of them that were in the Kings presence, which were founde in the citie, and Sophér captaine of the hoste, who mustred the people of the land, and threscore men of the people of the land, that were founde in the citie.

And Nebuzar-adán the chief stewarde toke them, and brought them to the King of Babél to Ribláh.

And the King of Babél smote them, and slewe them at Ribláh in the land of Hamáth. So Iudáh was caryed away captiue out of his owne land.

Howbeit there remained people in the land of Iudáh, whome Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél left, & made Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán ruler ouer them.

Thé when all the captaines of the hoste & their men heard, that the King of Babél had made Gedaliáh gouernour, they came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, to wit, Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and Iohanán the sonne of Káreah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhúmeth & Netophathite, & Iazaniáh & sonne of Maachathi, they & their me.

And Gedaliáh sware to thé, & to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwel in the land, and serue the King of Babél, and ye shal be wel.

But in the seuenth moneth Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh the sonne of Elishamá of the Kings sede, came, and ten men with him, & smote Gedaliáh, & he dyed, and so did he the Iewes, and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpáh.

Then all the people bothe small & great and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to Egypt: for they were afayed of the Caldees.

THE FIRST BOKE OF the "Chronicles, or Paralipoménon.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend bothe these boke in one, which the Grecians because of the length deuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babilon. But these are not those boke of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the boke of Kings of Iudáh and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of bothe the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abbridgement of the same, and were gathered by Esra, as the Iewes write, for their returne fro Babylon. This first boke containeth a brief rehearſal of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Iſhák, Iſaák, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudáh and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the fi sh. And therefore it setteth forth the more amply his actes, bothe cocerning ciuill gouernement, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioiceth, and giueth thanks to the Lord.

And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fyre.

Againe the Philistims came and spred them selues in the valley.

And whē Dauid asked againe coufel at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not go vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou maiest come vpon them ouer against the mulberry trees.

And when thou hearest the noise of one going in the toppes of the mulberry trees, then go out to battel: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.

So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeón euen to Gézzer.

And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands and the Lord broght the feare of him vpon all nacions.

2 Then Dauid said, *None ought to cary the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minstre vnto him for euer.

11 ¶ And Dauid called Zadók & Abiathár the Priests, and of the Leuites, Vriél, Asaiáh and Ioél, Shemaiah, and Eliél, and Amminadáb:

e Prepare your selues, & be pure, & abstaine from all things where-by ye might be polluted, & so not able to come to the Tabernacle Cha 13, 10. f According as he hath appointed in the Lawe 12 And he said vnto the, Ye are the chief fathers of the Leuites: sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israël vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

g These instruments & other ceremonies, & the obserued, were instructions of their infancie, which continued to the coming of Christ.

13 For *because ye were not there at first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after due order.

Exod. 25, 15.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified them selues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israël.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shulders with the bannes, as Moses had commanded, *according to the worde of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chief of the Leuites, that they shulde appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with instruments of musike, with viols and harpes, & cymbales, that they might make a sounde, and lift vp their voyce with ioye.

17 So the Leuites appointed Hemán the sonne of Ioél, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethán the sonne of Kufhaiáh,

18 And with them their brethren in the seconde degre, Zechariah, Ben, and Iasziel, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, Eliáb, and Benaiáh, and Maasiah, & Mattithiah, and Elipheléh, and Mikneáh, and Obéd Edóm, and Ieriel the porters.

h Which were inferior in degree

19 So Hemán, Asaph & Ethán were singers to make a sounde with cymbales of brasle, And Zechariah, and Aziél, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, and Eliáb, and Maasiah, and Benaiáh with viols on Alamóth, 21 And Mattithiah, & Elipheléh, and Mikneáh, and Obéd Edóm, and Ieriel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon Sheminith lenazzeah.

i This was an instrument of musike, or a certaine tune, whereto they accustomed to sing Psalms. h Which was a eight tune, ouer the which he was most excellent had charge l To wit, to appoint psalms, & songs to that sung

22 But Chenaniah the chief of the Leuites had the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah & Elkanáh were porters for the Arke.

24 And Seccaniah and Iehoshaphát and Nathaniel and Amasiah, and Zachariah, and Benaiáh, and Eliezer the Priest, did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obéd Edóm and Ieriah were porters for the Arke.

m With Berechiah & Elkanah, vcrf 23 2 Sam 6, 12.

25 *So Dauid and the Elders of Israël and the captaynes of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the house of Obéd Edóm with ioye.

26 And because that God helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, they offered seven bullockes and seven rams.

n That is, gave them strength to execute their office. o Besides the bullocke and the fat beest, which Dauid offered at euery sixt paise, 2. Sam 6, 13

28 Thus all Israël brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting and sounde of trumpets & with cornet, & with cymbales, making a sounde with viols & with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the couenant of the Lord came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saúl looked out at a window, & saw King Dauid dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

q It was so called because it put the Israelites in remembrance of the Lord couenant made with them 2 Sam 6, 16.

³ And the same ^d night euen the wordes of God came to Nathan, saying,

⁴ Go, and tel Dauid my seruāt, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not buylde me an house to dwel in:

⁵ For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day ^y I brought out the children of Israël vnto this day, but I haue bene from ^e tent

⁶ Where soeuer I haue ^f walked with all Israël, spake I one worde to anie of the iudges of Israël (whome I commanded to sede my people) saying, Why haue ye not buylt me an house of cedie trees?

⁷ Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruāt Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I toke thee si ^o the shepecoate ^g & from following the shepe, that thou shuldest be a prince ouer my people Israël.

⁸ And I haue bene wth thee whethersoever made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

⁹ (Also I wil appoint a place for my peo-dwel in their place, and moue nomore:

nether shal the ⁱ wicked people vex the ¹⁰ And since the time that I commanded vnto thee, that the Lord wil ⁱ buylde thee an house.

¹¹ And when thy dayes shalbe fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then wil I raise vp thy sede after thee, which shal be of thy sonnes, and wil stablish his kingdome.

¹² He shal buylde me an house, and I wil stablish his throne for ^k euer.

¹³ I wil be his father and he shalbe my son-him, as I toke it from him that was befoie ^l thee.

¹⁴ But I wil establish him in mine house, & in my kingdome for euer, and his throne shalbe stablished for euer,

¹⁵ According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to King Dauid.

¹⁶ ¶ And Dauid the King ^m went in and sate before the Lord and said, Who am I, o Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me ⁿ hether to.

¹⁷ Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, o God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruāt for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of ^o hye degre, o Lord God.

¹⁸ What can Dauid ^p do more of thee for the honour of thy seruāt: for thou knowest thy seruāt.

¹⁹ O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine ^p heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

²⁰ Lord, there ^q is none like thee, nether is there anie god besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

²¹ Moreouer what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israël, whose God went to redeme the ^r to be his people, & to make thy selfe a Name, and to do great and terrible things by casting out naciōs from before thy people, whome thou hast deliue-red out of Egypt.

²² For thou hast ordeined thy people Israël to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

²³ Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruāt & concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and do as thou hast said,

²⁴ And let thy Name be stable & magnified for euer, that it may be said, The Lord of hostes, God of Israël, is the God of Israël, & let the house of Dauid thy seruant be stablished befoie thee.

²⁵ For thou, o my God, hast ^r reueled vnto the eare of thy seruāt, that thou wilt buylde him an house: therefore thy seruant hathe ^s bene bolde to pray before thee.

²⁶ Therefore now Lord (for thou art ^t God, and hast spoken this goodnes vnto thy seruāt)

²⁷ Now therefore, it hathe pleased thee to bless the house of thy seruāt, that it may be before thee for euer: for thou, o Lord, hast blessed it, & it shalbe blessed for euer.

And Dauid said, I wil shewe kindnes vnto Hanún the sonne of Nahásh, because his^a father shewed kindnes vnto me. And Dauid sent m. singeis to comforte him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the childre of Ammón to Hanún to comforte him.

a Because Nahásh receiued Dauid & his cōpanie, when Saul persecuted him, he wolde now shewe pleasure to his sonne for the same

3 And the princes of the children of Ammón said to Hanún, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to^b seache, to flke and to spie out the land?

10 When Ioáb sawe that the fronte of the battel was against him before & behinde, then he chose out of all the choise of Israël, and set him selfe in aray to mete the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto the hand of Abisáí his brother, and they put them selues in aray against the children of Ammón.

12 And he said, If Aram be to strögg for me, then thou shalt succour me: & if the children of Ammón preuaile against thee, the I wil succour thee.

14 So Ioab and the people that was with him, came nere before the Aramites vnto the

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be nombred. 14 And there dye seuentie thousand men of the peisslem.

1 And ^a Satan itode vp against Israél, and prouoked Dauid to number Israél.

^a He tempted Dauid in setting before his eyes his excellencie & glorie, his power & victories, read 2 Sam. 24, 1.

2 Therefore Dauid said to Ioáb, and to the rulers of the people, Go & number Israél from ^b Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

^b That is, fré Southe to North.

3 And Ioáb answered, The Lord increase his people an hundreth times so many as they be, ^o my lord the King: are they not all my lords seruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why shulde he be a cause of ^c trespasse to Israél.

4 Neuertheles the Kings worde preuailed against Ioáb. And Ioáb departed and wēt through all Israél, and returned to Ierusalém.

^c It was a thing indifferent & vsual to number the people, but because he did it of an ambitious minde, as though his strength stode in his people, God punished him. ^d Ioáb partly for grief and partly through negligence gathered not the whole summe: it is here declared.

5 And Ioáb gaue the number & summe of the people vnto Dauid: & all Israél were ^d eleuen hundreth thousand men ^ý drewe sworde: and Iudáh was ^e foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drewe sworde.

6 But the Leuites and Beniamín counted he not among them: for the Kings worde was abominable to Ioáb.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thig: therefore he smote Israél.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now, I beseeche thee, remoue the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

^e In Samuél's mention of thirtie thousand more: ^ý was either by joyning to them some of the Beniaminites, & were mixed w Iudáh, or as ^ý Ebrewes write, here ^ý chief & princes are left out.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids ^{Seer}, saying,

10 Go and tel Dauid, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I offie thee thre things: chose thee one of them, that I may do it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either thre yeres famine, or thre moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sworde of thine enemies ^{to take thee}, or els the sworde of ^ý Lord and pestilence in the land thre dayes, that ^ý Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coastes of Israél: now therefore aduise thee, what worde I shal bring againe to him that sent me.

The Kings sin punished. I. Chron. Preparacion for the Temple. 1224

13 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderful strait. let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, & let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seven hundred thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroye it. And as he was destroying, the Lord behelde, and repented of the euil and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now ynough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angel of the Lord stand betwene the earth and the heauen with his sworde drawn in his hand, and stretched out towards Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euil, but these shepe what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseeche thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers house, and not on thy people for their destruction.

18 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid shulde go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and sawe the Angel, and his foure sonnes that were with him, hid them selues, and Ornan threshed wheat.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and sawe Dauid and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid said to Ornan, Giue me the place of thy threshing floore, that I may buyde an altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan said vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord the King do that which seemeth him good. lo, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offerings, & threshing instruments for wood, & wheat for meat offering. I giue it all.

24 And King Dauid said to Ornan, Not so: but I will buye it for sufficient money. for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25 So Dauid gaueto Ornan for that place six hundred shekels of golde by weight.

26 And Dauid buylt there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord, and he answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, he put vp his sworde againe into his sheathe.

28 At that time when Dauid sawe that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the place at Gibeon.)

30 And Dauid coulde not go before it to aske counsel at God: for he was afraid of the sworde of the Angel of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Dauid prepareth things necessarye for the buylding of the Temple. & He commaendeth his sonne Salomon to buylde the Temple of the Lord, wherein thing he him selfe was forbidden to do. 2 Under the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

1 And Dauid said, This is the house of the Lord God & this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and he set masons to hew and polish stones to buyde the house of God.

3 Dauid also prepared much yron for the nailes of the doores & of the gates, and for the roynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight,

4 And cedre trees without number: for the Zidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedre wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid said, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and we must buylde an house for the Lord, magnifical, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreys. I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to buylde an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And Dauid said to Salomon, My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to buylde an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

8 But the worde of the Lord came to me, saying, Thou hast shed much blood, & hast made great battels: thou shalt not buylde an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

9 Beholde, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest, for I will giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnes vpon Israel in his dayes.

God declared by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering. 28 At that time when Dauid sawe that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there. 29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the place at Gibeon.) 30 And Dauid coulde not go before it to aske counsel at God: for he was afraid of the sworde of the Angel of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIX.

² The offering of Dauid and of the princes for the buylding of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thanks to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Salomón is created King. 28 Dauid dyeth, and Salomón his sonne reigneth in his steade.

1 Moreouer Dauid the King said vnto all the Cõgregaciõ, God hathe chosen Salomón mine onelie sonne yong and tendre, & the worke ^{is} great: for this house ^{is} not for man, but for the ^a Lord God.

2 Now I haue prepared with all my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and siluer for them of siluer, and brasse for things of brasse, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood & onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones and of diuers colour, and all precious stones, & marble stones in abundance.

3 Moreover because I haue ^b delite in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne golde and siluer, which I haue gaue to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie,

4 ^{euen} ^c thre thousand talents of golde of the golde of Ophir, and seuen thousand talents of fined siluer to ouerlay the walles of the houses.

5 The golde for the things of golde, and the siluer for things of siluer, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is ^d willing ^e to fil his hand to day vnto the Lord?

6 So the Princes of the families, and the prices of the tribes of Israël, & the captaynes of thousands & of hundreths, with the rulers of y Kings worke, offred willingly,

7 And they gaue for the seruice of the house of God siue thousand talents of golde, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of siluer, and eightene thousand talents of brasse, and one hundreth thousand talents of yron.

^a And therefore it ought to be excellent in all pointes,

^b His great zeale toward the firmerace of the Temple made him to spare no expences, but to bestowe his owne pecular treasure.
^c He sheweth what he had of his owne store for y Lords house.

^d He was not onely liberal him selfe, but prouoked others to see forthe y worke of God

9 And the people reioyced when they offied willingly: for they offred willingly vnto the Lord, with a f perfit heart. And Dauid the King also reioyced with great ioye.

10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, & Dauid said, Blessed be thou, o Lord God, of s Israél our father, for euer and euer.

11 Thine, o Lord, is greatnes and power, and glorie, and victorie and praise: for all that is in heauen & in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome, o Lord, and thou excel-lest as head ouer all.

12 Bothe riches and honour come of thee, & thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hād is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue strength vnto all.

13 Now therefore our God, we thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we shulde be able to offer willingly after this sorte: for all things h come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue gi-uen thee.

15 For we are i strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadowe vpon the earth, and there is none abiding.

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to buyld thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand and all is thine.

17 I knowe also, my God, that thou  tryest*
the heart, and hast pleasure in righteoufnes: I haue offred willingly in thy vprigh-nes of mine heart all these things: now also haue I sene thy people which are founde here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioye.

18 O Lord God of Abrahām, Izhāk and Israél our fathers, kepe this for euer in the k purpose, and the thoghts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

19 And giue vnto Salomōn my sonne a per-fit heart to kepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all things, and to buyld the house which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid said to all the Congregaciō, Now blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heades, & worshipped the Lord and the l King.

21 And they offred sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morowe after that day, they offred burnt offrings vnto the Lord, euē a thousand yong bullockes, a thousand rammes, & a thousand sheepe, with their m drinke offrings, and sacrifices in abundāce for all Israél.

22 And they did eat and drinke before the Lord the same day with greate ioye, and they made Salomōn the sonne of Dauid King the seconde time, and anointed him prince before the Lord, and Zadók for the hie Priest.

23 So Salomōn sate on the n throne of the Lord, as King in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israél obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of King Dauid sub mitted them selues vnder King Salo-mōn.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomōn in dignitie, in the sight of all Israél, and ga-ue him so glorious a kingdome, as no
King had before him in Israél.

26 ¶ Thus Dauid the sonne of Ishái reigned ouer all Israél.

27 And the space that he reigned ouer Is-raél, was fourtie yere: seuen yere reigned he in Hebrōn, and thre & thirtie yere reigned he in Ierusalēm:

28 And he dyed in a good age, ful of dayes, riches and honour, and Salomōn his sonne reigned in his steade.

THE SECONDE BOKE of the Chronicles.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis seconde boke containeth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two boke of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomōn to the destruction of Ierusalēm, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certeine things declared and set forth more copiously then in the booke of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophetes. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godlie Kings, when they sawe the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues removed. The seconde how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that suche as feare him and professe his religion, shoulde toyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirde how the good rulers euer loued the Prophetes of God, and were very zealous to set forth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrarie wise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and worde of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chief actes from the beginning of the worlde to the buylding agayne of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darus, and contene in the whole, thre thousand, foure hundred, foure score and eight yeres, and six moneths.

C H A P. I.

4 The offering of Salomón at Gibeón. 8 He prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdom. 13 Which he giueth him and more. 14 The number of his charrets and horses. 15 And of his riches.

THÉ Salomón the sone of Dauid was confirmed in his kingdome: & ¹ Lord his God was with him, & magnified him highlie.

And Salomón ² spake vnto all Israél, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundredes and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Israél, ³ even the chief fathers.

So Salomón and all the Congregation with him went to the hye place that was at ⁴ Gibeón: for there was the Tabernacle of the Cōgregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.

But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-earím, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

Moreover the ⁵ brazen altar ⁶ that Bezaleél the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomón and the Cōgregation sought it.

And Salomón offered there before ⁷ Lord vpon the brazen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: ⁸ even a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

The same night did God appeare vnto Salomón, and said vnto him, Aske what I shal giue thee.

And Salomón said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father and hast made me to reigne in his steade.

Now therefore, ⁹ O Lord God, let thy promises vnto Dauid my father be true: for thou hast made me King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

Giue me now wisdom and knowledge, ¹⁰ that I may go out & go in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

And God said to Salomón, Because this was in thine heart, & thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the liues of thine enemies, nether yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdom & knowledge that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whome I haue made thee King,

Wisdom & knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I wil giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the Kings which were before thee, nether after thee shal there be ¹¹ like.

Then Salomón came from the hye place, that was at Gibeón, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israél.

And Salomón gathered the charrets & ¹² horfmen: and he had a thousand and foure hundred charrets, & twelue thousand horfmen, whome he placed in the ¹³ charret cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

And the King gaue siluer and golde at Ierusalem as ¹⁴ stones, & gaue cedre trees as the wilde fig trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

Also Salomón had horses brought out of Egypt and ¹⁵ fine linen: ¹⁶ the Kings marchants receiued the fine linen for a price.

They came vp also and brought out of Egypt ¹⁷ some charret, worth the six hundred shekels of siluer, that is an horse for an hundred and fiftie: & thus they brought horses to all the Kings of the Hittites, and to the Kings of Arám by their meanes.

2 The number of Salomons workemen to buyld the Temple 3 Salomón sendeth to Hiram the King of Tyrus for wood and workemen.

THÉ Salomón determined to buyld an house for the Name of the Lord, & an ¹ house for his kingdome.

And Salomón tolde out seuentie thousand that bare burdens, and foure score thousand men to hewe ² stones in the mountaine, and thre thousand and ³ six hundred to ouersee them.

And Salomón sent to ⁴ Hurám the King of Tyrus, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, & ⁵ didest send him cedre trees to buyld him an house to dwell in, so do to me.

Beholde, I buyld an house vnto the Name of ⁶ Lord my God, to sanctifie it.

5 And the house which I buyld, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is he the that can be able to buyld him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens can not containe him: who am I then? I shulde buyld hi an house: but I do it to burne incense before him.

a Ebr. corim.

10 And beholde, I wil giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timbre twentie thousand measures of beaten wheat, and twentie thousand measures of barley, and twentie thousand baths of wine, and twentie thousand baths of oyle.

d Of Bath read 1 King 7:26 it is called also Ephá but Ephá is to measure drye things, as bath is a measure for liquors.

11 Then Hiram King of Tyrus answered in writing which he sent to Salomón, Because the Lord hath loued his people, he hath made thee King ouer them.

12 Hiram said moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israél which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the King a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to buyld an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

e The very heathen confessed that it was a singular gift of God, when he gaue to any nation a King that was wise & of vnderstanding, albeit it appeareth that this Hiram had true knowledge of God & it is allowed that she was of the tribe of Naphthali 1 King 7:14 which may be vnderstand that by reason of the confusion of tribes, which then began to be, they married in diuers tribes, so that by her father she might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphthali.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, & of vnderstanding of my father Hiram,

14 The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, & he can skill to worke in golde, in siluer, in brasse, in yron, in stone, and in timbre, in purple, in blew silk, and in fine linen and in crimson, and can graue in all grauen works, and broder in all broyded worke that shall be giue him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

15 Now therefore the wheat and the barley, the oyle & the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.

16 And we wil cut wood in Lebanón as muche as thou shalt nede, and wil bring it to thee in iafes by the sea to Iaphó, so thou maiest cary them to Ierusalém.

Or, by the sea to Iaphó.

17 ¶ And Salomón nobred all the strangers that were in the land of Israél, after the nombring that his father Dauid had nombred them: and they were founde an hundred and thre and fiftie thousand, and six hundred.

18 And he set scuentie thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hewe stones in the mountaine, & thre thousand and six hundred ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

The Temple of the Lord, and the porche are buylded, with other things thereto belonging.

1 SO Salomón began to buyld the house of the Lord in Ierusalém, in mount Moriáh which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

a Which is Mouraïnnewhere Abraham thought to haue sacrificed his sonne, Gen 22:2.

2 And he began to buyld in the seconde moneth of the seconde day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

2 Sam. 24:16.

3 And these are the measures, whereon Salomón grounded to buyld the house of God: the length of cubites after the first measure was threescore cubites, & the breadth twenty cubites:

b According to the whole length of the Temple, comprehending the most holy place & the rest.

4 And the porche, y was before the length in the fronte of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an hundred and twentie, & he ouerlaid it within with pure golde.

c It contained as muche as did the breadth of the Temple, 1 King 6:1

5 And the greater house he syled with firre tree which he ouerlaid with good golde, & graued thereon palm trees & chaires.

d From the fundacion to the top for in the booke of Kings mencion is made, from the fundacio to the first Raze.

6 And he ouerlaid y house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of Paruáim.

e Some thinke it is y place which is called Peru.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof and the doores thereof ouerlaid he with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 ¶ He made also y house of the moste holy place: the length thereof was in the fronte of the breadth of the house, twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he ouerlaid it with the best golde, of six hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes was fiftie shekels of golde, and he ouerlaid the chaires with golde.

10 ¶ And in the house of the moste holy place he made two Cherubims wight like children, and ouerlaid them with golde.

11 ¶ And the wings of the Cherubims were twenty cubites long: the one wing was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites, reaching to y wing of the other Cherub.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherúb was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites joining to the wing of the other Cherúb.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twentie cubites: they stood on their feet and their faces were toward the house.

^f Which separated the Temple from the most holy place.

14 ¶ He made also ^f the vail of blew silk and purple, and crimosin, and fine linen, & wrought Cherubims thereon.

^g Euerie one was eight cubites long but the halfe cubite coulde not be sene for it was hid in the roundnes of the chapter & therefore he gueseth to euerie one but 17, and an halfe. ^h For euerie pillar an hundredth, read. 1. King 7.20.

15 ¶ And he made before the house two pillars of five and thirtie cubites hie: and the chapter that was upon the top of ^{the} of them, was five cubites.

16 He made also chains for the oracle, and put them on the heades of the pillars, and made an hundredth pomegranates, and put them among the chains.

2 And he made a molten Sea of ten cubites from brim to brim, rounde in compass, and five cubites hie: and a line of thirtie cubites did compass it about.

3 And vnder it was the facion of oxen which did compass it round about, ten in a cubite compassing the Sea about two rowes of oxen were cast when it was molten.

4 It stood upon twelue oxen: thre looked toward the North, and thre looked toward the West, & thre looked toward the South, and thre looked toward the East, and the Sea stood about upon them, and all their hinder partes were inward.

5 And the thicknes thereof was an hand breadth, and the brim tiner of was like the worke of the brim of a cup, with floures of lilies: it contained a thre thousand baths.

The Arke of the couenant. II.Chron. Salomons prayer. 1391/1224

^a Read 2 Sam 6, 12

^b When the things were dedicate and brought into the Temple
^c Called in E-brew Ethani, containing part of September and parte of October, 1 King 8, 2. & moneth the Jewes called ^d first month, because, they say, that the worlde was created in ^e month, & after they came fro Egypt that began at Marche but because this opinio is vncertaine, we make Marche euer the first, as best writers do

^{Or, without the Oracle}

^d For Aarons rod and Māna were taken thence before it was brought to this place.

^e Were prepared to receive the Lord.

^f They agreed all in one tune

^g This was ^h effect of their songs.

couenant of the Lord from the ^a citie of David, which is Ziōn.

3 And all the mē of Israēl assembled vnto the King at the ^b feast: it was in the seuent ^c monerh.

4 And all the Elders of Israēl came, & the Leuites toke vp the Arke.

5 And they caryed vp the Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests & Leuites bring vp.

6 And King Salomōn and all the Congregation of Israēl that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering shepe & bullockes, which colde not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the moſte Holy place, ^{euen} vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out ^{their} wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might be sene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not sene without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing ^{was} in the Arke, saue ^d the two Tables, which Moſes gaue at Hoiéb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Israēl, when they came out of Egypt.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sictuarie (for all the Priests that were present, were ^e sanctified and did not waite by couſe.

12 And the Leuites the fingers of all sortes, ^{as of} Aſāph, of Hemán, of Ieduthún & of their ſonnes and of their brethren, being cladde in fine linnen, ſtoode with cymbales, & with voles and harpes at the Eaſt end of the altar, and with them an hundreth & twentie Priests blowing with trumpets:

13 And they were ^f as one, blowing trumpets, and ſinging, and made one ſounde to be heard in prauiſing and thanking the Lord, and when they liſt vp ^{their} voyce with trumpets and with cymbales, and with instruments of muſike, and when they prauiſed the Lord, ^{ſinging}, & For he is good, because his mercie ^{laſteth} for euer) then the house, ^{euen} the house of the Lord was filled with a cloude, 14 So that the Priests colde not ſtand to miniſtre, because of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lord had filled the house of God.

CHAP. VI.

3 Salomōn bleſſeth the people 4 He prauiſeth the Lord.
14 He prauiſeth vnto God for thoſe that ſhal pray in the Temple.

^THE ^a Salomōn ſaid, The Lord hathe ſaid that he wolde dwel in the darke cloude:

2 And I haue buylt thee an houſe to dwel in, an habitation for thee to dwel in for euer.

3 And the King turned his face, & bleſſed all the Congregation of Israēl (for all the Congregation of Israēl ſtoode ^{there})

4 And he ſaid, Bleſſed ^{be} the Lord God of Israēl, who ſpake with his mouthe vnto Dauid my father, & hathe with his ^{hand} fulfilled it, ſaying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I choſe no citie of all the tribes of Israēl to buylde an ^{house}, that my Name might be there, neither choſe I anie man to be a ruler ouer my people Israēl:

6 But I haue choſen Ieruſalém, that my Name might be there, and haue choſen Dauid to be ouer my people Israēl.

7 ^a And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to buylde an houſe vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israēl,

8 But the Lord ſaid to Dauid my father, Where as it was in thine heart to buylde an houſe vnto my Name, thou diſteſt wel, that ^{thou} waſt ſo minded.

9 Notwithſtanding thou ſhalt not buylde the houſe, but thy ſonne which ſhal come out of thy loynes, he ſhal buylde an houſe vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hathe performed his worde that he ſpake: and I am riſen vp in the ſeume of Dauid my father, and am ſet on the throne of Israēl as the Lord promiſed, and haue buylt an houſe to the Name of the Lord God of Israēl.

11 And I haue ſet the Arke there, wherein is the ^b couenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israēl.

12 ^a And ^ſ King ^c ſtoode before the altar of the Lord, in the preſence of all the Congregation of Israēl, and ſtretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomōn had made a braſen ſkaf-ſolde & ſet it in the middes of the courte of ſiue cubites long, & ſiue cubites broad, and thre cubites of height, and vpon it he ſtoode, and kneled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israēl, & ^d ſtretched out his hands toward heauen)

14 And ſaid, O Lord God of Israēl, ^a there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which kepeſt couenant, and mercie vnto thy ſeruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that haſt kept with thy ſeruant Dauid my father, that thou haſt promiſed him: for thou ſpakeſt with thy mouthe, & haſt fulfilled it with thine ^{hād}, as appeareth this day.

- ¹⁶ Therefore now Lord God of Israël, kepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not wāt a man in my sight, that shal sit vpon the throne of Israël: so that thy sonnes take hede to their waies, to walke in my Lawe, as ^hthou hast walked before me.
- ¹⁷ And now, ^o Lord God of Israël, let thy worde be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.
- ¹⁸ (Is it true in dede that God wil dwel with man on earth: beholde, the ^e heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: how muche more ^hnable is this house, which I haue buylt.)
- ¹⁹ But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruant, & to his supplicacion, ^o Lord my God, to heare the crye & prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee,
- ²⁰ That thine ^e eyes may be open toward this house day and night, ^{euen} toward the place, whereof thou hast said, That thou woldest put thy Name there, that thou maiest hearken vnto the prayer, which thy seruant prayeth in this place.
- ²¹ Heare thou therefore the supplicacion of thy seruant, and of thy people Israël, which they praye in this place: and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, ^{euen} in heauen, and when thou hearest, be merciful.
- ²² ¶ ^e When a man shal sinne against his neighbour, and he lay vpon him an othe to cause him to sweare, and the ^h sweaier shal come before thine altar in this house,
- ²³ Then heare thou in heauen, and do, and iudge thy seruants, in recompensing the wicked to bring his way ^e vpon his head, and in iustifying the righteous, to giue him according to his rightousnes.
- ²⁴ ¶ And when thy people Israël shalbe ouerthrowen before the enemye, because they haue sinned against thee, and turne againe, and confesse thy Name, and pray, and make supplicacion before thee in this house,
- ²⁵ Then heare thou in heauen, and be merciful vnto the sinne of thy people Israël, and bring the againe vnto the land which thou gauest to them and to their fathers.
- ²⁶ When heauen shalbe shut vp, and there shalbe no raine, because they haue sinned against thee, and shal pray in this place, & confesse thy Name, and ^e turne from their sinne, when thou doest afflict them,
- ²⁷ Then heare thou in heauen, and pardone the sinne of thy seruants, and of thy people Israël (whē thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walke) & giue raine vpon thy land, which thou hast giue vnto thy people for an inheritance.
- ²⁸ ¶ When there shalbe famine in the lād, when there shalbe pestilence, blasting, or mildewe, when there shalbe grefshopper, or caterpillar, when their enemye shal besiege them in the cities of their land, or any plague or any sicknes,
- ²⁹ Then what prayers and supplicacion soeuer shal be made of any man, or of all thy people Israël, when euerie one shal knowe his owne plague, and his owne disease, and shal stretch forth his hands toward this house,
- ³⁰ Heare thou then in heauen, thy dwelling place, and be merciful, and giue euerie mā according vnto all his wayes, as thou doest knowe his ^h heart (for ^h onely knowest the hearts of the children of men)
- ³¹ That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the land which thou gauest vnto our fathers.

CHAP. VII.

The fyre consumeth the sacrifice 2 The glorie of the Lord filleth the Temple 12 He heareth his prayer, 17 And promisseth to exalt him and his throne.

1 And *when Salomon had made an end of praying, a fyre came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering & the sacrifices. and the glorie of the Lord filled the house,

2 So that the Priests coulde not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord had filled the Lords house.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw the fyre, and the glorie of the Lord come downe vpon the house, they bowed them selues with their faces to the earth vpon the pavement, and worshiped and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good, because his mercie lieth for euer.

2 King 8. 65. 4 *Then the King and all the people offered sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And King Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twentie thousand bullockes, and an hundred and twentie thousand sheepe. for the King and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, & the Leuites with the instruments of musike of the Lord, which King Dauid had made to praise the Lord, Because his mercie lasteth for euer: when Dauid praised God by them, the Priests also blew trumpets ouer against them: and all they of Israel stood by.

7 Moreover Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receiue the burnt offering, and the meat offering, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made a feast at that time of seven dayes, & all Israel with him, a very great Congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, vnto the riuier of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they made a solenne assemblie, for they had made the dedication of the altar seven dayes, and the feast seven dayes.

10 And the thre and twentieth day of the seventh moneth, he sent the people away into their tents, ioyous & with glad heart, because of the goodness that the Lord had done for Dauid and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 *So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord, and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night and said to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for myselfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I commande the grasshopper to deuore the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whome my Name is called vpon, do humble them selues, & praye, and seke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes, then wil I heare in heauen, and be merciful to their sinne, and wil I heale their land.

15 Then mine eyes shall be open and mine eares attend vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to do according vnto all that I haue commanded thee, and shalt obserue my statuts & my iudgements, 18 Then wil I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with Dauid thy father, saying, *Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statuts and my commandements which I haue set before you, and shal go and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then wil I plucke them vp out of my land, which I haue given them, and this house which I haue sanctified for my Name, wil I cast out of my sight, and wil make it to be a prouerbe and a commune talke among all people.

21 And this house which is moste hie, shall be an astonishment to euery one that passeth by it, so that he shal say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shal answer, Because they forsake the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and haue taken holdie on other gods, and haue worshiped them, and serued them, therefore hathe he brought all this euil vpon them.

And Salomón went to Hamáth Zobáh,

And he buylt Tadmór in the wildernes,

he buylt in Hamáth.

And he buylt d Beth-horón the vpper, &

walles, gates and barres:

But of the childre of Israël did Salomón

¶ The Salomón brought vp the daughter of Pharaóh out of the citie of Dauid, into the house that he had buylt for her: for he said, My wife shal not dwel in the house of Dauid King of Israël: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came vnto it.

¶ Then Salomón offred burnt offerings vnto the Lord, on the * altar of the Lord, which he had buylt before the porche, ches, for to praise and minister before the Priests euerie day, & the porters by * their mandement of Dauid the man of God.

And they declined not from the commandement of the King, concerning the Priests & the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

¶ Now Salomón had made prouisió for all the h worke, from the day of the fun-dacion of the house of the Lord, vntil it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfite.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboām and all the people came to Rehoboām the third day, as the King had appoinred, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the King answered them sharply: and King Rehoboām left the counsell of the ancient men,

14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I wil increase it: my father chastised you with rodde, but I wil correct you with scourges.

15 So the King hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken by Ahiah the Shilonite to Ieroboām the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israél sawe that the King wolde not heare them, the people answered the King, saying, *What porcion haue we in Dauid: for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Eshai. ¶ O Israél, euerie man to your tents: now se to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israél departed to their tents.

CHAP. XI.

4 Rehoboām is forbidden to fight against Ieroboām. Cities which he buylt: as He hath eightene wiues, & threescore concubines, and by them eight and twentie sonnes, and threescore daughters.

1 And whē Rehoboām was come to Ierusalém, he gathered of the house of Iudáh and Benjamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against Israél, & to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboām.

2 But the worde of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Rehoboām, the sonne of Salomón King of Iudáh, and to all Israél that are in Iudáh, and Benjamin, saying,

4 Thus sayth the Lord, Ye shal not go yp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euerie man to his house for this thing is done of me. They obeted therefore the worde of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboām.

5 And Rehoboām dwelt in Ierusalém, and buylt strong cities in Iudáh.

11 And he repaired the strong holdes and put captaynes in them, and store of vitayle, and oyle and wine.

12 And in all cities he put shields & speares, & made them exceding strong: so Iudáh and Beniamín were his.

13 ¶ And the Priests and the Leuites that were in all Israél, resorted vnto him out of all their coastes.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbes and their possession, and came to Iudáh and to Ierusalém: for Ieroboām and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priests office vnto the Lord.

15 * And he ordeined him Priests for the hie places, and for the deuils and for the calves, which he had made.

16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalém of all the tribes of Israél, suche as set their hearts to seke the Lord God of Israél, to offer vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

^gThis is, twelve yeres after that he had bene ouercome by Shishák.

And when Rehoboam had established the kingdom & made it strong, he forsoke the Lawe of the Lord, and all Israel with him.

Therefore in the fifth yere of King Rehoboam, Shishák the King of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)

With twelue hundred chariots, and thie score thousand horsemen, & the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, even the Libims, the Sukkims, & the Ethiopians.

And he toke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.

Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah, that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishák, and said vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishák.

Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled them selues, and said, The Lord is iust.

And when the Lord sawe that they humbled them selues, the worde of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled them selues, therefore I wil not destroye them, but I wil send them deliuerance shortly, & my wrath shal not be powred out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishák.

Nevertheless they shal be his seruants: so shal they know my seruice, & the seruice of the kingdoms of the earth.

Then Shishák King of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem, and toke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house: he toke even all, and he caried away the shields of golde, which Salomon had made.

In stead whereof King Rehoboam made shields of brass, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the garde, that waited at the dore of the Kings house.

And when the King entered into the house of the Lord, the garde came and bare them and broght them againe vnto the garde chamber.

And because he humbled him selfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he wolde not destroye all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered.

So King Rehoboam was strong in Ierusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one & fourtie yere olde, when he began to reigne, & reigned & seuenene yeres in Ierusalem, the citie which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his Name there. And his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonitess.

And he did euill: for he prepared not his heart to seke the Lord.

The actes also of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the booke of Shemaiah the Prophet, and Iddo the Seer, in rehearsing the genealogie, & there was warre alway betwene Rehoboam & Ieroboam.

And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the citie of Dauid, and Abiiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

^aOr, Abiam.

CHAP. XIII.

Abiiah maketh warre against Ieroboam. He sheweth the occasion. He trusteth in the Lord and ouercometh Ieroboam. Of his wives and children.

In the eighteenth yere of King Ieroboam began Abiiah to reigne ouer Iudah.

He reigned thre yere in Ierusalem: (his mothers name also was Michaiiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeon) and there was warre betwene Abiiah and Ieroboam.

And Abiiah set the battel in array with the armie of valiant men of warre, even foure hundred thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battel in array against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men which were strong and valiant.

And Abiiah stode vp vpon mount Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, O Ieroboam, & all Israel, heare you me, Oght you not to knowe that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen the kingdom ouer Israel to Dauid for euer, even to him and to his sonnes by a couenant of salt?

And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath rebelled against his lord.

And there are gathered to him vaine men, wicked, and made them selues strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was but a childe and tender hearted, & colde not resist them.

Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to resist against the kingdom of the Lord, which is in the hands of the sonne of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, & the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

Haue ye not driuen away the Priests of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you Priests like the people of other countreis, who focuser cometh to consecrate with a young bullocke and seven rams, the same may be a Priest of them that are no gods.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam caused an ambushment to compass, & come behinde them, when they were before Iudáh, and the ambushment behinde them,

14 Then Iudáh looked, and beholde, the battel was before and behinde them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets, 18 So the children of Israél were brought vnder at that time: and the childré of Iudáh preuailed, because they staid vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

SO* Abiúáh slept with his fathers, & they buried him in the citie of Dauid, & Asa his sonne reigned in his steade: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he toke away the altars of the strange gods & the hie places, & brake downe the images, and cut downe the groues,

4 And commanded Iudáh to seke the Lord God of their fathers, & to do according to the Lawe and the commandement.

6 He buylt also strong cities in Iudáh, because the land was in rest, and he had no waire in those yerres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he said to Iudáh, Let vs buyld these cities and make walles about, and towries, gates, and barres, whiles the lād is before vs: because we haue fought y Lord our God, we haue fought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euerie side: so they buylt and prospered.

Iehoshaphát trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He abolishest idolatrie. 7 And causeth the people to be taught. 11 He receiueth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions and men of warre.

1 And Iehoshaphát his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israél.

2 And he put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudáh, and set bands in the land of Iudáh and in the cities of Ephráim, which Asá his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphát, because he walked in the first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not Baalim, 4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the trade of Israél.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdom in his hand, and all Iudáh brought presents to Iehoshaphát, so that he had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And he lift vp his heart vnto the wayes of the Lord, and he toke awaie moreouer the hie places & the groues out of Iudáh.

7 ¶ And in the third yere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiáh, & Zechariáh, and Nethaneél, and Michaiáh, that they shulde teache in the cities of Iudáh,

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiáh, and Nethaniáh, and Zebadiáh, and Afahél, & Shemiramóth, and Iehonathán, and Adoniatáh, and Tobiatáh, and Tob adoniatáh, Leuites, and with them Elisamáh and Iehorám Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudáh, and had the booke of the Lawe of the Lord with them, & went about throughout all the cities of Iudáh, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands y were rounde about Iudáh, and they sought not against Iehoshaphát.

11 Also some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphát gifts and tribute siluer, and the Arabians broght him flockes, seué thousand, and seuen hundreth rams, and seuen thousand, and seuen hundreth he gotes.

12 So Iehoshaphát prospered and grewe vp on hie: and he buylt in Iudáh palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudáh, and men of warre, & valiant men in Ierusalém.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers, In Iudáh were captaines of thousands, Adnáh the captaine, and with him of valiant men three hundreth thousand.

15 And at his hand Iehohanán a captaine, and with him two hundreth & foure score thousand.

16 And at his hand Amasiáh the sonne of Zichrí, which willingly offred him selfe vnto the Lord, and with him two hundreth thousand valiant men.

17 And of Beniamín, Eliadá a valiant má, and with him armed men with bowe and shield two hundreth thousand.

19 These waited on the King, besides those which the King put in the strong cities throughout all Iudáh.

2 And after certeine yeres he went downe to Aháb to Samaria: & Aháb slewe shepe and oxen for him in great nomber, & for the people that he had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto Ramóth Gileád.

3 And Aháb King of Israél said vnto Iehoshaphát King of Iudáh, Wilt thou go with me to Ramóth Gileád? And he answered him, I am as thou art, & my people as thy people, & we wil ioyne with thee in the warre.

4 And Iehoshaphát said vnto the King of Israél, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the worde of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the King of Israél gathered of Prophetes foure hundreth men, and said vnto them, Shal we go to Ramóth Gileád to battell, or shal I cease? And they said, Go vp: for God shal deliuer it into the Kings hand.

6 But Iehoshaphát said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord y we might inquire of him?

11 And all the Prophetes prophesied so, saying, Go vp to Ramóth Gileád, & prosper: for the Lord shal deliuer it into the hand of the King.

12 ¶ And the messenger that wēt to call Michaiáh, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the wordes of the Prophetes declare good to y^e King with one^k accorde: let thy worde therfore, I pray thee, be lyke one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiáh said, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, y^e wil I speake.

14 ¶ So he came to the King, and the King said vnto him, Michaiáh, shal we go to Ramóth Gileád to battel, or shal I leaue of? And he said, I Go ye vp, and prosper, and they shal be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the King said to him, How oft shal I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the truth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he said, I sawe all Israël scatered in the mountaines, as shepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord said, m These haue no master: let the returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the King of Israël said to Iehoshaphát, Did I not tel thee, that he wolde not prophetic good vnto me, but euil?

18 Againe he said, Therefore heare ye the wordes of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all theⁿ hostes of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shal^o persuaide Aháb King of Israël, that he may go vp and fall at Ramóth Gileád? And one spake and said thus, and another said that.

20 The^o there came forth a spirit and stode before the Lord, and said, I wil persuaide him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he said, I wil go out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his Prophetes. And^o he said, Thou shalt persuaide, and shalt also preuaile: go forth and do so.

22 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hathe put a^p false spirit in the mouth of these thy Prophetes, & the Lord hathe determined euil against thee.

23 Then Zidkiáh the sonne of Chenaanáh came nere, and smote Michaiáh vpon the^q cheke, and said, By what way wēt the spirit of y^e Lord frō me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiáh said, Beholde, thou shalt see that day whē thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the King of Israël said, Take ye Michaiáh, and carie him to Amón the gouernour of the citie, & to Ioásh the Kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the King, Put this man in the prison house, & fede him with bread of^r affliction and with water of affliction vntil I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiáh said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hathe not spoken by me. And^r he said, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Israël and Iehoshaphát the King of Iudáh wēt vp to Ramóth Gileád.

29 And the King of Israël said vnto Iehoshaphát, I wil^s change my selfe, and entre into the battel: but put thou on thine apparel. So the King of Israël chāged him selfe, and they went into the battel.

30 And the King of Arām had commanded the captaines of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against y^e King of Israël onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charrets sawe Iehoshaphát, they said, It is the King of Israël: and they compassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphát^t cryed, & y^e Lord helped him & moued them to departe from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charrets sawe that he was not the King of Israël, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certayne man drewe a bowe^u myghtely, & smote the King of Israël betwene the ioyntes^v of his brigādine: therfore he said to his charretman, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

¹⁹ And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Corhites stode vp to praise the Lord God of Israël with a loude voice on hie.

²⁰ And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wildernesses of Tekóá: & as they departed, Iehoshaphát stode and said, Heare ye me, ó Iudáh, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalém: put your trust in the Lord your God, and ye shalbe assured: beleue his Prophetes, and ye shal prosper.

²³ Thus the Lord according to Iehoshaphats prayer declared his power when he deliuered this by crushing their enemies to kilone another.

²⁵ And when Iehoshaphát and his people came to take away the spoyle of them, they found among them in abundance bothe of substance & also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they toke for the selues, til they colde cary nomore: they were thre dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was muche.

²⁶ And in the fourte day they assembled them selues in the valley of Beracháh: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Beracháh vnto this day.

²⁷ The euerie man of Iudáh & Ierusalém returned with Iehoshaphát their head, to go againe to Ierusalém with ioye: for the Lord had made the to reioyce ouer their enemies.

And they went about in Iudáh, & gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudáh, and the chief fathers ^b of Israël: and they came to Ierusalém.

And all the Congregation made a couenant with the King in the house of God: & he said vnto them, Beholde, the Kings sonne muste reigne, as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

This is it that ye shal do, The third parte of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, and the Leuites, shal be porters of the doies.

But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister: they shal go in, for they are holy: but all the people shal keepe the watch of the Lord.

And the Leuites shal compasse the King round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, and he that entred into the house, shal be sleane, and be you with the King, when he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

So the Leuites and all Iudáh did according to all things that Iehoiadá the Priest had commanded, and toke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiadá the Priest did not discharge the courses.

And Iehoiadá the Priest deliuered to the captaynes of hundreths speares, and shields, and bucklers which had bene King Dauids, and were in the house of God.

And he caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the house rounde about the King.

Then they broght out the Kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne and gaue him the testimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiadá and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue the King.

But when Athaliáh heard the noise of the people running and praising the King, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

And when she looked, beholde, the King stood by his pillar at the entring in, & the princes & the trumpets by the King, & all the people of the land reioyced, and blew the trumpets, and the singers were with instruments of musike, and they that colde sing praise: then Athaliáh rent her clothes, and said, Treason, treason.

Then Iehoiadá the Priest broght out the captaynes of hundreths that were gouerners of the hoste, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, & he that followeth her, let him dye by the sword: for the Priest had said, Sleaze her not in the house of the Lord.

So they layed hands on her: and when she was come to the entring of the horsegate by the Kings house, they slewe her there.

And Iehoiadá made a couenant betwene him, and all the people, and the King, that they wolde be the Lords people.

And all the people went to the house of Báal, and destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and slewe Matán the Priest of Báal before the altars.

And Iehoiadá appointed officers for the house of the Lord, vnder the hands of the Priests and Leuites, whome Dauid had distributed for the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord, as it is written in the Lawe of Moyses, with reioycing and singing by the appointment of Dauid.

And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none that was vncleane in any thing, shulde entre in.

And he toke the captaynes of hundreths, and the noble men, and the gouerners of the people, and all the people of the land, and he caused the King to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went through the hie gate of the Kings house, and set the King vpon the throne of the kingdome.

- 3 And when the kingdome was established vnto him, he slewe his seruants, that had slayne the King his father.

- 4 But he slewe not their children, ~~but~~ did, as it is written in the Law, ~~in~~ the booke of Moyses, where the Lord commanded, saying, * The fathers shall not dye for the children, neither shall the children dye for the fathers, but euery man shall dye for his owne sinne.

- 5 ¶ And Amaziáh assembled Iudáh, and made them captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundredes according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Iudáh and Beniamin: & he nombred them from twentie yere olde and aboue, and founde among them thre hundred thousand chosen men, to go forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

- 6 He hyred also an hundred thousand valiant men out of Israel for an hundred talents of siluer.

- 7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O King, let not the armie of Israel go with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

- 8 If not, go thou on, do it, make thy selfe fit to go to the battel, but God shall make thee fall before y enemy: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

- 9 And Amaziáh said to the man of God, What shall we do then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel? Then y man of God answered, The Lord is able to giue thee more then this.

- 10 So Amaziáh separated the, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudáh, and they returned to their places with great angre.

- 11 Then Amaziáh was encouraged, and led forth his people, & went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of Seir, ten thousand.

- 12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudáh take aliue, and caryed them to the toppe of a rocke, and cast the downe from the toppe of the rocke, and they all burst to peeces.

- 13 But the men of the armie, which Amaziáh sent away, that they shulde not go with his people to battel, fell vpon the cities of Iudáh from Samaria vnto Bethhoron, and smote thre thousand of them, and toke muche spoyle.

- 14 Now after that Amaziáh was come fro the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and worshiped them, and burned incense vnto them.

- 15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziáh, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast y fought the gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

- 16 And as he talked with him, he said vnto him, Haue thou made thee y Kings counsellor? cease thou: why shulde they smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but said, I knowe that God hath determined to destroye thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsel.

- 17 ¶ Then Amaziáh King of Iudáh toke counsel, and sent to Ioásh the sonne of Ichoabaz, the sonne of Iehú King of Israel, saying, Come, let vs se one another in the face.

- 18 But Ioásh King of Israel sent to Amaziáh King of Iudáh, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedre that is in Lebanon, saying, * Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: & the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went & trode downe the thistle.

- 19 Thou thinkest: lo, thou hast smiten Edóm, and thine heart listeth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why dost thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shuldest fall, and Iudáh with thee?

- 20 But Amaziáh wolde not heare: for it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had fought the gods of Edóm.

- 21 So Ioásh the King of Israel went vp: & he, and Amaziáh King of Iudáh sawe one another in the face at Bethshémesh, which is in Iudáh.

- 22 And Iudáh was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.

5 And he fought God in the dayes of Zachariáh (which vnderstode the visions of God) and when as he fought the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went forth and fought against the Philistims, and brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Iabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and buylt cities in Ashdod, and among the Philistims.

7 And God helped him against the Philistims, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal and Hammeunim.

10 And he buylt towres in the wildeines, and digged many cisternes: for he had muche cattel bothe in the vallis and plaines, plowmen, and dressers of vines in the mountaynes, and in Carmel: for he loued husbandrie.

11 Vzziah had also an hoste of fighting men that wet out to warre by bades, according to the counte of their number vnder the hand of Ieiel the scribe, and Maaseiah the ruler, & vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the Kings captaines.

12 The whole number of the chief of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and six hundred.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, thre hundred and seuen thousand, and five hundred that fought valiantly to helpe the King against the enemye.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also verie artificiall engins in Ierusalém, to be vpon the towres and vpon the corners, to shote arrowes and great stones: and his name spred farre abroad, because God did helpe him meruelously, til he was mightie.

16 But when he was strong, his heart was lifted vp to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, & went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariáh the Priest went in after him, and with him foure score Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstode Vzziah the King, & said vnto him, * It pertaineth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: * go out of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Then Vzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: & while he was wroth with the Priests, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priests in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariáh the chief Priest with all the Priests looked vpon him, beholde, he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to departe thence: and he was euen compelle to go out, because the Lord had smitten him.

1 Aház * was twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and reigned sixtene yere in Ierusalem, and did not vp rightly in the sight of the Lord, like Dauid his father.

2 But he walked in the wayes of the Kings of Iſraél and made euen molten images for Baalim:

d Thus by the iuste vengeance of God Iſraél destroyed Iudáh.

9 But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Odéd) and he went out before the hoste that came to Samaria, & said vnto them, Beholde, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudáh, he hath deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

e For they thought they had overcome them by their owne valiantnes, & did not consider that God had deliuered them into their hands, because Iudáh had offended him f May not God a swel punish you for your sinnes, as he hath done these men for theirs, seeing yours are greater

10 And now ye purpose to kepe vnder the children of Iudáh and Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaidens vnto you: but are not you such, that sinnes are with you before the Lord your God

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which ye haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for yfearce wrath of the Lord toward you.

12 Wherefore certeine of the chief of the children of Ephráim, Azariáh the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiáh the sonne of Meshilcmóth, and Ichizkiáh the sonne of Shallúm, and Amasí the sonne of Hadlái, stood vp against them that came from the warre,

19 For the Lord had humbled Iudáh, because of Aház King of ^a Israël: for he had brought vengeance vpon Iudáh and had grievously transgressed against the Lord)

23 For he sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which ^o plagued him, & he said, Because the gods of the Kings of Arám helped them, I wil sacrifice vnto them, & they wil ^p helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all ⁱ Israël.

24 And Aház gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the dores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in euerie corner of Ierusalém.

25 And in euerie citie of Iudáh he made hie places, to burne incense vnto other gods, and prouoked to angre the Lord God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudáh, and Israël.

27 And Aház slept with his fathers, & they buried him in the citie ^q of Ierusalém, but brought him not vnto the ^r sepulchres of the Kings of Israël: and Hezekiáh his sonne reigned in his steade.

m To w^h, of the lambe of the Pässeouer

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation throughout all Israël from Beerſheba euen to Dan, that they shulde come to kepe the Pässeouer vnto the Lord God of Israël at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, throughout all Israël and Iudáh, and with the commandment of the King, saying, Ye childre of Israël, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhák, and Israël, and he wil returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the Kings of Asshur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as ye se.

8 Be not ye now stiffnecked like your fathers, but giue the hád to the Lord & come into his Sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenes of his wrath shal turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne vnto y Lord, your brethren and your children shal finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shal returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and wil not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

10 ¶ So the postes went from citie to citie through the land of Ephraim and Manasséh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorn, and mocked them.

11 Ne er theles diuers of Asshur, and Manasséh, and of Zebulun humiliated them selues and came to Ierusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudáh, so that he gave them one heart to do the commandment of the King, and of the rulers, according to the worde of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem muche people, to kepe the feast of y vnleauened bread in the seconde moneth, a very great assemble.

14 ¶ And they arose, & toke away the altars that were in Ierusalem: and all those for incense toke they away, and cast them into the broke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slawe the Pässeouer the fourtente day of the seconde moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were ashamed, and sanctified them selues, and broght the burnt offrings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stode in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the blood, receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

Because there were manie in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of y Pässeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, & Manasséh, Issachár & Zebulun had not clenſed them selues, yet did eat the Pässeouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiáh prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be merciful toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to ſeek y Lord God, the God of his fathers, though he be not clenſed, according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiáh, & healed the people.

21 And the children of Israël that were present at Ierusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes w^h great ioye, and the Leuites, and the Priests praised the Lord, day by day, singing with lowde instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiáh spake comfortably vnto all y Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: & they did eat in that feast seuen dayes, & offred peace offrings, & praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assemble toke counsel to kepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioye.

24 For Hezekiáh King of Iudáh had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and seuen thousand shepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand shepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudáh reioyced with the Priests and the Leuites, & all the Congregation that came out of Israël, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israël, & that dwelt in Iudáh.

26 So there was great ioye in Ierusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israël there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heaven, to his holy habitation.

⁴ He commaunded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalém, to giue a ^d parte to the Priests, and Leuites, that they might be encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

⁵ ¶ And whē the commaundment was spread, the children of Israël brought abundance of first frutes, of corne, wine, & oyle, & honie, & of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

⁸ ¶ And when Hezekiáh & the princes came, and sawe the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Israël.

⁹ And Hezekiáh questioned the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

¹¹ ¶ And Hezekiáh commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them,

¹² And caryed in the first frutes, and the tithes, & the dedicate things faithfully: & ouer them was Conaniáh the Leuite, the chief, and Shimeí his brother the seconde.

¹⁴ And Koré the sone of Imnáh the Leuite porter toward the East, was ouer the things that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, & the holy things that were consecrate.

¹⁸ And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, & their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

²⁰ And thus did Hezekiáh throughout all Iudáh, and did wel, and vprightly, & truly before the Lord his God.

²¹ And in all the workes that he began for the service of the house of God, bothe in the Law and in the commandements, to seeke his God, he did it with all his heart, & prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

¹ After these things faithfully described, A Sannherib King of Asshur came, and entered into Iudáh, and besieged the strong cities, & thought to winne them for him selfe.

² When Hezekiáh sawe that Sannherib was come, & that his purpose was to fight against Ierusalém, ³ Then he took counsel with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie: and they did helpe him.

⁴ So many of the people assembled them selues, and stopt all the fountaines, and the ruer that ran through the middes of the countrey, saying, Why shulde the Kings of Asshur come, and finde muche water?

^k Who had also a portion & allowance in this distribution.

^l Meaning, that either by the faithful distributions of the officers, euerie one had their parte in the things that were offered, or els that their wiues & children were relieved, because the Leuites were faithful in their office, and so depended on them.

1 And he toke courage, and buylt all the broken wall, and made vp the towres, & another wall without, & repared a Mill^o in the citie of Dauid, and made many darts and shields.

6 And he set capitaines of warre ouer the people and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and

7 spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and courageous: feare not, neither be afraid for the King of Asshur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: for there be mo^e with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiâh King of Iudâh.

9 After this, did Sanneherib King of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalém (while he was against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiâh King of Iudâh and vnto all Iudâh that were at Ierusalém, saying,

10 Thus saith Sanneherib the King of Asshur, Wherein do ye trust, that ye wil remaine in Ierusalém, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiâh entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine & by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shal deliuer vs out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

12 Hath he not y^e same Hezekiâh take awaie his hie places and his altars and commanded Iudâh and Ierusalém, saying, Ye shal worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreies? Were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is he of all the gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that colde deliuer his people out of mine hand? that your God shulde be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiâh deceive you, nor seduce you after this sorte, neither beleue ye him: for none of all y^e gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hand and out of y^e hand of my fathers: how muche lesse shal your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, & against his seruant Hezekiâh.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israél and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreies colde not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shal not the God of Hezekiâh deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speache vnto the people of Ierusalém that were on the wall, to feare the and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalém, as against the gods of the people of the earth, even the workes of mans hands, 20 But Hezekiâh the King, and the Prophet Isaiâh the sonne of Amozⁿ prayed against this and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and capitaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur: so he returned with shame to his owne land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his owne bowels, slewe him there with the sworde.

22 So the Lord saved Hezekiâh and the inhabitants of Ierusalém from the hand of Sanneherib King of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and maintained the on euerie side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto y^e Lord to Ierusalém, and presents to Hezekiâh King of Iudâh, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thence forth.

24 In those dayes Hezekiâh was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

25 But Hezekiâh did not rendre accordig to the rewarde bestowed vpon him: for his heart was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudâh and Ierusalém.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiâh humbled him selfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalém, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the daies of Hezekiâh.

27 Hezekiâh also had exceedig muche riches & honour, & he gate him treasures of siluer, & of golde, and of precious stones, & of swete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheat, and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beastes, and rowes for the stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of shepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding muche.

30 This same Hezekiâh also stopped the vpper water springs of Gihon, and led the streight vnderneath toward y^e citie of Dauid Westward. so Hezekiâh prospered in all his workes.

31 But becauſe of the ambaffadours of the princes of Babel, which ſent vnto him to enquire of the wondre that was done in the land, God left him to ^u trye him, & to knowe all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnes, beholde, they are written in the viſion of Iſaiáh the Prophet, the ſonne of Amóz, in the booke of the Kings of Iudáh and Iſraél.

33 So Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers, and they buryed him in the higheſt ſepulchre of the ſonnes of Dauid: and all Iudáh and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém did him honour at his death. and Manasséh his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manasséh an idolater. 9 He cauſeth Iudáh to erre. 11 He led away priſoner into Babylon. 12 He prayeth to the Lord, and is deliuered. 14 He aboliseth idolatrie. 16 And ſetteth vp true religion. 20 He dyeth and Amón his ſonne ſuccedeth. 24 Whome his owne ſeruants ſlay.

2. King. 21. 1. Manasséh was twelue yere olde, * whē he began to reigne, and he reigned ſiue and fiftie yere in Ieruſalém:

2 And he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, like the abominacions of the heathen, * whome the Lord had caſt out before the children of Iſraél.

3 For he went backe and buylt the hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had broken downe: * and he ſet vp altars for Baalim, and made groues, and worſhiped all the hoſte of the heauen, and ſerued them.

4 Alſo he buylt altars in the houſe of the Lord, whereof the Lord had ſaid, * In Ieruſalém ſhal my Name be for euer.

5 And he buylt altars for all the hoſte of the heauē in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

6 * And he cauſed his ſonnes to paſſe through ſyre in the valley of Ben-hinnóm: he gaue him ſelfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to forcerie, and he vſed them that had familiar ſpirits, and ſotheſayers: he did verie much euil in ſyre ſight of the Lord to angre him.

7 He put alſo the karued image, which he had made, in the houſe of God: whereof God had ſaid to Dauid and to Salomón his ſonne, * In this houſe & in Ieruſalém, which I haue choſen before all the tribes of Iſraél, wil I put my Name for euer,

8 Nether wil * I make the ſoore of Iſraél to remoue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, ſo that they take hede, & do all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and ſtatutes and iudgements by the ^b hand of Moſes.

b By the charge giue to Moſes.

9 So Manasséh made Iudáh and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém to erre, & to do worſe then the heathen, whome the Lord had deſtroyed before the children of Iſraél.

10 ¶ And the Lord ſpake ^c to Manasséh & to his people, but they wolde not regarde.

11 Wherefore the Lord broght vpon them the captaines of the hoſte of the King of Aſſhúr, which toke Manasséh & put him in fetters, and bounde him in chaines, and carryed him to Babel.

12 And when he was in tribulaciō, he prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled him ſelfe greatly before ^y God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him. and God was ^d entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and broght him againe to Ieruſalém into his kingdome: the Manasséh knewe that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this he buylt a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the Weſtſide of ^e Gihón in the valley, euē at the entrie of the fiſh gate, & compaſſed about Ophél, and raiſed it very hie, and put captaines of warre in all the ſtrong cities of Iudáh.

15 And he toke away the ſtrange gods and the image out of the houſe of the Lord, and all the altars that he had buylt in the mount of the houſe of the Lord, and in Ieruſalém, and caſt them out of the citie.

16 Alſo he prepared the ^g altar of ^y Lord, and ſacrificed thereon peace offrings, and of thanks, and commanded Iudáh to ſerue the Lord God of Iſraél.

17 Neuertheles the people did ſacrifice ſtill in the hie places, but vnto ^y ^h Lord their God.

18 ¶ Concerning the reſt of the actes of Manasséh, and his ⁱ prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the Seers, that ſpake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Iſraél, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iſraél.

19 And his prayer and how God was intreated of him, and all his ſinne, and his trefpaſſe, and the places wherein he buylt hie places, and ſet groues and images (before he was humbled) beholde, they are written in the booke of ^j the Seers.

20 So Manasséh ſlept with his fathers, and they buryed him in his owne ^k houſe: and Amón his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

21 ¶ Amón was two and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yere in Ieruſalém.

22 But he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, as did Manasséh his father. for Amón ſacrificed to all the images, which Manasséh his father had made, and ſerued them,

23 And he humbled not him ſelfe before the Lord, as Manasséh his father had humbled him ſelfe: but this Amón trefpaſſed more and more.

1 Iosiah destroyeth the idoles, & And restoreth the Temple. 14 The booke of the Lawe is founde. 21 He sendeth to Huldah the propheteesse for counsel. 27 God heareth his prayer. 31 He maketh a covenant with God.

King. 22. 1

Iosiah was eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yere.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of David his father, and bowed nether to the right hand nor to the left.

a He followed David in all pointes that he followed the Lord.

3 And in the eight yere of his reigne (when he was yet a childe) he began to seke after the God of David his father: and in the twelfth yere he began to purge Iudáh, and Ierusalem from the hie places, and the groues, and the kerued images, and molten images:

b When he was but sixteene yere olde, he shewed him selfe zealous of Gods glorie, & at twentie yere olde he abolished idolatrie and restored true religion. c Which sheweth that he wolde see the reformation w his owne eyes.

4 And they brake downe in his sight the altars of Baalím, and he caused to cut downe the images that were on hie vpon them: he brake also the groues, & the kerued images, and the molten images, and stamp't them to poudre, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

d Read 2. King. 23. 16.

5 Also he burnt the bones of the Priests vpon their altars, and purged Iudáh and Ierusalem.

6 And in cities of Manasséh, & Ephraím, and Simeón, euen vnto Naphtalí, with their maules they brake all rounde about.

e This great zeale of this godlie King y holie Ghost setteth forth as an example & paterne to other Kings & rulers, to teach the what God requireth of them.

7 And when he had destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamp'd to poudre the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israël, he returned to Ierusalem.

f King 22. 3.

8 ¶ Then in the eightente yere of his reigne when he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphán the sonne of Azaliáh, and Maaseáh the gouernour of the citie, and Ioáh the sonne of Ioaház the recorder, to repara the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiáh the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the dore, had gathered at the hand of Manasséh, and Ephraím, & of all the residue of Israël, and of all Iudáh and Beniamín, and of the inhabitáts of Ierusalem.

g Or, they returned to Ierusalem, meaning, Shaphán, &c.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that shulde do the worke & had the ouersight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repara & amende the house.

11 Euen to the workemen & to the buylders gaue they it, to bye hewed stone and timber for couples & for beames of the houses, which the Kings of Iudáh had destroyed.

f For there were many porcions and pieces annexed to the Temple. g Meaning, y they were in suche credite for their fidelitie, that they made none account of that which they received, 2. King. 22. 9.

12 And the men did the worke & faithfully, and the ouerfeers of them were Iahárah and Obadiáh the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariáh, and Meshulám, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Leuites all that colde skil of instruments of musike.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdes, and them that set forward all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, & officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiáh the Priest founde the booke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hád of Moses.

h Read 2. King. 22. 8.

15 Therefore Hilkiáh answered and said to Shaphán the chanceler, I haue founde the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiáh gaue the booke to Shaphán.

16 And Shaphán caryed the booke to the King, and brought the King worde againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

i For y King was commanded to haue continually a copie of this booke, & to read therein day & night, Deut. 17. 18.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was founde in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerfeers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphán the chanceler declared to the King, saying, Hilkiáh the Priest hath giuen me a booke, & Shaphán read it before the King.

19 And when the King had heard the wordes of the Lawe, he tare his clothes.

k For sorrow that y worde of God had bene so long suppressed, and y people kept in ignorance, considering alie the cruelties committed therein against y iusts greifours.

20 And the King commanded Hilkiáh, and Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán, & Abdón the sonne of Micáh, & Shaphán the chanceler, and Asaiáh the Kings seruant, saying,

21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the rest in Israël and Iudáh, concerning the wordes of this booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord y is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the worde of the Lord, to do after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiáh and they that the King had appointed, went to Huldah the propheteesse the wife of Shallúm, the sonne of Tokháth, the sonne of Hafráh keeper of the wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the colledge) and they communed herewith her.

l Thus y godlie do not only lament their owne sinnes, but also that their fathers and predecessours haue offended God.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israël, Telye the man that sent you to me, m Or, Tikhah. n Meaning, gather of the Priests apparel, or of the Kings. o Read herof 2 King. 22. 15. p Thie is, to the King.

24 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, even all the curses, that are written in the booke which they haue red before the King of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsake me, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to angre me with all the workes of their hands, therefore shal my wrath fall vpon this place, & shal not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shal come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did not melt, and thou didest humble thy self before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy self before me and tarest thy clothes, and wepest before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Beholde, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shal not see all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King worde againe.

29 ¶ Then the King seat and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the smallest, and he red in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lord.

31 And the King stode by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, and to kepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, & with all his might, according to the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were founde in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stand to it: & the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, even the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah toke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his daies they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

Iosiah kepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth forth the Gods service. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, & dyeth. 24 The people bewaile him.

Moreouer Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, & they slawe the Passeouer in the fourtenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the service of the house of the Lord,

3 And he said vnto the Leuites, that taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did buyld: it shal be no more a burden vpon your shulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as Dauid the King of Israel hath written, & according to the writing of Salomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren the children of the people, and after the diuision of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and prepare your brethren that they may do according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the people shepe, lambes and kiddes, all for the Passeouer, even to all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, & thre thousand bullockes: these were of the Kings substance.

8 And his princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priests & to the Leuites: Hilkiyah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, even two thousand and six hundred shepe, & thre hundred bullockes.

9 Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nathanael his brethren, and Hashabiah and Iehiel, & Iozabab, chief of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fyue thousand shepe, & fyue hundred bullockes.

10 Thus the service was prepared, and the Priests stode in their places, also the Leuites in their ordres according to the Kings commandement:

11 And they slawe the Passeouer, & the Priests sprinkled the blood with their hands, & the Leuites slayed them.

12 And they toke away from the burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, & so of the bullockes.

13 And they roasted the Passeouer with fyre, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they sod in pottes, panns, and caulderns, & distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterwarde also they prepared for the selues & for the Priests: for the Priests the fannes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings, & the fat vntil night there, for the Leuites prepared for the selues, &

This shepe speakech in contempt of the idolaters, who contrarie to reason and nature maketh a god, which they haue made, and framed with their owne hands. ¶ This declarereth what is the end of Gods threatenings, to call his to repentance, & to assure the vnrepentant of their destruction.

It may appeare that very fewe were touched with true repentance, seeing that God spared the for a time onely for the Kings sake.

Forasmuch as neither yong nor old coulde be excepted from the curses contained therein, if they did transgresse, he knewe it appertained to all & was his due to see it red to all forces, that euery one might learne to auoyde those punishments by seruing God aright.

Because he had charge ouer all & must answer for euery one that perished, he thought it his due to see all that made profession to be true to the worde of God.

The Scripture is vnto in sundrie places to call the lambe the Passeouer, which was but the sign of the Passeouer, because in all sacraments the signs haue the names of the things which are signified. b So that the Leuites charge was not onely to minister in the Temple, but also to instruct the people in the worde of God. c As it was before the Temple was buylded, so it is now to teach the people, & to praise God. d Chro 23. 26. e Or, the people.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to kepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosiah.

17 And the childre of Israël that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seven dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that, in Israël, from the dayes of Samuél the Prophet: nether did all ^c Kings of Israël kepe suche a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, & all Iudáh, and Israël that were ^d present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalém.

THE PRAYER OF MANASSÉH King of the Iewes.

Lord almighty, God of our fathers, Abram, Isaac and Iacob, and of their righteous sede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the worde of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the depe and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whome all do feare & tremble before thy power: for the maie-stie of thy glorie can not be borne, & thine angrie threatening toward sinners is im-portable, but thy merciful promes is vnmeasurable & vnsearcheable. For thou art the moste high Lord, of great compassiō, long suffering & moste merciful, & repētest for mā miseries. Thou, O Lord, accordig to thy great goodnes hast promised a repentance & forgiuenes to them that sinne against thee, & for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that thei may be sauēd. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iuste, hast not appointed repentance to the iuste, as to Abram, and Isaac and Iacob, which haue not sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned about the nōber of the sand of the sea. My transgressions,

O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to beholde & se the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yrd bades, that I cā not lift vp mine head, nether haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euil before thee.
I did not thy wil, nether kept I thy com-mandements. I haue set vp abominacions & haue multiplied offenses. Now therefore I bowe the kne of mine heart, besechig thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, & I acknowledge my trasgressiōs:
but I humbly besече thee, forgiue me: O Lord, forgiue me, & destroye me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euil for me, nether condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shewe all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue me that am unworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I wil praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life. for all the power of the heauens praise thee, & thine is the glorie for euer & euer, Amen.

66 Their horses were seven hundred, & six and thirty. their mules, two hundred and five and fourtie:

67 Their camels foure hundred and five & thirtie: their asses, six thousand, seven hundred and twentie.

68 And certaine of the chief fathers, when they came to the house of the Lord, which was in Ierusalém, they offered willingly for the house of God, to set it vp vpon his fundacion.

69 They gaue after their habilitie vnto y treasure of the worke, even one and threescore thousand ^a drammes of golde, and five thousand ^a pieces of siluer and an hundred Priests garments.

70 So the Priests & the Leuites, and a certaine of the people, and the singers, & the porters, and the Nethinims dwelt in their cities, and all Israël in their cities.

CHAP. III.

1 They buyld the altar of God 6 They offer to the Lord.

2 They prepare for the Temple, 11 And sing vnto the Lord.

1 And when the ^a seuent moneth was come, and the children of Israël were in their cities, the people assembled them selues as one man vnto Ierusalém.

2 Then stode vp Ieshúa the sonne of Iozadák, and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabél the ^b sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, & buylded the altar of the God of Israël, to offer burnt offrings thereon, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God,

3 And they set the altar vpon his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreies) therefore they offered burnt offrings thereon vnto the Lord, even burnt offrings in the morning and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, and the burnt offering ^a daily, by nomber according to the custome day by day,

5 And afterward ^a the continual burnt offering, bothe in the new moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offered vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seuent moneth began they to offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord: but the fundacion of the Temple of the Lord was not laied.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meat and drinke, and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyrus, to bring the cedre wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto Iaphó, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus King of Persia.

8 ¶ And in the seconde yere of their coming vnto the house of God in Ierusalém in the ^e second moneth began Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshúa the sonne of Iozadák, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests and the Leuites, & all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Ierusalém, and appointed the Leuites from twenty yere olde & aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Ieshúa ^f stode with his sonnes, and his brethren, & Kadmiel with his sonnes, & the sonnes of Iudáh together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Henadák with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the buylders laied the fundacion of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, to praise the Lord, ^a after the ordinance of Dauid King of Israël.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thanks vnto the Lord, For he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer toward Israël. And all y people shouted with a great shoute, whe they praised the Lord, because the fundacion of the house of the Lord was layed.

12 Many also of the Priests and the Leuites and the chief of the fathers, ancient men, which had seene the first house, (when the fundacion of this house was layed before their eyes) ^g wept with a loude voyce: and many shouted a loude for ioye, 13 So that the people colde not discerne the founde of the shoute for ioye, from the noyce of the weping of the people: for the people shouted with a loude crye, and the noyce was heard farre of.

CHAP. IIII.

1 But the aduersaries of Iudáh and Béríamín heard, that the children of the captiuitie buylded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israël.

2 And they came to Zerubbabél, & to y chief fathers, and said vnto them, We wil buyld with you: for we seke the Lord your God as ye do: & we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esár Haddón King of Asshúr which broght vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabél, and Ieshúa, and the rest of the chief fathers of Israël, said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to buyld the house vnto our God: ^b for we our selues together wil buyld it vnto the Lord God of Israël, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commanded vs.

13 Be it knowne now vnto the King, that if this citie be buylt, & the fundació of the walles layed, thei wil not giue tolle, tribute, nor^k custome: so shalt thou hinder the Kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because^e we haue bene broght vp in the Kings palace, it was not mete for vs to se the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue we sent and certified the King,

15 That one may searche in the boke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the boke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this citie is rebellious and noysome vnto Kings and prouinces, and that thei haue moued sedicion of olde tyme, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the King therefore, that if this citie be buylded, and the fundacion of the walles layed, by this meanes the portion beyonde the Riuer shal not be thine.

17 ¶ The King sent an answer vnto Rehúm

the chancelour, and Shimshái the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyonde the Riuer, Shelám & m Cheéth.

18 ¶ The letter which ye sent vnto vs, hath bene openly red before me, 19 And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and founde, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against Kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed there.

20 There haue bene mightie Kings also ouer Ierusalém, which haue ruled ouer all beyonde the Riuer, and tolle, tribute, and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not buylt, til I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take hede now that ye faile not to do this: why shulde damage growe to hurt the King?

23 When the copie of King Artahshashtes lettre was red before Rehúm & Shimshái the scribe, & their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalém vnto the Iewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then^a ceased the woike of the house of God, which was in Ierusalém, and did stay vnto the secóde yere of Darius King of Persia.

1 THE Haggái a Prophet & Zecharíah the sonne of Iddó a Prophet prophesied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudáh, & Ierusalém, in the Name of the God of Israel, euen vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel, & Ieshúa the sonne of Iozadak arose, and began to buylde the house of God at Ierusalém, and with them were the Prophetes of God, which^a helped them.

3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tatnái, which was captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shether-boznái and their companions, & said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandemēt to buylde this house, and to lay the fundacions of these walles?

4 ^b Then said we vnto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that buylde this buylding?

5 But the^c eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they colde not cause them to cease, til the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters thei eunto.

7 They sent a lettre vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIVS the King, all peace.

8 Be it known vnto the King, that we wēt into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is buylded with great stones, and beames are layed in the walles, and this worke is wioight spedely, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to buyld this house, and to laye the fundacion of these walles?

10 We asked their names also, y^e we might certifie thee, & that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But thei answered vs thus, & said, We are the seruants of y^e God of heauen & earth, & buyld the house that was buylt of olde & many yeres ago, which a^d great King of Israel^e buylded, & founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzár King of Babél the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caryed the people away captiue vnto Babél.

13 But in the^e first yere of Cyrus King of Babél, Kig Cyrus made a decree to buyld this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde & siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzár took out of the Tēple, that was in Ierusalém, and broght them into the Temple of Babél, those did Cyrus the King take out of the Tēple of Babél, & they gaue them vnto one^f Sheshbazzár by his name, whome he had made captaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, & put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalém, and let the house of God be buylt in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzár and layed the fundacion of the house of God, which is in Ierusalém, and since that time euen vntil now, hath it bene in buylding, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the King, let there be seache made in the house of the Kings treasures, which is there in Babél, whether a decree hath bene made by King Cyrus, to buyld this house of God in Ierusalém, and let the King send his minde concerning this.

CHAP. VI.

At the commandement of Darius King of Persia, after the Temple was buylded and dedicate, the children of Israel kept the feast of unleauened bread.

1 Then King Darius gave commandement, and they made seache in the^g librarie of the treasures, which were there layed vp in Babél.

2 And there was founde in a^a coffie (in the palace that was in the prouince of the Medes) a volume, & therein was it thus writē, as a memorial,

3 IN THE FIRST yere of King Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Ierusalém, Let the house be buylt, euen the place where they offred sacrifices, & let the walles thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be thre score cubites, & the breadth thereof thre score cubites.

4 Thre^e orders of^e great stones, and one order of tymbre, and let the expences be giuen of the Kings house.

5 And also let them render y^e vessels of the house of God (of golde & siluer, w^h Nebuchadnezzár took out of the Tēple, which was in Ierusalém, and broght vnto Babél) and let^b him go vnto the Temple that is in Ierusalém to his place and put them in the house of God.

6 Therefore Tatnái captaine beyonde the Riuer, and Shethár Boznái, (& their companions Apharséaie, which are beyonde the Riuer) he ye farre^c from thence.

7 Suffre ye the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Iewes & the Elders of the Iewes may buyld this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commandement what ye shal do to the Elders of these Iewes for the buylding of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the King, which is of the tribute beyonde the Riuer, there be incessantly expences giuen vnto these mē that they^d cease not.

9 And that which thei shal haue nede of, let it be^e giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be yong bullockes, or rams, or lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heauen, wheat, salt, wine, & oyle, according to the appointmēt of the Priests that are in Ierusalém, that there be no faute,

10 That they may haue to offer swete odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the Kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, y^e whosoeuer shal alter this sentence, the wood shal be pulled downe from his house, and shal be set vp, & he shal be hanged thereon, & his house shal be made a dung hil for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his Name^e to dwel there, destroye all Kings and peopie that put to their hand to alter, and to destroye this house of God, which is in Ierusalém. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with spede.

13 ¶ Then Tatnái the captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shethár Boznái and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, so thei did spedely.

23 Whatsoeuer is by the commandement of the God of heauen, let it be done speedily for the house of the God of heauen: for why shulde he be wrath γ against the realm of the King, and his children?

16 Therefore sent I to Eliézer, to Ariél, to Shemeiáh, & to Elnathán, & to Iarib, and to Elnathán, and to Narián, and to Zechariáh, and to Meshullám the chief, and to Ioariób and to Elnathán, men of vnderstanding, 30 So the Priests and the Leuites receiued the weight of the siluer and of the golde, and of the vessels to bring them to Ierusalém, vnto the house of our God.

31 ¶ Then we departed from the Riuer of Abauá on the twelfth day of the first moneth, to go vnto Ierusalém, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemy, and of such as layed ^k waite by the way.

This declared that their journey was full of danger, and yet God deliuered the according to their prayer

32 And we came to Ierusalém, and abode there three dayes.

33 And on the fourte day was the siluer weighed, and the golde and the vessel in the house of our God by the hand of Meremóth the sonne of Vriáh the Priest, and with him was Eleazár the sonne of Phinchás, and with them was Iozabád the sonne of Ieshúa, and Noadiáh the sonne of Binnúí the ^l Leuites,

This was a token of a good conscience & of his integrity, that he wolde haue witnesses of his fidelity.

35 Also the childre of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Israél, twelue bullockes for all Israél, ninetie and six rams, seuentie and seuen lambes, and twelue he goats for sinne: all was a burnt offering of the Lord.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persones for the commoditie and profite of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preservation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiáh. Whereof the first was their capitaine, to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was buylded: the seconde reformed their maners and planted religion: & the third buylded vp the walles, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. He was a godlie man and in great autoritie with the King, so that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him moſte ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he coulde desire. This booke is also called of the latins the seconde of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

against thee, bothe I & my fathers house haue sinned:

^{Or, corrupted} 7 We haue^g grievously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.

^{Deut 30, 4} 8 I beseeche thee, remember the worde that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Ye wil transgresse, and I wil scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and kepe my commandments, and do them, though your scattering were to the vitermost parte of the heauē, yet wil I gather you from thence and wil bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my Name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants & thy people, whome thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseeche thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to^d feare thy Name, and, I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of^e this man: for I was the Kings butler.

^d That is, to worship thee.

^e To wit, the King Artahashasthe.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, he came to Ierusalem, 17 And buydea the walles.

^a Which was the first month of the yere & sōmeth part of Marche & part of April
^b Who is also called Darius read Ezr 7, 1.

NOW in the moneth^a Nisan in the twētieth yere of King Artahashasthe, the wine sode before him, and I toke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. now I was not before time sad in his presence.

2 And the King said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing, but sorowe of heart. Then was I fore afraid,

3 And I said to the King, God saue the King for euer: why shoulde not my countenance be sad, when the citie & house of sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste & the gates thereof are deuoured with fyre?

4 And the King said vnto me, For what thing dost thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen, ¹ I desired God in mine heart, to prosper mine enterprise.

And said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue founde fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou woldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may buyde it.

5 And the King said vnto me, (the quene also sitting by him) How long shal thy journey be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the King, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

^{Or, Ephraim} 7 After I said vnto the King, If it please thy King, let them giue me letters to the captaines beyonde the^h Riuer, that they may conuaye me ouer, til I come into Iudah,

And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the Kingsⁱ parke, that he may giue me timber to buyde the gates of the palace (which appertained to the walles) & for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shal entre into. And the King gaue me according to^d the good hand of my God vpon me.

^d As God moued me to aske, & as he gaue me good success the. xiii.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyonde the Riuer, & gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had sent captaines of the armie and horsmen with me.

10 But^e Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved the fore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

^e These were great enemies to the Iewes & laboured alwaye bothe by force & subtiltie to ouercome them. & Tobiah because his wife was a Ieweſſe, had aduertisement euer of th. ii. affaires and so wrought them great trouble.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, and a few men: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to do at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with me, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well, and to the dung porte, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fyre.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountaine, and to the Kings fish pool, & there was no iourne for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the broke, & viewed the wall, and turned backe, and comming backe, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whether I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tel it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

^f That is, concerned of other nations, is though God had forsaken vs.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, Ye see the miserie that we are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fyre: come and let vs buyde the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more for reproche.

^g They were encouraged & gaue them selues to do well, & to traueil in this worthy enterprise.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and also of the Kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise, & buyde. So they strengthened their hand to good.

^h These were three chief gouerners vnder the king of Persia beyonde Euphrates.

inhabitants of Zanuáh: they buylt it, and set on the dores thereof, ^j lockes thereof, & the barres thereof, euen a thousand cu-bites on the wall vnto the dung porte.

¹⁴ But the dung porte fortified Malchiáh, the sonne of Recháb, the ruler of ^k fourte parte of Beth haccárem: he buylt it, & set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

¹⁵ But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallúm, the sonne of Col-hozéh, the ruler of ^k fourte parte of Mizpáh: he buyl-ded it, and couered it, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoole of ^l Sheláh by the Kings garden, and vnto
the steppes that go downe from the citie
of Dauid.

fishpoole that was repared, and vnto the house of the mightie.

¹⁷ After him fortified the Leuites, Rehúm

CHAP. IIII.

7 The buylding of Ierusalém is hindred, 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes buylde with one hand, and holde their weapons in the other.

1 BVt when Sanballát heard that we buylded the wall, then was he wroth and foregriued, and mocked the Iewes,
 And said before his a brethien and the armie of Samaria, thus he said, What do these feake Iewes wil they foitifie the selues wil thei sacrifice wil thei finish it in a day wil they make the stones whole againe out of y heapes of dust, seing they are burnt
 3 And Tobíáh the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they buylde, yet if a foxe go vp, he shal euen breake downe their stony wall.

4 Heare, o our God (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray d in the land of their captiuitie,

5 And couer not their e iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for thei haue prouoked vs before the buylders.

6 So we buylt the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the h halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 ¶ But when Sanballát, and Tobíáh, & the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Ierusalém were repared, (for the breaches begā to be stopped) then thei were verie wroth,

8 And conspired altogether to come and to fight against Ierusalém, & to hinde the.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchemen by them, day & night, because of them.

10 And Iudáh said, The strength of y bearers is weakened, and thei can muche earth, so that we are not able to buylde the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, Thei shal not knowe, neither se, til we come into the middes of them and slaye them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs f ten times, & Fro all places whence ye shal returne, they wil be vpon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon y toppes of the stones, & placed y people by their families, with their swordes, their speares & their bowes,

14 Then I beheld, and rose vp, & said vnto the princes, & to the rulers, & to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: h remember the great Lord, & feareful, & fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne vnto vs, then God brought their counsel to noght, & we turned all againe to the wall, euerie one vnto his worke.

16 And fro that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe parte of them helde the speares, and shields, & bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stode
 i behinde all the house of Iudáh.

17 They that buylded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, & they that laded, did the worke with one hand, & with the other helde the sword.

18 For euerie one of the buylders had his sworde girde on his loynes, & so buylded:
 & he that blewe the trúpet, was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the soú-d of the trumpet, k resorte ye thither vnto vs: our God shal fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them helde the speares, from the appearing of the morning, til the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euerie one with his si ruant lodge within Ierusalém, that they may be a watche for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So nether I, nor my brethren, nor my ser-uants, nor the mé of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put of our clothes, saue euerie one put them of l for wasshing. CHAP. V.

c This declarereth the great zeale, that the people had to heare ſ wordes of God.

d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard.

e In conſidering their offences againſt the Law, therefore the Leuites do not reprove them for mourning, but aſſure the of Gods mercies to almuſche as they are repentant. f That is, remember, the poore g Reioyce in the Lord, and he wil giue you ſtrength.

AND all the people aſſembled them ſelues together, in ſtreat that was befoie the watergate, and they ſpake vnto Ezrá the ſcribe, that he wolde bring the boke of the Law of Moſes, which the Lord had commanded to Iſraél.

And Ezrá the Prieſt brought the Law before the Congregation bothe of men and women, and of all that coulde heare and vnderſtand it, in the firſt day of the ſeuent moneth,

And he red therein in the ſtreat that was before the watergate (from the morning vntil the midday) before men and women, and of them that vnderſtoode it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the boke of the Law.

And Ezrá the ſcribe ſtoode vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, & beſide him ſtoode Mattithiáh, and Shéma, and Ananiáh, and Vriiáh, & Hilkiah, and Maſeiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiáh, & Miſhaél, and Malchiáh, and Haſhúm, and Haſhabadana, Zechariáh, and Meſhullám.

And Ezrá opened the boke before all the people: for he was aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people ſtoode vp.

And Ezrá praſed the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amé, with liſting vp their háds: & they bowed them ſelues, and worſhiped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

Alſo Ieſhúa, and Baní, and Sherebiáh, Iamin, Akkáb, Shabbethái, Hoduiáh, Maſeiah, Kelitá, Azariáh, Iozabab, Hanán, Pelaiáh, & the Leuites cauſed the people to vnderſtand the Law, and the people ſtoode in their place.

And they red in the boke of the Law of God diſtinctly and gaue the ſenſe, & cauſed them to vnderſtand the reading.

Then Nehemiáh (which is Tirſhátá) and Ezrá the Prieſt & ſcribe, and the Leuites that inſtructed the people, ſaid vnto all the people, This daye is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, nether wepe: for all the people wept, whé they heard the wordes of the Law.

He ſaid alſo vnto them, Go, and eat of the fat, & drinke the ſwete, and ſend parte vnto them, for whome none prepared: for this daye is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not ſorry therefore: for the ioye of the Lord is your ſtrength.

And the Leuites made ſilence throughout all the people, ſaying, Holde your peace: for ſ daye is holy, be not ſad therefore.

Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to ſend away parte, & to make great ioye, becauſe they had vnderſtand the wordes that they had taught them.

And on the ſecóde daye the chief fathers of all the people, the Prieſts and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezrá the ſcribe, that he alſo might inſtru& them in the wordes of the Law.

And they founde writen in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded by Moſes) that the childre of Iſraél ſhulde dwell in boothes in the feaſt of the ſeuent moneth,

And that they ſhulde cauſe it to be declared and proclaimed in all their citie, and in Ieruſalém, ſaying, Go forth vnto the mount, and bring oliuebranches, and pinebranches, and branches of myrtus, and palmebranches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

So the people went forth and brought the & made them boothes, euerie one vpon the roſe of his houſe, and in their court, and in the courts of the houſe of God, & in the ſtreete by the watergate, and in the ſtreete of the gate of Ephráim.

And all the Congregation of them were come againe out of the captiuitie, made boothes, & ſate vnder the boothes: for ſince the time of Ieſhúa the ſonne of Nun vnto this daye, had not the children of Iſrael done ſo, & there was very great ioye.

And he red in the boke of the Law of God euerie daye, from the firſt daye vnto the laſt daye. And they kept the feaſt ſeuene dayes, & on the eight daye a ſolene aſſemblye, according vnto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

The people repent, & forſake their ſtrange wines: The Leuites exhorre them to praſe God, & Declaring his wonders, & And their ingratitude, & And Gods great mercies toward them.

IN the foure & twentieth daye of this moneth the children of Iſraél were aſſembled with faſting, & with ſackecloth, and earth vpon them.

(And they that were of the ſede of Iſrael were ſeparated from all the ſtrangers) & they ſtoode and confeſſed their ſinnes and the iniquities of their fathers.

And they ſtoode vp in their place and red in the boke of the Law of the Lord their God foure times on the daye, and they confeſſed and worſhiped the Lord their God foure times.

Then ſtoode vp vpon the ſtaires of the Leuites Ieſhúa, and Baní, Kadmiél, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiáh, Baní & Chenáni, & cryed with a loude voyce vnto the Lord their God.

And the Leuites ſaid, ené Ieſhúa & Kadmiél, Baní, Haſhabniáh, Sherebiáh, Hoduiáh, Shebaniah & Petahiah, Stād vp, & praſe the Lord your God for euer, & euer, & let them

- 6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all thĩgs that are therein, the seas, & all that are in thẽ, and thou preferuest them all, and the hoste of the heauen worshipeth thee.
- 7 Thou art, ó Lord, the God, that hast chosen Abrãam, & broghtest him out of * V^r in Caldea * and madest his name Abrahãam,
- 8 And foundest his heart faithful before thee, * and madest a couenant with him, to giue vnto his sede the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, & Perizzites, & Iebusites, and Gergashites, and hast performed thy wordes, because thou art iust.
- 9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their crye by the red Sea,
- 10 And shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaóh, and on all his seruants, & on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that thei dealt proudly agãist thẽ: therefore thou madest thee a Name, as appeareth this day.
- 11 * For thou didest breake vp the Sea before them, and they went through the middes of the Sea on drye lãd: and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottoms as a stone, in the mightie waters:
- 12 And * leddest thẽ in the daye with a pillar of a cloude, & in the night with a pillar of fyre to giue them light in the way that thei went.
- 13 * Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinã, and spakest vnto them from heauen, & gauest them right iudgements, & true lawes, ordinãces & good commandemẽts,
- 14 And declaredst vnto thẽ thine holy Sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, & ordinances, and laws, by the hand of Moyses thy seruant:
- 15 * And gauest them bread from heauen for their hungre, * & broghtest forth the water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: * & promisedst them that thei shulde go in, & take possession of the land: for the which thou haddest lift vp thine hand for to giue them.
- 16 But thei and our fathers behaued them selues proudly and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements,
- 17 But refused to obey, and wolde not remember thy maruelous workes that thou hadest done for them, but hardened their neckes and had in their heades to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, ó God of mercies, gracious and ful of compassion, of long suffering and of great mercie, yet forsokest them not.
- 18 Morcouer when they made them a molten calfe (and said, This is thy god y^e broght thee vp out of the land of Egypt) & committed great blasphemies,
- 19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsokest them not in the wildernes: * the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to lead them the way, nether the pillar of fyre by night, to shewe them light, & the way whereby they shulde go.
- 20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, & withheldst not thy M A N from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.
- 21 Thou didest also fede thẽ fourtie yeres in y^e wildernes: thei lacked nothĩg: * their clothes waxed not olde, and their fete swelled not.
- 22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and ^d scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed * the land of Sihon and the land of the King of Heshbon, & the land of Og King of Bashan.
- 23 And thou didest multiplie their childrẽ, like the starres of the heauen, & broghtest them into the lãd, whereof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers, that they shulde go, and possesse it.
- 24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hãds, with their Kings and the people of the land, that they might do with them what they wolde.
- 25 And they toke their strõg cities and the fat land, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyardes, & oliues, and trees for fode in abundance, and they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, & lued in pleasure through thy great goodnes.
- 26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled agãist thee, & cast thy Law behinde their backs & slewe thy Prophetes (which ^e protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.
- 27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed thẽ: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.
- 28 But when they had ^f rest, they returned to do euil before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that thei had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

31 Yet for thy great mercies, thou hast not consumed them, nether forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 Now therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie and terrible, that kepest couenant and * mercie, let not all the affliction that hathe come vnto vs, seme a litle before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our princes, & to our Priests, and to our Prophetes and to our fathers, & to all thy people since the time of the Kings of Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou * hast delt truely, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandments nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast protested among them.

2 Because they met not the children of Israël wth bread & with water, ^a but hired Baalam against the, that he shulde curse the. & our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israël ^a all those that were mixed.

4 ¶ And before ^b this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being ^c kinsman to Tobíah:

5 And he had made him a great chamber & there had the aforetime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the fingers, & the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalém: for in the two and thirtieth yere of ^d Artahhashtre King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and ^e after certeine dayes I obtained of the King.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalém, I vnderstode ^e y^e euil that Eliashib had done for Tobíah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, 8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all y^e vessels of the house of Tobíah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleane the chambers: and thether broght I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meat offering and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the porcions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euerie one was fled to his lād, euen the Leuites & fingers that executed the worke.

11 Thē reproved I the rulers & said, Why is the house of God forsakē? And I assem- bled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then broght all Iudáh the tithes of corne & of wine, & of oyle vnto y^e treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer y^e treasures, Shelemiáh the Priest, & Zadók the scribe, & of the Leuites, Pedaiáh, & vnder their hand Hanán the sonne of Zaccúr the sonne of Mattaniáh: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

16 There dwelt men of Tyus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudáh euen in Ierusalém.

17 Then reproofed I the rulers of Iudáh, & said vnto them, What euil thing is this that ye do, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie: yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israël, in breaking the Sabbath?

19 And when the gates of Ierusalém began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they shulde not be opened til after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there shulde no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalém.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I wil lay hands vpon you. Fro that time came they nomore on the Sabbath.

25 Then I reproofed them, and cursed them, and smote certeine of them, and pulled of their heere, & toke an othe of them by God, Ye shal not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, nether shal ye take of their daughteis vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

THE ARGUMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, wherely they vsed to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeres, wherem the Ebrewes, and the Grecians do varie, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahshuerush, but it smeth Daniél 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and sonne of Asthyage, called also Ahshuerush, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chief, as the sheid Herein is declared the great mercies of God towards his Church, who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, he euer sturreth vp some, by whome he sendeth comfort, and deliverance. Herein also is described the ambicio, pride and cruelty of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their soltye fall when they are at highest. and how God preferreth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glorie, and haue a care and loue towards their bretheren.

CHAP. I.

^a King Ahasuerus maketh a royal feast, ¹⁰ Whereto the Quene Vashti wil not come, ¹⁹ For which cause she is diuorced. ²⁰ The Kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

^a Called also Darius, who was now the fouering Monarch, & had gouernemet of the Medes, Persians and Chaldeans some thinke he was Darius Hytaspis sonne, called also Artaxerxes ^b Daniel chap 6, 1 maketh mention but of six score, leaving out the number that is vnderwritten, as the Scripture in sundry places weth ^c That is, had rest, and quietnes ^d Nehem. 1, 1.

IN the dayes of Ahasuerus (this is Ahasuerus that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundredeth, and seuen and twentie prouinces)

In those dayes when the King Ahasuerus fate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

In the thirde yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

That he might shewe the riches & glorie of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie manie dayes, euen an hundredeth and foure score dayes.

And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, bothe vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the courte of the garden of the Kings palace, Vnder an hanging of white, grene, and blewe clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beddes were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaister, and blewe coulour.

And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessel, and royal wine in abundance according to the power of the King.

And the drinking was by an ordre, none might compel: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they shulde do according to euerie mans pleasure.

The Quene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royal house of King Ahasuerus.

^g Which was the last day of the feast that the King made for his people, as verse 5.

Vpon the seuent day when the King was mery with wine, he commanded Memucan, Biztha, Habor, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen eunuchs (that stode in the presence of King Ahasuerus)

To bring Quene Vashti before the King with her crowne royal, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to loke vpon.

But the Quene Vashti refused to come at the Kings worde, which he had giuen in charge to the eunuchs: therefore the King was very angrie, and his wrath kindled in him.

Then the King said to the wise men, that knewe the times (for so was the Kings maner towardes all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena & Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the Kings face, and fate the first in the kingdome)

What shal we do vnto Quene Vashti according to the lawe, because she did not according to the worde of the King Ahasuerus by the commission of the eunuchs?

Then Memucan answered before the King and the princes, The Quene Vashti hath not onely done euil against the King, but against all the princes, & against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerus.

For the acte of the Quene shal come abroad vnto all women, so that they shal despise their husbands in their owne eies, and shal say, The King Ahasuerus commanded Vashti the Quene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

So shal the princesses of Persia & Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, whe they heare of the acte of the Quene, thus shal there be muche despitefulness and wrath.

If it please the King, let a royal decree procede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come nomore before King Ahasuerus, and let the King giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (thogh it be great) all the women shal giue their husbands honour, bothe great and small.

And thus saying pleased the King & the princes, & the King did according to the worde of Memucan.

For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euerie prouince according to the writig thereof, & to euerie people after their language, that euerie man shulde beare rule in his owne house, and that he shulde publish it in the language of that same people.

CHAP. II.

After the Quene is put away, certaine yong maidens are brought to the King. 14 Ester pleaseth the King, & is made Quene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that wolde betray him.

all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let thé gather all the beautiful yong virgins vnto the palace of Shuſhán, into the houſe fication.

4 And the maid that ſhal pleaſe the King, let her reigne in the ſtead of Vaſhti. And this pleaſed the King, and he did ſo.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shuſhán, there was a certaine Iewe, whoſe name was Mordecái the ſonne of Iair, the ſonne of Shimeí, the ſonne of Kíſh a man of Iemún,

6 Which had bene caryed away from Ieruſalém ^e with the captiuitie that was caried away with Iekoniáh King of Iudáh (whome Nebuchadneczzár King of Babél had caryed away)

7 And he nourished Hadaffáh, that is Eſtér, his vnckles daughter: for ſhe had nether father nor mother, and the maid was faire, and beautiful to loke on: & after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecái toke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, & his decree was publiſhed, and manie mai-des were brought together to the palace of Shuſhán, vnder the hád of Hegé, Eſtér was brought alſo vnto the Kings houſe vnder ^ſ hand of Hegé the keeper of the women.

9 And the maid pleaſed him, and ſhe founde fauour in his ſight: therefore he cauſed her things for purification to be giuen her ſpedely, and her ^ſ ſtate, and ſcuen comely maid: to be giuen her out of the Kings houſe, and he gaue change to her and to her maidens of the beſt in the houſe of the women.

10 But Eſtér ſhewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecái had charged her, that ſhe ſhulde not tel it.

11 And Mordecái walked ^e euerie day before the courte of the womens houſe, to knowe if Eſtér did wel, and what ſhulde be done with her.

12 And when the courſe of euerie maid came, to go into King Ahaſhueróſh, after that ſhe had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for ſo were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, ſix moneths with oyle of myrre, & ſix moneths with ſweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maids vnto the King) whatſoeuer ſhe required, was ^f giuen her, to go with her out of the womens houſe vnto the Kings houſe.

14 In the euening ſhe went, and on the mo-row ſhe returned into the ſeconde houſe of the women vnder the hand of Shaafhgáz the Kings eunuche, which kept the cócubines: ſhe came into the King nomo-re, except ſhe pleaſed the King, & that ſhe were called by name.

15 Now when the courſe of Eſtér ^ſ daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecái (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, ^ſ ſhe ſhulde go in to the King, ſhe deſired nothing, but what ^g Hegé the Kings eunuche the keeper of the women ſaid: and Eſtér founde fauour in the ſight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Eſtér was takē vnto King Ahaſhueróſh into his houſe royal in the tenth mo-neth, which is the ^h month Tebéth, in the ſeuenth yere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Eſtér aboue all the women, and ſhe founde grace and fauour in his ſight more then all the virgins: ſo that he ſet the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, & made her Quene in ſteade of Vaſhti.

18 Then the King made a great feaſt vnto all his princes and his ſeruants which was the feaſt of Eſtér and gaue reſt ^h vnto the prouinces, and gaue giſtes, according to the power of a King.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the ſeconde time, then Mordecái ſate in the Kings gate.

20 Eſtér had not yet ſhewed her kinred nor her people, as Mordecái had charged her:
for Eſtér did after the worde of Mordecái, as when ſhe was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In thoſe daies when Mordecái ſate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunu-ches, Bigtán and Téieſh, which kept the dore, were wroth, & ſought to lay ^h hand on the King Ahaſhueróſh.

22 And the thing was knowē to Mordecái, and he tolde it vnto Quene Eſtér, and Eſtér certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquiſitió was made,
it was founde ſo: therefore thei were bothe hanged on a tre: and it was written in the booke of the ⁱ Chronicles before the King.

ded cōcerning him: but Mordecái bowed not the knee, nether did reuerence.

Then the Kings ſeruants which were at the Kings gate ſaid vnto Mordecái, Why tranſgreſſeſt thou the Kings commande-^{ment}?

And albeit they ſpake daiely vnto hí, yet he wolde not heare them: therefore they tolde Hamán, that they might ſhew Mordecáis matters wolde ſtād: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe.

And when Hamán ſawe that Mordecái bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Hamán was ful of wrath.

Now he thought it to litle to lay hands onely on Mordecái: & becauſe they had ſhewed him the people of Mordecái, Hamán ſoght to deſtroye all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahaſhueróſh, euen ſ^e people of Mordecái.

In the fiſt moneth (that is the moneth Níſán) in the twelfth yere of King Ahaſhueróſh, they caſt Pur (that is a lot) before Hamán, from day to day, and frō moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adár.

Then Hamán ſaid vnto King Ahaſhueróſh, There is a people ſcattered, and diſperſed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they do not obſerue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to ſuffe them.

If it pleaſe the King, let it be written that they may be deſtroyed, & I wil paye ten thouſand talents of ſiluer by the hánds of them that haue the charge of this buſines to bring it into the Kings treaſurie.

Then the King toke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Hamán the ſonne of Hammedátha the Agagite the Iewes aduerſarie.

And the King ſaid vnto Hamán, Let ſiluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaſeth thee.

Then were the Kings ſcribes called on the thirtieth day of the fiſt moneth, and there was written (according to all that Hamán commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euerie prouince, and to the rulers of euerie people & to euerie prouince, accordig to the writing thereof, & to euerie people according to their language: in the name of King Ahaſhueróſh was it written, and ſealed with the Kings ring.

And the lettres were ſent by poſtes into all the Kings prouinces, to rote out, to kill and to deſtroye all the Iewes, bothe yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adár) and to ſpoile them as a pray.

The contents of the writing was, that there ſhulde be giuen a cōmandmēt in all prouinces, & publiſhed vnto all people, that thei ſhulde be ready againſt the ſame day.

And the poſtes compelled by the Kings cōmandement went forth, and the cōmandement was giue in the palace at Shuſhan: and the King and Hamán ſate drinking, but the citie of Shuſhan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. III.

Mordecái giveth the Queene knowledge of the cruel decree of the King againſt the Iewes 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

Now when Mordecái perceiued all that was done, Mordecái rent his ciotches, and put on ſackcloth, & aſhes, and went out into the middes of the citie, & cryed with a great crye, and a bitter.

And he came eue before the Kings gate, but he might not entre within the Kings gate, being clothed with ſackcloth.

And in euerie prouince, & place, whether the Kings charge and his commiſſion came, there was great ſorowe among the Iewes, and faſting, & weping and mournig, and many laye in ſackcloth & in aſhes.

Then Eſters maides and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauy, and ſhe ſent raiment to clothe Mordecái, and to take away his ſackcloth frō him, but he receiued it not.

Then called Eſtér Hatách one of ſ^e Kings eunuches, whome he had appointed to ſerue her, and gaue him a cōmandement vnto Mordecái, to knowe what it was, and why it was.

So Hatách wēt forth to Mordecái vnto the ſtreat of the citie, which was before the Kings gate.

And Mordecái tolde hí of all that which had come vnto him, and of the ſumme of the ſiluer that Hamán had promiſed to paye vnto the Kings treaſures, becauſe of the Iewes, for to deſtroye them.

Alſo he gaue him the copie of the writig & commiſſion that was giuen at Shuſhan, to deſtroye theſe that he might ſhew it vnto Eſtér and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that ſhe ſhulde go in to the King, & make peticion and ſupplication before him for her people.

So when Hatách came, he tolde Eſtér the wordes of Mordecái.

Then Eſtér ſaid vnto Hatách, and commanded him, to ſay vnto Mordecái,

All the Kings ſeruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do knowe, that whoſoeuer, man or woman, that cometh to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a lawe of his,

that he ſhal dye ; except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rod, that he may liue . Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King theſe thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecái of Eſters wordes.

13 And Mordecái ſaid , that thei ſhulde answer Eſtér thus , Thinke not with thy ſelf that thou ſhalt eſcape in the Kings houſe , more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdeſt thy peace at this time , comfort and deliuerance ſhal appeare to the Iewes out of another place , but thou and thy fathers houſe ſhal periſh : and who knoweth whether thou art come to this kingdome for ſuch a time ?

15 Then Eſtér commended to answer Mordecái ,

16 Go , & aſſemble all the Iewes that are found in Shuſhán , & faſt ye for me , & eat not , nor drinke in thre dayes , day nor night . I alſo and my maides wil faſt likewiſe , and ſo wil I go in to the King , which is not according to the Law : and if I periſh , I periſh .

17 So Mordecái went his way , and did according to all that Eſtér had commanded him .

CHAP. V.

1 Eſtér entreth in to the King , and biddeth him and Hamán to a feaſt . 11 Hamán prepareth a galous for Mordecái .

1 ANd on the third day Eſtér put on her royal apparel , and ſtoode in the court of the Kings palace within , ouer againſt the Kings houſe : and the King ſate vpon his royal throne in the Kings palace ouer againſt the gate of the houſe .

2 And when the King ſawe Eſtér the Queene ſtanding in the court , ſhe found fauour in his ſight : & the King helde out the gold ſceptre : ſhe was in his hád : ſo Eſtér drewe nere , and touched the toppe of the ſceptre .

3 Then ſaid the King vnto her , What wilt thou , Queene Eſtér ? & what is thy requeſt ? it ſhal be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome .

4 Then ſaid Eſtér , If it pleaſe the King , let the King and Hamán come this day vnto the báket , ſo I haue prepared for him .

5 And the King ſaid , Cauſe Hamán to make haſt that he maie do as Eſtér hath ſaid . So the King and Hamán came to the báket that Eſtér had prepared .

6 And the King ſaid vnto Eſtér at the báket of wine , What is thy petition , that it may be giuen thee ? and what is thy requeſt ? it ſhal euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome .

7 Then answered Eſtér , and ſaid , My petition and my requeſt is ,

8 If I haue founde fauour in the ſight of the King , and if it pleaſe the King to giue me my petition , and to performe my requeſt , let the King and Hamán come to the banket that I ſhal prepare for them , & I wil do tomorowe according to the Kings ſaying .

9 Then went Hamán forth the ſame day ioyful & with a glad heart . But when Hamán ſawe Mordecái in the Kings gate , that he ſtoode not vp , nor moued for him , then was Hamán ful of indignacion at Mordecái .

10 Neuertheles Hamán refrained him ſelf : and when he came home , he ſent , and called for his friends , and Zéreſh his wife .

11 And Hamán tolde them of the glorie of his riches , and the multitude of his children , and all the things wherein the King had promoted him , and how that he had ſet him aboute the princes and ſeruants of the King .

12 Hamán ſaid moreouer , Yea , Eſtér the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banket that ſhe had prepared , ſaue me : and tomorowe am I bidden vnto her alſo with the King .

13 But all this doeth nothing auaille me , as long as I ſe Mordecái the Iewe ſitting at the Kings gate .

14 Then ſaid Zéreſh his wife and all his friends vnto him , Let them make a tre of fiftie cubites hie , and tomorowe ſpeake thou vnto the King , that Mordecái may be hanged thereon : the ſhalt thou go ioyfully with the King vnto the banket . And the thing pleaſed Hamán , and he cauſed to make the tre .

CHAP. VI.

2 Then it was founde written that Mordecái had tolde of Bigtána , & Téreſh two of the Kings eunuches , keepers of the dore , who ſoght to lay hands on the King Ahaſueróſh .

- 2 And the King said againe vnto Ester on the seconde day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giue thee and what is thy request? It shalbe euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.
- 3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue founde fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, & my people at my request.
- 4 For we are solde, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slayne and to perish: but if we were solde for seruants, & for handmaidens, I wolde haue helde my tongue: although the aduersarie colde not recompense the Kings losse.

- 5 The King Ahashuerósh answered, & said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he & where is he that presumeth to do thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersarie and enemye is this wicked Hamán. Then Hamán was afrayed before the King & the Queene.

- 7 And the King arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, & went into the palace garden: but Hamán stode vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he sawe that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Hamán was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sat: therefore the King said, Wil he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the worde wet out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamáns face.

- 9 And Harbonáh one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the King, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamáns house fittie cubites hie, which Hamán had prepared for Mordecái, that spake good for the King. Then the King said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Hamán on the tre, that he had prepared for Mordecái: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

- 1 After the death of Hamán was Mordecái exalted, 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

1 THE same day did King Ahashuerósh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecái came before the King: for Ester tolde what he was vnto her.

- 2 And the King toke of his ring, which he had taken from Hamán, and gaue it vnto Mordecái: and Ester set Mordecái ouer the house of Hamán.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his fete weeping, and besought him that he wolde put away the wickednes of Hamán the Agagite, and his deuise that he had imagined against the Iewes.

- 4 And the King helde out the goldē sceptre toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stode before the King,

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue founde fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuise of Hamán the sonne of Ammedátha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroye the Iewes,

For how can I suffer and se the euil, that shal come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and se the destruction of my kinred?

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no^e man reuoke)

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioye and gladnes, and honour.

17 Also in all and euerie prouince, and in all and euerie citie and place, where the Kings commandement & his decree came, there was ioye and gladnes among the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

C H A P. I X.

1 At the commandement of the King the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Hamán are hanged. 17 The Iewes kepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

1 SO in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adái, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drewe nere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it^e turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Iewes gathered the selues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerósh, to laye hand on suche as sought their hurt, and no man colde withstande them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, & the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King^e exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecái fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecái was great in the Kings house, and the reporte of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecái waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their^e enemies with strokes of the sworde and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they wolde vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushán the palace slewe y^e Iewes and destroyed^e five hundredth men,

7 And Parshandátha, and Dalphón, and Aspátha,

8 And Poiátha, and Adaliá, and Aridátha,

9 And Parmáshta, and Arisái, and Aridái, and Varezátha,

10 The ten sonnes of Hamán, the sonne of Ammedátha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slewe they: but they layed not their háds^e on the spoyle.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushán before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Quene Ester, The Iewes haue slayne in Shushán the palace and destroyed five hundredth men, and the ten sonnes of Hamán: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreover, that it may be p^eformed?

13 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morrowe to the Iewes that are in Shushán, to do according^e vnto m Corrupted them selues to the Iewes religion.

a This was by Gods great providence, who turneth y^e ioye of the wicked into sorow, & the teares of the godlie into gladnes.

b Did the honour, & shewed the friendship.

c Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Hamán.

d Besides those three hundredth, y^e they slewe the seconde day, as verily.

e Whereby they declared, that this was Gods iust iudgement vpon y^e enemies of his Church, forasmuch as they sought their owne gaine, but to receive his vengeance.

Or, went about to slay the Iewes.

o This was y^e lawe of the Medes & Persians, as Dan 6.15 notwithstanding the King reuoked the former decree graced to Hamán, for Esters sake. f Which concerneth parte of May and parte of Iune.

g That is, in suche letters & language, as was vsed in euerie prouince.

Or, mules.

h That is, to defend them selues against all that wolde assaile them.

i Which hath parte of February & part of Marche.

k The King gaue them liberty to kill all y^e did oppose them.

l He sheweth by these wordes that follow what this light was.

f These are the requirments for the feast of vengeance, but it is to be Gods judgement against his enemies.

h Meaning of they laid hands on none, they were not the enemies of God

i Meaning, in all places fasting in Shushan.

k As the Jewes do, unto this day, calling it in the Persians language Purim, that is the day of lots l The Jewes gather hereof that Mordecái wrote this storie, but it seemeth that he wrote but onely their letters, and decrees that followed.

m He setteth before our eyes the vie of this feast, which was for the remembrance of Gods deliuerance, the maintenance of mutual friendship, and relief of the poore.

unto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tre Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the King charged to do so, and the decree was giuen at Shushán, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shushán, assembled them selues vpon the fourtenth day of the moneth Adár, and slewe thre hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoile they layed not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces assembled the selues, and stode for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, & slewe of them that hated them, ^h seuentie and fyue thousand: but they layed not their hand on the spoile.

17 This they did on the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourtenth day thereof, and kept it a daye of fasting and ioye.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushán, assembled them selues on the thirtenth day, & on the fourtenth thereof, & then rested on the fiftenth of the same, & kept it a day of fasting and ioye.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalld townes, kept the fourtenth day of the moneth Adar with ioye and feasting, even a ioyful day, and euerie one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecái wrote these wordes, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahastuerósh, both nere and farre, 21 Inioining them that they shulde kepe the fourtenth day of the moneth Adár, and the fiftenth day of the same, euerie yere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorow to ioye, and from mourning into a ioyful day, to keep them the dayes of feasting, and ioye, and ^m to send presents euerie man to his neighbour, and giftes to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begunne, and as Mordecái had written vnto them, 24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroye them, & had cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroye them.

25 And when she came before the King, he comanded by letters, Let his wicked purpose (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tre.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this lettre, and of that which they had sene besides this, & of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordeined, and promised for them and for their seds, and for all that ioined vnto them, that they wolde not faile to obserue those two dayes euerie yere, according to their writing, and according to their season,

28 And that these dayes shulde be remembered, and kept throughout euerie generation and euerie familie, and euerie prouince, and euerie cite: euere these dayes of Purim shulde not faile among the Iewes, and the memorial of them shulde not perish from their seds.

29 And the Quene Ester the daughter of Abihail & Mordecái the Iewe wrote with all autoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the seconde time)

30 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundredth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahastuerósh, with wordes of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme these dayes of Purim according to their seasons, as Mordecái the Iewe and Ester the Quene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them "selues and for their seds with fasting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these wordes of Purim, & was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

The estimation and autoritie of Mordecái.

1 After that King Ahastuerósh layed a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecái, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecái the Iewe was the seconde vnto King Ahastuerósh, and great among the Iewes, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the welth of his people, & spake peaceably to all his seds.

I O B.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde, and conscience by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chief friends: which by their vehement wordes, and subtil disputations broght him almoste to dispaire. for they set forth the God as a seuerer iudge, and mortal enemy vnto him, which had caste him of, therefore in vaine he shoulde seke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolacion, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handeleth it euil: agayne his aduersaries haue an euil matter, but they defend it crasiely. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knewe not the cause, and therefore man colde not reason aganst God therein, but he shoulde be conuicted. Moreover he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, & affliction he brasteth forth into manie inconueniences bothe of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe as a desperate man in manie things, and as one that wolde resist God: and thus is his good cause which he doeth not handel wel. Agayne the aduersaries mainteine with manie goodlie argumēts, that God punisheth continually according to the trespis, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intencion is euil: for they labour to bring Iob into dispaire, and so they mainteine an euil cause. Ezechiel commendeth Iob as a iuste man, Ezech. 14, 14, and Iames setteth out his patience for an example, Iam. 5, 11.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The holines, riches, and care of Iob for his children.
20 Satán hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children.
20 His fasts and patience.

^a That is, of the country of Idumea, as Lam. 4, 21, or bordering thereupon. for the land was called by the name of Vz the sonne of Dathan the sonne of Seir, Genes. 36, 32 ^b Forasmuche as he was a Gentle and not a Iewe, & yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.
^c Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright, and iuste man
^d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his prosperitie, & his packe, & confesse whē God had take them from him.

Here was a mā in the lād of a Vz called Iob, and this mā was an vpright and iuste man, one that feared God, & eschewed euil.

And he had seue sonnes, and thre daughters.

- 3 His substance also was seuen thousand shepe, and thre thousand camels, and fyue hundred yoke of oxen, and fyue hundred asses, and his familie was verie great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.
4 And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euerie one his day, and sent, & called their thre sisters to eat & to drinke with them.
5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified the, and rose vp early in the morning, and offered burnt offrings according to the number of the all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euerie day.

- 6 ¶ Now on a day when the children of God came and stode before the Lord,

^f That is, comāded them to be sanctified meaning, that they shoulde consider the fautes, that they had committed, & recoile them selues for the same
^g That is, he offered for euerie one of his children an offering of reconciliation, which declared his religiō toward God & the care that he had toward his children ^h In Ebrewe it is and blessed God, which is some time taken for blaspheming and cursing, as here, and 1 King 21, 10 and 11, &c.
ⁱ While the feast lasted
^k Meaning, the Angels which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willing to execute his wil ^l Because our infirmities cā not comprehend God in his iusticie, he is set forth the vto vs as 1 King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that, which is spokē of him.

Satán came also among them.

- 7 Then the Lord said vnto Satán, Whēce comest thou? And Satán answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

- 8 And the Lord said vnto Satán, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euil.

- 9 The Satán answered the Lord, and said, Doeth Iob feare God for nought?

- 10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hathe on euerie side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is encreased in the land.

- 11 But stretche out now thine hand and touche all that he hathe, to see if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.

- 12 Then the Lord said vnto Satán, Lo, all that he hathe is in thine hand. onely vpō him selfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satán departed from the presence of the Lord.

- 13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

- 14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

- 15 And the Shabeans came violently, & toke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

^m This declareth that although Satán be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and do him all homage, without whose permission, & appointment he cā do nothing ⁿ This questiō is asked for our infirmities: for God knewe whence he came ^o Herein is described the nature of Satán, which is euer ranging for his pray.
^p He feareth the Lord for his owne sake, but for the commodity that he receiveth by thee

^q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob as a ramparte against all tentations.

^r This significeth that Satán is not able to touche vs, but it is God that must do it.

^s Satán noteth the vice, whereunto we are commonly subiect. that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie

^t God giueth not Satán power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him
^u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to do
^x That is, the Arabians.

16 And

God giueth not Satán power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him
^u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to do

v Which this was also done by 3 craft of Satán to tempt Iob the more grievously, for as much as he might see, that not ouely men were his enemies, but that God might warre against him. This last plague declareth, that when one plague is past, which is much harder to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grievous, to trye his, & teache them obedience. a Which came not of impacience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible live blockes, but 3 in their patience they feele affliction, and grief of minde yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do.

Ezek. 14. 14.

c He proueth Iobs integrity by this, that he ceased not to feare God, when his plagues were grievously vpon him. d That is, when 3 he haust ought against him, or when thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe. e Hereby he meaneth that a mans owne sinne is dearer vnto him then another mans. f Meaning his owne persone. g Thus Satán can go no further in hurting the 3 God, his liue liued into vnto

3 And the Lord said vnto Satán, Hast thou not considered my se, vnto Iob, how none is like him in the earth? a vpright and iuste man, one that feareth God, and eschuech euil? for yet he continueth in his vprightnes, c although thou mouedst me against him, to destroye d him without cause.

4 And Satán answered the Lord, and said, e Skin for skin, & all that euer a mā hathe, wil he giue for his life.

5 But stertche now out thine hand, and touche his f bones and his flesh, to se if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satán, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue g his life.

7 ¶ So Satán departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with fore boyles, from the sole of his fote vnto his crowne.

8 And he took a potsharde to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

9 The said his h wife vnto him, Doeſt thou continue yet in thine vprightnes? m Blasphe me God, and dye.

10 But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what n shal we receiue good at the hand of God, and not receiue euil? In all this did not Iob sinne with his o lippes.

11 Now when Iobs three p friends heard of all this euil that was come vpon him, they came euerie one from his owne place, to wit, Elipház the Temanite, and Bildád the Shuhite, and Zophár the Naamathite. for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knewe him not. therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euerie one of them rent his garment, & spinkled q dust vpon their heades toward the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the grounde seuen dayes, and seuen nights, & none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the grief was very r great.

uous temptation of the faithful, when their faith is assailed, and when Satán goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in God in vayne. m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, & so the ment that he shulde be loone ridde out of his peine. n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioice, when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be bothe mercifull and iuste. o He so bridled his affections, that his tongue through impacience did not murmur against God. p Which were men of authority, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceived an euil opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in thosē countreys, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorowe &c. r And therefore thought that he wolde not haue hearkened to their counsel.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to dye, as though death were the end of all mā miserie.

2 Afterward a Iob opened his mouth, and b cursed his day.

3 And Iob cryed out, and said,

4 Let the daye c perish, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was said, There is a man child conceived.

5 Let y day be darkened, let not God d regarde it from aboue, nether let the light shine vpon it,

6 But let darkenes, & the e shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, & let them make it feareful as a bitter day.

7 Let darkenes possesse that night, let it not be ioined vnto the dayes of the yere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

8 Yea, desolate be that night, & let no ioye be in it.

and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, more obscure darknes, which maketh them afraid of death, that are in it. f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night.

h This sorow was more vnto hem, where with also God plagued the Egyptians, Exo 9. 9 and threateneth to punish the rebellious people, Deut 28. 27 so that this temptation was more grievous, for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought 3 God had cast him off.

i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorowe of his disease.

k Satán vsed the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam.

ence heard I a voyce, saying,

shal a man be more pure then his maker?

 CHAP. VI.
 1 Iob answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his fauce: He wisheth death: 4 He complaineth of his friends.
 1 BUt Iob answered, and said,
 2 Oh that my grief were wel weighed, and my miseries were laied together in the^a balance.
 3 For it wolde be now heauyer the^e the sand of y^e sea: therefore my wordes are^b swallowed vp.
 4 For the arowes of the Almighty are in me, y^e venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, & the terrours of God^c fight agaist
 me.
 5 Doeth the^d wilde asse braye when he ha-the grasse: or loweth the oxe when he ha-the foddre?
 6 That which is^e vnfaury, shal it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?
 7 Suche things as my soule refused to touche, as were sorowes, are my meate.
 8 Oh that I might haue my^f desire, & that God wolde graunt me the thing that I long for!
 9 That is, that God wolde destroye me:
 that he wolde let his had go, & cut me of.
 10 Then shulde I yet haue comfort, (thogh
 I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) & because I haue not denyed the wordes of the Holie one.
 11 What power haue I that I shulde endure? or what is mine^h end, if I shulde prolong my life?
 12 Is my strenght the strength of stones: or is my flesh of brass?
 13 Is it not so, that there is in me noⁱ helpe:
 and that^j strength is taken from me?
 14 He that is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but me haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.
 15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a^k blooke, & as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

 rein the snowe is hid.

q Do you caull at my wordes, because I shulde be shoght to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie? r Consider whether I speake as one that is driven to this impacientie through very sorowe, as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

18 Or thei departe from their way & course, yea, they vanish and perish.
19 Thei that go to Témá,¹ considered the, & thei that go to Shebá, waited for them.
20 But they were confounded: when thei hoped, thei came thether and were ashamed.
21 Surely now are ye like^m vnto it: ye haue sene my feareful plague, and are afrayed.
22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto me^r or giue a rewards to me of yourⁿ substance?
23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?
24 Teach me, & I wil^o holde my tongue: & cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.
25 How^pstedfast are the wordes of righ-teousnes: and what can any of you iustly reproue?
26 Do ye imagine to reproue^q wordes, that the talke of the afflicted shulde be as the winde?
27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fa-therles, and digge a pit for your friend.
28 Now therefore be content to^r loke vp-on me: for I wil not lye before your face.
29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none miquitie: returne, I say, & ye shal^s se yet my righteousnes in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tēgue? doeth not my mouthe sele sorowes?

CHAP. VII.

1 Iob sheweth the shortenes and miserie of mans life.

1 Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an^a hyreling.
2 As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, & as an hyreling loketh for the end of his worke,
3 So haue I had as an inheritance the bmo-neths of vanitie, and peinesful nights haue bene appointed vnto me.
4 If I laied me downe, I said, When shal
I arise? and measurig the euening I am euenful with toising to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.
5 My flesh is^c clothed with wormes & fil-thines of the dust: my skin is rent, & become horrible,
6 My dayes are swifter the^d a weauers shitle, and they are spent without hope.
7 Remember that my life is but a winde, & that mine eye shal not returne to se pleasure.
8 The eye that hath seene me, shal se me no-more: thine eyes^e are vpon me, and I shal be no longer.
9 As the cloude vanished, & goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shal
f come vp nomore.
10 He shal returne nomore to his house,

a Hathe not holde me in

nether shal his place knowe him anymore.
11 Therefore I wil not spare my mouthe, but wil speake in the trouble of my spirit, & muse in the bitternes of my minde.
12 Am I a sea^h or a whalesfish, that thou kepest me in ward?
13 When I say, My couche shal relieue me, & my bed shal bring comfort in my meditation,
14 Then fearest thou meⁱ with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.
15 Therefore my soule^k choseth rather to be strangled & to dye, then to be in my bones.
16 I abhorre it, I shal not liue alway: spare me then, for my daies are but vani-
tie.
17 What is man, that thou^m doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?
18 And doest visit him euerie morning, and tryest him euerie moment?
19 How long wil it be yet thou departe fro me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallowe my spetle.
20 I haueⁿ sinned, what shal I do vnto thee?
O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my self?
21 And why doest thou not pardone my trespas? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shal I slepe in the dust, and if thou sekest me in the morning, I shal^o not be founde.

nisheth the wicked, and preserveth the good.

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

& how long shal the wordes of thy mouthe be as a mightie winde?
3 Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie,

he wil awake vp vnto thee, & he wil make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)

g As a rush can not growe without moistnes, so can not the hypocrite, because he hath the not faith, which is moistened with Gods Spirit. h Which is to day, and to morowe swept away. i He cōpareth the iuste to a tree, which although it be remoued out of one place vnto another, yet flourisheth. so the affliction of the godlie turneth to their profite. k That is, so y there remaine nothing there to proue whether y tre had growen there, or no. l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure.

m If thou be godlie, he wil giue thee occasion to reioyce, & if not, thine affliction shal increase.

n Iob here answereth to y point of Eli-phaz and Bildads oracion, touching the iustice of God, & his innocencie, confessing God to be iust in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect. b Of a thousand things, w God coulde lay to his charge, mā can not answer him one. c He declareth what is the infirmite of mā by y mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he coulde do, if he wolde sit forthe his power. d These are y names of certaine starres, whereby he meaneth that all starres both known & vknown are at his appointment.

- 10 Shal not thei teache thee & tel thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart?
- 11 Can a s rush growe without myre? or can the grasse growe without water?
- 12 Thogh it were in grene & not cut downe, yet shal it wither before anie other herbe.
- 13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shal perishe.
- 14 His confidence also shal be cut of, & his trust shal be, as the house of a spyder.
- 15 He shal leane vpon his house, but it shal not stand: he shal holde him fast by it, yet shal it not endure.
- 16 The tre is grene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.
- 17 The rotes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, & are folden about the house of stones.
- 18 If anie plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not sene thee,
- 19 Beholde, it wil reioyce by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde.
- 20 Beholde, God wil not cast away an vpright man, nether wil he take the wicked by the hand,
- 21 Til he haue filled thy mouth w laughter, and thy lippes with ioye.
- 22 They that hate thee, shal be clothed with shame, & the dwelling of the wicked shal not remaine.

CHAP. IX.

Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mā's righteousness is nothing.

- Then Iob answered, and said,
- I knowe verely that it is so: for how shulde man compared vnto God, be iustified?
- If he wolde dispute with him, he coulde not answer him one thing of a thousand.
- He is wise in heart, & mightie in strength: who hath bene scarce agaisnt him & hath prospered?
- He remoueth the mountaines & they fele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
- He remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof do shake.
- He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.
- He him self alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
- He maketh the starres Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climats of y South.
- He doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, meruelous things without number.

- Lo, when he goeth by me, I se him not: & when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.
- Beholde, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to restore it? who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?
- God wil not withdrawe his angre & the moste mightie helpe do stoupe vnder him.
- How muche lesse shal I answer him? or how shulde I finde out my wordes with him?
- For thogh I were iuste, yet colde I not answer, but I wolde make supplicacion to my Iudge.
- If I crye, and he answer me, yet wolde I not beleue, that he heard my voyce.
- For he destroyeth me with a tempest, & woundeth me without cause.
- He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternes.
- If we speake of strength, beholde, he is strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shal bring me in to plaide?
- If I wolde iustifie my self, mine owne mouth shal condemne me: if I wolde be perfite, he shal iudge me wicked.
- Thogh I were perfite, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my lyfe.
- This is one point: therefore I said, He destroyeth the perfite, and the wicked.
- If the scourge shulde suddenly slaie, shulde God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?
- The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he? or who is he?
- My daies haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, & haue sene no good thing.
- They are passed as with the moste swift shippes, and as the egle that flieth to the praye.
- If I say, I wil forget my complaint, I wil cease from my wrath, & comfort me,
- Then I am afriayed of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.
- If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine?
- If I wash my self with snowe water, and purge mine hands moste cleane,
- Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shal make me filthy.
- For he is not a man as I am, that I shulde

Ll.i.

With according to his iustice, he wil destroye as wel them that are couited perfite, as them that are wicked. q To wit, the wicked. r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as thogh he wolde say, If God destroye but the wicked, as chap 5.3, why shulde he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them? s That they can not se to do iustice. t That can thewe the contrary. u I thinke not to fall into these affectiōs, but my sorowes bring me to the manifold infirmities, & my conscience condemneth me. x Why doeth not God destroye me at once: thus he speaketh according to the infirmite of the flesh. y Thogh I seme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God. z Whatsoener I wolde vie to couer my filthines with, shal disclose me so muche more.

e I am not able to comprehend his workes, which are commune and daily before mine eyes, muche lesse in those things, which are hid and secret. f He sheweth that whē God doeth execute his power, he doeth it iustly, for as much as none can controule him. g God wil not be appeased for ought that man can laie for him self for his iustification. h That is, all y reasons that men can laie to approue their cause. i How shulde I be able to answer him by eloquence: whereby he noteth his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they fele not in heart, that which they spake. k Meaning, in his owne opinion, signifyig that man wil sometime flatter him self to be righte, which before God is abominacion. l Whiles I am in my pangs, I can not but braile forthe into many incomeniences, although I knowe still that God is iust. m I am not able to sele my finnes so great, as I fele the weight of his plagues: & thus he speaketh to condemne his dulnes, and to iustifie God. n After he hath the accused his owne weakenes, he continueth to iustifie God and his power. o If I wolde stande in mine owne defence, yet God hath iuste cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, & conscience. p If God punish

^a I am more like to a dead man, then to one y liueth
^b I wil make an ample declaration of my tormets, accusing my self & not God

MY soule is cut of ^a though I liue: I wil leaue my ^b complaint vpon my self, & wil speake in the bitterness of my soule

I wil say vnto God, ^c Condene me not: shewe me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it ^d good to oppresse me, & to cast of the ^e labour of thine hands, and to fauour the ^f counsel of the wicked?

5 Are thy dayes as mans ^h dayes? or thy yeeres, as the time of man?

6 That thou inquest of mine iniquitie, & searchest out my sinne.

7 Thou knowest that I can not do ⁱ wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine ^k hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholly rounde about, & wilt thou destroye me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as ^l the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as mylke? and turned me to cruds like chese?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and ^m grace: & thy ⁿ visitacion hath preserved my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe ^o y it is so with thee.

If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straightly loke vnto me, and wilt not holde me gilles of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I wil not ^p lift vp mine head, being ful of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: retorne & shewe thy self ^q a maruelous vpon me.

ⁿ That is, thy fatherlie care & prouidence, whereby thou preseruest me, and without the which I shulde perish straight way

^o Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needs confesse them
^p I wil alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iuste before thee
^q Iob being sore afflicted in this battle betwene the flesh and the spirit, breatheth out into these passions, wishing rather short dayes then long paine

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: ^r changes and aimies of sorowes are against me.

18 Wherefore thē hast thou broght me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had sene me!

19 And that I were as I had not bene, but broght from the wombe to the grave.

20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him ^s cease, and leaue of fro me, that I may take a litle comfort,

21 Before I go and shal not ^t retorne, euen to the land of darkenes and shadowe of death:

22 Into a lād, I say, darke as darkenes it self, & into the shadow of death, where is none ^u order, but the light is there as darkenes.

CHAP. XI.

^a Iob is iustly reprehended of Zophar. ⁷ God is incomprehensible. ¹⁴ He is merciful to the repentant. ¹⁸ Their assurance that liue godlie

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

2 Shulde not the multitude of wordes be answered? or shulde a great ^a talker be iustified?

3 Shulde men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest ^b others, shal none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, ^b My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God wolde speake and open his lippes against thee!

6 That he might shewe thee the ^c secrets of wisdom, how ^d y hast deserved double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heauens are his, what canst thou do? ^d it is deeper then the hel, how canst thou knowe it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broder then the sea.

10 If he cut of and ^e shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, & him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man wolde be wise, though man newe borne is like a wilde asse ^f colte.

13 If thou ^g prepare thine heart, & stretch out thine hands roward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine ^h hand, put it farre away, & let no wickednes dwell in thy tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy ⁱ face without

^r That is, diuersitie of discasses and in great roundness, shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man
^s He wisheth God wolde leaue of his affliction, consider his great miserie & the breuitie of his life
^t He speaketh thus in y person of a sinner, that is overcome with passions & w the feling of Gods iudgements, & therefore can not apprehend in y state the mercies of God & comfort of the resurrection
^u No distinction betwene light and darkenes, but where all is vnto darkenes it self

^a Shulde he persuade by his great talker, that he is iust?
^b He chargeth Iob with this, that he shulde say, that the thing, which he spake, was true, and that he was without sinne in y sight of God
^c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy self: the significeth that man wil neuer be overcome, while he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake of the controuersie, and stop mans mouth
^d That is, this perfection of God, & if man be not able to comprehend the height of the heauens, the depth of hel, the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?
^e If God shulde turne the state of things, and establish a newe ordre in nature, who coulde controule him?

^f That is, without vnderstanding so that whatsoeuer gifts he hath afterwarde, come of God and not of nature
^g If thou repent, pray vnto him without spot, and shalt be stable, & shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pities, and shalt lye downe safely.

Leuit 16. 5.

19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, manie shall make sure vnto thee.

k He sheweth that contrarie things shal come vnto them that do not repent.

20 But the eyes ^k of the wicked shal faile, and their refuge shal perish, and their hope shal be sorowe of minde.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance 7 He declareth the might, and power of God. 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

a Because you fele not that, & you speake, & you thinke & whole stader in wordes, and so flatter your selues as though none knewe anie thing, or colde knowe but you

b He reponeth these his friends of two fautes: the one & they thought they had better knowledg then in dede they had, & & other that in stead of true consolatio they did deride, and despise their friend in his aduersitie

c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that he desireth

d As the riche esteeme not a light, or tormente that goeth our, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie

e Eby is whome God hath brought in with his hand.

f He declareth to them that did dispute agayst him, that their wisdom is comene to all, & such as & very brute beasts do darre teache

Or. Res.

f He exhorteth them to be wise in iudgmg. and as wel to know the right wise why God hath given them eares, as he hath done a mouth & though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wisdom, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdom, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that, which was alleaged, Chap. 3. 8.

Then Iob answered, and said, In dede because that ye are the people onely, ^a wisdom must dye with you.

But I haue vnderstanding as wel as you, & am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

*I am ^b as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he ^c heareth him: the iuste and the vpright is laughed to scoine.

^d He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche.

The tabernacles of robbers do prosper, and they are in sauetie, that prouoke God, ^e whome God hath enriched with his hand.

Aske now the beastes, ^e and they shall teache thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tel thee:

Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

In whose hand is the soule of euerie liuing thing, and the breath of all ^f mankinde.

Doeth not the eares ^f discerne the wordes, and the mouth taste meat for it self?

Among the ^g ancient is wisdom, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

With him ^h is wisdom and strength: he hath counsel and vnderstanding.

Beholde, he wil breake downe, and it can not be buyt: he shattereth a man vp, and he can not be losed.

Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and thei drye vp: but when he sendeth the out, they destroye the earth.

With him ⁱ is strength and wisdom: he that is deceiued, and that ^h deceiueth, are his.

He causeth the counsellers to go as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

He loseth ^k the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loines with a girdle.

He leadeth away the princes as a pray, & ouerthroweth the mightie.

He taketh away the speache from the ^l faithful counsellers, & taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

He powreth contempt vpon princes and maketh the strength of the mightie weak.

He discovereth the depe places from their darkenes, & bringeth forth the shadowe of death to light.

He ^m increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, & bringeth them in againe.

He taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wader in the wildeines out of the way.

They grope in the darke without light: & he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man:

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shal be saued, and the hypocrite condemned 20 He prayeth vnto God that he wolde not handle him rigorously.

LO, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstand it.

I knowe also as much as you knowe: I am not inferior vnto you.

But I wil speake to the Almighty, and I desire ^a to dispute with God.

For in dede ye forge lyes, and all you are ^b phisicians of no value.

Oh, that you wolde holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdom!

Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lippes.

Wil ye speake ^c wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

Wil ye accept his person? or wil ye contend for God?

Is it wel ^d y he shulde seke of you? wil you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man?

He wil surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept anie persone.

Shal not his excellencie make you afraid: and his feare fall vpon you?

Your ^e memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of claye.

Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what wil.

Wherefore do I ^f take my flesh in my tethe, and put my soule in mine hand?

Lo, though he slay me, yet wil I trust in him, and I wil reprove my wayes in his sight.

h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this worlde without Gods wil, and ordinance: for els he shulde not be almightie.

i He taketh wisdom fro them

k He abateth the honour of princes, and bringeth them into the subiectio of others.

l He causeth that their wordes haue no credit, which is when he wil punish sone

m In this discourse of Gods wonderfull workes Iob sheweth that whatsoever is done in this worlde, bothe in order and change of things is by Gods wil and appointment: wherein he declareth that he thinketh wel of God, and is able to set forth his power in wordes as they that reasond against, were

n Chap. XIII

a For although he knewe that God had a iustice, & was manifest in his ordinarie working, and another in his secret counsel, yet he wolde utter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him

b You do not wel applye your medicine to the disease.

c He condemneth their scale & had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alwaie gratied on Gods iustice, as though it was not euidently seene in Iob, except they had vnderstande the probation thereof

d Your shame shal come to nothing

e It is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I do not complaine without cause, seeing y I am thus tormented as though I shulde teare mine owne flesh, & put my life in dang.

fWhereby he declareth that he is not an hypocrite as they charged him. g This is, cleared, and not cast of for my finnes, as you reason. h To proue. i God doeth thus punish me for my finnes. k If I defend not my cause, euerie mā wil condemne me. l He sheweth what these two things are. m His pags thus moue him to reason wth God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstand what were his great finnes. n He had deservede suche rigour, wherein he of fended, that he wolde knowe a cause of God why he did punish him. o Thou punishest me now for the fautes that I committed in my youth. p Thou makest me thy prisoner, and doest so presse me that I can not stirre had not fore. q Elr. rorer

16 He shal be my saluation also: for the hypocrite shal not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.

18 Beholde now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shal be iustified.

19 Who is he, that wil pleade with me? for if I now holde my tongue, I dye.

20 But do not these two things vnto me: the wil I not hide my self from thee.

21 Withdrawe thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraied.

22 Then call thou, and I wil answer: or let me speake, and answer thou me.

23 How manie are mine iniquities and finnes? shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemy?

25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drye stubble?

26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my fete also in the stocks, and lokest narrowly vnto all my paths, and makest the printe thereof in the heeles of my fete.

28 Suche one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

CHAP. XIII.

Iob describeth the shortenes and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope susteineth the godlie. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAn is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and ful of trouble.

2 He shooteth forth as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vanissheth also as a shadow, & continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to entre into iudgement with thee.

4 Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthines? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the nōber of his moneths are with thee. thou hast appointed his boundes, which he can not passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntil his desired day, as an hyreling.

7 For there is hope of a tie, if it be cut downe, that it wil yet sproute, and the branches thereof wil not cease.

8 Though y^e rote of it waxe olde in the earth & the stocke thereof be dead in y^e groude, 9 Yet by the sent of water it wil bud, and bring forth the bowes like a plant.

10 But man is sicke, and dyeth, & man perissheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp,

12 So man slepeth and riseth not: for he shal not wake againe, nor be raised from his

a Taking occasion of his aduersaries wordes, he describeth y^e state of māns life from his birth to his death. Chap. 13. 9. Psal. 144. 4. b His meaning is, that seing that man is so fraile a creature, God shulde not handle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth y^e wickednes of the flesh, whē it is not subiect to the Spirit. Psal. 51. 7. c Vntil y^e time that thou hast appointed for him to dye, w^{ch} he desireth, as the hyreling waiteth for y^e end of his labour to receyue his wages. d He speaketh not here as though he had not hope of y^e immortalitie, but as a mā in extreme peine, when reason is overcome by afflictions & torments.

slepe til the heauen be nomore.

13 Oh that thou woldest hide me in the graue, and kepe me secret, vntil thy wrath were past, and woldest giue me terme, and remember me.

14 If a man dye, shal he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time wil I waite, til my changing shal come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shal answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou nombrest my steps, and doest not delay my finnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednes.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, cometh to noght, and the rocke that is remoued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou callest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shalbe honorable, nether shal he vnderstand concerning thē, whether they shalbe of lowe degre, 22 But while his flesh is vpon him, he shalbe sorowful, and while his soule is in him, it shal mourne.

CHAP. XV.

Elipház reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisdom, and purenes to him self. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

1 Then answered Elipház the Temanite, and said,

2 Shal a wise man speake wordes of the winde, and fil his belly with the East winde?

3 Shal he dispute with wordes not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast of feare, and restrained prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seing thou hast chosen the tongue of the crafty.

6 Thine one mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lippes testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the first man, that was borne? and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counfel of God, and doest thou restraine wisdom to thee?

9 What knowest thou that we knowe not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are bothe ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Some the consolations of God & smile vnto thee: is this thing strange vnto thee?

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to dye. f That is, recalsemy peines and take me to mercie. g Meaning, vnto the day of the resurrection, whē he shulde be changed, & renewed. h Though I be afflicted in this life yet in the resurrection I shal fele thy mercies, and answer when thou callest me. Prou. 5. 21. i Thou layest thē all together & suffrest none of my finnes vnpunished. k He murmureth through y^e impacifitie of y^e flesh against God, as though he vied as great seruitude against him as against y^e hard rockes, or waters y^e ouerflowe so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away. l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in peine & miserie.

a That is, vaine wordes, & without consolation? b Meaning, matters that are of none importace which are forgotten as soon as they are vttered, as the East winde drieth vp the moisture as soon as it falleth. c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused me to cast of the feare of God & prayer. d Thou speakest as do the mockers, and contemners of God. e That is, the moste ancient, and so by reason the moste wise? f Art thou only wise? g He accuseth Iobs pride, and ingratitude, y^e wil not be comforted by God, nor by their counsel.

h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceite? i His purpose is to proue, j Iob as an vnjust man & an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, k Chap 4, 18 Which hath the a desire to sinne as he is thurste to drinke. l Who by their wisdom so gouerned, m no stranger inuaded them, & so the land seemed to be giued to them alone. n The cruel man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience. o Out of that miserie where into he once falleth. p God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oft times: but euen in their prosperitie he punisheth the wicked. q That is, he was so puffed with great prosperitie, & abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting. r Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God. s Though he buyde, & repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shal bring all to naught, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme miserie. t Meaning, u his sumptuous buyldings shulde neuer come to perfection. v He standeth so in his owne conceite, that he wil giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shal bring him to destruction. w As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were buylt or maintained by pawning, and briberie.

Why doeth thine heart take thee away, and what do thine eyes meane, That thou answerest to God at thy pleasure, and bringest such wordes out of thy mouth? What is man, that he shulde be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he shulde be iust? Beholde, he founde no stedfastnes in his Saintes: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight. How much more man abominable, & filthie, which drinketh iniquitie like water? I wil tel thee: heare me, and I wil declare that which I haue seene: Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret: To whome alone the land was giuen & no stranger passed through them. The wicked man is continually as one that trauelleth of childe, and the number of yerres is hid from the tyrant. A soule of feare is in his eares, & in his prosperitie & destroyer shal come vpon him. He beleueth not to returne out of darkness: for he seeth the sworde before him. He wadeth to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkness is prepared at hand. Affliction and anguish shal make him afraid: they shal preuaile against him as a King ready to the battell. For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made him self strong against the Almightye. Therefore God shal runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, & against the moste thicke part of his shield. Because he hath couered his face with his fatnes, & hath collopes in his flacke. Though he dwel in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, He shal not be riche, nether shal his substance continue, nether shal he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth. He shal neuer departe out of darkness: & flame shal drye vpon his branches, & he shal go away with the breath of his mouth. He beleueth not that he crieth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shal be his change. His branche shal not be grene, but shal be cut of before his day. God shal destroy him as the vine her sower grape, and shal cast him of, as the oliue doeth her flowre. For the congregacion of the hypocrite shal be desolate, & fyre shal deuoure the houses of bribes.

For they conceiue mischief and bring forth the vanitie, & their bellie hath prepared deceite. CHAP. xvi. Iob moued by the importunacie of his friends, & Counteth in what extremitie he is, & And taketh God witness of his innocencie. But Iob answered, and said, I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all. Shal there be none end of wordes of winder? or what maketh thee bolde so to answer? I colde also speake as ye do: (but wolde God your soule were in my soules stead) I colde kepe you companie in speaking, and colde shake mine head at you, But I wolde strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips shulde aswage your sorowe. Though I speake, my sorowe can not be aswaged: though I cease, what release haue I? But now she maketh me weary: O God, thou hast made all my congregacion desolate, And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witness thereof, and my leannes riseth vpon me, testifying the same in my face. His wrath hath torne me, and he hateth me, & gnaweth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me. They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, & smitten me on the cheke in reproche: they gather the selues together against me. God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked. I was in welth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set in me as a marke for him self. His archers compassed me round about: he cutteth my reines, & doeth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground. He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant. I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skin, and haue abased mine horne vnto the dust. My face is withered with weeping, & the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes, Though there be no wickednes in mine hands, and my prayer be pure. O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place. For lo, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on hie.

And therefore all their vaine deuises shal turne to their owne destruction. a Which serueth for vaine ostentation and for no successe. b For Eliphaz did replee against Iobs answer. c I wolde you felt which I do. d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you do at mine. e If this were in my power, yet wolde I comfort you, and not do as ye do to me. f If they wolde say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answereth, the iudgements of God are more heauy, then he is able to aswage either by wordes or silence. g Meaning, God. h That is, destroyed most of my familie. i In token of sorowe and grief. k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of wordes & his stile he expresseth how grievous had of God was vpon him. l That is, hath handled me moste contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheke signified, m King. n 22, 24 Mar 14. o They haue led me whither they wolde. p His manifold afflictions. q I am wounded to the heart. r Meaning, his glorie was brought lowe. s Signifying, he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grievous punishment. t That is, vnfaunted, and without hypocrisie. u Let my sinne be knowne, if I be such a sinner as thou. v Though man con-

1 Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doeth paciously abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repen-

1 MY breath is corrupt: my daies are cut said,

3 Wherefore are we counted as beastes, & are vile in your sight?

12 His strength shalbe s famine: & destruction shalbe readie at his side.

13 It shal deuoure the partes of his skinne,
& the h first borne of death shal deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shalbe roted out of his dwelling, & shal cause him to go to the i King of feare.

15 Feare shal dwel in his house (because it is not k his) l and brimstone shalbe sca-tred vpon his habitation.

16 His rotes shalbe dried vp beneth, and about shal his branche be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shal perish from the earth, and he shal haue no name in the strete.

18 They shal driue him out of the m light vnto darkenes, and chase him out of the worlde.

19 He shal nether haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shalbe astonied at his n day, & feare shal come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitacions of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reproveth his friends, 15 And reuolunt his miseries nerall resurrection.

1 B Vt Iob answered, and said, d Meaning, out of his afflictions e Meaning, his children and whatsoeuer was done vnto him in this worlde

f Which is pluckt vp, and hath no more hope to grow
g His manifold afflictions
h Mine household seruants: by all these losses Iob sheweth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.
i Which were hers & mine.
k Besides these great losses & moſte cruel vnkindeas, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was consumed m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, specially ye w^{ch} shulde comfort me n Is it not ynough y^e God doeth punish me except you by reproches increaſe my sorrowe?
o To ſe my body punished, except yetrouble my minde p He pteſteth that notwithstanding his fore paſſions, his religion is perſe, & that he is not a blaſphemer, as thei iudged hi q I do not ſo iuſtifie my ſelfe before the worlde, but I knowe that I ſhal come before the great iudge, who ſhal be my deliuerer & Sauiour
r Herein Iob declarerth plainly that he had a full hope, that bothe the ſoule and body ſhulde enioye the preſence of God in the laſt reſurrection s Thogh his friends thoght y^e he was but againſt me, & rebuke me for my reproche,

6 Knowenow, y^e God hath e ouerthrowen me, & hath compaſſed me with his net.
7 Beholde, I crye out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crye but there is no iudgement.
8 He hath hedged vp my waye that I can not a paſſe, and he hath ſet darkenes in my paths.
9 He hath ſpoiled me of mine honour, & taken the crowne away from mine head.
10 He hath deſtroyed me on euery ſide & I am gone: & he hath remoued mine hope like a tre.
11 And he hath kild his wrath againſt me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.
12 His ſeruaunts came together, and made their way vpon me, & camped about my tabernacle.
13 He hath remoued my brethren faire from me, and alſo mine acquaintance were ſtrangers vnto me.
14 My neighbours haue forſaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.
15 They that dwel in mine houſe, and my maides toke me for a ſtranger: for I was a ſtranger in their ſight.
16 I called my ſeruaunt, but he wolde not answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.
17 My breath was ſtrange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens ſake of mine owne body.
18 The wicked alſo deſpiſed me, & when I roſe, they ſpake againſt me.
19 All my ſecret friends abhorred me, & thei whome I loued, are turned againſt me.
20 My bone cleaueth to my ſkin & to my fleſh, and I haue eſcaped with the ſkinne of my teth.
21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue m pitie vpon me, (o ye my friends) for the had of God hath touched me.
22 Why do ye perſecute me, as God? and are not ſatiſfied with my fleſh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now writen: oh that thei were writen euen in a booke!
24 And grauen with an yron penne in lead, or in ſtone for euer.
25 For I am ſure, that my Redemer liueth, and he ſhal ſtand the laſt on the earth.
26 And thogh after my ſkin wormes deſtroy this bodye, yet ſhal I ſe God in my fleſh.
27 Whome I my ſelf ſhal ſe, and mine eyes ſhal beholde, and non other for me, though my reines are consumed within me.
28 But ye ſaid, Why is he perſecuted? And there was a depe matter in me.
29 Be ye afraid of the ſword: for y^e ſword will be auenged of wickednes, that ye may know that there is a iudgement.

CHAP. XX.

haue a ſhorte end, & though for a time they flouriſh.

1 He answered Zophar the Naamathite and ſaid,
2 Doubteles my thoughts cauſe me to answer, and therefore I make haſte.
3 I haue heard the correction of my reproche: therefore y^e ſpirit of mine vnderſtanding cauſeth me to answer.
4 Knoweſt thou not this of oldes & ſince God placed man vpon the earth?
5 That the reioycing of the wicked is ſhorte, & that the ioye of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Thogh b his excellencie mounte vp to the heauen, and his head reache vnto the cloudes, 7 Yet ſhal he periſh for euer, like his dung, and they which haue ſene him, ſhal ſay, Where is he?
8 He ſhal ſlee away as a dreame, & thei ſhal not finde him, and ſhal paſſe away as a viſion of the night.
9 So that the eye which had ſene him, ſhal do ſo no more, and his place ſhal ſe him no more.
10 His children ſhal flatter the poore, and his hands ſhal a reſtore his ſubſtance.
11 His bones are full of the ſinne of his youth, & it ſhal lye downe with him in the duſt.
12 Whē wickednes f was ſwete in his mouth, & he hid it vnder his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and wolde not forſake it, but kept it cloſe in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of aſpes was in the middes of hi.
15 He hath deuoured ſubſtance, and he ſhal vomit it: for God ſhal drawe it out of his belly.
16 He ſhal ſucke the gall of aſpes, and the vipers tongue ſhal ſlaie him.
17 He ſhal not ſe the liuers, nor the floods & ſtreames of hony and butter.
18 He ſhal reſtore y^e labour, & ſhal deuoure nomore: euen according to the ſubſtance ſhal be his exchange, and he ſhal enioye it no more.
19 For he hath vndone manie: he hath forſaken the poore, & hath ſpoiled houſes which he buylded not.
20 Surely he ſhal fele no quietnes in his body, neither ſhal he reſerue of that which he deſired.
21 There ſhal none of his meat be left: therefore none ſhal hope for his goods.
22 Whē he ſhal be filled with his abundance, he ſhal be in paine, & the hand of all the wicked ſhal aſſaile him.
23 He ſhal be about to fil his belly, but God ſhal ſend vpon hi his ſearce wrath, & ſhal cauſe to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meat
24 He ſhal ſlee from the yron weapons, and the bowe of ſtele ſhal ſtrike him through a He declared that two things moued him to ſpeake to wit, becauſe Iob ſeemed to touch him, & becauſe he thought he had know ledge ſufficient to confute him

b His purpoſe is to prouide Iob to be a wicked man, & an hypocrite, becauſe God puniſhed him, and changed his proſperitie into aduerſitie.
c Where as y^e ſach, r through ambition & tyrannie oppreſſed the poore, the children canough power tie & miſerie ſhal ſee fauour at y^e pore.
d So that the things, which he hath taken away by violence, ſhal be reſtored againe by force
e Meaning, that as ſhal carry nothing away with him, but his ſinne
f As poſſion y^e is ſwete in the mouth of the bringeth deſtruction, when it cometh into y^e body ſo all vice at y^e firſt is pleaſant, but afterward God turneth it to deſtruction
g He comparerth euil gotten goods to y^e vnum of aſpes, which ſerpeant is moſte dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truly come by, & therefore God did plague hi iuſtly for the ſame
h Thogh God giue to all other abundance of his bleſſings, yet he ſhal haue no parte thereof
i That is, theſe raueners & ſpoilers of y^e poore ſhal enioye their theft but for a time: for after God wil take it from them and cauſe thei to make reſtitution, ſo y^e it is but an exchange k He ſhal leaue nothing to his poſteritie.
l The wicked ſhal neuer be in reſt: for one wicked man ſhal ſeeke to deſtroy another.

LI. III.

m Some read, vpon his fleſh, alluding to Iob, whoſe fleſh was ſcourged with a ſcabbe

^a Some read, of ^b quiper
^c All feare & sorow shal light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape
^d That is, fyre fro heauen, or ^e fyre of Gods wrath
^f Meaning, ^g children of ^h wicked shal flowe away like riuers and be disperfed in diuers places.
ⁱ Thus God wil plague the wicked
^j Against God, thinking to exalte him selfe, and to escape Gods hand

^a Your diligent marking of my wordes shalbe to me a great consolation
^b As though he wolde say, I do not talke with man, but with God, who wil not answer me, & therefore my minde must needs be troubled
^c He chargeth them as though they were not able to cōprehēd this his feeling of Gods iudgement, & exhorteth the therefore to silence
^d Iob proueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straight waies the wicked, but oft times giueth the long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iuste or vniuste by the things that appeare to our eye
^e They haue store of children, lustie & helthful, & in these pointes he answereth to that which Zophar alledged before
^f Not being tormented with long sickenes.
^g They desire nothing more the to be exempted from all tribulation that they shulde beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, if they reason onely by ^h which is seene by common experience, ⁱ wicked that hate Gods are better delt with, then they that loue him.
^j It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them, God kepe me from their prosperitie.

15 The arrowe is drawen out, and cometh forth of the ^a body, and shineth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.
 16 All darkenes shalbe hid in his secret places: the fyre that is not ^b blowen, shal deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroyed.
 17 The heauen shal declare his wickednes, and the earth shal rise vp against him.
 18 The increase of his house shal go away: it shal flowe away in the day of his wrath.
 19 This is the porcion of the wicked man from ^c God, & the heritage that he shal haue of God for his ^d wordes.

C H A P. X X I.

1 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, ^a In so muche that they blasphemē God.
 10 Their destruction is at hand 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

^a Vt Iob answered, and said,
 2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this ^b shalbe in stead of your consolations.
 3 Suffre me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.
 4 Do I direct my talke to man? If it ^c were so, how shulde not my spirit be troubled?
 5 Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your ^d mouth.
 6 Euen when I remember, I am afraied, & feare taketh holde on my flesh.
 7 Wherefore do the wicked ^e liue, and waxe olde, and growe in welth?
 8 Their sede is established in their sight with them, and their generacion before their eyes.
 9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.
 10 Their bullocke gendreth, & faileth not: their cowe calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children ^a like shepe, and their sonnes dance.
 12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sounge of the organs.
 13 They spend their daies in welth, and suddenly ^b they go downe to the graue.
 14 They say also vnto God, Depart fro vs: for we desire not the ^c knowledge of thy waies.
 15 Who is the Almightye, that we shulde serue him? and what profite shulde we haue, if we shulde pray vnto him?
 16 Lo, their welth is not in their hand: ^d therefore let the counsel of the wicked ^e be farre from me.
 17 How oft shal the candel of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he wil deuide their liues in his wrath.
 18 They shal be as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme caryeth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shal knowe it.
 20 His eyes shal see his destruction, and he shal drinke of the wrath of ^f Almightye.
 21 For what pleasure hathe he in his house after him, when the number of his months is cut of?
 22 Shal any teache ^g God knowledge, who iudgeth the hieft things?
 23 One ^h dyeth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.
 24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marowe.
 25 And another ⁱ dyeth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.
 26 They shal slepe bothe in ^j the dust, and the wormes shal couer them.
 27 Beholde, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, ^k wherewith ye do me wrong.
 28 For ye say, Where is the princes ^l house? and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?
 29 May ye not ^m aske the that go by ⁿ y way? and ye can not denie their signes.
 30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of ^o destruction, & they shal be brought forth to the day of wrath.
 31 Who shal declare his waie ^p to his face? and who shal rewarde him for that he hath done?
 32 Yet shal he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.
 33 The ^q slimie valley shalbe swete vnto hi, and euerie man shal drawe after him, as before him there were innumerable.
 34 How the comfort ^r ye me in vaine, seig in your answers there remaine but lyes?

C H A P. X X I I.

1 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his finnes.
 6 He accuseth him of vnnecessaries, ^a And that he denied Gods providence, as he exhorteth him to repentance

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,
 2 May a man be ^a profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to him selfe?
 3 Is it any thing vnto the Almightye, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable ^b to him, that thou makest thy wayes vp-right?
 4 Is it for feare ^c of thee that he wil accuse thee? or go with thee in to iudgement?
 5 Is not thy wickednes great, & thine iniquities innumerable?
 6 For thou hast taken the ^d pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoiled the clothes of the naked.
 7 To suche as were weary, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawn bread from the hungrie.

^k When God recompenseth his wickednes he shal knowe ^l y his prosperitie was but vaine
^m Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, & punisheth the godlie ⁿ Meaning, the wicked.
^o To wit, the godlie
^p As concerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to ^q common iudgement
^r Thus thei called Iobs house in derision, concluding ^s y it was destroyed because he was wicked
^t Which through long traouailing haue experience & tokens here of, to wit, that the wicked do prosper & the godlie lue in affliction
^u Though the wicked flourish here, yet God wil punish hi in the last day.
^v Though men do flatter him, and none dare reprove him in this worlde, yet death is a token that God wil bring him to an account.
^w He shal be glad to lie in a slimie pit, before colde not be content with a royal palace
^x Saying, that the iust in this worlde haue prosperitie & ^y wicked aduersitie.

^a Though men were iuste, yet God coulde haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hathe no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne.
 Chap. 35. 7.
^b Let ^c y shaldest reprove or hurt him?
^d Thou hast bene cruel and without charitie, & woldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

d When thou wast in power and autoritie, thou didst not iustice, but wrong
e Thou hast not onely not shewed pittie, but oppressed them
f That is, many folde afflictions
g He accuseth Iob of impie- tie & contempt of God, as though he wolde say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie
h That so much the more by that excellent worke y maist feare God and reuerence him i He reproveheth Iob as though he denied Gods providence, and that he colde not see things that were done in this worlde k How God hath punished them from the beginning l He proueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe
m He answereth to that, which Iob had said Chap 21. 7 that the wicked haue prosperitie in this worlde: desiring that he might not be paraker of y like n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth him self iudge of the worlde, & by this meanes continueth his honour & glorie: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his in that he punisheth their enemies.
o That is, the state and preservation of y godlie is hid vnder Gods wings.
p Meaning, of the wicked
q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God.
r God wil restore vnto thee all thy substance s Which shalbe in abundance like dust
t That is, the fauour of God.
u God wil deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed rounde about them, as in the flood and in Sodom x God wil deliuer a whole countrey from peril, euen for the iuste mans sake.

8 But the mightie man ^d had the earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it.
9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of ^e the fatherles were broken.
10 Therefore snares are rounde about thee, and feare shal sodenly trouble thee:
11 Or daikenes that thou shuldest not fe, and ^f abudance of waters shal couer thee.
12 Is not God on ^g hie in the heauen? & beholde the height of the ^h staires how hie they are.
13 But thou saiest, How shulde God ⁱ know? can he iudge through the daikie cloude?
14 The cloudes hid him that he can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.
15 Hast thou marked the way of ^j y worlde, ^k wherein wicked men haue walked?
16 Which were ^l cut downe before the time, whose fundacion ^m was as a riuer that ouerflowed:
17 Which said vnto God, Departe from vs, and asked what the Almighty colde do for them.
18 Yet he ⁿ filled their houses with good things: but let the counsel of the wicked be farre from me.
19 The righteous shal see them, and shal reioyce, ^o and the innocent shal laugh them to scoine.
20 Surely ^p our substance is hid: but the fyre hath deuoured the remnant of ^q them.
21 Therefore acquaint thy self, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.
22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and laie vp his wordes in thine heart.
23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt ^r be buyt vp, & thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.
24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for ^s dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flints of the riuers.
25 Yea, the Almighty shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.
26 And thou shalt the delite in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.
27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shal heare thee, and thou shalt rendie thy vowes.
28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, & he shal establish it vnto thee, and the ^t light shal shine vpon thy waies.
29 ^u When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shal saue the humble persone.
30 The innocent shal deliuer the ^v yland, and it shalbe preserued by the purenes of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

1 BUT Iob answered and said,
2 Though my talke be this day in a bitterness, and my plague greater the my groning,
3 Wolde God yet I knewe how to finde him, I wolde entre vnto his place.
4 I wolde pleade the cause before him, and fil my mouth with arguments.
5 I wolde knowe the wordes, that he wolde answer me, and wolde vnderstand what he wolde say vnto me.
6 Wolde he ^b plead against me with his great power? No, but he wolde ^c put strength in me.
7 ^d There the righteous might reason with him, so I shulde be deliuered for euer fro my Iudge.
8 ^e Beholde, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I can not perceiue him:
9 If to the North where he worketh, yet I can not see him: he wil hide him self in the South, and I can not beholde him.
10 But he knoweth my ^f way, and tryeth me, and I shal come forth like the golde.
11 My fore hath followed his steppes: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.
12 Nether haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, & I haue ^g esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed fode.
13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can ^h turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.
14 For he wil performe that, which is decreed of me, and ⁱ many such things are with him.
15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, & in considering it, I am afrayed of him.
16 For God ^k hath softened mine heart, & the Almighty hath troubled me.
17 For I am not cut of in ^l darkenes, but he hath hid the daikenes from my face.

a He sheweth the iuste cause of his complaining, & as touching that Elphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, chap 22. 21, he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God wolde not be foude of him
b Vnto his absolute power & saying, Because I am God, I may do what I wil
c Of his mercie he wolde giue me power to answer him
d When he of his mercie hath giuen strength to mainteine their cause e Meaning, y if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgements on what side or parte soeuer he turneth him self f God hath this preeminence aboue me that he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidence, that God doeth visite him for his profite
g His worde is more precious vnto me, then the meat wherewith the bodie is sustained

h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good end i In many pointes man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgements k That I shulde not be without feare
l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none end, nether yet knoweth the cause

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob describeth the wickednes of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 13 How all things are governed by Gods providence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

1 HOW shulde not the times ^a be hid fro the Almighty, seeing that they which knowe him, se not his ^b daies?
2 Some remoue the land makes, that robbe the flockes and fede thereof.
3 They lead away the asse of the fatherles: and take the widowes oxe to pledge.

Mm i.

b When he punisheth the wicked and rewardeth the good a Thus Iob speaketh in his passions and after the iudgement of the flesh: that is, y he seeth not the things that are done at times, nether y: hath a peculiar care ouer all, because he punisheth not the wicked, nor rewardeth the good.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide them selues together.

5 Beholde, others as wilde asses in the wilderness, go forth to their busines, and rise early for a pray: the wilderness giueth him and his childen fode.

6 They reape his prouisiō in the field, but they gather the late s vitage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, & without couering in the colde.

8 They are wet with the showies of the mountaines, and they imbrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherles frō the breast, and take the pledge of the poore.

10 They cause him to go naked without clothing, and take the gleining from the hungrie.

11 They make oyle betweene their walles, and treade their winepresses, suffer thirst.

12 Mē crye out of the citie, & the soules of the slayne crye out: yet God doeth not charge them with follie.

13 These are they, that abhorre the light: they knowe not the waies thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

14 The murtherer riseth early & killeth the poore and the nedie: and in the night he is as a thefe.

15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shal se me, and disguiseth his face.

16 They digge through houses in the darke, which they marked for them selues in the day: they knowe not the light.

17 But the morning is quen to them as the shadow of death: if one knowe the, they are in the terrours of the shadowe of death.

18 He is swift vpon the waters: their portion shal be cursed in the earth: he wil not beholde the way of the vineyardes.

19 As the drye grounde & heat consume the snowe waters, so shal the graue the sinners.

20 The pitiful man shal forget him: the worme shal fele his sweetnes: he shal be no more remēbred, & the wicked shal be broken like a tree.

21 He doeth euil intreat the baren, that doeth not beare, nether doeth he good to the widowe.

22 He draweth also by mightie by his power, & whē he riseth vp, none is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to be in sauetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut of as the top of an eare of corne.

u Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their end shal be moste vile destruction, & in this point Iob cometh to him self and sheweth his confidence.

x He sheweth why the wicked shal not be famoured, because he did not pierce others.

y He declareth that after that the wicked haue destroyed the weakest, they wil do like to the stronger, and therefore are iustly prevented by Gods megements.

25 But if it be not so, where is he or who wil proue me a lyer, & make my wordes of no value?

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man cleane nor without sinne before God.

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, & said,

2 Power & feare is with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.

3 Is there any number in his armies? & vpō whome shal not his light arise?

4 And how may a man be iustified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

5 Beholde, he wil giue no light to the moone, and the starres are vncleane in his sight.

6 How muche more man, a worme, euē the sonne of man, which is but a womē?

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, & proueth it by his miracles.

1 But Iob answered, and said,

2 Whome helpest thou? him that hathe no power? sauēst thou the arme that hathe no strength?

3 Whome counselest thou? him that hathe no wisdom? thou shewest right wel as the thing is.

4 To whome doest thou declare these wordes? or whose spirit cometh out of thee?

5 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and nere vnto them.

6 The graue is naked before him, & there is no couering for destruction.

7 He stretcheth out the North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

8 He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the cloude is not broken vnder them.

9 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and spreadeth his cloude vpon it.

10 He hathe set bondes about the waters, vntil the day and night come to an end.

11 The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reprove.

12 The sea is calme by his power, & by his vnderstanding he smiteth pride thereof.

13 His Spirit hathe garnished the heauē, & his hand hathe formed the crooked seipēt.

14 Lo, these are parte of his wayes: but how litle a portion beare we of him? and who can vnderstand his feareful power?

CHAP. XXVII.

The constancie and perfimes of Iob. 13 The rewardes of the wicked and of the tyrants.

1 Moreouer Iob proceded and continued his parable, saying, z That is, that contrary to your reasoning no man can giue a perfit reason of Gods iudgements, let me be reproofed.

Chap. XXV.

a His purpose is to proue, & albeit God trye and afflicte the iuste, yet some after he sendeth prosperitie, & because he did not so to Iob, he concludeth that he is wicked.

b Who can cōside him frō his presence?

c That is, be iuste in respect of God?

d If God shew his power, the moone & starres can not haue that light, e Is giuen the, muche lesse can man haue any excellēcie, but of God.

f Chap. XXVI.

a Thou concludest nothing: for nether I helpest me, & am destitute of all helpe, b But I doest not applie it to my purpose.

c That is, moueth thee to speake this?

d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power & prouidence in the mines and metals in the deepe places of the earth.

e There is nothing hid in the bottom of the earth, but he seeth it.

f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.

g He causeth the whole heauen to turne about.

h That is, he hideth the heauens, which are called his throne.

i So long as this world endureth.

k Not that heauen had the pillars to vpholde it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he wolde say, The heauen it self is not able to abide his reproche.

l Which is a figure of starres fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednes.

m If these fewe things, which we se daily with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how muche more wolde they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

^a The liuing God hath taken away my ^a iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitternes.
^b Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils, ^c My lips surely shall speake no wickednes, and my tongue shall vtter no deceit.
^d God forbid, that I shulde e iustifie you:
vntill I dye, I wil neuer take away mine innocencie from my self.
^e I wil kepe my righteousness, and wil not forfake it: mine heart shall not reprove me of my e dayes.
^f Mine enemy shall be as the wicked, & he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.
^g For what hope hath the hypocrite whē he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?
^h Wil God heare his crye, when trouble cometh vpon him?
ⁱ Wil he set his delite on the Almighty?
wil he call vpon God at all times?
^j I wil teach you what is in the hand of God,
& I wil not conceile that which is with the Almighty.
^k Beholde, all ye your selues haue sene it:
why then do you thus vanish in vanitie?
^l This is the portion of a wicked man with God, & the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty.
^m If his children be in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.
ⁿ His remnant shall be buried in death, & his widowes shall not wepe.
^o Though he shulde heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay, ^p He may prepare it, but the ruste shall put it on, and the innocēt shall deuide the siluer.
^q He buyldeth his house as the mothe, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.
^r When the riche man slepeth, he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.
^s Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall carie him away by night.
^t The East wind shall take him away, & he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.
^u And God shall cast vpon him & not spare, though he wolde faine flee out of his hand.
^v Euerie man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdom of God is Unsearchable.

^a The siluer surely hath his vaine, & &
^b the golde his place, where they take it.
^c Iron is taken out of the dust, and brasle is molten out of the stone.
^d God putteth an end to darknes, & he try-eth the perfectio of all things: he setteth a bode of darkenes, & of the shadow of death.
^e The flood breaketh out against the cities,

habitant, and the waters are forgotten of the fote, being higher than the mā, are gone away.
^f Out of the same earth cometh bread, & vnder it, as it were fyre is turned vp.
^g The stones thereof are a place of sa-phirs, and the dust of it is golde.
^h There is a path which no foule hath known, nether hath the kites eye sene it.
ⁱ The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.
^j He putteth his hand vpon the rocks, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by their rootes.
^k He breaketh riuers in the rocks, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.
^l He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflowe, & the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.
^m But where is wisdom founde, & where is the place of vnderstanding?
ⁿ Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.
^o The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.
^p Golde shall not be giuen for it, nether shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.
^q It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious o-nix, nor the saphir.
^r The golde nor the cristall shall be equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for plate of fine golde.
^s No mention shall be made of coral, nor of the gabrils: for wisdom is more precious then perles.
^t The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equal vnto it, nether shall it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.
^u Whence cometh wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding, ^v Seing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, & is hid from the foules of the heaue?
^w Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.
^x But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.
^y For he beholdeth the ends of the worlde, & seeth all that is vnder heauen, ^z To make the weight of the windes, & to weigh the waters by measure.
^a When he made a decree for the raine, &
a way for the lightening of the thunders, ^b Then did he se it, and counted it the prepared it, and also considered it.
^c And vnto man he said, Beholde, the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euil is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past.

^a His auroris, is iusticia and equitie.

sable, saying,
^c Oh that I were as in times past, when God preferred me!

^t That is, mine estate is changed, & where as before the ancient men were glad to do me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.

When his light shined vpon mine head:
 & when by his light I walked through the darkenes,
 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:
 When the Almighty was yet with me, & my children rounde about me:
 When I washed my paths with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:
 When I went out to the gate, even to the iudgemēt seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the strete.
 The yong men sawe me, and hid them selues, and the aged arose, and stode vpon.
 The princes stayed talke, and laied their hand on their mouth.
 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to y roofe of their mouth.
 And when the eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye sawe me, it gaue witness to me.
 For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherles, and him that had none to helpe him.
 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.
 I put on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.
 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the fete to the lame.
 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently.
 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the praye out of his teth.
 Then I said, I shal dye in my nest, and I shal multiplie my dayes as the sande.
 For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dewe shal lye vpon my branche.
 My glorie shal renue toward me, and my bowe shal be restored in mine hand.
 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and helde their tongue at my counsel.
 After my wordes they replied not, & my talke dropped vpon them.
 And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.
 If I laughed on them, they beleued it not: nether did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.
 I appointed out their way, and did sit as chief, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth y mourners.

CHAP. XXX.
 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the moste contemptible. 11. 21. Because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23. Death is the house of all flesh.

BVt now they that are yonger then I, mocke me: yea, thei whose fathers I haue refused to set with the dogges of my flockes.

 For where to shulde the strength of their hands haue serued me, seing-age perished in them?
 For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fleeing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate and waste.
 They cut vpon nettels by the bushes, and the iuniper toores was their meat.
 Thei were chased forthe from among men: they showed at them, as at a thefe.
 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.
 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thittels they gathered them selues.
 They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.
 And now am I their song, & I am their talke.
 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.
 Because that God hath losed my corde and humbled me, & they haue losed the bridel before me.
 The youth rise vpon at my right hand: they haue pushed my fete, and haue trode on me as on the paths of their destruction.
 They haue destroyed my paths: they toke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.
 They came as a great breache of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.
 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.
 Therefore my soule is now powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.
 It perceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.
 For the great vehemencie is my garnēt chaged, which compasseth me about as the colar of my coate.
 He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.
 When I crye vnto thee, y dost not heare me, nether regardest me, when I stand vpon.
 Thou turnest thy self cruelly against me, and art enemy vnto me with the strength of thine hand.
 Thou takest me vpon and causest me to ride vpon the winde, and makest my strength to faile.
 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

^p He compasseth his afflictions to a rest, or whole winde.

CHAP. XXXII.

¹ Elihu reproveth them of folly. ⁸ Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

¹ Ebr. was iust in his owne eyes

^a Which came of Buz y^o sonne of Nabor Abrahams brother
^b Or, as the Chaldee para-phrast readeth, Abram ^c By making him self innocent, and by charging God of rigour ^d That is, the three mentioned before.

^e Meaning, the ancient, which haue experience

^f It is a special gift of God that man hath the vnderstanding, and cometh nether of nature nor by age:

³² To prone y^e Iobs afflictio came for his finnes.

^h And flatter your selues, as though you had ouercome him

ⁱ To wit, Iob k he vsct almost the like arguments, but without tanning, and reproches.

^j I haue conceiued in my minde great store of reasons.

^k I wil nether haue regarde to riches, credit nor authority, but wil speake the veritie.

¹ SO these three men ceased to answer Iob, because he^a esteemed him selfe iust.

² The wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the^a Buzite, of y^e familie of^b Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified him self^c more then God.

³ Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they colde not finde an answer, and yet condemned Iob.

⁴ (Now Elihu had waited til Iob had spoken: for^d they were more ancient in yeres then he)

⁵ So when Elihu sawe, that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

⁶ Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and said, I am yong in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afrayed to shewe you mine opinion.

⁷ For I said, The dayes^e shal speake, and the multitude of yeres shal teache wisdom.

⁸ Surely there is a spirit in man, ^f but the inspiracion of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding.

⁹ Great men are not alway wise, nether do the aged^g all way vnderstand iudgement.

¹⁰ Therefore I say, Heare me, and I wil shewe also mine opinion.

¹¹ Beholde, I did waite vpon your wordes & hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you fought out^h reasons.

¹² Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproveth Iob, nor answered his wordes:

¹³ Left ye shulde say, We haueⁱ founde wisdom: for God hathe cast him downe, & no man.

¹⁴ Yet hathe^j he not directed his wordes to me, nether wil I answer^k him by your wordes.

¹⁵ Then they fearing, answered nomore, but left of their talke.

¹⁶ When I had waited (for they spake not, but stode stil and answered nomore)

¹⁷ Then answered I in my turne, & I shewed mine opinion.

¹⁸ For I am ful of^l matter, & the spirit within me compelleth me.

¹⁹ Beholde, my bellie is as the wine, which hathe no vent, & like the newe bottels that bratt.

²⁰ Therefore wil I speake, that I may take breath: I wil open my lippes, and wil answer.

²¹ I wil not now accept the persone of mā, nether wil I giue titles to man.

²² For I may not giueⁿ titles, lest my Maker shulde take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

¹ Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. ¹⁴ He sheweth that God hathe diuers meanes to instruct man and so drawe him from sinne. ^{19.29} He afflicteth man and suddenly deliuereth him. ³⁶ Man being deliuered, giveth thanks to God.

¹ Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.

² Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hathe spoken in my mouth.

³ My wordes are in the vprightenes of mine heart, and my lippes shal speake pure knowledge.

⁴ The^a Spirit of God hathe made me, & the breath of the Almighty hathe giuen me life.

⁵ If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe & stand before me.

⁶ Beholde, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

⁷ Beholde, my terrour shal not feare thee, nether shal mine hand be heauy vpon thee.

⁸ Doubteles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes.

⁹ I am^d cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

¹⁰ Lo, he hathe founde occasions against me, and counted me for hisemie.

¹¹ He hathe put my fete in the stockes, and loketh narrowly vnto all my paths.

¹² Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I wil answer thee, y^e God is greater the mā.

¹³ Why doest thou strue against him? for he doeth not^e giue account of all his matters.

¹⁴ For God speaketh^f once or twise, & one seeth it not.

¹⁵ In dreames & visions of the night, when slepe falleth vpon men, and they slepe vpon their beddes,

¹⁶ Then he openeth the eares of me, euen by their corrections, which he^h had sealed,

¹⁷ That he might cause man to turne away from buenterprise, and that he might hide theⁱ pride of man, ¹⁸ And kepe backe his soule fro the pit, & y^e his life shulde not passe by the sworde.

¹⁹ He is also stricken with sorow vpon his bed, and the grief of his bones is sore, ²⁰ So that his^j life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meat.

²¹ His flesh faileth that it can not be sene, & his bones which were not sene, clatter.

²² So his soule draweth to the graue, & his life^k to the buriers.

²³ If there be a^m messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteoufnes,

²⁴ Then wil he haue^o mercie vpon him: chosen out of a thousand, & is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: & wherein mans righteoufnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ & faith therein. ^o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercie towards sinners, when he causeth his wordes to be preached vnto the

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called him selfe righteous.
12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

1 Moreouer Elihu answered, and said, 2 Heare my wordes, ye a wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as y^e mouth tasteth meat.

4 Let vs seke b iudgement among vs, & let vs knowe among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Shulde I lye in my d^e right? my wounde of the arrowe is e^e grievous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh f^e scornfulnes like water?

8 Which goeth in the s^e companie of them that worke iniquitie, & walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath said, h It profiteth a man nothing that he shulde walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom, God forbid y^e wickednes shulde be in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

11 For he wil rendre vnto man according to his worke, & cause euerie one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God wil not do wickedly, neither wil the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whome^a hath he appointed ouer y^e earth beside him self^b, or who hath placed the whole worlde?

14 If^c he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto him self his spirit and his breath, 15 All flesh shal perish together, and man shal returne vnto dust.

16 And if y^e hast vnderstanding, heare this & hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shal he that hateth iudgement, m gouerne? & wilt thou iudge him wicked that is moeste iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art a wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodlie?

19 How muche lesse to him that accepteth not the persones of princes, & regardeth not the riche, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shal dye suddenly, o and the people shal be troubled at midnight, p & they shal passe forth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkenes nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For he wil not lay on man so muche, that he shulde r^e entre into iugement with God.

24 He shal breake the mightie without f^eking, and shal set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shal he declare their f^e workes: he shal turne the r^e night, and they shal be destroyed.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the s^e seers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and wolde not consider all his waies:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the crye of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnes, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the y^e hypocrite doeth reigne, & because the people are snared.

31 Surely it apperteineth vnto God z to say, I haue pardoned, I wil not destroye.

32 a But if I se not, teache thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I wil do no more.

33 Wil he performe the thing through b thee? for thou haste reprobud c it, because that thou hast chosē, and not I. now speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tel me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wisdom.

36 I desire that Iob may be d^e tryed, vnto the end touching the answers for wicked men.

37 For he e^e addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, & multiplieth his wordes against God.

6 Neither doeth godlines profite, or vngodlines hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked crye vnto God and are not heard.

1 ELihú spake moreouer, and said,
2 Thikest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am a more righteous then God?
3 For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee and what auaieth it me, to purge me from my sinne?

4 Therefore wil I answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Loke vnto the heauen, and se and beholde the cloudes which are hier then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him, or what receiueth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: thy righteousnes may profite the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed, to crye, which crye out for the violence of the mightie.

10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdom then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanitie, nether wil the Almighty regarde it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regarde it, yet iudgement is before him: tust thou in him.

15 But now because his angre hathe not visited, nor called to count the euil with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 ELihú sheweth the power of God, 6 And his iustice, 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

1 ELihú also proceded and said,
2 Suffe me a litle, & I wil instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.
3 I wil fetch a my knowledge a farre of, & wil attribute righteousnes vnto my Maker.
4 For truly my wordes shal not be false, & he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mightie God casteth away none that is mightie & valiant of courage.

6 He mainteineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eies from the righteous, but they are with Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters & tyed with the cordes of affliction,

9 Then wil he shewe them their worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 If they obey and serue him, they shal end their dayes in prosperitie, & their yerres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shal passe by the sworde, & perish without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dyeth in youth, & their life among the whoremongers.

15 He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so wolde he haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broad place & not shut vp beneth, and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene ful of fat.

17 But thou art ful of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie mainteine all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, lest he shulde take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuet thee.

19 Wil he regarde thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 Be not careful in the night, how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou hede: loke not to iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hathe appointed to him his way, or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men beholde.

25 All men se it, and men beholde it a farre of.

26 Beholde, God is excellent, & we knowe him not, nether can the number of his yerres be searched out.

27 When he restraineth the droppes of water, the raine powreth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the cloudes do droppe & let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes & the thunders of his tabernacle?

30 Beholde he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea.

f He wil moue their heartes to file their sinnes, & they may come to him by repentance as he did Manassé.

g That is, in their follie or obstination, & so shal be cause of their owne destruction. h Which are maliciously bett against God and flatter the felues in their vices.

i When they are in affliction they seke not to God for succour, as Asa. 2. Chro 16. 12. reuel 16. 11.

k They dye of some vile death and that before they come to age.

l Ii thou hadst bene obedient to God, he wolde haue brought thee to libertie & welth.

m Thou art altogether after the manner of the wicked: for thou dost murmur against the iustice of God.

n God doeth punish thee, lest thou shouldest forget God in thy welth and so perish.

o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.

p And so murmur against God through impaciencie.

q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see the same farre off and knowe God by the same.

r Our infirmities hindereth vs so, that we can not attaine to the perfect knowledge of God.

u Vpon the cloudes. x That men can not come to the knowledge of the springs of the gods.

b Suche as are in the like error. c If thou canst not controle the cloudes, wilt thou presume to instruct God?

d Neither doeth thy sinne hurt God, nor thy iustice profite hi: for he wil be glorified without thee.

e The wicked may hurt man and cause him to drie, who if he sought to God, which sendeth comfort, shulde be deliuered.

f Because they pray not in faith as feeling Gods mercies.

g God is iust, howsoeuer iudgeth of hi. h For if he did punish thee, as thou deseruest, thou shouldest not be able to open thy mouth.

Chap XXXVI. a He sheweth that when we speake of God we must lift our spirits more high, then our natural sense is able to reach.

b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithful instructor, & that I speake to thee in the name of God.

c Strong and constant, & of vnderstanding: for these are the gifts of God, & he loueth them in man: but for as much as God punished now Iob, it is a signe that these are not in hi.

d Therefore he wil not pre-serue the wicked: but to the humble & afflicted heart he wil shewe grace.

e He preferreth the godliesse honour.

¶ He sheweth that the raine hath double vſe: the one ſheweth it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflowe any places, & ſheweth that it maketh ſuch fruitfull things. CHAP. XXXVII.

¶ Elihu proueth that the unſearchable wiſdome of God is maniſeſt by his workes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The ſnowe, 9 The whirle winde, 11 And the raigne.

¶ At this alſo mine heart is aſtoniſhed, & is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the ſounde of his voyce, and the noiſe that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the worlde.

4 After it a noiſe foundeth: he thundreth with the voyce of his maiestie, and he wil not ſtay them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth maruelouſly wth his voyce: he worketh great things, which we knowe not.

6 For he ſaith to the ſnowe, Be thou vpon the earth: d^{ly} likewiſe to the ſmale raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he ſhutteth vp euery man, that all men may knowe his worke.

8 Then the beaſts go into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirle winde cometh out of the South, and the colde from the North winde.

10 At the breath of God the ſiſt is giuen, & the breadth of the waters is made narrowe.

11 He maketh alſo the cloude to labour, to water the earth, & ſcatereth the cloude of his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may do whatſoeuer he commandeth them vpon the whole worlde:

13 Whether it be for puniſhment, or for his land, or of mercie, he cauſeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, o Iob: ſtand and conſider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Didſt thou knowe when God diſpoſed them? and cauſed the light of his cloude to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the varietie of the cloude, & the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South winde?

18 Haſt thou ſtretched out the heauens, which are ſtrong, & as a molten glaſſe?

19 Tel vs what we ſhal ſay vnto him: for we can not diſpoſe our matter becauſe of darkenes.

¶ Iob ſaith, I haue heard thee ſpeak, & I am aſtoniſhed, & I am moued out of my place. I haue heard thee ſpeak, & I am aſtoniſhed, & I am moued out of my place. I haue heard thee ſpeak, & I am aſtoniſhed, & I am moued out of my place.

20 Shal it be tolde him when I ſpeake: or ſhal mā ſpeake when he ſhal be deſtroied?

21 And now men ſe not the light, which ſhineth in the cloude, but the winde paſſeth and clenſeth them.

22 The brightnes cometh out of the North: the praiſe thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almighty: we can not finde him out: he is excellent in power & iudgement, & abundant in iuſtice: he afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for he wil not regard any that are wiſe in their owne conceit.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

¶ God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellencie the power, iuſtice and prouidence of the Creator is knowne.

¶ Then answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirle winde, & ſaid,

2 Who is this that darkeneth the counſel by wordes without knowledge?

3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I wil demande of thee and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where waſt thou when I layed the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt vnderſtanding,

1 A Gaine the Lord answered Iob out of

 2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I wil

 3 Wilt thou disanul my iudgement: or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayest be

 4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him?
 5 Decke thy self now with maiestie and 6 Cast abroad the indignacion of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is 7 Loke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him low: and destroy the wicked in their place.

CHAP. XLII.

The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His childrens age and death.

c I could be in minde ignorant, and that I shake I will not what.
Then Iob answered the Lord, and said,

d He sheweth that he will be Gods scholar to learne of him.
I knowe that thou canst do all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

e I knewe thee onely before by hearesay: but now when thou hast caused me to see what I am to me, that I may relige my self ouer thee.
Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge: therefore haue I spokē that I vnderstode not, euen things to wonderful for me, and which I knewe not.

Heare, I beseeche thee, and I wil speake: I wil demande of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

Therefore I abhorre my self, and repent in dust and ashes.

¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also said vnto Elipház the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends, for ye haue not spokē of me y thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rams, and go to my seruant Iob, & offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shal pray for you: for I wil accept him, lest I shulde put you to shame, because ye haue not spokē of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob.

So Elipház the Temanite, and Bildád the Shuhite, and Zophár the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

¶ Then the Lord turned the captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so muche as he had before.

Then came vnto him all his brethré, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euil, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euerie man gaue him a piece of money, & euerie one an earring of golde.

So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had fourtene thousand shepe, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she asses.

He had also seuen sonnes, and thre daughters.

And he called the name of one Jemimah, and the name of the second Keziáh, and the name of the thirde Kerenhappúch.

In all the land were no women founde so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeres, and sawe his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

So Iob dyed, being olde, & ful of dayes.

THE PSALMES

of Dauid.

THE ARGUMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holie Gost to be esteemed as a moste precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that appertene to true felicitie: aswel in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heauenlie wisdom are here set open for vs, to take thereof moste abundantly. If we wolde knowe the great, and his maiestie of God, here we may se the brightnes thereof shine moste clearely. If we wolde seke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schole of the same profession. If we wolde comprehend his inestimable bounty, and approche nere therunto, and fil your hands with that treasure, here we may haue a moste liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we wolde knowe wherein standeth our saluation, and how to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely redemer, and mediator moste evidently described. The riche man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may synde ful contentation. He that wil reioyce, shal knowe the true we, and how to kepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shal se wherein standeth their comforte, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shal se how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in somuche as they can not touche an heere of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is moste miserable. Briefly, here we haue moste present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being wel practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glorie, which is laud & p for all them that loue the summing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

* Or, Praises, according to the Hebrewes: and were chiefly instituted to praise, and giue thanks to God for his benèfites. These are called the Psalmes, or Songs of Dauid because the moste parte were made by him.

PSALME I.

Whether it was Esdras, or anse other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it semeth he did set this Psalm first in manner of a preface, to exhorde all godlie men to studie, and meditate the heauenlie wisdom. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue them selues wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contempters of God, though they seme for a while to happie, yet at length shal come to miserable destruction.

^a When a man hath the guide once place to counsell, counsel, or to his owne conscience,
he beginneth to forget himself in his sin, & so falleth in to contempt of God, which contempt is called the seat of the scorners.

yet the Lord drineth

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsel of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornful:

But his delite is in the Law of the Lord, & in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

For he shal be like a tre planted by the riuers of waters, that wil bring forther her frute in due season: whose leafe shal not fade: so whatsoeuer he shal do, shal prosper.

The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away.

Therefore the wicked shal not stand in the Iudgement, nor sinners in the assemblie of the righteous.

For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shal perish.

PSAL. II.

The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God wil continue his kingdome for euere & aduance it euen to the end of the worlde, so And therefore exhorteth Kings and rulers, that they wolde humbly submit them selues vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resiste God. Herein is figured Christs kingdome.

Why do the heathen rage, & the people murmur in vaine?

The Kings of the earth band them selues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cords from vs.

But he that dwelleth in the heauen shal laugh: the Lord shal haue the derisio.

Then shal he speake vnto them in his wrath, & vex them in his sore displeasure, saying,

Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holie mountaine.

I wil declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me, Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

Aske of me, & I shal giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the endes of the earth for thy possession.

Thou shalt krush them with a sceptre of yron, & breake them in pieces like a potters vessel.

Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

PSAL. V.

1 David oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and feearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God shulde punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous success, he conceiveth comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shal deliuer him, others also shal be for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes:
the Lord wil abhorre the bloodie man and deceitful.

7 But I e wil come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: & in thy feare wil I worship towards thine holie Tēple.

8 Lead me, & Lord, in thy righteousness, f because of mine enemies: make thy waie plaine before my face.

9 For no cōstancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their g throte is an open sepulchre, & they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroye them, & God: h let them i fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And k let all them that trust in thee, re-ioyce & triumphe for euer, l couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt m bless the righteous, & with fauour n wilt compas him, as with

1 I Wil praise the Lord with my whole heart: I wil speake of all thy maruerous workes.

2 I wil be glad, and reioyce in thee: I wil sing praise to thy Name, o moste high,

3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shal fall, and perishe at thy presence.

4 For thou hast maintained my right & my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgest right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

6 O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memorial is perished with them.

7 But the Lord shal sit for euer: he hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

8 For he shal iudge the worlde in righteousness, & shal iudge the people with equitie.

9 The Lord also wil be a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.

10 And they that knowe thy Name, wil trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed they that seke thee.

11 Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes.

12 For when he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth it, & forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

13 Haue mercie vpon me, o Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death.

PSAL. X.

He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldlie men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldlie prosperitie, and therefore setting aparte all feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may do all things without controuersie. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate euils. 16 And at length comforteth him selfe with hope of deliuerance.

Why standest thou farre of, o Lord, & hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction?

The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesseth him selfe: he contemneth the Lord.

The wicked is so proude that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwaies, There is no God.

His waies alwaie prosper: thy iudgements are hid about his sight: therefore defieth he all his enemies.

He saith in his heart, I shal neuer be moued, nor be in danger.

His mouth is full of cursing and disceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief & iniquities.

He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

He lieth in wait secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lieth in waite to spoile the poore: he doeth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

He croucheth & boweth: therefore heapes of the poore do fall by his might.

He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth awaie his face, & wil neuer se.

Arise, o Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God? he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard me.

Yet thou hast sene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou maiest take it into thine hands: the poore comitteth him selfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherles.

Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searche his wickednes, & thou shalt finde none.

The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed for the of his land.

PSAL. XI.

This pſalme containeth two partes. In the first Dauid sheweth how harde assaltes of tentacions he sustained, & in how great anguish of minde he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyeth that God set him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as wel in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole worlde.

IN the Lord put I my trust: how say ye then to my soule, ^a Flee to your mountaine as a birde?

For lo, the wicked bend their bowe, and make readie their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at the, which are vpright in heart.

For the ^b fundaciōs are cast downe: what liathe the ^c righteous done?

Vpon the wicked he shal raine snares, ^f fyre, and brimstone, & stormie tempest: this is the ^g porcion of their cup.

For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doeth beholde ^h iust.

PSAL. XII.

The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedely to send succour to his children. 7 The comforting him self and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

The Lord cut of all flattering lippes, & the tongue that speaketh proude things:

Which haue said, ^c With our tongue wil we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is lord ouer vs?

Now for the oppression of the nedie, & for the sighes of the poore, I wil vp saie the Lord, and wil ^d set at libertie him, whome the wicked hathe snared.

PSAL. XIII.

But I trust in thy ^d mercie: mine heart shal reioyce in thy saluacion: I wil sing to the Lord, because he hathe ^e delt louingly with me.

PSAL. XIII.

He describeth the peruerſe nature of men; which were so grown to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieved, yet being persuaded that God wolde send some present remedie, he comforteth him self & others.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

The foole hathe said in his heart, ^a There is no God: thei haue ^b corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to se if there were anie that wolde vnderstand, and seke God.

All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

He that sclandreth not with his tongue, nor doeth euil to his neighbour, nor receiveth a false reporte against his neighbour.

In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoreth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.

He that giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh rewarde against the innocent: he that doeth these things, shall neuer be moued.

PSAL. XVI.

Preserue me, O God: for in thee do I trust.

O my soule, thou hast said vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my blessing extendeth not to thee,

But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.

The sorowes of them, that offer to another god, shall be multiplied: their offerings of blood wil I not offer, neither make mention of their names with my lippes.

The Lord is the porcion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt mainteine my lot.

The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

I wil praise the Lord, who hath giuen me counsel: my reins also teache me in the nights.

I haue set the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand: therefore I shall not slide.

Wherefore mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope.

For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holie one to see corruption.

Thou wilt shewe me the path of life: in thy presence is the fulnes of ioye: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

PSAL. XVII.

Here he complaineth to God of the cruel pride and arrogancie of his enemies, who thus ragged with his cause giuen on his parte. & Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocencie, and deliuer him.

The prayer of David.

Hear, O Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, & let thine eyes beholde equitie.

Thou hast proued & visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, & foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth shulde not offend.

Concerning the workes of men, by the wordes of thy lippes I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.

Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feet do not slide.

I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine care to me, & hearken vnto my wordes.

Shewe thy maruelous mercies, thou that art the Sauour of them that trust in thee, from such as resist thy right hand.

Kepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadow of thy wings,

From the wicked that oppresse me, from mine enemies, which compass me rounde about for my soule.

They are inclosed in their owne fatt, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth.

They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the grounde:

Like as a lyon that is greedie of praye, & as it were a lyons whelpes lurking in secret places.

Vp Lord, disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked with thy sworde,

From men by thine hand, O Lord, from men of the worlde, who haue their porcion in this life, whose belies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their children haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children.

But I wil beholde thy face in righteousness, & when I awake, I shall be satisfied with thine image.

PSAL. XVIII.

This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation, and thankesgiving in the entring into his kingdome, wherein he extolleth & praiseth most highly the maruelous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved and defended him. & Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdome, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer & ouercome by the unspeakable power of his Father, though all the whole worlde shulde strue thereagainst.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David the servant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, & from the hand of Saül) and said,

I wil loue thee deely, O Lord my strength.

The Lord is my rocke, and my fortress, and

The vengeance that I shall shewe against mine enemies.

When thy Spirit examined my conscience

I was innocent towards mine enemy bothe in dede and thought.

Though the wicked prouoked me to do euil for euil, yet thy worde kept me backe

For I was assured that God wolde not refuse his request

For all rebell against thee, & trouble thy Church.

For their crueltye can not be satisfied but with my death and he that deliuereth me, my God & my strength: in him wil I trust, my shield, the horne also of my saluaciō, & my refuge.

3 I wil call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be ^b praised: so shal I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The ^c sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednes made me afraied.

5 The ^c sorowes of the graue haue cōpassed me about: the snares of death ouertoke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye did come before him, euē into his eares.

7 Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the fundacions also of the mōtaines moued and shoke, because he was angrie.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a ^c cōsuming fyre out of his mouth: coles were kindled therē.

9 He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and ^f darkened was vnder his fete.

10 And he rode vpon ^g Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darkenes his ^h secret place, & his pavilion rounde about him, euē darkenes of waters, and cloudes of the aire.

12 At the brightnes of his presence his cloudes passed, hailestones & coles of fyre.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue ⁱ his voyce, hailestones and coles of fyre.

14 Then he sent out ^k his arrowes & scattered them, and he increased lighnings and dⁱstroyed them.

15 And the chanelles of waters were sene, and the ^l fundaciōs of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue and taken me: he hath drawn me out of many waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my ^m strōg enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were ⁿ to strong for me.

18 They preuented me in the daye of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He broght me forth also into a large place: ^p he deliuered me because he fauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my ^q righteousnes: according to the purities of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, & did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his ^r commandements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, & haue kept me from my ^s wickednes.

^b For none can obtaine their requests of God, & soeue not his glorie with their petitions.
 ^c He speaketh of the dangers and malice of his enemies, from the which God had deliuered him.
 ^d Or, cordes & cables.

^e A description of the wrath of God against his enemies: after he hath heard his prayers.
 ^f He sheweth how horrible Gods iudgements shal be to the wicked.
 ^g Darknes signifieth the wrath of God, as the cleare light signifieth Gods fauour.
 ^h This is described at large Psal 104.
 ⁱ As a King angry with his people, will not shew him self vnto them.
 ^j Hundred, lightened, and haile.
 ^k His lightnings.

^l That is, the deepe bottoms were sene, when the red Sea was deuised in out of fundacion, and great dangers.
 ^m Toward Saul.
 ⁿ Therefore God sent me succour.
 ^p The cause of Gods deliuerance is his onelie fauour & loue to vs.
 ^q Dauid was sure of his righteous cause and good behauiour toward Saul & his enemies, & therefore was assured of Gods fauour & deliuerance.
 ^r For all his dangers he exercised him self in the Law of God.
 ^s In other game place to their wicked tentations, nor so mine owne afflictions.

24 Therefore ^t Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnes, & according to the purities of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the ^u godlie thou wilt shewe thy self godlie: with the vpright mā thou wilt shewe thy self vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy self pure, & with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy self froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, & wilt ^v cast downe the proude lokes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candel: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenes.

29 For by thee I haue ^w broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The waye of God is vncorrupt: the wordes of the Lord is tryed in the fyre: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my ^x waye vpright.

33 He maketh my fete like hindes fete, and setteth me vpon mine ^y high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of ^z brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giue me ^a shield of thy saluaciō, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy ^b louing kindenes hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steppes vnder me, and mine heles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and takē them, and haue not turned againe til I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded the, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my fete.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell them; that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast ^c giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroye them that hate me.

41 They ^d cryed, but there was none to saue them, euē vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them smale as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the claye in the stretes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the ^e heathen: a people, whome I haue not ^f known, shal serue me.

44 As sone as thei heare, thei shal obey me: the strangers shal ^g be in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shal ^h shrinke away, & feare in their priuie chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluacion be exalted.

^e Here he speaketh of God according to our capacity, who sheweth mercie to his & punisheth the wicked, as is said alſo, Leuit 26, 21.

^u When their sinne is come to the full measure.
 ^v He attributeth it to God that he bothe gate the victorie in his field, & also destroyed the cities of his enemies.
 ^w Be the dangers neuer so many or great, yet Gods promises must take effect.
 ^x He giueth good successe to all mine enterprises.
 ^y As towres and fortes, which he took out of the hands of Gods enemies.
 ^z Or, Ruler.
 ^a To defend me fro dangers.
 ^b He attributeth the beginning, continuance & increase in well doing onely to Gods fauour.
 ^c Dauid declareth that he did nothing besides his vocation, but was stirred vp by Gods Spirit to execute his iudgements.
 ^d Thou hast giue the into mine hands to be slaine.
 ^e That is, that reioice & crye of the afflicted.
 ^f God will also reioice them, when thei crye for helpe: for either peme or feare cause those hypoocrites to crye.
 ^g Which dwell round about me.
 ^h The kingdom of Christ is in Dauids kingdom prefigured: who by his preaching of his worde bringeth all to his subiection.
 ⁱ Or, lyce: signifying a subiection constrained & not voluntarie.
 ^k Feare shal cause them to be afraied & come forth of their secret holes & holden close parables.

47 It is God that giueth me power to auēge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou haſt ſet me vp from them, that roſe againſt me: thou haſt deliuered me from the ¹ cruel man.

49 Therefore ^m I wil praiſe thee, O Lord, among the nations, and wil ſing vnto thy Name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, & ſheweth mercie to his anointed, euen to Dauid, and to his ^a ſede for euer.

PſAL. XIX.

To the intent he might moue the faithful to a deeper conſideration of Gods glorie, he ſetteth before their eyes the moſt exquisite workmanſhip of the heauens with their proportion, and ornaments: ^s And afterward calleth the to the Law, wherein God hath reueiled him ſelf more familiarly to his choſen people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Law he ſetteth forth the more at large.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

¹ The ^a heauens declare the glorie of God, and the firmament ſheweth the worke of his hands.

² Day vnto day vttereth the ſame, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.

³ There is no ſpeache nor ^c language, where their voyce is not heard.

⁴ Their ^d line is gone forth through all the earth, and their wordes into the ends of the worlde: in them hath he ſet a tabernacle for the ſunne.

⁵ Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his ^e chambre, and reioyceth like a mightie man to runne his race.

⁶ His going out is from the end of the heauen, and his compaſſ is vnto the ends of the ſame, & none is hid from the heate thereof.

⁷ The ^f Law of the Lord is perſite, conuerting the ſoule: the teſtimonie of the Lord is ſure, and giueth wiſdome vnto the ſimple.

⁸ The ſtatutes of the Lord are right and reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.

⁹ The feare of the Lord is cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are ^g truth: they are righteous ^h all together,

¹⁰ And more to be ⁱ deſired then golde, yea, then muche fine golde: ſweeter alſo the honie and the honie combe.

¹¹ Moreouer by them is thy ſeruant made circumspect, & in keeping of them there is great ^k reward.

PſAL. XX.

A prayer of the people vnto God, that it wolde pleaſe him to heare their King & receiue his ſacrifice, which he offered before he went to battell againſt the Ammonites.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

¹ The ^a Lord heare thee in the daye of trouble: the ^b Name of the God of Iaakob defende thee:

² Send thee helpe from the Sanctuarie, and ſtrengthen thee out of Zion.

³ Let him remember all thine offrings, and ^c turne thy burnt offrings into aſhes. Selah:

⁴ And grante thee according to thine heart, and fulfil all thy purpoſe:

⁵ That we may reioyce in thy ^d ſaluacion, and ſet vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord ſhal performe all thy petitions.

⁶ Now ^e know I that the Lord wil helpe his anointed, and wil heare him from his Sanctuarie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand.

⁸ ^g They are brought downe and fallen, but we are riſen, and ſtande vpright.

⁹ Saue Lord: ^h let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

PſAL. XXI.

Dauid in the perſone of the people praſeth God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the ſtrength of man. Wherein the holie Goſt directeth the faithful to Chriſt, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

¹ The King ſhal ^a reioyce in thy ſtrength, O Lord: yea, how greatly ſhal he reioyce in thy ſaluacion!

⁴ ^c He asked life of thee, and thou gaueſt him a long life for euer and euer.

⁵ His glorie is great in thy ſaluacion: dignitie and honour haſt thou layed vpon him.

⁶ For thou haſt ſet him ^d as ^e bleſſings for euer: thou haſt made him glad with the ioye of thy countenance.

^d Granted to the King, in whole wealth our felicitie ſtandeth.

^d Thou haſt made him thy bleſſings to others, & a perpetual example of thy fauour for euer.

^e Here he deſcribeth the power of Chriſts kingdome againſt the enemies thereof.

That is, Saul, who of malice perſecuted him. This propheticke apperſeineth to the kingdome of Chriſt, and vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom. 15. 9. This did not properly apperſeine to Salomon, but to Ieſus Chriſt.

^a He reprocheth vnto man his ingratitude, ſeeking heauens, which are dumme creatures, ſet forth the Gods glorie.

^b The continual ſucceſſe of the daye & the night is ſufficient to declare Gods power and goodnes.

^c The heauens are a ſcholemaſter to all nations, be they neuer ſo barbarous.

^d The heauens are as a line of great capital letters to ſhewe vnto vs Gods glorie.

^e Or, vaile. The manner was that the bride and bridegrome ſhould ſtand vnder a vaile together, & after come forth the great ſolemnitie and reioycing of the aſſembly.

^f Though the creatures can not ſerue, yet this ought to be ſufficient to lead vs vnto him.

^g So that all mans inuention and intentions are lies.

^h Euerie one without exception.

ⁱ Except Gods worde be eſtimated about all worldlie things, it is condemned.

tremities, that he was past all hope, but after he had rehearsed the sorowes & griefs, wherewith he was wexed, 10 He recouereth him self fro the bottomles

PSAL. XXV.

The Prophet touched with the consideration of his finnes, and also grieved with the cruel malice of his enemies, prayeth to God moste feruently to haue his finnes forgiven. Especially suche as he had committed in his youth He becometh euerie versē according to the Hebrew letters two or three excepts.

A Psalm of David.

- 1 Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule.
- 2 My God, I trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

- 3 * So all that hope in thee, shal not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause.
- 4 Shewe me thy waies, O Lord, & teache me thy paths.
- 5 Lead me forth in thy trueth, and teache me: for thou art the God of my saluacion: in thee do I trust all the daie.
- 6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindenes: for thei haue bene for euer.
- 7 Remember not the finnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindenes remember thou me, euē for thy goodnes sake, O Lord.
- 8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore wil he teache sinners in the waie.
- 9 Them that be meke, wil he guide in iudgement; and teache the humble his waie.
- 10 All the paths of the Lord are mercie & trueth vnto such as kepe his couenant and his testimonies.
- 11 For thy Names sake, O Lord, be merciful vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.
- 12 What man is he that feareth the Lord? him wil he teache the waie that he shal chuse.
- 13 His soule shal dwel at ease, and his sede shal inherite the land.
- 14 The secret of the Lord is reueiled to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.
- 15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he wil bring my fete out of the net.
- 16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.
- 17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: drawe me out of my troubles.
- 18 Loke vpon mine affliction & my trauel, and forgieue all my finnes.
- 19 Beholde mine enemies, for thei are many, and they hate me with cruel hatred.
- 20 Kepe my soule, & deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.
- 21 Let mine vprightenes and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.
- 22 Deliuer I Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

PSAL. XXVI.

David oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the worlde, calleth for aide from God: & assured of his integritie toward Saül, desireth God to be his iudge, & to defend his innocencie. Finally he maketh mencio of his sacrifice, which he wil offere for his deliuerance, & desireth to be in the cōpane of the faithful in the cōgregaciō of God, whēce he was banished by Saül, promising integritie of life, & open praises & thanksgiving.

PSAL. XXVII.

Dauid maketh this psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the praises and thanksgiuings annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And at the end wherefore he desireth to liue and to be deliue-red, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THE Lord is my^a light and my saluation, whome shal I feare: the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shal I be afraid?

When the wicked, euē mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eat vp my flesh they stumbled and fel.

Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart shulde not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I wil trust in^b this.

One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I wil require, euē that I may dwel in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, & to visite his Temple.

For in the time of trouble he shal hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shal he hide me, & set me vp vpon a rocke.

And now shal he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies: round about me: therfore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifici-ces of ioye: I wil sing and praise the Lord.

Hearken vnto my voice, O Lord, when I crys: haue mercie also vpon me and heare me.

When thou^c saidest, Seke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I wil seke thy face.

Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant awaie in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, nether forsake me, O God of my saluation.

Though my father and my mother shulde forsake me, yet the Lord wil gather me vp.

Teache me thy waie, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

Giue me not vnto the lust of mine ad-uersaries: for there are false witnessess rise vp against me, & suche as speake cruelly.

I shulde haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnes of the^h Lord in the land of the liuing.

Hope in the Lord: be strong, & he shal comfort thine heart, & trust in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

Being in great feare & heauines of heart to see God dis-honoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them, & cryeth for vengeance against them. & at length assureth him selfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto wh^o se truston he commendeth all the faithful.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

VNto thee, O Lord, do I crye: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, lett, if thou answer me not, I be^a like them that go downe into the pit.

Hear the voice of my petitions, when I crye vnto thee, when I holde vp mine hands toward thine^b holy Oracle.

Drawe me not awaie with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice^{is} in their hearts.

Reward them according to their dedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: reder them their re-warde.

For they regard not the workes of y^e Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore breake them downe, & buylde the^e not vp.

Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my petitions.

The Lord^{is} my strength and my shield:
mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shal reioyce, & with my song wil I praise him.

The Lord^{is} their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his a-

Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: fede them also, & exalt the^e for euer.

P S A L. XXX.

When David was deliuered from great danger, he rendred thanks to God, exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful then seuer and rigorous towards his children, & And also that the fall from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. & This done he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

 A Psalme or song of the dedication of the house of David.*

1 I wil magnifie thee, o Lord: ^bfor thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cryed vnto thee, and thou hast restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me fro them that go downe into the pit.

4 Sing praises vnto the Lord, ye his Saints, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holines.

5 For he endureth but a while in his angre: but in his fauour is life: weeping maie abide at euening, but ioye cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperitie I said, I shal neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnes hadest made my mountaine to stand strong: but y^e didest hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, o Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, whē I go downe to y^e pit: shal the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shal it declare thy truth?

P S A L. XXXI.

David deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemy being ready to take him. Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is al waies readie to those that feare him. Finally he exhorteth all the faithful to trust in God and to loue him, because he preferueth and strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

1 IN thee, o Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousness.

2 Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rock, & an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortress: therefore for thy Names sake direct me & guide me.

4 Drawe me out of the net, that they haue laied priuily for me: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine hand I commende my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, o Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue them selues to deceitful vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I wil be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast sene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities,

8 And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of y^e enemy, but hast set my feet at large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, o Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule & my bellie are consumed with grief.

10 For my life is wasted with heauines, and my yeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, & my bones are consumed.

11 I was as reproche among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in the strete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I haue heard the railing of great men: feare was on euerie side, while they conspired together against me, & consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, o Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

I Because thou hast preferred me, y^e my tongue shulde praise thee, I wil not be vnmindful of my duetie.

16 Let death destroy them to the intent they may hurt no more 16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruāt, & saue me through thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, & to silence in thy graue.

18 Let the lying lippes be made dumme, which cruelly, proudly & spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnes, which thou hast laied vp for them, that feare thee! & done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men!

20 Thou doest hide them: priuely in thy presence from the pride of men: thou kepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

22 Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou ledest the voyce of my prayer, when I cryed vnto thee.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 Dauid punished with grievous sickness for his sinnes, counteth them blessed, to whome God doeth not impute their transgressions. And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to lue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

1 A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction.

1 Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiven, & whose sinne is couered.

2 Blessed is the man, vnto whome the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, & in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I helde my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day, (For thine had is heauie vpon me, daie & night: & my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Sélah)

4 The Lord acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, nether hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I wil confesse against my self my wickednes vnto the Lord, and thou forgavest the punishment of my sinne. Sélah.

5 Therefore shall euerie one, that is godlie, make his prayer vnto thee in a time, when thou maist be founde: surely in the flood of great waters: they shall not come nere him.

6 Thou art my secret place: thou preferuest me from trouble: thou compassist me about with ioyful deliuerance. Sélah.

7 I wil instruct thee, & teache thee in the way, that thou shalt go, & I wil guide thee with mine eye.

8 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouthes that he wil diligently luke and take care to direct them in the way of saluation. 1 If men can rule brute beastes, thinke they, that God wil not bridle and tame their rage.

thou doest binde with bit and bridel, lest they come nere thee.

10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compass him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, & reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyful all ye, that are vpright in heart.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise God for that he hath not only created all things, and by his prouidence governeth the same, but also is faithful in his promises, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, and scattereth the counsel of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be preserved by any creature or mans strength but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shall be preserved from all aduersities.

1 Reioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it shall become vpright men to be thankful.

2 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viol & instrument of ten strings

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cherefully with a loude voyce.

4 For the worde of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithful.

5 He loueth righteousness & iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnes of the Lord.

6 By the worde of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and laieth vp the depths in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all that dwell in the worlde, feare him.

9 For he spake, & it was done: he commanded, and it stood.

10 The Lord breaketh the counsel of the heathen, & bringeth to nought the deuises of the people.

11 The counsel of the Lord shall stand for euer, & the thoughts of his heart through out all ages.

12 Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord looketh downe from heauen, & beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them, that dwell in the earth.

15 He faceth their hearts euerie one, & vnderstandeth all their workes.

16 The King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.

18 Beholde, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, & vpon them, that trust in his mercie, 19 If Kings and the mightie of the worlde can not be saued by worldlie meanes, but only by Gods prouidence, what haue others to trust in, that haue not like meanes? God sheweth that towards his mercie, which man by no means is able to compass.

19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preferue them in famine.

n Thus he speaketh in y name of the whole Church, which onely depend on Gods providence:

20 Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shal reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holie Name.

22 Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

I Wil alwaie giue thanks vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually.

My soule shal glorie in the Lord: the humble shal heare it, and be glad.

Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

I sought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my feare.

They shal loke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shal not be ashamed, saying,

This poore man cryed, & the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

The Angel of the Lord pitcheth route about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

Taste ye & se, how gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

The Lyons do lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seke the Lord, shal want nothing that is good.

Come children, hearken vnto me: I wil teache you the feare of the Lord.

What man is he, that desireth life, and loueth long daies for to se good?

Kepe thy tongue from euil, and thy lips, that they speake no guile.

Eschew euil and do good: seke peace & followe after it.

The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, & his cares are open vnto their cye.

But the face of the Lord is against them that do euil, to cut of their remembrance from the earth.

The righteous cye, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

The Lord is nere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and wil saue suche as be afflicted in spirit.

Great are the troubles of the righteous:

but y Lord deliuereth him out of the all.

He kepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

But malice shal slay the wicked: & they that hate the righteous, shal perish.

The Lord redemeth the soules of his seruants: & none, y trust in him, shal perish.

PSAL. XXXV.

1 So long as Saül was enemie to Dauid, all that had anye autoritie vnder him to flatter their King (as is the course of the worlde) did also moste cruelly persecute Dauid against whome he praueth God to please & to auenge his cause, 2 That they may be taken in their nets & snares, which they laied for him, that his innocencie may be declared. 27 And that the innocents, which take part with him, may reioyce & praise the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruants 28 And so he promisseth to speake for the iustice of the Lord, & to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Leade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that strue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me.

Laye hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

Bring out also the speare and stoppe the waie against them, that persecute me: saue vnto my soule, I am thy saluacion.

Let the be confounded & put to shame, that seke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

Let their waie be darke & slipperie: & let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, & let his net, that he hath laied priuely, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

Thy my soule shalbe ioyful in the Lord: it shal reioyce in his saluacion.

All my bones shal saie, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is to strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoileth him!

Cruel witness did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knewe not.

They rewarded me euil for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

Yet when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting; and my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewailerth his mother.

PSAL. XXXVI.

The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaine of their malicious wickednes. 6 Then he turneth to consider the unspeakable goodnes of God towards all creatures. 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof he may be comforted & assured of his deliuerance by this ordinarie course of Gods worke. 13 Who in the end destroyeth the wicked & saucth the iuste.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, the seruant of the Lord.

Wickednes faileth to the wicked man, even in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes. 2 For he flattereth him self in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthe to be hated. 3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: he hath left of to vnderstand & to do good. 4 He imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he setteth him selfe vpon a ware, that is not good & doeth not abhorre euil.

a T he euidently by his dedes, that sinne puffeth forward the reprobate from wickednes to wickednes, albeit he go about to couer his impietie: b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he himselfe seeth it not. c The reprobate mocketh at holysome doctrine and put not difference betwene good and euil. d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate,

Thy mercie, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulness vnto the cloudes. 6 Thy righteousnes is like the mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, dost saue man and beast. 7 How excellent is thy mercie, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings. 8 They shal be satisfied with the fatnes of thine house, & thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures. 9 For with thee is the well of life, & in thy light shal we see light. 10 Extend thy louing kindenes vnto them that knowe thee, and thy righteousnes vnto them that are vpriight in heart. 11 Let not the fore of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked moue me. 12 There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shal not be able to rise.

PSAL. XXXVII.

This Psalm contemeth exhortation & consolation for the weak, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked, & the affliction of the godlie. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked do liue for the time, he doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous semeth to liue in the world, yet his end is peace, & he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked & preserved.

A Psalm of David.

Reate not thy self because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euil doers. 2 For they shal soone be cut downe like grasse, and shal wither as the greene herbe. 3 Trust thou in the Lord & do good: dwell in the land, & thou shalt be fed assuredly. 4 And delite thy self in the Lord, and he shal giue thee thine hearts desire. 5 Commit thy waye vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shal bring it to passe. 6 And he shal bring forth the thy righteousnes as the light, & thy iudgement as the noone daye. 7 Waite patiently vpon the Lord & hope in him: fret not thy self for him which prospereth in his waye: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe. 8 Cease from engre, & leaue of wrath: fret not thy selfe, also to do euil. 9 For euil doers shal be cut of, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shal inherit the land. 10 Therefore yet a litle while, and the

God will cleare our cause and restore vs to our right. f When God suffreth the wicked to prosper, it semeth to the flesh that he fauoreth their doings. g Meaning, except he moderate his afflictions, he shal be led to do as they do. h He correcteth the impaciencie of our nature, which can not abide till the fulnes of Gods time be come.

e Though wickednes seemeth to ouerboe all the world, yet by thine heauenlie providence thou gonerest heauen & earth. f Rur. the multitude of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called. g The depth of thy providence governeth all things, and disposeth the, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world. h Only Gous children haue ynough of all things both concerning this life & the life to come. i He sheweth who are Gods children, to wit. the iust, and lead their liues vprightly. k Let not the proude advance him self against me, neither power of the wicked drive me away. l That is, in their pride wherein they flatter them selues.

a He admonisheth vs neither to vex our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, neither to desire to be like the to make our state the better. b For Gods iudgement curteth downe their state in a moment. c To trust in God, and do according to his will, are sure tokens, that his providence will neuer faile vs. d Be not led by thine owne wisdom, but obey God, and he wil finish his worke in thee. e As the hope of daily light causeth vs not to be offended with the darknesses of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause and restore vs to our right. f When God suffreth the wicked to prosper, it semeth to the flesh that he fauoreth their doings. g Meaning, except he moderate his afflictions, he shal be led to do as they do. h He correcteth the impaciencie of our nature, which can not abide till the fulnes of Gods time be come.

Math 5.5.

i The godlie are assured of the power and craft of the wicked shal not preuail against them, but fall on their owne neckes, & therefore ought patiently to abide Gods time, & in the meane while bewaile their finnes, & offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience.

k For they are daily fed as wth Manna fro heauen, & haue sufficient when y^e wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hūgre. l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, & by what meanes to deliuer them.

m For God will giue them cōtēcted mindes, & that w^{ch} shal be necessarie.

n They shal vanish away suddenly: for they are fed for the date of slaughter.

o God so furniseth him with his blessing, that he is able to helpe others.

p God prospereth the faithful, because they walke in his waies with an vpright cōscience.

q When God doeth exercise his faith wth diuers tentations.

r Though the iust man dye, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and though God suffer some iust man to lacke temporal benefites, yet here cōpēseth him with spiritual treasures.

s They shal continually be preferred vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inward rest.

t These three pointes are required of the faithful, that their talke be godlie, y^e Gods Law be in their heart, & that their life be vpright. n Though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glorie & the iust mans will approue their cause, & reuenge their wrong.

wicked shal not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shal not be founde.

11 But * meeke men shal possesse the earth, and shal haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

12 The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shal laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his daye is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawne their sworde, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and nedie, and to slay suche as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sworde shal entre into their owne heart, & their bowes shal be broken.

16 A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shal be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth y^e dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shal be perpetual.

19 They shal not be cōfounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shal haue m^{uch} ynough.

20 But the wicked shal perish, and the enemies of the Lord shal be consumed as the fat of lambes: euen with the smoke shal they consume awaye.

21 The wicked boroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is merciful, and giueth.

22 For suche as be blessed of God, shal inherit the land, & they that be cursed of him, shal be cut of.

23 The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his waye.

24 Though he fall, he shal not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong and am olde: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seede begging bread.

26 But he is euer merciful and lendeth, and his seede enjoyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euil and do good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, & forsaketh not his Saints: they shal be preferred for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shal be cut of.

29 The righteous mē shal inherit the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous wil speake of wisdom, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, & his steppes shal not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But y^e Lord wil not leaue him in his hād, nor cōdemne him, when he is iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and kepe his waye, & he shal exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the lād: when the wicked men shal perish, thou shalt se.

35 I haue sene the wicked strong, & spreading him self like a grene baye tre.

36 Yet he passed away, and to, he was gone, and I sought him, but he colde not be founde.

37 Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shal be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shal be cut of.

39 But the saluation of the righteous mē shal be of the Lord: he shal be their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shal helpe them, and deliuer them: he shal deliuer them from the wicked, and shal saue them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

Dauid lying sicke of some greuous disease, acknowledgeth him self to be chastised of the Lord for his finnes, & therefore praieth God to turne away his wrath.

He uttereth the greatnes of his grief by manie wordes & circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euil intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, & hopeth for speedie helpe at his hand.

A Psalme of Dauid for a remembrance.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine angre, nether chastise me in thy wrath.

For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me.

There is nothing founde in my flesh, because of thine angre: nether is there rest in my bones because of my sinne.

For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, & as a weightie burden they are to heaue for me.

My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnes.

I am bowed, and croked very fore: I go mourning all the daye.

For my reines are ful of burning, & there is nothing founde in my flesh.

I am weakened and sore broken: I sorrowe for the verie grief of mine heart.

Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne.

x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloude, which vanissheth away in a moment. y He exhorteth the faithful to marke diligently the exāples bothe of Gods mercies, & also of his iudgements. z He sheweth that y^e patient hope of the godlie is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath good success, though for a time God proue them by sundrie tentations.

a To put him self & others in minde of Gods chastisement for sinne. b He desireth not to be excused fro Gods rod, but that he wolde so moderate his hand, that he might be able to beare it.

e He cōfesseth his sins, Gods iustice, & maketh prayer his refuge.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

1 Blessed is he that ^a iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shal deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord wil kepe him, & preferue him aliuie: he shal be blessed vpon the earth, & thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the wil of his enemies.

3 The Lord wil strengthen him vpon the bed of sorowe: thou hast turned all his bed in his sickenes.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies ^d speake euil of me, saying, When shal he dye, and his name perish?

6 And if he cometo se me, he speaketh lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within hi, and when he cometh forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: even against me do they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, & he that lieth, shal no more rise.

9 Yea, my ⁿ familiar friend, whome I trusted, which did eat of my bread, ^s hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, o Lord, haue mercie vpon me, & raise me vp: so I shal rewarde them.

11 By this I know that thou fauor'st me, because mine enemy doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me ^h in Christ, Iohn 13, 18, so shal his n^ubers continually, proue the same. ^h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in y^e true feare of God against all temptations

13 Blessed be y^e Lord God of Israel worlde without end. ^k So be it, euen so be it.

The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutors he coulde not be present in the Congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in bodie fro them yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he sheweth, that he was not so farre overcome with these sorowes & th^gts, as that he continually put his confidence in the Lord

To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, & committed to the sonnes of Korah.

1 As the hart braieth for the riuers of water, so ^b pateth my soule after thee, o God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, even for the liuing God: when shal I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 My teares haue bene my meat daie and night, while they daieily say vnto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembred ^d these things, I powdered out my verie heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the House of God with the voice of singing, & praise, as a multitude y^e kepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? ^e waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, ^f because I remember thee, from the land of Iordan, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.

7 One ^s depe calleth another depe by y^e noise of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord ^h wil grante his louing kindness in the daie, and in the night shal I sing of hi, enē a praier vnto y^e God of my life.

9 I wil saie vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mournig, when the enemy oppresseth me?

10 My ⁱ bones are cut a sunder, while mine enemies reproche me, saying daieily vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 ^k Why art thou cast downe, my soule? & why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe, and my God.

He praieeth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that he might ioyfully praise God in his holie Congregation

1 I vdge ^a me, o God, & defend my cause against the vnmerciful ^b people: deliuer me from the deceitful and wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me awaie? why go I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me.

3 Send thy ^c light and thy trueth: let them lead me: let the bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.

^c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.

¹ Shewing manifest signes of thy Fatherly providence. ^k By this repetition he stirreth vp y^e faith (ul) to praise God

^a As a treasure to be kept of the, which were of the number of the Denies ^b By these similitudes of thirst & panting he sheweth his seruente desire to serue God in his Temple

^c As other take pleasure in eating & drinking, so he was altogether giuen to weeping. ^d That is, how I led y^e people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, & now seeing my contrarie estate, I dye for sorrow. ^e Thogh he refused grieuous afflictions of the flesh to cast hi inrodefaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, getteth the victorie

^f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment among y^e mountaines. ^g Afflictions came forthicke vpon me, that I felt my self as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our miserie, til God be pacified, & send remedie

^h He assureth him selfe of Gods helpe in time to come. ⁱ That is, I am moste grievously tormented. ^k This repetition doeth declare y^e Dauid did not overcome me at once: to teache vs to be constant for asmuche as God wil certainly deliuer his

^a He desireth God to undertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he wolde restore him to the Tabernacle. ^b That is, the cruel company of mine enemies.

^k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was utterly destitute of all counsell. yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to praye. ¹ He desireth that Gods mercie maye contend for him against the rage of his enemies. ^m Let the same shame, and confusion light vpon them, w^h they intended to haue brought vpon me. ⁿ As the faithful alwayes praise God for his benefices: for the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions

^a Not condemning him as accursed, w^h home God doeth visite, knowing that there are diuers causes, why God layeth his had vpon vs: yea, & afterwarde he restoreth vs. ^b When for sorrow & grief of minde he casteth him self vpon his bed. ^c Thou hast restored him in his sick bed & set him comfort. ^d That is, excuse me, and can not haue their cruel hate quenched, but with my shameful death. ^e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, & braggeth thereof. ^f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments y^e God was become his mortal enemy.

workes, that thou haſt done in their daies,
in the olde time:

2 How thou haſt driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and planted them: how thou haſt deſtroyed the people, and cau-ſed them to growe.

3 For they inherited not the land by their owne ſwordes, neither did their owne arme ſaue them: but thy right hand, & thine ar-

4 Thou art my King, o God: ſend helpe

6 For I do not truſt in my bowe, neither can

8 Therefore wil we praiſe God continually,

9 But now thou art faire of, and putteſt vs

11 Thou gieuſt vs as ſhepe to be eaten, & doeſt ſcatter vs among the nations.

12 Thou ſelleſt thy people without gaine, and doeſt not increaſe their price.

13 Thou makeſt vs a reproche to our neighbours, a iſte and a laughing ſtocke to the
that are round about vs.

14 Thou makeſt vs a prouerbe among the nations, & a nodding of the head among the people.

15 My confuſion is daieſly before me, and the ſhame of my face haſt thou couered me,

16 For the voice of the ſclanderer and rebu-ker, for the enemie and auenger.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet do we not

18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither

1 Because the Church is alwaie full of hypocrites, & which do imagine that God wil be worshiped with outward ceremonies onely, without the heart: and especially the lewes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the Law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient, 21 Therefore the Prophet doeth reprove this grosse error, & pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed, where holines is set in ceremonies. 23 For he declareth the worship of God to be spiritual, whereof are two principal partes, inuocation, & thanksgiving.

When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offences, he did not onely acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his natural corruptioand enquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desireth God to forgive his finnes, 10 And to renew in him his holie Spirit, 13 With promes that he wil not be unmindeful of those great graces. 18 Finally fearing lest God wolde punish the whole Church for his fault, he requirerh that he wolde rather increase his graces towards the same.

the Prophet Nathan ^a came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

cording to the multitude of thy compassions put awaie mine iniquities.

Wash me ^c throughly from mine iniqui-

For I ^d knowe mine iniquities, & my sin-ne is euil before me.

Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, & done euil in thy sight, that thou maiest be iuste when thou ^e speakest, and pue when thou iudgeth.

Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.

Beholde, thou ^f louest trueth in ^y inward wisdome in the secret of mine heart.

Purge me with ^g hyssope, and I shal be Cast me not awaie from thy presence, and take not thine holie Spirit from me.

Restore to me the ioye of thy saluacion,

^a Read psal. 16
^r Sam. 19. 11
^b Though his enemies were euen at hand to destroye him, yet he assured him selfe that God had wayes enough in his hand to deliuer him
^c For I am innocent to the wardes, & haue not offended them
^d Seing it apperteyneth to Gods iudgements to punish y^e wicked, he desireth God to execute his vengeance on y^e reprobar, who maliciously persecute his Church
^e He compareth their crueltie to hungry dogs shewing that they are neuer wearie in doing euil
^f They boast openly of their wicked deuities, and euertie woide is as a sword for them: neither feare God, nor are ashamed of men.

The wicked are strangers from the world: euen from the belly haue they erred, & speake lies.
Their poison is euen like the poison of a serpent: like the deafe adder that stoppeth his eare.
Which heareth not the voyce of the inchanter, though he be moste expert in charming.
Breake their teeth, O God, in their mouthes: breake the iawes of the yong lions, O Lord.
Let them melt like the waters, let the passe away: when he shooteth his arrowes, let them be as broken.
Let him consume like a snail that melteth, & like y^e vntimelie frute of a woman, that hath not sene the sunne.
As a rawe flesh before your pottes fele the fyre of thornes: so let him carie them away as with a whirle winde in his wrath.
The righteous shal reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: he shal wash his fete in the blood of the wicked.
And men shal say, Verely there is frute for the righteous: doubtles there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

David being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God: 3 Declareth his innocencie, & their furie. 5 Desiring God to destroye all those that sime of malicious wickednes 11 Whome though he kepe aliuie for a time to exercise his people, yet in the end he wil consume the in his wrath. 13 That he maye be knowne to be the God of Iakob to the end of the worlde. 16 For thus he singeth praises to God, assured of his mercies.

To him that excelleth. Destroye not. A Psalm of Dauid on a Michtam. * When Saul sent & they did watche the house to kill him.
O My God, deliuer me from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against me.
Deliuer me from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloodie men.
For lo, they haue layed waite for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against me, not for mine offense, nor for my sinne, O Lord.
They runne and prepare them selues without a faute on my parte: arise therefore to assise me, and beholde.
Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel awake to visite all the heathen, & be not merciful vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Sélah.
They go to and fro in the euening: they barcke like dogs, and go about the citie.
Beholde, they brag in their talke, and swordes are in their lippes: for Who, say they, doeth heate?
But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen:

He is strong: but I wil waite vpon thee: for God is my defence.
My merciful God wil preuent me: God wil let me see my desire vpon mine enemies.
Slay the not, lest my people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, & put them downe, O Lord our shield,
For the sinne of their mouth, & the wordes of their lippes: and let them be taken in their pride, euen for their periuire and lies, that they speake.
Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that they be no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iakob, euen vnto the ends of the worlde. Sélah.
And in the euening they shal go to and fro, & barcke like dogs, & go about the citie.
Thei shal runne here and there for meat: & surely they shal not be satisfied, though they tarie all night.
But I wil sing of thy power, & wil praise thy mercie in the mornig: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.

Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.
Thou hast shewed thy people heauie things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddines.
But now thou hast giuen a banner to the that feare thee, that it maie be displayed because of thy trueth. Sélah.

^a From y place, where I was banished, being driuen out of the Citie & Temple by my soune Absalom.
^b Vnto the w without thy helpe I ca not attaine.
^c There is nothing y doeth more strengthe our faith, then the remembrance of Gods iudicour in times past.
^d This chiefly is referred to Christ, who liueth eternally not onely in him self, but also in his members.
^e For the stabilitie of my kingdome standeth in thy mercie & truth.

2 From ^a the ends of the earth wil I crye vnto thee: whe mine heart is opprest, bring me vpō the rocke that is ^b higher then I.
3 For thou hast bene mine hope, & a strong tower against the enemye.
4 I wil dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, & my trust shal be vnder the couering of thy wings. Sélah.

PSAL. LXII.

This Psalm partly containeth meditation, whereby David encourageb him self to trust in God against the assaults of tentations. And because our mindes are easily drawe from God by the allurements of the worlde, he sharply reproveth this vanitie, to the intent he might cleave fast to the Lord.

¶ To the excellent musician * I eduthón. A Psalm of David.

1 YEt ^a my soule kepeth silence vnto God: of him cometh my saluacion.
2 Yet he is my strength and my saluacion, & my defence: therefore I shal not muche be moued.
3 How long wil ye imagine mischief against ^a man? ye shalbe all slaine: ye shalbe as a bowed wall, or as a ^d wall shaken.
4 Yet they consulte to cast him downe fro his dignitie: their delite is in lies, therblefse with their mowthes, but curse with their hearts. Sélah.

5 Yet my soule kepe thou silēce vnto God: ^d Though ye seme to be in honour, yet God wil suddely destroye you. ^e David was greatly moued with these troubles: therefore he stirreth vp him self to trust in God.

for mine hope is in him.
6 Yet is he my strength, & my saluacion, & my defence: therefore I shal not be moued.
7 In God is my saluacion and my glorie, y rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.
8 Trust in him alwaie, ye people: ^s powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Sélah.
9 Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chief me are lies: to lay the vpon a balance thei are altogether lighter the vanitie.
10 Trust not in oppression nor in roberie: ^h be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon.

PSAL. LXIII.

¹ David, after he had bene in great danger by Saul in the desert of Ziph, made this psalme. 3 Wherein he giueth thanks to God for his wonderful deliuerance, in whose mercies he trusted, euen in the mddes of his miseries, 9 Prophecying the destruction of Gods enemies: 11 And contrariwise happines to all them that trust in the Lord.

¶ A Psalm of David. When he was in the wilderness of Iudáh.

1 OGod, thou art my God, early wil I fecke thee: my soule ^b thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a baren and drye land without water.
2 Thus ^c I beholde thee as in the Sanctuarie, when I beholde thy power & thy glorie.
3 For thy louing kindenes is better then life: therefore my lippes shal praise thee.
4 Thus wil I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name.
5 My soule shal be satisfied, as with ^d marrow and fatnes, and my mouth shal praise thee with ioyful lippes,
6 When I remember thee on my bed, & when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.
7 Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings wil I reioyce.

8 My soule cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.
9 Therefore they that seke my soule to destroy it, they shal go into the lowest partes of the earth.
10 They shal cast him downe with the edge of the sworde, & thei shal be a portio for foxes.
11 But the King shal reioyce in God, and all that sweare by him shal reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies, shal be stopped.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Hear my voice, o God, in my praiſer: preserve my life from feare of the enemye.

Hide me from the conspiracie of the wicked, and from the rage of the workers of iniquitie.

Which haue whet their tongue like a sworde, and shot for their arrowes bitter wordes:

To shote at the vpright in secret: thei shote at him suddenly, and feare not.

Thei encourage them selues in a wicked purpose: thei comene together to laie snares priuely, and saie, Who shal se them?

Thei haue fought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which thei fought out, euen euerie one his secret thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

But God wil shote an arrow at them suddenly: their strokes shal be at once.

Thei shal cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoever shal se them, shal flee awaie.

And all men shal se it, and declare the worke of God, and thei shal vnderstand, what he hathe wrought.

But the righteous shal be glad in the Lord, & trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shal reioyce.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

O God, a praise waiteth for thee in Zion, & vnto thee shal the vowe be performed.

Because thou hearest the praiſer, vnto thee shal all flesh come.

Wicked dedes haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be merciful vnto our transgressions.

Blessed is he, whome thou chusest and causest to come to thee: he shal dwell in thy courts, and we shal be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holie Temple.

O God of our saluacion, thou wilt answer vs with feareful signes in thy righteousness, o thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre of in the sea.

He stablisheth y mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength.

Thou waterest abundantly the fountaines thereof: thou causest the raine to descend into y valleis thereof: thou makest it soft with showres, & bleſseſt the bud thereof.

^y Who was some chief ruler of the tribe.

² Declare out of thine holie palace thy power for the defence of thy Church Ierusalem.

^a He desireth that the pride of the mightie may be destroyed, & accustomed to growne their shoes wth siluer: & therefore for their glittering pompe thought the felues aboute all men.

^b He prophesieth that the Gentiles shall come to the true knowledge & worship of God.

^c By his terrible thunders he will make him self to be knowne to God of all the world.

^d In shewing fearful iudgements against thine enemies for the saluation of thy people.

^e He alludeth to the Tabernacle which was deuided into three partes.

²⁵ The fingers went before, the plaiers of instruments after: in the middes were the maidens playing with timbrels.

²⁶ Praise ye God in the assemblies, & the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel.

²⁷ There was a little Benjamin with their ruler, & the princes of Iudah with their assemblie, the princes of Zebulun, & the princes of Naphtali.

²⁸ Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that, which thou hast wrought in vs, ²⁹ Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: & Kings shall bring presents vnto thee.

³⁰ Destroye the companie of the spearmen, & multitude of the mightie bulles with the calves of the people, that tread vnder fete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delite in warre.

³¹ Then shall thy princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall haste to stretch her hands vnto God.

³² Sing vnto God, O ye kingdoms of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah)

³³ To him that rideth vpon the moste high heauens, which were from the beginning: beholde he wil send out by his voyce a mightie founde.

³⁴ Ascribe the power to God: for his maiestie is vpon Israel, & his strength is in the cloudes.

³⁵ O God, thou art terrible out of thine holie places: the God of Israel is he that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

PSAL. LXXIX.

¹ The complaints, prayers, seruent & sale & great anguish of David is set for the us a figure of Christ & all his members: ²¹ The malicious crueltie of the enemies, ²² And their punishment also, ²⁶ Where Iudas & such traitors are accursed. ³⁰ He gathereth courage in his affliction & offereth praises vnto God, ³² Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: where of all the afflicted may take comfort. ³⁵ Finally he doeth prouoke all creatures to praises, prophesying of the kingdom of Christ, & the preseruacion of the Church, where all the faithful, ³⁷ And their sede shall dwell for ever.

[¶] To him that excelleth vpon a Shofhannim. A Psalm of David.

¹ Save me, O God: for the waters are sentied euen to my soule.

² I sticke fast in the depe myre, where no steaie is: I am come into depe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

³ I am wearie of crying: my throte is drye: mine eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.

⁴ They that hate me without a cause, are mo then the heertes of mine head: thei that wolde destroye me, and are mine enemies falsely, are mightie, so that I restored that which I toke not.

⁵ O God, thou knowest my foolishnes, & my fautes are not hid from thee.

⁶ Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for me: let not those that seke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

⁷ For thy sake haue I suffred reprove: shame hath couered my face.

⁸ I am become a stranger vnto my brether, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

⁹ For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

¹⁰ I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reprove.

¹¹ I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

¹² They that sate in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.

¹³ But Lord, make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluacion.

¹⁴ Deliuer me out of the myre, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the depe waters.

¹⁵ Let not the waterflood drowne me, nether let the depe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

¹⁶ Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindness is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tendre mercies.

¹⁷ And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make hast & heare me.

¹⁸ Drawe nere vnto my soule & redeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies.

¹⁹ Thou hast knowen my reprove and my shame, & my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee.

²⁰ Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauines, and I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I founde none.

²¹ For thei gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst thei gaue me vinegre to drinke.

²² Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

²³ Let their eyes be blinded that thei se not: and make their loynes alwaie to tremble.

²⁴ Powre out thine angrie vpon them, & let thy wrathful displeasure take them.

²⁵ Let their habitation be void, & let none dwell in their tentes.

²⁶ For thei persecute him, whome thou hast smiten: and they adde vnto the sorowe of them, whome thou hast wounded.

²⁷ Lay in iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, & let them not come into thy righteousnes.

²⁸ Let them be put out of the booke of life,

^g Though I be guiltie to thee warde, yet am I innocēt towards them.

^h Let not mine enuie increasie of the enemies be an occasiō, y^e the faithful fall frō thee.

ⁱ When I sawe thine enemies pretend thy Name onely in mouth, and in their life denie the same, thine holie Spirit thrust me forward, to reprove the & defend thy glorie.

^k My zeale moued me to lament & pray for my saluation.

^l The more he sought to winne them to God, the more thei were against him both poore and riche.

^m Knowing that albeit I suffer now trouble, yet I haue a time, where in I haue appointed my deliuerance.

ⁿ He sheweth a liuelie faith, in that he assured his self, y^e God is fauorable to him, which he seemeth to be angrie: & at hand, when he seemeth to be farre off.

^o Not that he feared y^e God was old nor heare him, but y^e care made him to thinke that God differed long.

^p Thou seest y^e I am beset as a shepe among manie wolues.

^q He sheweth y^e it is in vaine to put trust in men in our great necessities, but y^e our comfort onely dependeth of God: for man rather increaseth sorrowes, then diminisheth them.

^r He desireth God to execute his iudgements against the reprobate, which can not by any means be turned.

Rr.i

There is no sacrifice, & God more esteemeth, then thanksgiuing for his benefites.

For as he delivered his seruants Dauid, so will he do all y^e are in desires, and call vpon him.

Vnder the temporal promes of the land of Canaan he comprehended the promes of life everlasting to the faithful & their posteritie.

Psal. LXX. Which might put him in remembrance of his deliuerance.

He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to say: for at his time he will heare vs. He was assured that the more thei raged, the nearer they were to destruction & he the nearer to his deliuerance. Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their miserie, lest y^e same fall on y^e owne necks. Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience and boldly sekketh vnto him for succour.

Psal. LXXI.

He praeth to God wth full assurance of faith, y^e he will deliuer him from his aduersaries. By declaring thy self true of promes. Thou hast in finite meanes, & all creatures are at thy commandment, therefore shew some signe, whereby I shalbe deliuered. That is, fro Absolon, Ahiothophel & that conspiracie. He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefites, who did not onely preferre him in his mothers belly, but toke him thence, & euer since hath preferred him.

nether let them be written with the righteous.

When I am poore & in heauines, thine helpe, O God, shal exalt me.

I wil praise the Name of God with a song, & magnifie him with thanksgiuing.

This also shal please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath hornes and hooves.

The humble shal se this, & thei that seke God, shalbe glad, & your heart shal liue.

For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners.

Let heauen & earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

For God wil saue Zion, and buyld the cities of Iudah, that men maie dwell there and haue it in possession.

The sede also of his seruants shal inherit it: and thei that loue his Name, shal dwell therein.

PSAL. LXX.

He praeth to be right speedily deliuered. 2 He desireth the shame of his enemies. 4 And the ioyful comfort of all those that seke the Lord.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David to put in remembrance.

O God, haste thee to deliuer me: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

Let them be confounded & put to shame, that seke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

Let the be turned backe for a rewarde of their shame, which said, Aha, aha.

But let all those that seke thee, be ioyful & glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluacion, saie alwaies, God be praised.

Now I am poore and nedie: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

PSAL. LXXI.

He praeth in faith, established by the worde of the promes. 3 And confirmed by the worke of God from his youth. 10 He complaineth of the cruelty of his enemies. 17 And desireth God to continue his graces towards him. 22 Promising to be mindeful and thankful for the same.

In thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed.

Rescue me and deliuer me in thy righteousness: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me.

Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I maie alwaies resorte: thou hast giue commandement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse.

Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked: out of the hand of the cuil and cruel man.

For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my trust from my youth.

Vpon thee haue I bene staid from the wombe: thou art he that toke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shal be alwaies of thee.

I am become as it were a fonsicle vnto manie: but thou art my sure trust.

Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, & with thy glorie euerie day.

Cast me not of in the time of age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

For mine enemies speake of me, & they that laie waite for my soule, take their counsel together,

Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for their is none to deliuer him.

Go not farre fro me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me.

Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reprove & confusion, that seke mine hurt.

But I wil waite continually, & wil praise thee more and more.

My mouth shal daily rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluacion: for I knowe not the number.

I wil go forward in the strength of the Lord God, and wil make mention of thy righteousness, euen of thine onely.

O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntil now: therefore wil I tel of thy wonderful workes,

Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and graie, O God: forsake me not, vntil I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, & thy power to all them, that shal come.

And thy righteousness, O God, I wil exalt on high: for y^e hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee!

Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt reuene and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take me vp from the depth of the earth.

Thou wilt increase mine honour, & returne and comfort me.

Therefore wil I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viol: vnto thee wil I sing vpon the harpe, O Holie one of Israel.

My lippes wil reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule, which thou hast deliuered.

My tongue also shal talke of thy righteousness daily: for they are confounded & brought vnto shame, that seke mine hurt.

PSAL. LXXII.

He praeth for the prosperitie of the kingdom of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Vnto whom shal be righteousness peace and felicitie. 10 Vnto whom all Kings and all nations shal do homage. 17 Whose name and power shal endure for euer. & in whom all nations shalbe blessed.

and therefore he promiseth to delite in nothing, but wherein God maie be glorified.

All y^e worlde wondereth at me because of my miseries, as well thei in autoritie, as the common people, yer being assured of thy fauour I remained steadfast. Thou that didst helpe me in my youth, when I had more strength, helpe me now so muche the more in mine olde age & weaknes. Thus the wicked bothe blaspheme God & triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsake them, if he suffer the to fall into their hands. In calling him his God, he putteth backe y^e false reportes of the aduersaries, that said, God had forsaken him. Because thy benefites toward me are innumerable, I can not but continue in moderate & rehearse them. I wil remaine steadfast, being vpholden with y^e power of God. He desireth y^e he hath begonne, he wolde so continue his benefices, y^e his liberalitie maie haue perite praise. Thy iust performance of thy promes. His faith breaketh through all tentations, & by this exclamation he praiseth y^e power of God. As he confesseth that God is the onely author of his deliuerance: so he acknowledged that these euils were sent vnto him by Gods providence. He desireth y^e his long patience was well recompensed, when God performed his promes. For there is no true praising of God, except it come fro the heart: God maie be glorified.

As for me, my fete were almoſt gone: my

For I ſieated at the fooliſh, when I ſawe

For there are no bands in their death, but they are luſtie & ſtrong.

They are not in trouble as other men, ne-

Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto the,

They are licencious, and ſpeake wicked-

PSAL. LXXIII.

The faithful complain of the destruction of the Church & true religion. 2 Under the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might & free mercies of God, 20 By his covenant, 21 They require helpe & succour for the glorie of Gods holie Name, for the saluacion of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 And the confusion of his proude enemies.

A Psalm to give instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, ^a why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the shepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of olde, & on the ^b rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, & on this mount Ziön, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy ^c strokes, that thou maiest for euer destroye euerie enemy that doeth euil to the Sanctuarie.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, & ^c set vp their banners for signes.

5 He that ^d lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renoumed, as one, that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But now they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fyre, & ^e rased it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their ^e hearts, Let vs destroye them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor anie with vs that knoweth ^f how long.

10 O God, how long shal the aduersarie reproche thee: shal the enemy blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? drawe it out of thy bosome, & ^g consume them.

12 Euen God is my King of olde, working saluacion ^h in the middes of the earth.

13 Thou didest diuide ^y Sea by thy power:

thou brakest the heades of the ⁱ dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the head of ^k Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be ^l meat for the people in wildernes.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuier: thou driedst vp mightie riuers.

16 The ^m daye is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of ^y earth: thou hast made somer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hathe reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hathe blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy ⁿ turtle dooue vnto the beast, & forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy couenant: for ^o the darke places of the earth are ful of the habitacions of the cruel.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore & nedie praise thy Name.

22 Arise, ^o God: mainteine thine ^p owne cause: remember thy dailie reproche by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumulte of them, that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

PSAL. LXXV.

The faithful do praise the Name of the Lord, 2 Which shal come to iudge at the same appointed, 8 When the wicked shalbe put to confusion, and drinke of the cup of his wrath. 10 Their pride shalbe abated, & the righteous shalbe exalted to honour.

To him that excelleth. A Destroye not. A Psalm or song committed to Asaph.

WE wil praise thee, ^o God, we wil praise thee, for thy Name is nere: therefore ^b they wil declare thy wondrous workes.

2 ^c When I shal take a conuenient time, I wil iudge righteously.

3 The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolued: but I wil establish the pillars ^d of it. Selah.

4 I said vnto the foolish, Be not so foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not vp the horne.

5 Lift not vp your ^e hoine on high, nether speake with a stiffe necke.

6 For to come to preferment is nether from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South,

7 But God is the iudge: he maketh low and he maketh hie.

8 For in the hand of the Lord is a ^f cup, and the wine is red: it is ful mixt, and he poureth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shal wring out & drinke the dregs thereof.

our fathers haue tolde vs.

4 We wil not hide them from their children, but to the generacion to come we wil shewe the praises of the Lord, his power also, and his wonderful workes that he hathe done:

5 How he established a ^d testimonie in Iaakob, and ordeined a Law in Israél, which he commanded our fathers, that they shulde teache their children:

6 That the posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which shulde be borne, shulde stand vp, & declare it to their children:

7 That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God
but kepe his commandements:

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithful vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed & shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battel.

10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law,

11 And forgate his Actes, and his wonderful workes that he had shewed them.

12 He did maruelous things in the sight of their fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.

13 He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 In the daie time also he led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fyer.

15 He claue the rockes in the wildernes, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 He broght floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to defcend like the riuers.

17 Yet they sinned stil against him, and prouoked the Higheft in the wildernes,

18 And tempted God in their heartes in requiring meat for their lust.

19 They spake against God also, saying,
Can God prepare a table in the wil-dernes?

20 Beholde, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also, or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was an-grie, and the fyer was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israél,

22 Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had commanded the cloudes aboue, and had opened the dores of heauen,

24 And had rained downe man vpon the for to eat, and had giuen them of the wheat of heauen.

25 Man did eat the bread of Angels: he sent them meat ynough.

26 He caused the Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he broght in the Southwinde.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So thei did eat and were wel filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meat was yet in their mou-thes,

31 When the wrath of God came euen vp-on them, and flew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Is-raél.

32 For all this, thei sinned stil, and belued not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their daie did he consume in vanitie, and their yeres hastily.

34 And when he slewe them, thei soght hi
& they returned, & soght God early.

35 And thei remembered that God was their strength, & the moste high God their redemer.

36 But thei flattered him with their mouth and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithful in his covenant.

38 Yet he being merciful forgave their in-iquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his angie, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that thei were flesh:
yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes, & grieve him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned, and temored God, and limited the Holie one of Israél.

42 Thei remembered not his hand, nor the daie when he deliuered them from the e-nemie,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, & his wonders in the field of Zoan,

44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that thei colde not drinke.

45 He sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, & frogs, which destroyed them.

A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miseries of his Church, & Desiring him to consider their first estate, when his fauour shined towards them, so the intent that he might finish that worke which he had begonne.

¶ To him that excelleth on Shoshannim & duth.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

HEate, a o thou Shepherd of Israël, thou that ledest Ioseph like shepe: shew thy brightnes, thou that sittest betweene the Cherubims.

2 Before Ephraim and Beniamin and Manasse stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs.

3 c Tuine vs againe, o God, and cause thy face to shine that we maie be saued.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angrie against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fed the with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with greafe measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among them selues.

7 f Tuine vs againe, o God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shalbe saued.

8 Thou hast broght a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madeft rourke for it, and didest cause it to take roore, and it filled the land.

10 The mountaines were couered with the shadow of it, and the boughs thereof were like the goodlie cedres.

11 She stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the Riuer.

12 Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all thei, which passe by the waie, haue plucked her?

13 The wilde bore out of the wood hathe destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the field haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne we beseeche thee, o God of hostes: loke downe k from heauen and beholde and visit this vine,

15 And the vineyarde, that thy right hand hathe planted, and the yong vine, which thou madeft strong for thy self.

PSAL. LXXXI.

An exhortatio to praise God both in heart & voice for his benefites, & And to worship him onely 11 God condemneth their ingratitude, 12 And sheweth what great benefites thei haue lost through their owne malice.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Gittith. A psalme committed to Asaph.

2 Take the song and bring forth the timbrel, the pleasant harpe with the viole.

3 Blowe the trumpet in the newmoone, euen in the time appointed, at our feasting daie.

4 For this is a statute for Israël, & a Law of the God of Iakob.

5 He set this in Ioseph for a testimonie, when he came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language, that I vnderstode not.

6 I haue withdrawn his shulder from the burden, & his hands haue left the pottes.

7 Thou calledst in affliction and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of Meribah. Selah.

8 h Heare, o my people, and I wil protest vnto thee: o Israël, if thou wilt hearken vnto me,

9 Let there be no strange god in thee, neither worship thou anie strange god.

10 For I am the Lord thy God, w brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide and I wil fil it.

11 But my people wolde not heare my voice, and Israël wolde none of me.

12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardenes of their heart, & thei haue walked in their owne counsels.

13 k Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, & Israël had walked in my waies.

Psalm LXXXIII.
a This Psalm seemeth to haue bene composed, as a forme of prayer against the dangers that the Church was in in the daies of Iosaphat.
b He calleth them Gods enemies, who are enemies to his Church.
c The elect of God are his secret ones: for he hideth them in the secret of his tabernacle, & preserveth them from all dangers.
d They were not content to take the Church as prisoner, but sought utterly to destroy it.
e By all secret means.
f They thought to haue subverted thy counsel, wherein the perpetuall of the Church was established.
g The wickednes of the Ammonites & Moabites is described, in that they provoked these other nations to fight against the Israelites their brethren.

h By these examples, they were confirmed that God wolde not suffer his people to be utterly destroyed, Iudg 7.21 and 4.15.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God standeth in the assemblie of gods: he iudgeth among gods.
How long wil ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persones of the wicked? Sélah.
Do right to the poore and fatherles: do iustice to the poore and nedie.
Deliuere the poore and nedie: saue them from the hand of the wicked.
They knowe not & vnderstand nothing: they walke in darknes, albeit all the foundations of the earth be moued.
I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.
But ye shal dye as a man, & ye princes, shal fall like others.
O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

The people of Israel praise vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies both at home and farre of, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people maie, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the stormie tempest of Gods wrath. 11 That they maie knowe that the Lord is moste high vpon the earth.

A 30. or Psalm committed to Asaph.

Kepe not thou silence, O God: be not still and cease not, O God.
For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: & they hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.
They haue taken craftie counsel against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.
They haue said, Come and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.
For they haue consulted together in heart, & haue made a league against thee: The tabernacles of Edom, & the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims:
Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyrus:
Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Sélah.
Do thou to them as vnto the Midianites: as to Sisera & as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon.
They perished at Endor, & were done for the earth.
Make them, even their princes like Oré and like Zéeb: yea, all their princes like Zébah and like Zalmuná.
Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God.

14 As the fyre burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fyre:
15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them asiaied with thy storme.
16 Fill their faces with shame, that they maie seeke thy Name, O Lord.
17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, 18 That they maie knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, even the moste High ouer all the earth.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

1 David driven forthe of his country, 2 Desireth masse ardently to come againe to the Tabernacle of the Lord & the assemblie of the Saints to praise God. 4 Pronouncing them blessed that maie so do. 6 Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wilderness to assemblie them silues in Zion. 10 Finally with praise of this matter & confidence of Gods goodnes be enaeth the Psalm.

To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles!
My soule longeth, yea, & fainteth for the courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.
Yea, the sparowe hath founde her an house, and the swallowe a nest for her, where she maie lay her yong: even by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.
Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they wil euer praise thee. Sélah.
Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, & in whose heart are thy waies.
They going through the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.
They go from strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion.
O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iakob. Sélah.
Beholde, O God, our shield, & loke vpon the face of thine Anointed.
For a daie in thy courtes is better than a thousand other where: I had rather be a doorekeeper in the House of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednes.
For the Lord God is the sunne & shield vnto vs: the Lord wil giue grace & glorie, & no good thing wil he withhold from them that walke vprightly.
O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

Lord, thou hast bene a fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iakob.

Thou hast forgotten the iniquitie of thy people, and covered all their sinnes. Selah.

Thou hast withdrawn all thine angre, & hast tuined backe from the fiercenes of thy wrath.

Turne vs, O God of our saluacion, & release thine angre towards vs.

Wilt thou be angrie with vs for euer? wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people maie reioyce in thee?

Shewe vs thy mercie, O Lord, and grante vs thy saluacion.

I wil hearken what the Lord God wil saie: for he wil speake peace vnto his people, & to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folie.

Surely his saluacion is nere to them that feare him, that glorie maie dwell in our land.

Mercie and trueth shal mete: righteousness and peace shal kisse one another.

Trueth shal bud out of the earth, and righteousness shal loke downe fro heauen.

David fore afflicted & forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 11 Sometimes the mercies receiued, 12 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he maie feare him and glorifie his Name, 14 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, & requirerth to be deliuered from them.

A prayer of David.

Incline a thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and nedie.

Preserue thou my soule, for I am merciful: may God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

Be merciful vnto me, O Lord: for I crye vpon thee continually.

Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soule.

For thou, Lord, art good and merciful, & of great kindenes vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, & hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

In the daye of my trouble I wil call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how we maie not be wearie, though God grante not forthwith our request, but that we must earnestly, and often call vpon him.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can do like thy workes.

9 All nations, whome thou hast made, shal come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shal glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teache me thy waie, O Lord, and I wil walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I maie feare thy Name.

12 I wil praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I wil glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercie towarde me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitiful God and merciful, flowe to angre and great indignenes and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, & saue the sonne of thine handmaid.

17 Shewe a token of thy goodnes towarde me, that they which hate me, maie see it, & be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

A song or Psalm of * Heman the Exrahitte to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Alamath a Leannath.

O Lord God of my saluacion, I crye day and night before thee.

Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my crye.

For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth nere to the graue.

I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:

Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whome thou remembrest no more, and they are cut of from thine hand.

Thou hast laied me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, & in the depe.

Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy waues. Selah.

Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre fro me, & made me to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and can not get forth.

Mine eye is sorowful through mine affliction: Lord, I call dailey vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

Wilt thou shewe a miracle to the dead? or shal the dead rise & praise thee? Selah.

Shal thy louing kindenes be declared in the graue: or thy faithfulness in destruction?

Shal thy wonderous workes be known in the darke? and thy righteousness in the land of obliuion?

But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and early shal my prayer come before thee.

Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, & hidest thy face from me?

I am afflicted and at the point of death: from my youth I suffer thy terrours, doubting of my life.

Thine indignations go ouer me, & thy feare hath cut me of.

They came round about me dailey like water, & compassed me together.

My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance hid them selues.

34 My couenant wil I not breake, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lippes.

35 I haue sworne once by mine holines, that I wil not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His sede shal endure for euermore, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me.

37 He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, & as a faithful witnes in the heauen. Sélah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angrie with thine Anointed.

39 Thou hast broken the couenant of thy seruant, & profaned his crowne, casting it on the grounde.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layed his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that go by the way, spoile him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battel.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the grounde.

45 The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Sélah.

by Spirit of propheticie Eshān speaketh of those great misfortune afterwarde to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon. f He kinde me failed before it came to perfection or was ripe.

46 Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy self, for euermore shal thy wrath burne like fyre?

47 Remember of what time I am: wherefore shuldest thou creat in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man liueth, & shal not se death? shal he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Sélah.

49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mightie people.

51 For thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched thee for the steps of thine Anointed.

52 Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternal fauour of God toward him. 3 Who are nether admonished by the breuitie of their life. 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankful. 12 Therefore Moses praisth God to turne their hearts & continue his mercies toward them. & their posteritie for euermore.

A prayer of Moses, the man of God.

1 Lord, thou hast bene our habitacion from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountaines were made, and before thou hadest formed the earth, & the worlde, euen from euermore to euermore thou art our God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction: againe thou saiest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterdaie when it is past, and as a watche in the night.

5 Thou hast ouerflowed them: they are as a slepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse:

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine angrie, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret finnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine angrie: we haue spent our yeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescore yeres & ten, and if they be of strength, foure score yeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe. for it is cut of quickly, and we flee away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine angrie.

12 Teache vs so to number our dayes, that we maie applie our hearts vnto wisdom.

13 Returne (O Lord, how long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants.

i Meaning, according to the commune state of life k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, much more, if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, which feare thee only knowe. l Which is by considering the shortnes of our life & by meditating the heauens ioyes m Meaning, wilt thou be angrie? O, take comfort in thy seruants.

The Prophet in ioyng prayer v his complaint, sheweth his faith neuer failed h Seeing mans life is short, & y haue created mā to bestowe thy benefites vpon him, except thou haue to helpe, death wil preuent thee i He meaneth y Gods enemies did not onely slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, & as it were cast their injuries in his bosome k So he calleth the that persecute y Church. l They laugh at vs, w pacietly waite for y coming of thy Christ.

a Thus the Scripture veth to call the Prophetes.

b Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles & trauailes now this foure hundred yeres

c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before foundations of the worlde were laied.

d Moses by lamenting the frailtie & shortnes of mā life moueth God to pitie

e Though man thinke his life long, & is in dede moste short, yea, though it were a thousand yeres: yet i Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watche y lasteth but thre houres.

f Thou takest the away suddenly as with a flood

g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider the shortnes of our life, & for our sinnest thou abridgest our daies

h Our daies are not onely short, but miserable, forasmuch as our finnes daily prouoke thy wrath

i Our daies are not onely short, but miserable, forasmuch as our finnes daily prouoke thy wrath k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, much more, if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, which feare thee only knowe.

l Which is by considering the shortnes of our life & by meditating the heauens ioyes

m Meaning, wilt thou be angrie? O, take comfort in thy seruants.

14 Fil vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shal we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, & according to the yerres that we haue sene euil.

16 Let thy worke be sene toward thy seruants, & thy glorie vpon their childre.

17 And let the beautie of thy Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

PSAL. XCI.

Here is described in what assurance he liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, & committeth him self wholly to his protection in all temptations. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him and trust in him, to deliuer them, & giue them immortal glorie.

Who so dwelleth in the secrect of the moste High, shal abide in the shadowe of the Almighty.

I wil say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him wil I trust.

Surely he wil deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noisome pestilence.

He wil couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his truth shal be thy shield and buckler.

Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flieth by daye:

Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darknes: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone daye.

A thousand shal fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shal not come nere thee.

Douteles with thine eyes shalt thou behold and se the rewarde of the wicked.

For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the moste high for thy refuge.

There shal none euil come vnto thee, nether shal anie plague come nere thy tabernacle.

For he shal giue his Angels charge ouer thee to kepe thee in all thy waies.

They shal beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy fore against a stone.

Thou shalt walke vpon the lion and aspre: the yong lion and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder fete.

Because he hathe loued me, therefore wil I deliuer him: I wil exalt him because he hathe knowen my Name.

He shal call vpon me, & I wil heare him: I wil be with him in trouble: I wil deliuer him, and glorifie him.

He faithful of Gods protection, he bringeth in God to confirme this same.

With long life wil I satisfie him, and shewe him my saluacion.

PSAL. XCII.

This psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre up the people to acknowledge God and to praise him in his workes: the Prophet reioyeth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodlie, which he is moste flourishing, shal moste speedely perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

A Psalme of song for the Sabbath daie.

It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O moste High,

To declare thy louing kindenes in the morning, and thy truth in the night,

Vpon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viose with the song vpon the harpe.

For thou, Lord, hast made me glad by thy workes, & I wil reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

O Lord, how glorious are thy workes: thy thoughts are verie depe.

An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this,

(When the wicked growe as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednes do flourish) that they shal be destroyed for euer.

But thou, O Lord, art moste high for euer more.

For lo, thine enemies, O Lord: for lo, thine enemies shal perish: all the workers of iniquitie shal be destroyed.

But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, & I shal be anointed with fieshoile.

Mine eie also shal see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shal heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

The righteous shal flourish like a palme tre, & shal growe like a cedre in Lebanon.

Suche as be planted in the House of the Lord, shal flourish in thy courts of our God.

They shal stil bring forth the frute in their age: they shal be fat and flourishing,

To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

He praiseth the power of God in the creation of the worlde, & beatech downe all people which lift them vp against his maiestie. And prouoketh to consider his promises.

The Lord reigneth, & is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, & girded with power: the worlde also shal be established, that it can not be moued.

Thy throne is established of olde: thou art from euerlasting.

The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voice: the h Though the faithful seme to wither and be cut downe by the wicked: yet they shal growe againe and flourish in the Church of God, as the cedres do in mount Lebanon.

He praith vnto God against the Violence and arrogancie of tyrants, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements 12 Then doeth he comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in him self, & did'se in others, & by the ruine of the wicked, 23 Whome the Lord wil destroye.

- 1 O Lord God the aduenger, O God the aduenger, shewe thy self clearly.
- 2 Exalt thy self, O Iudge of the worlde, & render a rewarde to the proude.
- 3 Lord, how long shal the wicked, how long shal the wicked triumph?
- 4 They prate & speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vante themselves.
- 5 They smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.
- 6 They slaie the widow and the stranger, and murther the fatherles.
- 7 Yet they saie, The Lord shal not se: neither wil the God of Iakob regarde it.
- 8 Vnderstand ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when wil ye be wise?
- 9 He that planted the eare, shal he not heare? or he that formed the eye, shal he not se?
- 10 Or he that chasticeth the nations, shal he not correcte he that teacheth man knowledge, shal he not knowe?
- 11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.
- 12 Blessed is the man, whome thou chasticest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law,
- 13 That thou maiest giue him rest from the dayes of euil, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.
- 14 Surely O Lord wil not faile his people, neither wil he forsake his inheritance.
- 15 For iudgement shal returne to iustice, and all the vpriight in heart shal followe after it.
- 16 Who wil rise vp with me against the wicked? or who wil take my parte against the workers of iniquitie?
- 17 If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.
- 18 When I said, My forte slideth, thy mercie, O Lord, staied me.
- 19 In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comfortes haue reioyced my soule.
- 20 Hathe the throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a law?

- 21 Thei gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.
- 22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.
- 23 And he wil recompense the their wickedness, and destroye them in their owne malice: yea, O Lord our God shal destroye the.

PSAL. XCV.

An earnest exhortation to praise God 4 For the government of the worlde, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to followe the rebellion of the old fathers, that tempted God in the wilderness: 11 For the which thei might not enter into the land of promes.

- 1 Come, let vs reioice vnto the Lord: let vs sing aloude vnto the rocke of our saluacion.
- 2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loude vnto him with psalms.
- 3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King aboue all gods.
- 4 In whose had are y depe places of y earth, & the heights of the mountaines are his:
- 5 To whome the sea belongeth: for he made it, and his hands formed the drye land.
- 6 Come, let vs worship and fall downe, & knele before the Lord our maker.
- 7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, & the shepe of his hand: to daie, if ye wil heare his voice,
- 8 Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, & as in the daie of Massah in the wilderness.
- 9 Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, though thei had sene my worke.
- 10 Fortie yeres haue I contended with this generation, & said, Thei ate a people that erre in heart, for thei haue not known my waies.
- 11 Wherefore I sware in my wrath, saying, Surely they shal not enter into my rest.

- 99 O worship the Lord, all ye that be of his holie habitation, ye that be of his holie habitation, ye that be of his holie habitation.

Besides Gods power & wisdom in creating, and governing, his great mercie also appeareth in y he hath giuen his people his worde and counsaile

Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked. b Shewe by effect y thou art Iudge of the worlde to punish y wicked. c That is, brag of their crueltie & oppression, or, cheme them selues as home all other d Seeing the Church was thus, so fore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we be so now, & therefore we muste call to God to take our cause in hand. e He sheweth that they are desperat in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gaue the felmes wholly to downe wickedly f He sheweth that it is impossible, but God shoulde heare, se & vnderstand their wickednes. g If God punish whole nations for their sin, it is more folle for anie one man, or els asme to thinke that God wil spare the. h God hath care ouer his and chasticeth them for their welth, y they shoulde not perill for sin with the wicked. i God wil restore the state & government of things to their right vse, & then the godlie shal folowe him cheerefully k He complaieth of them, which wolde not helpe him to restore the enemies: yet was assured that Gods helpe wolde not faile. l Whf I thought there was no way but death m In my trouble & distress I neuer founde thy present helpe. n Though the wicked iudges pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that autoritie of God.

o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, whf the purpose of the wicked is broken, but moose, when they are destroyed I their owne malice.

Psalm XCV a He sheweth Gods seruice handeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the sacrifice of praise & thanksgiving. b Euen y Angels (who in respect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his sight: much lesse the idols, & mans braine inuenteth c All things are gouerned by his providence. d By these three wordes he significheth one thing: meaning y thei make wholly giue them selues to serue God e That is, the flocke whome he gouerneth with his owne had f He sheweth wherither are Gods flocke: that is, if thei heare his voice g By the contending of Gods worde h Or, in straits, he reuf the yfesse was so called Num 14, 22. i Or, temptation, read Exod 17, 1 g Thei were without murmure & reason. h That is, into the land of Canaan, where he promised them rest. i Psalm XCVI a The Prophet sheweth that the time shal come, that all nation shal haue occasion to praise y Lord for y reuelling of his Gospel. b Seig he wil reuile his selfe to all nations contrary to their owne expectation, they ought all to worship him contrary to their owne imagination, & onely as he hath appointed. c Or, vanities d Then the idoles, or whatsoever made not the heuens, are not God e God can not be knowen, but by his strength and glorie: the signes wherof appeare in his Sanctuarie f As by experience ye se that it is onely due vnto him g By offering vp your selues wholly vnto God, declare that you worship him onely.

- 9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.
- 10 Sate among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the worlde shalbe stable, and not moue, & he shal iudge the people in righteousness.
- 11 Let the heauens reioyce, & let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.
- 12 Let the field be ioyful, and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce
- 13 Before the Lord, for he commeth, for he commeth to iudge the earth: he wil iudge the worlde with righteousness, & the people in his trueth.

PSAL. XC VII.

The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the coming of the kingdome of Christ. 7 Dreadful to the rebels & idolaters. 8 And ioyful to the iust, whome he exhorteth to innocencie, 12 To reioycing and thanksgiuing.

- 1 THe Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the multitude of the yles be glad.
- 2 Cloudes and darkenes are round about him: righteousness and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.
- 3 There shal go a fyer before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.
- 4 His lightnings gaue light vnto y worlde: the earth sawe it and was afraid.
- 5 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.
- 6 The heauens declare his righteousness, and all the people se his glorie.
- 7 Confounded be all they that serue graven images, & that glorie in idoles: worship him all ye gods.
- 8 Zión heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudáh reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.
- 9 For thou, Lord, art moſte high aboue all the earth: thou art muche exalted aboue all gods.
- 10 Ye that loue the Lord, hate euil: he preferueth the soules of his Saints: he wil deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.
- 11 Light is sowne for the righteous, and ioye for the vpright in heart.
- 12 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holie remembrance.
- g He prophesieth that the Gentils shalbe partakers of the Iewes of Gods promises. h He shal regenerate them anew with his Spirit, and restore them to the image of God. i If the insensible creatures shal haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more we, from whome he hath taken milidition & sinne.*
- a He sheweth y where God reigneth, there is all felicitie and spiritual ioye. b For the Gospel shal norbe only preached in Iudea, but through all yles & coſtreis. c He is thus described to kepe his enemies in feare, which commonly contemne Gods power. d Thus feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but maketh them to runne awaie from God. e He signifieth y Gods iudgements are in a readines to destroy the idolaters. f Let all that which is esteemed in y worlde, fall downe before him. g The Iewes shal haue occasion to reioyce y the Gentiles are made partakers of them of Gods fauour. h He requereth two things of his childre: the one y thei detest vice, the other y thei put their trust in God for their deliuerance, i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is sowne and laied vp in store for them. k Be mindful of his benefites and onely trust in his defence.*

PSAL. XC VIII.

An earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, mercie and fidelitie in his promises by Christ. 10 By whome he hath communicated his saluacion to all nations.

A Psalme.

- 1 Sing vnto the Lord a new song: for he shalhe done maruelous things: * his right hand, and his holie arme haue gotten him the victorie.
- 2 The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hathe he reueiled in y sight of the nations.
- 3 He hathe remembered his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Iſraél: all the ends of the earth haue sene the saluation of our God.
- 4 All the earth, sing ye loude vnto y Lord: crye out and reioyce, and sing praises.
- 5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voice.
- 6 With shalmes and sounde of trumpets sing loude before the Lord the King.
- 7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the worlde, and thei that dwell therein.
- 8 Let the floods clap their hands, & let the mountaines reioyce togeth: r
- 9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousness shal he iudge the worlde, and the people with equitie.

PSAL. XC IX.

He commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles. 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same & to serue the Lord. 6 Following the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

- 1 THe Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth between y Cherubims, let the earth be moued.
- 2 The Lord is great in Zión, & he is high aboue all the people.
- 3 Thei shal praise thy great and feareful Name (for it is holie)
- 4 And the Kings power, that loueth iudgement: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement & iustice in Iakób.
- 5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his foreſtole: for he is holie.
- 6 Moses & Aaron were among his Priests, and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, & he heard them.
- 7 He spake vnto the in the cloudie pillar: thei kept his testimonies, & the Lawe that he gaue them.
- 8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though y didest take vengeance for their inuentions.
- 9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holie Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holie.

PSAL. C.

He exhorteth all to serue the Lord. 3 Who hathe chosen vs & preferred vs. 4 And to entre into his assemblies to praise his Name.

St. iiii.

A psalme of praise.

Sing a ye loude vnto the Lord, all the Search.
 Serue the Lord with gladnes: come before him with ioyfulness.
 Knowe ye that euen the Lord is God: he hath made vs, & not we our selues: we are his people, and the shepe of his pasture.
 Enter into his gates with praise, & into his courtes with reioycing: praise him and blesse his Name.
 For the Lord is good: his mercie is deulasting, and his trueth is from generacion to generacion.
 He sheweth that God wil shipped, but

 by that meanes, which he hath appointed.
 He declareth that we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him, seeing his mercies toward vs last for

David describeth what gouernement he wil obserue in his house and kingdome: He wil punish and correct, by rooting forth the wicked, & And cherishing the god-lie persons.

A Psalme of David.

I Wil sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, wil I sing.
 I wil do wisely in the perfite waie: til y come to me: I wil walke in y vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house.
 I wil set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shal not cleaue vnto me.
 A froward heart shal depart from me: I wil knowe none euil.
 Him, that priuely & slandereth his neighbour, wil I destroy: he that hath a proude loke and high heart, I can not suffer.
 Mine eyes shal be vnto the faithful of the land, that they maie dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite waie, he shal ser-ue me.
 There shal no deceitful persone dwell within mine house: he that telleth lies, shal not remaine in my sight.
 Betimes wil I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I maie cut of all the workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

*It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithful to praise in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A consolation for the building of the Church: 18 Whereof followeth

Whereby, is

O Lord, heare my praier, and let my crye come vnto thee.

Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me:
 when I call, make haste to heare me.
 For my daies are consumed like smoke,
 and my bones are burnt like an herth.
 Mine heart is smitten and withereth like graſſe, because I forgate to eat my bread.
 For the voice of my groning my bones do cleaue to my skin.
 I am like a pellicane of the wildernes: I am like an owle of the deserts.
 I wathe and am as a sparowe alone vpon
 the house toppe.
 Mine enemies reuile me daiely, & they rage agaiſt me, haue ſworne agaiſt me.
 Surely I haue eaten aſhes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weping,
 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou haſt heaued me vp, and caſt me downe.
 My daies are like a shadowe that fadeth,
 and I am withered like graſſe.
 But thou, O Lord, doeſt remaine for e-uer, and thy remembrance from generacio
 to generacion.
 Thou wilt arise & haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the appointed time is come.
 For thy seruants delite in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the duſt thereof.
 Then the heathen ſhal feare the Name death:

 That they maie declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Ieru-

 When the people ſhal be gathered to-

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praife the Lord, which hath pardoned is finnes, deliuered him from deſtruction, and giuen him ſufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he ſheweth like a moſte tender Father towards his childre. 14 The frail- tie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to praife the Lord.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

^a He wake- neth his dul- nes to praife God, thew- ing y both vnder- ſtanding & af- fection, minde & heart are to- gether to ſer- uice his praife. ^b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefites: re- miſſion of ſin- ne. ^c For before y we haue re- miſſion of our finnes, we are as dead me in the graue. ^d As the egle, whether beake overgroweth, ſucketh blood, and ſo is re- noued in ſtrength, euen ſo God miraculoſly giueth ſtrength to his Church aboue all mans expectation. ^e As to his chief miniſter & next to his people. ^f He ſheweth firſt his ſeuere iudgement, but ſo ſoon as the ſinner is hum- bled, he recei- ueth him to mercie. ^g We haue p- ued by continual experience, y his mercie ha- the euer pre- uailed againſt our offences. ^h As great as the worlde is, ſo full is it of ſignes of Gods mercies to- ward his faith- ful, when he hath remo- ued their ſin- nes. ⁱ He declar- eth that mā hath moſt in him ſelfe to moue God to mer- cie, but onely the confeſſion of his inſirmi- ty & miſerie.

1 MY ſoule, praife y the Lord, & all that is within me, praife his holie Name.

2 My ſoule, praife thou the Lord, and for- get not all his benefites.

3 Which forgiveth all thine iniquitie, & healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redemeth thy life from y graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and com- paſſions.

5 Which ſatiffieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the egles.

6 The Lord executeth righteouſnes and iudgement to all that are oppreſſed.

7 He made his waies known vnto Moſes, & his works vnto the children of Iſrael.

8 The Lord is full of compaſſion and mer- cie, ſlowe to angie and of great kindenes.

9 He wil not alwaie chide, nether kepe his angie for euer.

10 He hath not dealt with vs after our finnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, ſo great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as the Eaſt is from the Weſt: ſo farre hath he remoued our finnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compaſſion on his chil- dien, ſo hath the Lord compaſſion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembereth that we are but duſt.

15 The daies of mā are as graſſe: as a flow- er of the field, ſo flouriſheth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof ſhal knowe it no more.

17 But the louing kindenes of the Lord en- dureth for euer & euer vpon them that fea- re him, and his mightcouſnes vpon chil- diens children, 18 Vnto them that kepe his couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praiſe the Lord, ye his Angels, that ex- cel in ſtrength, that do his commande- ment in obeying the voice of his worde.

21 Praiſe the Lord, all ye his hoſtes, ye his ſeruants that do his pleaſure.

22 Praiſe the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my ſoule, praife thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIII.

1 An excellent Pſalme to praife God for the creation of the worlde & the gouernance of the ſame by his mar- uelous prouidence. 35 Wherein the Prophet praife- th againſt the wicked, who are occaſions that God dimi- ſheth his bleſſings.

1 MY ſoule, praife thou y Lord: o Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, y art clothed with glorie & honour.

2 Which couereth him ſelf with light as with a garment, & ſpreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which laiceth the beames of his chābers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which maketh the ſpirits his meſſen- gers, & a flaming fyre his miniſters.

5 He ſet the earth vpon her fundacions, ſo y it ſhal neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredſt it with y deepe as with a garment: the waters wolde ſtand aboue the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke thei flee: at the voice of thy thunder thei haſte awaie.

8 And the mountaines aſcend, & the vallis descend to the place which thou haſt eſta- bliſhed for them.

9 But thou haſt ſet them a bonde, which thei ſhal not paſſe: thei ſhal not returne to co- uer the earth.

10 He ſendeth the ſprings into the vallis, which runne betwene the mountaines.

11 Thei ſhal giue drinke to all the beaſtes of the field, and the wilde aſſes ſhal quen- che their thirſt.

12 By theſe ſprings ſhal the foules of the heauen dwell, and ſing among the brāches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, & the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He cauſeth graſſe to growe for the cat- tel, and herbe for the vſe of man, that he maie bring forth the bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, & oyle to make the face to ſhine,

^k His iuſte & faithful kep- ing of his promes. ^l To whome he giueth gra- ce to feare hi, & to obey his worde. ^m In that that we, which nat- urally are ſlowe to praife God, exhort the Angels, & willingly do it, we muſt vpon our ſelues to conſider our duetie, & awa- ke out of our ſuggiſhnes.

^a The Prophet ſheweth that we neede not to enter into the heauens to ſeeke God, for as much as all the ordre of nature, with y proprietie and placing of the elements, are moſte lively mirrors to ſee his maieſtie in. ^b As the Pro- phet here ſheweth y all viſible powers are readie to ſerue God: ſo the Apoſtle to y Ebr. 1. 7 be- holdeth in this glaſſe, how y venie Angels alio are obedi- ent to his comādemēt. ^c Thou makeſt the ſea to be an ornament vnto y earth. ^d If by thy power y di- deſt not bridle the rage of y waters, it were not poſſible, but the whole worlde ſhulde be deſtroyed. ^e If God prouide for y ve- ric beaſtes, much more wil he extend his prouident care to man. ^f There is no part of the worlde ſo barren, where moſte euident ſignes of Gods bleſ- ſings appeare not. ^g From the cloudes. ^h He deſcrib- eth Gods p- uident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide neceſ- ſarie things for him, as herbes & other meate but alſo things to reioyce and comforte him, as wine & oyle or ornaments.

2 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, & talke of all his wonderous workes.
3 Reioyce in his holie Name: let the heart of them that seke the Lord, reioyce.
4 Seke the Lord & his strength: seke his face continually.

5 Remembre his maruelous workes, that he hath done, his wonders and the iudgements of his mouth,
6 Ye fede of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iakob, which are his elect.
7 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.
8 He hath alwaie remembred his couenant & promes, that he made to a thousand ge-neracions,
9 Even that which he made with Abraham and his othe vnto Izhak:
10 And since hath confirmed it to Iakob for a law, & to Irael for an cuerlasting couenant,
11 Saying, Vnto thee wil I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.
12 Albeit thei were fewe in number, yea, ve-rie fewe & strangers in the land, 13 And walked about from nacion to nacio, from one kingdome to another people, 14 Yet suffred he no man to do them wrong,
but reprobued Kings for their sakes, saying, 15 Touche not mine anointed, and do my Prophetes no harme.
16 Moreouer he called a famine vpon the land, & viterly brake the staf of bread.
17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was solde for a slaue.
18 Thei helde his fete in the stockes, & he was laied in yrons, 19 Vntil his appointed time came. & the counsel of the Lord had tryed him.
20 The King sent and losed him: even the Ruler of the people deliuered him.
21 He made him Lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That he shulde binde his princes vnto his wil, & teache his Ancients wisdom.
23 Then Irael came to Egypt, and Iakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.
24 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressers.
25 He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftely with his seruants.
26 Then sent he Moses his seruant, & Aaron whome he had chosen.
27 Thei shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.
28 He sent darkenes, and made it darke: and thei were not disobedient vnto his commission.
29 He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.
30 Their land broght forthe frogs, even in their Kings chambers.
31 He spake, & there came swarmes of flies
& lice in all their quarters.
32 He gaue them hail for raine, & flames of fyre in their land.

trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes.

34 He spake, and the grasshoppers came, & caterpillers innumerable,
35 And did eat vp all the grasse in their lād, and deuoured the frute of their grounde.
36 *He smote also all the first borne in their land, even the beginning of all their strength.

37 He broght them forthe also with siluer and golde, and there was none feeble among their tribes.

38 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.

39 He spred a cloude to be a couering, and fyre to giue light in the night.

40 They asked, and he broght quails, & he filled them with the bread of heauē.

41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ran in the drye places like a riuer.

42 For he remembred his holie promises to Abraham his seruant,

43 And he broght forthe his people with ioye, & his chosen with gladnes,

44 And gaue them the lands of the heathē, and they toke the labours of the people in possession, 45 That they might kepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVI.

The people dispersed Under Antiochus do magnifie the goodnes of God among the iuste and repentāt: 4 Desiring to be broght againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation 8 And after the manifeste maruells of God wrought in their deliuerance forthe of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed. 47 They do pray & desire to be gathered from among the heathē to the intent they may praise the Name of the God of Israel

Praise ye the Lord.

1 Praise ye Lord because he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shewe forthe all his praise?

3 Blessed are they that kepe iudgement, and do righteousness at all times.

4 Remember me, Lord, with thy fauour of thy people: visit me with thy saluacion,

5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioye of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstode not thy wōders in Egypt, nether remembred they multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, even at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheles he saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowne.

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to praise God for his benefites past, & thereby their mindes maie be strengthened against all present troubles & despaire. b He sheweth that it is not ynough to praise God with mouth, except whole heart agree therunto, and all our life be thereunto framed. c Let good will that thou beareth to thy people, extend vnto me, that thereby I maie be receiued in to the number of thine. d By earnest confession as wel of their owne, as of their fathers finnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promises wolde piete them. e The ineffimable goodnes of God appeareth in this, that he wolde change the ordre of nature, rather then his people shulde not be deliuered, although they were wicked.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dryed vp, and he led them in the depe, as in the wilcernes.

10 And he saued them frō the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enimie.

11 *And the waters couered their oppressers: not one of them was left.

12 Then beleued they his wordes, & sang praise vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsel, 14 But lusted with concupiscēce in the wilcernes, & tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leannes into their soule.

16 They enuied Moses also in the tentes, & Aarōn the holie one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened and swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the companie of Abirām.

18 And the fyre was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horēb, & worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their glorie into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Sauour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in the land of Hām, and fearful things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore he minded to destroye them, had not Moses his chosen stand in the breach before hī to turne away his wrath, lest he shulde destroye them.

24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, & beleued not is worde, 25 But murmured in their tentes, & hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted vp his hād against them, to destroye them in the wilcernes, 27 And to destroye their sede among the nacions, and to scarer them throughout the countreis.

28 They ioyned them selues also vnto Baal-peor, & did eat the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they prouoked him vnto angre, with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But Phinehas stode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was staied.

31 *And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness frōm generacion to generaciō for euer.

32 They angred him also at the waters of *Meribāh, so that Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnadvisedly with his lippes.

34 Nether destroyed they the people, as Lord had commanded them,

Exod. 14, 27.
f The wonderfull workes of God caused the to beleue for a time and to praise him. g They wolde proue his wil dome and prouidence. h The abundance that God gaue the, prouided not, but made the pise away, because God curied it. i By greatnes of the punishment the hatious offence maie be considered: for they that rise against Gods ministers, rebel against him. k He sheweth all idolaters renounce God to be their glorie, when in stead of him they worship anie creature, muche more wood, stone, metal or idles. l If Moses by his intercessio had not obtained Gods fauour against their rebellio in Tharīs, Canaan, & was as it were an earnest penie of heauenlie inheritance. n That is, he saue. o Some also it meaneth to punish. p Which was idole of the Moabites. q Sacrifices of freed to dead idoles. r Signifying, what soeuer man inuentioneth of him self to serue God by, is detestable & prouoketh his angre. s When all other neglected Gods glorie, he in his zeale killed adulterers & prouented Gods wrath. u Nom. 25, 12. f This acte declared his liuelie faith, & for his faith sake was accepted. v Nom. 20, 2. p psal. 95, 8. t If so notable a Prophet of God escape not punishment though others prouoked him to fūne, how muche more shal they be fabricat to Gods iudgement, in such cause Gods child are to stand.

^m He sheweth how monstrous a thing idolatry is, w^e can winne vs to things abhorring to nature, where as Gods worde can not obtaine moste small things.

^x Then true chastite is to cleave wholly & onely vnto God.

^y The Prophet sheweth y^e neither by menaces, nor p^rmisses we can come to God, except we be all together newly reformed, & y^e his mercie ouercometh and hide our malice.
^z Not y^e God is changeable in him self, but that then he semeth to vs to repent, wh^e he altereth his punishment, & forgiveth vs a gather thy Church, w^h is disperfed, and giveth vs confⁱdence vnder the croffe, that w^e one consent we may all praise shew.

^a This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed, as the fote or tenour of the song, & was oftentimes repeated.
^b As this was true in y^e Jewes, so is there none of Gods elect, y^e fele not this helpe in their necessitie
^c Or, from the sea: meaning the red Sea, which is on the South parte of the land
^d He sheweth that there is none affliction so grievous, out of the which God wil not deliuer us, and also exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be quidetur of so great a benefite.

35 But were mingled among the heathen, & learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offred their ^a sonnes, and their daughters vnto diuels, 38 And shed innocent blood, ^{euen} the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offred vnto the idols of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they steined with their owne workes, and went ^x a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, & he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 Manie ^y a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he sawe when they were in afflictioⁿ, and he heard their crye.
45 And he remembred his couenāt toward them, and ^z repēted according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them, that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, o Lord our God, and ^a gather vs from among the heathen, that we maie praise thine holie Name, and glorie in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israēl for euer & euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVII.

^a The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redemed by the Lord, & gathered vnto him to giue thanks: ⁹ For this merciful prouidence of God gouerning all things at his good pleasure, ²⁰ Sending good & euil, prosperitie and aduersitee to bring men vnto him ⁴² Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shal the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

^r Praise ^a the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.
3 Let them, ^b which haue bene redemed of the Lord, shewe how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppresser,
4 And gathered them out of the lāds, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the ^c South.
5 When they wandered in the desert & wilderness out of the way, and founde no citie to dwell in,
6 Bothe hungrie & thirstie, their soule fainted in them.

7 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distress,

8 And led the forth by the right way, that they might go to a citie of habitation.
9 Let them therefore cōfesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
10 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungrie soule with goodnes.
11 They, that dwell in darkenes and in the shadowe of death, being bounde in miserie and yron, 12 Because they ^d rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsel of the moste High,
13 When he humbled their heart with heauines, then they fell downe and there was no helper.
14 Then they ^e cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distress.
15 He brought them out of darkenes, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bands a sunder.
16 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
17 For he hath broken y^e ^f gates of brasse, and braist the barres of yron a sūdre.
18 Fools by reason of their transgression & because of their iniquities are afflicted.
19 Their soule abhorreth all meat, & they are brought to deaths dore.
20 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, & he deliuereth them from their distress.
21 He sendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their ^g grieues.
22 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men,
23 And let them offer sacrifices of ^h praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.
24 They that go downe to the ⁱ sea in shippe, & occupie by the great waters, 25 They see the workes of the Lord, & his wonders in the depe.
26 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.
27 They mounte vp to the heauē, & descēd to the depe, so that their soule ^m melteth for trouble.
28 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their ⁿ cunning is gone.
29 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distress.
30 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.
31 When they are ^o quieted, they are glad, & he

^d Then y^e true way to obeye God, is to followe his expresse cōmandement: also hereby all are exhorted to descēde into the selues, forasmuch as none are punished, but for their sinnes
^e He sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because we cā be brought vnto him by none other meanes.
^f When there cometh to mis iudgement no reuerie, but all things are brought to despaire, the God chiefly sheweth his mightie power
^g They haue no feare of God, by his sharp rods are brought to call vpon him and so finde mercie ^h By healing the he declareth his good will toward them ⁱ Meaning, their diseases, w^h had almost brought the to the graue & corruption ^k Praise and confession of Gods benefites are the true sacrifices of the godlie
^l He sheweth by y^e sea what care God hath the ouer man, for in that y^e deliuereth the from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were, from a thousand deaths
^m Their feare & danger is so great ⁿ When their arte & meanes faile the, they are compelled to cōfesse that onely Gods pūdece doeth preserve them ^o Though before euerie drop seemed to fight one against another, yet at his cōmandement they are as still, as thogh they were frozen.

he bringeth them vnto the haue, where they wolde be.

31 Let the therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, and his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.

p This great benefite ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places & assemblies Or, saluence.

32 And let them exalt him in the congregation of the people, and praise him in the assemblie of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drieness, 34 And a fruteful land into barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.

q For the loue y he beareth to his Church he changeth the ordre of nature for their commoditie

35 Againe he turneth the wildernes into pooles of water, & the drye land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungrie, and they buyld a cite to dwell in,

37 And sowe the fields, & plant vineyardes, which bring forth the fruteful increase.

r Cōtinual increase & e-arlie.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattel.

f As God by his prouidence doeth exalte men, so doeth he also humble them by afflictions to knowe them selues
r For their wickednes and tyrannie he causeth y people & subiects to contēne them.
q They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shal reioyce to se Gods iudgements against the wicked & y godlie.

39 Againe men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppressiō, euil and sorowe.

40 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of shepe.

42 The righteous shal se it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shal stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that he maie obserue these things: for they shal vnderstand the louing kindenes of the Lord.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalm is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seuen and sixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That Dauid giueth him self with heart and voyce to praise the Lord, 2 And assureth him self of the promises of God concerning his kingdome ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though he seme to forsake vs for a time, yet he plene wil in the end cast downe our enemies.

A song or Psalm of Dauid.

O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I wil sing & giue praise.

e This earnest affection declarerh that he is fre fro hy-pocrisie, and y suggestiones flatter hī not
Or, my glorie, because it chiefly serueth for the glorie of God

Awake viole & harpe: I wil awake early.

3 I wil praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations.

For thy mercie is great aboute the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

Exalt thy self, O God, aboute the heauens, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth,

That thy beloued maie be deliuered: d helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I wil reioyce, I shal diuide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth.

b He prophesieth of y calling of y Gentiles: for except they were called, they wolde not heare the goodnes of God
c Let all the worlde se thy iudgements, in that that thou art God ouer all, & so confesse that thou art glorious d Whe God by his benefites maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admonisheth vs to be earnest in praier to desire him to continue and shew his graces
e As he hath spoken to Samuel concerning me, so wil he shewe him self constant, and holie in his promises, so that these nations following shalbe subiect vnto me.

Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasséh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my Lawgiuer.

9 *Móab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edóm wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph.

10 Who wil leade me into the strong citie: who wil bring me vnto Edóm?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, & didest not go forth, O God, with our armies?

f From y sixte verse of this psalme vnto y last read y exposition in the thre score psalme, and fite verse.

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Though God we shal do valiantly: for he shal tread downe our enemies.

PSAL. CIX.

Dauid being falsly accused by flatterers vnto Saúl, praith God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. And vnder this he speaketh of Iudas the traitor vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may knowe the worke to be of God. 30 Then doeth he promise to giue praises vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid.

Holde not thy tongue, O God of my praise.

a Though all y worlde conde ne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, & that is a sufficient praise to me.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth ful of deceit are opened vpon me: thei haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 Thei compassed me about also with wordes of hatred, and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship thei were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my self to praier.

5 And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let y aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his praier be turned into sinne.

8 Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children be fatherles, & his wife a widowe.

10 Let his children be vagabunds & begge and seke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catche all y the hate, and let the strangers spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: nether let there be anie to shewe mercie vpon his fatherles children.

13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, & in the generacion following let their name be put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done awaie.

b To declare y I had none other refuge, but thee, in whome my conscience was at rest
c Whether it were Doeg or Saúl, or some familiar friend y had betrayed hī, he praith not of priuate affliction, but moued by Gods Spirit, y God wolde take vengeance vpon him
d As to the least all things turne to their profite: so to y reprobate euen those things, y are good, turne to their damnation
e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, A& 1 20. f He declarerh that y curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners: who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawful gotten goods, are thus punisherh the parents of the wicked children

T.iii.

by Gods iust iudgement deprived of all the Lord to the third, and fourth generacion the wickednes in their wicked children

25 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he maie cut of their memorial from the earth.

16 Because ^h he remembred not to shewe mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowful hearted to slaye him.

17 As he loued cursing, ⁱ so shal it come vnto him, & as he loued not blessing, so shal it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed him self with cursing like a raiment, so shal it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alwaie girded.

20 Let this be the rewarde of mine aduersarie ^k from the Lord, and of them, that speake euil against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy ^l Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good)

22 Because I am poore and nedie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I departe like ^m shadowe that declineth, and am shaken of as the ⁿ grasshopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, & my flesh ^o hath lost all fatnes.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: ^p saue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shal knowe, that this is thine hand, & that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they ^q curse, yet thou wilt bless: they shal arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shal reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer the selues with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I wil giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my ^r mouthe, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he wil stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them, that wolde condemne his soule.

PSAL. CX.

David prophesieth of the power and everlasting kingdom giuen to Christ. ^a And of the Priesthood, which shoulde put an end to the Priesthood of Levi.

A Psalme of David.

1 The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntil I make thine enemies thy fote stole.

2 The Lord shal send the rod of thy power out of ^b Zion: be thou ruler in the middest of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shal come willingly at the time of assembling: ^c thine armie in holie

^a Desires Christ in the two & twentieth of Maie giueth this interpretation hereof, & sheweth ^d that it is not properly to be applied vnto David, but to him self. And therefore he shal stretch through all the world: & this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his word. ^e By thy worde thy people shalbe assembled into thy Church, who shall increase shalbe so abundant & wonderful, as the drops of the dewe.

beautie: the youth of thy wombe shalbe as the morning dewe.

4 The Lord sware and wil not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the ordre of ^d Melchi-zedek.

5 The Lord, that is at thy right hand, shal wounde Kings in the daie of his wrath.

6 He shalbe Iudge among the heathen: he shal fill all with dead bodie, and smite the head ouer great countreis.

7 He shal ^e drinke of the brooke in ^f waite: therefore shal he lift vp his head.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thanks to the Lord for his merciful workes toward his Church, ^g and declareth wherein true wisdom and right knowledge consisteth.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 I wil ^a praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust.

2 The workes of the Lord are ^b great, and ought to be fought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautiful and glorious, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 He hath made his wonderful workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is merciful and full of compasion.

5 He hath giuen ^c a portion vnto the that feare him: he wil euer be mindeful of his couenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The workes of his hands are truth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are established for euer & euer, and are done in truth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commanded his couenant for euer: holie and feareful is his Name.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue ^f them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

^e They only are wise, that feare God: and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his worde. ^f To wit, his commandments, as verily.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He praiseth the felicitie of the that feare God, ^g and condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 Blessed is the man, that ^a feareth the Lord, & deliteth greatly in his commandments.

2 His sede shalbe mightie vpon earth: the generacio of the righteous shalbe blessed.

3 Riches and treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the ^c righteous ariseth light in darkness: he is merciful and full of compasion and righteous.

^b The faithful in all their aduersities knowe that all shal geue wel with them: for God wilbe merciful and iust.

^a The Prophet declareth that he wil praise God bothe priuily & openly, & that from his heart, as he ^b consecrated his selfe wholly & onely vnto God. ^c He sheweth Gods workes are a sufficient cause, wherefore we shoulde praise him, but chiefly his benefites toward his Church. ^d God hath giuen to his people al that was necessarie for the, & wil do likewise for his conuenants sake, and in this sense the Hebrews worde is take, Prou. 30, 8 & 31, 15. ^e Or, praise, & so. ^f As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare him selfe iust and true in his go- uernement of the same.

^a He meaneth that reverence feare, which is in children of God, which causeth them to delight onely in his worde of God. ^b The godlie shal haue abundance & contentment: because their heart is satisfied in God.

A good man is merciful and lendeth, and wil measure his affaires by iudgement.
 Surely he shal neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
 He wil not be afraid of euil tidings: for his heart is fixed, & beleueth in the Lord.
 His heart is stablished: therefore he wil not feare, vntil he se his desire vpon his enemies.
 He hath distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his house shalbe exalted with glorie.
 The wicked shal se it and be angrie: he shal gnash with his teeth, and consume awaye: the desire of the wicked shal perish.
 The blessings of God vpon his children shal cause the wicked to dye for saue

PSAL. CXIII.

An exhortation to praise the Lord for his providence. In that that contrarie to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise, O ye seruants of the Lord, praise the Name of the Lord.
 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from hence forth and for euer.
 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.
 The Lord is high aboue all nations, & his glorie aboue the heauens.
 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!
 Who abaseth him self to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth.
 He raiseth the needy out of the dust, & lifteth vp the poore out of the dung,
 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.
 He maketh the baren woman to dwell with a familie, & a ioyful mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXIII.

How the Israelites were deliuered for the of Egypt, & of the wonderful miracles, that God wrought at that time which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who, when the course of nature faileth, preserueth his miraculously

Exod. 14. 21

When Israel went out of Egypt, & the house of Iaakob from the barbarous people, Iudah was his sanctification, & Israel his dominion.
 The Sea sawe it and fled: Iordén was turned backe.
 The mountaines leaped like rams, & the hilles as lambs.
 What ailed thee, O Sea, that thou fleddest? O Iordén, why wast thou turned backe?

Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hilles as lambs?
 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iaakob.
 Which turneth the rocke into water-pooles, & the flint into a fountaine of water.

PSAL. CXV.

A prayer of the faithful oppressed by idolatrous tyrants against whom they desire that God would succour them, trusting most constantly that God will preserue them in this their need, seeing that he hath adopted and received them to his fauour, is promising finally that they will not be vnmindful of so great a benefite, if it will please God to heare their prayer, & deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie and for thy truthes sake.

Wherefore shal the heathen saie, Where is now their God?

But our God is in heauen: he doeth what soeuer he wil.

Their idoles are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands.

They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and se not.

They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

They haue hands and touche not: they haue fete and walke not: nether make they a sounde with their throte.

They that make them are like vnto the: so are all that trust in them.

O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield.

The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he wil blesse, he wil blesse the house of Israel, he wil blesse the house of Aaron.

He wil blesse them that feare the Lord, bothe smal and great.

The Lord wil encrease his graces toward you, euen toward you and toward your children.

Ye are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth.

The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

The dead praise not the Lord, nether anie that go downe into the place of silence.

But we wil praise the Lord from hence forth and for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

thing but to shewe his fatherlie care toward men
 Though the dead see for the Gods glorie, yet he meaneth here, that they praise him not in his Church and Congregation.

Ought them his people to be insensible, when they see his power & maiestie? That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in moose abundance, Exod. 17. 6.

Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his Name, Isa. 48. 11, therefore they grounde their prayer vpon this promise. When the wicked see the God accomplisheth not his pines, as their imagination, they thinke there is no God.

No impediments can leaue his worke, but he victeth euen the impediments to serue his will.

Seeing that nether the matter, nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth there is nothing, why they shoulde be esteemed.

He sheweth what great variance it is to aske helpe of the, which not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason.

As much without sense, as blockes & stones.

For they were appointed by God as instructors & teachers of faith and religion for others to followe.

That is, he wil continue his graces toward his people.

And therefore doeth all gouernance & continuall things therein.

And they declare ynough his sufficiency, so that the world serueth him not.

16 Beholde, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, & the sonne of thine hand maied: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I wil offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, & wil call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I wil paie my ^k vows vnto the Lord, even now in the presence of all his people, vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am ^d companion of all them that feare thee, and kepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, ō Lord, is ful of thy mercie:
^e teache me thy statutes.

T E T H.

65 O Lord, thou hast delt ^a graciously with thy seruāt according vnto thy worde.

66 Teache me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleued thy commandements.

67 Before I was ^b afflicted, I went astray:
but now I kepe thy worde.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teache me thy statutes.

69 The proude haue imagined a lie against me: but I wil kepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 ^c Their heart is fat as greafe: but my de-lite is in thy Law.

71 It is ^d good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I maie learne thy statutes.

72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of golde and siluer.

I O D.

73 Thine hands haue ^a made me and facio-ned me: giue me vnderstanding therefore, that I maie learne thy commandements.

74 So thei ^y ^b feare thee, seing me shal re-ioyce, because I haue trusted in thy worde.

75 I knowe, ō Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted me ^c iustly.

76 I praise thee that thy mercie maie comfort me according to thy promises vnto thy seruāt.

77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I maie ^d liue: for thy Law is my delite.

78 Let the proude be ashamed: for thei haue dealt wickedly and falsely with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let suche as feare thee ^d turne vnto me, and thei that ^e knowe thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart be vpriht in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

C A P H.

81 My soule ^a fainteth for thy saluacion: yet
I waite for thy worde.

82 Mine eyes faile for thy promises, saying,
When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a ^b bottel in the smoke: yet do I not forget thy statutes.

84 How manie are the ^c daies of thy seruāt?
when wilt thou execute iudgement on the that persecute me?

85 The proude haue ^d digged pittes for me, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: ^e helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed ^f me vpon
the earth: but I forsoke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me according to thy louing thy mouth.

92 Except thy Law had bene my delite, I them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am ^c thine, saue me: for I haue fought

He sheweth that the whole estate of the worlde, bothe domestical and political standeth by Gods mere prouidence and blessing. 3 And that to haue children wel nurtured is an especial grace and gift of God.

EXcept the Lord buyld the house, ether labour in vaine that buyld it: except the Lord kepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine. eaten with grief of minde e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest.

a Though the worlde be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shal stand sure & be defended by Gods prouidence. b Though God suffer vs to be vnder y cross, yet thei shal be embraced with his mercie, yet this crosse shal not so rest vpon the, that it shal drue the fro hope. c He desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites & such as haue no scale of the truth.

a Their delirance was as a thing incredible, and therefore toke away all excuse of ingratitude. b He sheweth how godlie ought to reioyce, when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it. c If the inuides confesse Gods wonderful worke, the faithfull can neuer shewe thei selues sufficient to deliuer his barren places.

a That is, gouerne & dispose all things pertaining to families. b The publike estate of the common welth. c Which warre, & are also magistrats, & iudges of the citie. d Either that, which is gotten by hard labour, or f That is, indued wth strength & vertues fro God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, & not y^e nobler. g Suche children shalbe able to stop their aduersaries mouthes, whe their godlie life is maliciously accused before iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednes appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

A song of degrees.

1 Blessed is euery one that feareth the Lord and walketh in his wayes.

a God approveth not our life, except it be reformed, according to his worde.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be wel with thee.

b The worlde esteemeth them happy, w^{ch} liue in welch, and ydelness: but y^e holie God approveth them best. y^e liue of the meane part of their labours.

3 Thy wife shall be as the fruteful vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the olive plants round about thy table.

c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing more than in increase of children, he promiseth to enriche the faithful with this gift. d Because of the spiritual blessing, which God hath made to his Church, these temporal things shall be granted. e For except God blessed his Church publicly, this private blessing were nothing.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be deliuered. 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shewes, shall suddenly be destroyed.

A song of degrees.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember, how her condition hath ever bene such from the beginning: to be molested most grievously by y^e wicked: yet in time it hath ever bene deliuered.

1 They haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may Israël now say)

2 They haue often times afflicted me from my youth: but they coulde not preuaile against me.

b Because God is righteous, he can not but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his, as axen out of y^e plowe.

c The enemies y^e life the felices most high, and as it were, approche nere so y^e sunne, are consumed with the heate of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godlie humilitie.

4 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

6 They shall be as y^e grasse on the house toppes, w^{ch} withereth afore it cometh forth.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie & modestie before God, and teacheth all men, what they shoulde do.

A song of degrees or Psalm of Dauid.

1 Lord, mine heart is not hawtie, neither are mine eyes losie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my self, like one wained fro his mother, and kept silence: I am in my self as one that is wained.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithful, growding on Gods promises made vnto Dauid, desire that he wolde establish the same, bothe as touching his posteritie and the buylding of the Temple, to prae therein as was forespoken, Deut 12.5.

A song of degrees.

1 Lord, remember Dauid with all his affliction.

2 Who sware vnto the Lord, & vowed vnto the mightie God of Iakób, saying,

3 I wil not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to slepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Vntil I finde out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iakób.

6 Lo, we heard of it in Ephráthah, & foude it in the fields of the forest.

7 We wil entre into his Tabernacles, and worship before his fotebole.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saintes reioyce.

12 Let the effect of thy grace bothe appeare in the Priests & in the people.

13 As thou first madest promises to Dauid, so continue it to his posteritie, that whatsoever they shall aske for their people, it may be granted.

b He declareth y^e we can not be iust before God, but by forgiveness of sinnes.

c Because of nature y^e art merciful: therefore the faithful reuerence thee.

c That is, the Arke, y^e was a signe of Gods presence.

1 This psalme containeth the commendacion of brotherlie amitie among the seruants of God

2 A song of degrees or Psalm of Daud.

^a Because the greatest parte were againe Daud, though some fauoured him, yet when he was established King, at length their joy need all together like brethren: & there fore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherlie loue

¹ Beholde, how good and how comelie a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen together.

2 It is like to the precious^b ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which wet downe on the border of his garments:

3 And as the dewe of^c Hermón, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zión: for^d there the Lord appointed the blessing & life for euer.

^a Ye ¹ are Leuites & chiefly appointed to this office

^c And therefore hathe all power, blesse thee with his Fatherlie loue declared in Zión Thus the Leuites vsed to praise the Lord, and blesse the people

¹ Beholde, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the House of the Lord.

3 The Lord, that hathe^c made heauen and earth, blisse thee out of Zión.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithful, of what estate so euer they be, to praise God for his maruelous workes, 12 And especially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hathe declared his mercie. 15 To the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

2 Praise ye the Lord.

^a Ye Leuites ¹ are in his Sanctuarie ^b Meaning the people: for the people and Leuites had their courses, which were places of the Temple service.

¹ Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Ye ¹ stand in the^a House of the Lord, & in the^b courtes of the House of our God,

3 Praise ye ¹ the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a com-

4 For the Lord hathe^c chosen Iakób to him selfe, and Israël for his chief treasure.

5 For I knowe that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the^e lightnings with the raine: he draweth forth the winde out of his treasures.

8 He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.

9 He hathe sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, o Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

10 He smote manie nacions, & slewe mighty Kings:

11 Sihón King of the Amorites, and Og King of Basan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

12 And^e gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israël his people.

13 Thy Name, o Lord, endureth for euer: o Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord wil^f iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.

15 The idoles of the heathen are siluer & golde, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, & speake not: they haue eyes and se not.

17 They haue eares and heare not, nether is there anie breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

19 Praise the Lord, ye house of Israël: praise the Lord, ye house of Aarón.

20 Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord.

21 Praised be the Lord out of Zión, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

8 The people, which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting y Prophet, shall repent & turne to God, when they see their wicked rulers punished.
h Here appeareth y David was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths, as 2 Cor 1,9 i Into Gods nettes, whereby he catcheth y wicked I their owne malice k So that none of the escape.

stonie places, thei shal s heare my wordes, for thei are swete.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the h graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes lōke vnto thee, o Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule deftitude.

9 Kepe me from the snare, which thei haue laied for me, and from the gēnnes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nettes k together, whiles I escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet nether astoned with feare, nor caried away with angre, nor forced by desperation, wolde kill Saul, but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

¶ A Psalm of David, to giue instruction, & a prayer, when he was in the caue.

I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I a praied vnto y Lord.

2 I powred out my meditacion before him, & declared mine afflictio in his presence.

3 Thogh my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in y waie, wherein I walked, haue thei priuely laied a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, & behelde, but there was none that wolde knowe me: all refuge failed me, & none cared for my soule.

5 Then cryed I vnto thee, o Lord, & said, Thou art mine b hope, & my porcion in y land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought verie lowe: deliuer me from my persecuters, for thei are to strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of c prisō, that I maie praise thy Name: then shal the righteous d come about me, when thou art beneficial vnto me.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of finnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 2 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gūerned by his holie Spirit, that he maie spende the remnant of his life in the true feare & seruice of God.

¶ A Psalm of David.

Hear me prayer, o Lord, & hearken vnto my supplication: answer me in thy a trueth & in thy b righteousness.

(And entre not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy c sight shal none that liueth, be iustified)

For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smiten my life downe to the earth: he hath laied me in the darkenes, as thei that haue bene dead d long ago:

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, & mine e heart within me was amased.

d He acknowledged that God is the onelie & true phisicion to heale him: & that he was able to raise him to life, thogh he were dead long ago, & turned to ashes e So that onely by faith, & by the grace of Gods Spirit he was vpholden.

5 Yet do I remember the time f past: I meditate in all thy workes. yea, I do meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretche forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thiristie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedely, o Lord, for my spirit fealeth: hide not thy face from me, els I shalbe like vnto them that go downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindenes in the s morning, for in thee is my trust: h shewe me the waie, that I shulde walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, o Lord, from mine enemies: for i I hid me with thee.

10 Teache me to k do thy wil, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit lead me vnto the land of l righteousness.

11 Quicken me, o Lord, for thy Names sake, & for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie m slay mine enemies, and destitoe all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy n seruant.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He praiseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored, and for his victories obtained, 5 Demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praises, 11 And declareth wherein the felicitie of a me people consisteth

¶ A Psalm of David.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, w B teacheth mine hands to fight, & my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnes & my fortres, my tower & my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my b people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou c regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his daies are like a shadowe, that vanisheth.

5 Bowe thine heauens, o Lord, and come downe: touche the mountaines & thei shal smoke.

6 Cast forth the lightening and scatter them: shote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great f waters, and from the hand of strangers,

Psa CXLIIII

Psal CXLIIII

¹ Thogh wicked Kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa 45. 1. forasmuche as he vseth the to execute his iudgements yet David because of Gods pnes, and they, that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set forthe Gods glorie. ^k He desireth God to continue his benefices toward his people, counting the promotion of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefices.

^l That the corner stones of our houses may be full of store for the great abundance of his blessings. ^m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour. ⁿ And if God give not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

Kings, & rescueth Dauid his seruant from the hurtful sword.

¹¹ Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood:

¹² That our ^k sonnes may be as the plantes growing vp in their youth, & our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

¹³ That our ^l corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sortes, and that our shepe may bring forth the thousands and tens of thousands in our stables:

¹⁴ That our ^m oxen may be strong to labour: that they be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our stables.

¹⁵ Blessed are the people, that be ⁿ so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed, when the kingdom of Dauid flourished. ¹ It herein he describeth the wonderful prouidence of God, as wel in governing man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. ¹⁷ He praiseth God for his iustice & mercie, ¹⁸ But specially for his loving kindness toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: ²¹ For the which he promisseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of Dauid of praise.

¹ O my God and King, ^a I wil extoll thee, and wil blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

² I wil blesse thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

³ Great is the Lord, & moste worthie to be praised, and his greatnes is incomprehensible.

⁴ Generation shal praise thy workes vnto generation, and declare thy power.

⁵ I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, & thy wonderful workes,

⁶ And they shal speake of the power of thy d feareful Actes, and I wil declare thy greatnes.

⁷ They shal breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, & shal sing aloud of thy righteousness.

⁸ * The Lord is gracious and ^e merciful, slowe to anger, and of great mercie.

⁹ The Lord is good to all, & his mercies are ouer all his workes.

¹⁰ All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.

¹¹ They shew the glorie of thy kingdom and speake of thy power,

^a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant & acceptable vnto God: euen praise & thanksgiving, and seeing that God still continueth his benefices towards vs, we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him for the same. ^b Herby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, & that no worldly promotion ought to obscure Gods glorie. ^c Forasmuche as the end of mans creation, & of his preservation is this life is to praise God, therefore he requirerh, that not onely we our selues do this, but cause all other to do the same. ^d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6.

^e He describeth after what sorte God sheweth him self to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all. So wil, merciful not onely pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the wicked. ^f That they can not fele the sweet comfort of the same. ^g The praise of the creatures: & though the wicked wolde obscure the praise of the righteous, yet the faithful are euer mindful of the same.

¹² To cause his ^s power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, & the glorious renome of his kingdom.

¹³ Thy ^{*} kingdom is an euerlasting kingdom, & thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

¹⁴ The Lord vpholdeth all ^h that fall, and lifteth vp all that are readie to fall.

¹⁵ The eyes of ⁱ all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meat in due season.

¹⁶ Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

¹⁷ The Lord is ^k righteous in all his waies, and holie in all his workes.

¹⁸ The Lord is nere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in truth.

¹⁹ He wil fulfil the ^m desire of them that feare him: he also wil heare their crye, & wil saue them.

²⁰ The Lord preferueth all them that loue him: but he wil destroye all the wicked.

²¹ My mouth shal speake the praise of the Lord, and all ⁿ flesh shal blesse his holie Name for euer and euer.

^l Which onely apperteineth to the faithful: and this verbe is contrarie to infidelitie, doubting, impacience and murmuring. ^m For they wil aske or wish for their sinnes, but not for the good that is to his wil, ⁿ Ioh 8. 14. ⁿ That is, all men shal be made to knowe him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

Dauid declareth his great zeale that he hath to praise God, ³ And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God almighty: ⁷ Which deliuereth the afflicted, ⁹ Defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherles, and the widowes, ¹⁰ And reigneth for euer.

Praise ye the Lord.

¹ Praise thou the Lord, O my ^a soule.

² I wil praise the Lord during my lifef: as long as I haue anie being, I wil sing vnto my God.

³ Put not your trust in ^b princes, nor in the sonne of mā, for there is none helpe in hi.

⁴ His breath departeth, & he returneth to his earth: then his ^c thoghts perish.

⁵ Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iakob for his helpe, whose hope is in ^y Lord his God.

⁶ Which made ^d heauen & earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which kepeth his fidelitie for euer:

⁷ Which executeth iustice ^e for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

⁸ The Lord giueth fight to the blinde: the Lord raiseth vp the croked: the Lord ^f loueth the righteous.

⁹ The Lord kepeth the ^g strangers: he reliueth the fatherles and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

Xx.ii.

^a He stirreth vp him self, & all his affections to praise God. ^b That God may haue the whole praise wherin he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, shewing that of nature we are more inclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God the Creator. ^c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered them selues, and so imagined wicked enterprises. ^d He encourageth vs to trust onely in the Lord, bothe for that his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, & for his promises sake his wil is moste readie to do it. ^e Whose faith & pacifice for a while he tryeth, but at length he punisheth the aduersaries, that he may be knowne to be iudge of the worlde. ^f Though he visit them by affliction, he yet his Fatherly loue and mercie is shewed in that he is not ready to destroye them, but rather to be a father to the fatherles, and a husband to the widowes. ^g Meaning all them, that are destitute of worldlie meanes and succour.

^g He sheweth that all things are out of ordre, but onely where God reigneth.

Luk. 1. 33.

dan 7. 14.

^h Who being in miserie and affliction wolde faine and fall away, if God did not vpholde them, and therefore they ought to reuerence him, that reigneth in heauen, and suffer them selues to be governed by him.

ⁱ To wit, as wel of man, as of beast.

^k He praiseth God, not onely for that he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but also in that that he justly punisheth the wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength & deliuerance.

^a He assureth the Church & God reioiceth for euer for his preferuatiō of the same.

10 The Lord shal ^a reigne for euer: ^o Zión, thy God endureth from generacion to generacion. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisdom, power, iustice & prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their disperſion, 19 Declaring his worde and iudgements ſo vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

1 Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to ſing vnto our God: for it is ^a a pleaſant thing, & praise is comelie.

2 The Lord doeth buyld vp ^b Ieruſalém, & gather together the diſperſed of Iſraél.

3 He healeth thoſe that are ^c broken in heart, and bindeth vp their ſores.

4 He ^d counteth the number of the ſtarres, & calleth them all by their names.

5 Great ^e is our Lord, and great ^e is his power: his wiſdome is infinite.

6 The Lord releueth the meke, & abaſeth the wicked to the ^e ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with praise: ſing vpō the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which ^f couereth the heauē with cloudes and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the graſſe to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beaſtes their fode, and to the yong rauens that ^g crye.

10 He hath not pleaſure in the ^h ſtrength of an horſe, nether deliteth he in the legges of man.

11 But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praise the Lord, ^o Ieruſalém: praise thy God, ^o Zión.

13 For he hath made the barres of thy gates ⁱ ſtrong, and hath bleſſed thy childre within thee.

14 He ſetteth peace in thy borders, & ſatiſfieth thee with the ^j ſoure of wheat.

15 He ſendeth forth his ^k commandemēt vpon earth, and his worde runneth verie ſwiftly.

16 He giueth ſnow like wool, & ſcattereth the hoare froſt like aſhes.

17 He caſteth forth his yce like morſels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He ſendeth his worde and melteth the: he cauſeth his winde to blowe, & the waters flowe.

19 He ſheweth his ^l worde vnto Iakób, his ſtatutes and his iudgements vnto Iſraél.

20 He hath not dealt ſo with euerie nacion, nether haue they ⁿ known his iudgements.

^o He doeth not onely furniſh his Church & all things neceſſarie, but preſerueth alſo the ſame, & maketh it ſtrong againſt all outward force.

^p His ſecret working in all creatures is as a commandemēt to kepe the in ordre, & to giue the mouing & force.

^q For immediatly & without reſiſting all things obeie him.

^r As before: he called Gods ſecret working in all his creatures his word: ſo he meaneth here, by his worde, ^s doctrine of liſe euerlaſting, & he hath left to his Church as a moſt precious treaſure.

^t The cauſe of this difference is Gods free mercie, which hath elected him in his Sonne Chriſt Ieſus to ſaluacion: & his iuſte iudgemēt, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternal damnation.

Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauē and earth and all places, 14 Specially his Church for the power that he hath giuen to the ſame after that he had choſen them and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

14 For he hath exalted the ^h horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Sainctes, euen for the ⁱ children of Iſraél, a people that is nere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

^a Because theſe are members of the ſame bodie, he ſetteth the before our eyes, were moſt willing herunto, and by their prompt obedience teach vs to do our dutie.

THE PROVERBES

of Salomón.

THE ARGUMENT.

The wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke forasmuche as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these brief sentences, which partly comeine doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortacions to bothe. Wherof the nine first chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and depe mysteries, to allure the haertes of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a moste preciousewel to the Church, of those thre thousand parables mentioned 1. King. 4. 32, and were gathered and commit to writing by Salomons seruants and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The power and vse of the worde of God 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his worde 10 We may not consent to the intisings of sinners 20 Wisdome complaseth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

1 He Parables of Salomón the sonne of Dauid King of Israël.

To knowe wisdome, & instruction, to vnderstand the wordes of knowledge,

^a That is, what we ought to knowe & followe, & what we ought to refuse

^b Meaning the worde of God wherein is the onelie true knowledge

^c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise

^d By liuing iustely and rendering to euery man that vs apperaineth vnto him

^e To iuche as haue not discrecion to rule them selues

^f As he sheweth these parables concerning the effect of religion astouching maners & doctine do appertine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned *Psal. 111. 10. eccl. 1. 16

- 2 To receiue instruction to do wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie,
- 4 To giue vnto the simple sharpenes of wit, & to the childe knowledge and discrecion.

5 A wise man shal heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding, shal attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, & their darke sayings.

7 ¶ The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdome & instruction.

- 8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.
- 9 For thou shalbe a comelie ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.
- 10 ¶ My sonne, if sinners do intise thee, consent thou not.
- 11 If they say, Come with vs, we wil lay wait for blood, & lie priuie for the innocent without a cause:
- 12 We wil swallowe thee vp aliue like a graue even whole, as those that go downe into the pit:
- 13 We shal finde all precious riches, & fill our houses with spoile:
- 14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we wil all haue one purse:
- 15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy fote from their path.
- 16 For their fete runne to euil, & make hast to shed blood.
- 17 Certainly as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath wing:
- 18 So they laye wait for blood & lie priuie for their liues.

whereby the wicked are allured to ioyn together, because they haue euerie one parte of the spoile of the innocent ⁿ That is, haue nothing at all to do with them ^o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue the wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and crueltie.

* This worde Prouerbe, or Parable signifieth a grane & notable sentence, worthe to be kept in memorie: and is some tyme taken in the euil parte for a mocke, or scoffe.

^g He speaketh this in the Name of God, & is the vniuersal Father of all creatures, or in the Name of the Father of the Church, who is as a father ^h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithful are forgotten by the incorruptible fide of Gods worde. ⁱ Ebr. increase of grace

^j To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. ^k He speaketh not onely of shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which rede to the detriment of our neighbour.

^l As the graue is neuer satiate so the auarice of the wicked and their crueltie hath no end

^m He sheweth one parte of the spoile of the innocent ⁿ That is, haue nothing at all to do with them ^o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue the wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and crueltie.

The foolish hate wisdom, Prouerbes. The harlot described. 540/1224

p Whereby he concludeth y the couetous man is a murderer
 q This wisdom is the eternal worde of God
 r So that none can pretend ignorance
 s Wisdom reprooueth three kindes of me: the foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, and y mockers, that can not suffer to be taught, & y foolles which are drowned in worldelie lustes, & hate the knowledge of godlines t This is spoken according to our capacite, signifying that the wicked, y mocke & iest at Gods wordes, shal haue the iuste rewarde of their mocking.
 u That is, your destruction, w thing you feared x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne grief
 y Shewing y without faith and obedience, we ca not call vpon God a right.
 z They shal seele what commoditie their wicked life shal giue the.
 a That is the prosperitie, & sensualitie, wherein they delite.

19 Suche are the wayes of euarie one that is gredie of gaine: he wolde take away the life of the owners thereof.
 20 ¶ Wisdom crieth without: she vttereth her voyce in the stretes.
 21 She calleth in the hye strete among the prease in the entrings of the gates, & vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying,
 22 O ye foolish, how long wil ye loue foolishnes & the skorneful take their pleasure in skorning, & the foolles hate knowledge?
 23 (Turne you at my correction: lo, I wil powie out my minde vnto you, & make you vnderstand my wordes)
 24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none wolde regarde.
 25 But ye haue despised all my counsel, & wolde none of my correction.
 26 I wil also laugh at your destruction, and mocke, when your feare cometh.
 27 When your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shal come, like a whirle winde: when affliction & anguish shal come vpon you,
 28 Then shal they call vpon me, but I wil not answer: they shal seke me early, but they shal not finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.
 30 Ther wolde none of my counsel, but despised all my correction.
 31 Therefore shal they eat of the fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.
 32 Foxe ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of foolles destroyeth them.
 33 But he that obeieth me, shal dwell safely, & be quiet from feare of euil.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisdom exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She preferueth from wickednes.

1 My sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and hide my commandements within thee,
 2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, & encline thine heart to vnderstanding,
 3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, & cryest for vnderstanding:
 4 If thou sekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for treasures,
 5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the knowledge of God.
 6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.
 7 He preferueth the state of y righteous: he is a shield to them that walke vprightly, a That is, kepe them in thine heart.

 b If thou giue thy self to the true knowledge of God without hypocrisie
 c Meaning, y we must seke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
 d Shewing y no labour must be spared
 e This (sayth he) is the true wisdom, & feare of God
 f Or, heareth the saluacion.

8 That they may kepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preferueth the way of his Saints)
 9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, & euerie good path.
 10 ¶ When wisdom entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy soule, 11 Then shal counsel preferue thee, & vnderstanding shal kepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euil way, and from the man that speaketh froward things, 13 And from them that leaue the wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darknesses:
 14 Which reioyce in doing euil, & delite in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are croked and they are lewde in their paths.
 16 And it shal deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes.
 17 Which forsaketh the guide of her youth, and forgetteth the couenant of her God.
 18 Surely her house tendeth to death, & her paths vnto the dead.
 19 All they that go vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.
 20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, & kepe the wayes of the righteous.
 21 For the iust shal dwell in the land, and the vpright men shal remaine in it.
 22 But the wicked shalbe cut off from the earth and the transgressors shalbe rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 The worde of God giueth life 5 Trust in God 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffre his correction. 22 To them that followe the worde of God, all things shal succede wel.

1 My sonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart kepe my commandements.
 2 For then shal increase the length of thy daies and the yers of life, and thy prosperitie.
 3 Let not mercie and trueth forsake thee: binde them on thy necke, & write them vpon the table of thine heart.
 4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.
 5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.
 6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shal direct thy wayes.
 7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and departe from euil.
 8 So health shalbe vnto thy nauel, and f The worde of God shal teache thee & counsel thee how to gouerne thy self g That is, the worde of God, w is the onelie light, to followe their owne fantasies & are darknesses

1 H Eare, o ye children, the instruction

vnderstanding.

2 For I do giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and dere in the sight of my mother.

4 When he taught me, and said vnto me,
Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: ke-pe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shal kepe thee:

7 ¶ Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore: and aboute all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shal exalt thee: she shal bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 She shal giue a comelie ornament vnto

CHAP. VII.

An exhortacion to wisdom and to the worde of God, s Which wil preserue vs from the harlot, & v whose maners are described.

MY sonne, kepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.

Kepe my commandements, & thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Saie vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman,

5 That they maie kepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smoth in her wordes.

6 ¶ As I was in the windowe of mine house, I looked through my windowe,

7 And I sawe among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the strete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be c blacke and darke.

10 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots behauiour, and f subtil in heart.

11 (She d is babling and lowde: whose fete can not abide in her house.

12 Now she is without, now in the stretes, & lieth in waite at euerie corner)

13 So she caught him & kissed him & "with an impudent face said vnto him, 14 I haue e peace offrings: this f day haue I paid my vowes.

15 Therefore came I for the to mete thee, y I might see thy face: & I haue founde thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fil of loue vntil the mornig: let vs take our pleasure in dalliace.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney faie of.

20 He hath taken r with him a bagge of siluer, and wil come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yelde, & with her flattering lippes she entised him.

22 And he followed her straightwaies, as an oxe that goeth to the slaughter, & h as a foole to the stocks for correction,

23 Til a dart strike through his liuer, as a birde hasteth to the snare, not knowing that r he is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, o children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hath caused manie to fall downe wounded, and the s strong men are all slayne by her.

3 She cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entrie of the dores,
4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voice to the children of men.
5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye, o fooles, be wise in heart.
6 Giue care, for I wil speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shal teache things that be right.
7 For my mouth shal speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.
8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardenes in them.
9 Thei are all plain to him that wil vnderstand, and straight to them that wolde finde knowledge.
10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.
11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.
12 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I finde forth the knowledge and counsels.
13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euil as pride, and arrogancie, and the euil waie: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I do hate.
14 I haue counsel and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, & I haue strength.
15 By me, Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice.
16 By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
17 I loue them that loue me: & thei that seke me early, shal finde me.
18 Riches and honour are with me: h euen durable riches and righteousness.
19 My frute is better then golde, euen the fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
20 I cause to walke in the waie of righteousness, & in the middes of the paths of iudgement, 21 That I maie cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I wil fil their treasures.
22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his waie: I was before his workes of olde.
23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning & before the earth.
24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were setled: & before the hilles, was I begotten.
26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde.
27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compas vpon the depe.
28 When he established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the depe, 29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters shulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the foundations of the earth,
30 Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delite reioicing alwaie before him, 31 And toke my solace in the compasse of his earth: & my delite is with the childe of men.
32 Therefore now hearken, o children, vnto me: for blessed are thei that kepe my waies.
33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, & refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, & giuing attendance at the postes of my dores.
34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shal obtaine fauour of the Lord.
35 But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: & all that hate me, loue death.

1 WISDOME hath bought her house, & hewen out her seven pillars.

3 She hath sent forth her maidens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,

5 Come, & eat of my meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawn.
6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shal liue: & walke in my waie of vnderstanding.
7 He that reproveth a scorner, purchaseth to him self shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth him self a blot.
8 Rebuke not a scorner, lest he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, & he wil loue thee.

1 He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this worde Wisdom, who was before all time and euer present w the Father.
m Some read a chief worker: signifying that this Wisdom, euen Christ Iesus, was equal w God his Father, and created, preserved, and fil worketh w him, as Ioh. 1. 17.
n Whereby is declared that the worke of creation was no penne, but a solace vnto the wisdom of God.
o By earth, he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whome wisdom toke pleasure: in some as for mans sake & Diuine Wisdom toke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, & filled vs with vnspokeable treasures: and this is that solace & pastime whereof is here spoken.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.
b That is, many chief states and principal partes of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors & Doctors.
c He compareth wisdom with great princes y kepe open house for all y come.
d Meaning true preachers, w are not infected with mans wisdom.

15 Church. g For the wicked wil contemne him & labour to diffame him. h Meaning them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs & swine, or he speaketh this in comparison, not that y wicked shuld not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profite.

¹ He sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know & wil of God in his worde, & is ment by holie things.
^k Thou shalt haue the chief profite, and commodity there of.
^l By & foolish woman, some vnderstand, the wicked preachers, who counterfeit & worde of God, as appeareth ver. 16, & were true worles of the true teachers, as ver. 4: but their doctrine is but as stolle waters: meaning that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to & flesh then & worde of God and therefore they them selues boast thereof.

- ¹⁵ vnderstanding.
¹¹ For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeres of thy life shalbe augmented.
¹² If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy self, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffice.
¹³ A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

¹⁸ But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her ghesles are in the depth of hel.

CHAP. X.

In this chapter and all that followe vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth parables, to followe vertue, and flee vice and sheweth also what profite cometh of wisdom, & what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnes.

³ The Lord wil not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.
⁴ A flouthful hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche.
⁵ He that gathereth in sommer, is the sonne of wisdom: but he that slepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion.
⁶ Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shal couer the mouth of the wicked.
⁷ The memorial of the iuste shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shal rotte.

⁹ He that walketh vp rightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruerteth his waies, shal be knowen.
¹⁰ He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is foolish in talke, shalbe beaten.
¹¹ The mouth of a righteous man is a well spring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

¹⁸ He that dissembleth hatred with lying lippes, and he that inuenteth scandre, is a foole.
¹⁹ In manie wordes there can not wat iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lippes, is wise.
²⁰ The tongue of the iuste man is as fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is litle worthe.
²¹ The lippes of the righteous do fede manie: but fooles shal dye for want of wisdom.
²² The blessing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde no sorowes with it.
²³ It is as a passe time to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.
²⁴ That which the wicked feareth, shal come vpon him: but God wil grante the desire of the righteous.
²⁵ As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting fundacion.

²⁷ The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeres of the wicked shalbe diminished.
²⁸ The pacient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked shal perish.
²⁹ The way of the Lord is strength to the vp right man: but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.
³⁰ The righteous shal neuer be remoued: but the wicked shal not dwell in the land.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shal fall: but the righteous shal flourish as a leafe.

29 He that troubleth his owne house, shal inherite y winde, and the foole shal be seruuant to the wise in heart.

30 The frute of the righteous is as a tre of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise.

CHAP. XII.

HE that loueth instructio, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.

2 A good man getteth fauore of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginacions wil be condemne.

3 A man can not be establisht by wickednes: but the roote of the righteous shal not be moued.

4 A verteous woman is the crowne of her housband: but she that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.

5 The thoghts of the iuste are right: but the counsels of the wicked are disceitful.

6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the righteous wil deliuer them.

7 God ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of y righteous shal stand.

8 A man shal be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shal be despised.

9 He that is despised, and is his owne seruuant, is better then he that boasteth him self and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruel.

11 He that tilleth his land, shal be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.

12 The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth frute.

26 He that deſtroyeth his father, or chaſeth away his mother, is a lewde and ſhameful childe.

27 My ſonne, heare no more the inſtruction, that cauſeth to erre from the wordes of knowledge.

28 A wicked witnes mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of the wicked γ ſwalloeth vp iniquitie.

ECCLESIASTES, OR the Preacher.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomon, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceivable vanities of this worlde, that man shoulde not be addicted to anie thing, grauer the seruice, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenly life: therefore he consulteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnited with God and shal enioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as muche as they further vs to attaine to this heauenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and can not be founde in anie other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

^a All things in this worlde are ful of vanitie, and of none ^b endurance. ^c All mans wisdom is but folie and grief.

He wordes of the ^a Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.
^b Vanitie of vanities, faith ^c y Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

^d What remaineth vnto mā in all his ^e trauail, which he suffereth vnder the sunne?

^a One generacion passeth, and another generacion succedeth: but the earth remaineth for ^b euer.

^c The sunne riseth, & the sunne goeth downe, & draweth to his place, where he riseth.

^d The ^e winde goeth toward ^f y South, & cōpasseth toward ^g y North: the winde goeth round about, & returneth by his circuit.

^h All the riuers go into the sea, yet the sea is not ful: for the riuers go vnto the place,

^a One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, & neuer to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption
^b By the sunne, winde and riuers he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this world
^c Eccles 1, 4, 5, 6, 7.

f The sea & compasseth all the earth, filch the vines thereof, the power out springs and issues into the sea againe. g He speaketh of times & seasons & things done in them, which as thou haue bene in times past, so come thou to passe againe. h He proueth that if anie colde haue attained to felicitie in this worlde by labour and studie, he chiefly shulde haue obtained it, because he had gifts and aydes of God thereunto about all other. i Man of nature hath a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sinne, to humble man, and to teache him to depende onely vpon God. k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe other wise then they do: neither can he nombre the fautes that are committed, muche lesse remedie them. l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but grief & trouble of conscience. m Wisdome & knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie and minde: for when a man hath attained to the hiest, yet is his minde neuer fully content, therefore in this worlde is no true felicitie.

f whence they returne, and go. 8 All things are full of labour: man can not utter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing. 9 What is it that hath bene that that shalbe: & what is it that hath bene done that which shalbe done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne. 10 Is there anie thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe: it hath bene already in the olde time: it was before vs. 11 There is no memorie of y former, neither shal there be a remembrance of the later that shalbe, with them that shal come after. 12 ¶ I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem: 13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search & finde out wisdome by all things that are done vnder the heauen. (this fore trauail hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby) 14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexacion of the spirit. 15 That which is crooked, can none make straight: & that which faileth, can not be nobred. 16 I thought in mine heart, & said, Beholde, I am become great, and excel in wisdome all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath sene muche wisdome and knowledge. 17 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdome & knowledge, madnes & foolishnes: I knewe also y this is a vexacion of the spirit. 18 For in y multitude of wisdome is muche grief: & he that encreaseth knowledge, encreaseth sorowe.

That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but grief & trouble of conscience. m Wisdome & knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie and minde: for when a man hath attained to the hiest, yet is his minde neuer fully content, therefore in this worlde is no true felicitie.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buyldings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 14 The wise and the foole haue bothe one end, touching the bodie death.

1 I said in mine heart, Go to now, I will proue thee with ioye: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: & beholde, this also is vanitie. 2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioye, What is this that thou doest? 3 I sought in mine heart to giue my self to wine, & to lead mine heart in wisdome, and to take holde of folie, til I might see where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they enioye vnder the sunne: the whole number of the daies of their life. 4 I haue made my great workes: I haue buylt me houses: I haue plated me vineyards. 5 I haue made me gardens and orchardes, and planted in them trees of all fruite. 6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to watter therewith the woods that growe with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants & maids, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beues and shepe about all that were before me in Ierusalem. 8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and golde, and the chief treasures of Kings & prouinces: I haue prouided me me fingers and women fingers, and the delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues. 9 And I was great, and encreased about all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdome remained with me. 10 And what soeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from the: I withdrew not mine heart from anie ioye: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauail. 11 The I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauail that I had labored to do: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexacion of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne. 12 ¶ And I turned to beholde wisdome, & madnes and folie: (for who is the man that wil come after the King in things, which men now haue done?) 13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisdome, more then in folie: as the light is more excellent then darkenes. 14 For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenes: yet I knowe also that the same condition falleth to them all. 15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. Why therefore do I the labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie. 16 For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the daies to come shal all be forgotten. And how dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole? 17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke y is wrought vnder y sunne is grievous vnto me: for all is vanitie, & vexacion of the spirit. 18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder y sunne, which I shal leaue to the man that shalbe after me. 19 And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shal he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, & wherein I haue shewed my self wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie. 20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne. 21 For there is a man whose trauail is in wisdome, & in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shal he giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great grief.

c Meaning, of the seruants or slaues, which he had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were the masters.

e Which were the most beautiful of them that were taken in warre, as Iudges. 5. 39.

f Some vnderstand by these wordes, noe women but instruments of musique.

g For all this God did not take his gift of wisdome from me.

h This was y fruite of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse.

i I bethought with my self whether it were better to followe wisdome, or mine owne affectiōs and pleasures, which he calleth madnes.

k Or, compare with the King.

o Meaning, in this worlde.

p He wondereth that men forget a wise man, being dead, as those that do a foolish.

q That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

r Among other griefs this was not y least to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauail, to one y had taken no paine therefore, and whose he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with his self, as though he wolde trye whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures. b Ebr drawe my self to wine. c Albeit I gaue my self to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisdome & the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same. d Ebr do. e Ebr paradise.

Tyme for all things. Or the Preacher. Of man and beast. 27/824

- 22 For what hath he man of all his trauail and grief of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?
- 23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and his trauail grief. his heart also taketh not rest in the night, which also is vanitie.
- 24 There is no profit to man but that he eat, and drinke, and delight his soule with the profits of his labour. I sawe also this, that it was of the hand of God.
- 25 For who coulde eat, and who coulde haste to outward things more then I?
- 26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giveth wisdom, and knowledge, and strength: but to the sinner he giveth paine, to gather, and to haue to give to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, & vexation of the spirit.

- 5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be faire from embracing.
- 6 A time to kepe, and a time to lose: a time to kepe, and a time to cast away.
- 7 A time to reit, & a time to sowe: a time to kepe silence, and a time to speake.
- 8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.
- 9 What profit hath he that worketh, of thy thing wherein he trauaileth?
- 10 I haue sene the trauail that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them therby.
- 11 He hath made euerie thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning even to the end.
- 12 I knowe that there is nothing good in the, but to reioyce, & to do good in his life.
- 13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour, this is the gift of God.
- 14 I knowe that whatsoever God shal do, it shalbe for euer: to it can no man adde, and fro it can none diminish: for God hath done it, & they shulde feare before him.
- 15 What is that that hath bene that is now: & that that shalbe, hath bene now: for God requireth that which is past.

- 16 And moreover I haue sene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie.
- 17 I thought in mine heart, God wil iudge the iuste & the wicked, for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.
- 18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in the feluet as beasts.
- 19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euery as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast, for all vanitie.
- 20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shal retorne to the dust.

- 21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascende vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downward to the earth?
- 22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man shulde reioyce in his affaires, because this is his portion. For who shal biig him to see what shalbe after him?

CHAP. IIII.

- The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A yong man poore, and wise is to be preferred to an olde King that is a foole.*
- SO as I turned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, & beholde, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them, and the strength of the hand of them that oppress them, and none comforteth them.
- 2 Wherefore I praised the dead which are now at ease, about the liuing, which are yet at labour.
- 3 And I counted him better then them both, which hath not yet bene, for he hath not sene the euil workes which are wrought vnder the sunne.
- 4 Also I behelde all trauail, and all perfection of workes that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour, thus also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.
- 5 The foole foldeth his hands, and eateth vp his owne flesh.
- 6 Better is an handful with quietnes, then two handfule with labour and vexation of spirit.
- 7 Again I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.
- 8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet there none end of all his trauail, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doth he thinke, For whome do I trauail and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euil trauail.
- 9 Two are better then one: for they haue

a He speaketh of this manner of time for two causes, first to declare that there is nothing in this world, perpetually next to each other, not to be grudged, as we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.

b Read Chap 22. c God hath giuen man a creature and a creature to liue out the things of this world and to labour therein. d See Chap 2, 24, and the places declared that we shulde do all things with iobation, & with feare of God, forasmuch as he giueth vs his gifts, to see that they shulde be abused. e That is, man shal neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shal come to passe that God onlie can finish that, which is past, to re- turne.

better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellowe: but w^o vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a seconde to lift him vp.

11 Also if two slepe together, then shal they haue heat: but to one how shulde there be heat?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shal stande against him: and a threfolde s^coord is not easely broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde and foolish King, which wil no more be admonished.

14 For out of the prison he cometh forth to reigne: when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, with the seconde childe, which shal stande vp in his place.

16 There is none end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shal not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit.

17 Take hede to thy foote when thou entrest into the House of God, and be more nede to heare then to giue the sacrifice of fooles: for they knowe not that they do euil.

CHAP. V.

Not to speake lightly, especially in Gods matters. 9 The covetous can neuer haue ynough. 11 The laborers slepe sweete. 14 Man when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented minde in the gift of God.

BE not rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hasty to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on y^e earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe.

2 For as a dreame cometh by the multitude of busines: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes.

3 *When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles. paye therefore y^e thou hast c^ovowed.

4 It is better that thou shuldest not vowe, then that thou shuldest vowe and not paye it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to sinne: nether say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shal God be angrie by thy voyce, & destroye the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, & vanities are also manie wordes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seeft the oppressiō of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonished at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shal not be satisfied with siluer, & he that loueth riches, shal be without the frute thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 Whē goods encrease, they are encreased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The slepe of him that trauaileth, is swete, whether he eat litle or much: but the facietie of the riche wil not suffer him to slepe.

12 There is an euil sicknes that I haue sene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches^k restued to the owners thereof for their euil.

13 And these riches perish by euil trauail, & he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 *As he came forth of his mothers belly, he shal returne naked to go as he came, & shal beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hād.

15 And this also is an euil sicknes that in all pointes as he came, so shal he go, and what profite hath he that he hath trauailed for the winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in darke-nes with muche grief, and in his sorow & angre.

17 Beholde then, what I haue sene good, that it is comelie to eat, and to drinke, & to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne, y^e whole nōber of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euerie man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eat thereof, and to take his parte, and to enioye his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he wil not muche remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioye of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whome God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

THERE is an euil, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is muche among mē: 2 A man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but a God giueth him not power to eat thereof, but a strange man shal eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euil sicknes.

3 If a man beget an hundred children and liue manie yeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimelie frute is better then he.

4 For he cometh into vanitie and goeth

^s The renewes of searh are to be preferred aboue all things, & appertene to this life. ^h Kings and princes can not maintein their estate without tillage, & this commendeth y^e excellencie of tillage.

^m Meaning, in vaine, & without profit. ⁿ In affliction, and grief of minde.

^o Read Chap. 3. 23.

^p He will take no greiv thought for the peines that he hath endured in time past.

^q He sheweth that it is the plague of God when y^e riche man hath not a liberal heart to vse his riches. ^b If he can neuer haue ynough. ^c As we se often times, that y^e covetous man either falleth into crimes & deserue death, or is murdered or drowned or hangeth himself or such like, & so lacketh the honour of buryal which is the last office of humanitie. ^d Meaning, y^e vntimelie frute whole lite did not profit.

^g By this proverbe he declarerth how necessarye it is, y^e men shulde liue in societie. ^h That is, fro a poore, & base estate, or out of trouble, & prison, as Iosiph did, Gen. 41. 14. ⁱ Meaning, y^e borne a King. ^k Which follow, & flatter y^e Kings sonne, or him y^e shal succede to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine. ^l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedie desires, they thinke the felues abused, as other haue bene i time past, and so care no more for him. ^m That is, what affliction thou comest to heare y^e worde of God. ⁿ Meaning, of the wicked, w^h thinke to please God wth ceremonies, and haue nether faith nor repentance.

^a Either i vowing or in praying meaning y^e we shulde vse all reuerence to God warde. ^b He heareth thee not for thy manie wordes sake, or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith, and fervent minde. ^c Deut. 23. 21. ^d The speaker of voves, & are approved by Gods worde, and serue to his glorie. ^e Cause not thy self to sinne by vowing rashly: as thei do w^h make a vowe to liue unmarried, and such like. ^f That is, before Gods messenger whē he shal examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance shulde be a iust excuse. ^g Meaning, y^e God wil redresse these things, & therefore we must depe d vpo hā.

into darkenes: & his name shalbe couered with darkenes.

5 Also he hathe not sene y sunne, nor knowe it: therefore this hathe more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeres twise tolde, and had sene no good, shal not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of mā is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hathe the wise man more then the fool? what hathe y peoie that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lustes: this also is vanitie and vexacion of spirit.

10 What is that that hathe bene the name thereof is now named: and it is known that it is man: and he can not strue with him that is stronger then he.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to followe that which is good, and to auoid the contrarie.

Surely there be manie things that increase vanitie & what auaileth it mā?

2 For who knoweth what is a good for man in the life & in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seing he maketh the as a shadow? For who can shewe vnto man what shalbe after him vnder y sunne?

3 A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to go to the house of mourning, then to go to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men, and the liuing shal lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad loke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of foolles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a mā shulde heare the song of foolles.

8 For like the noise of the thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppressio maketh a wise mā mad: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, & the pacient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit.

11 Be not y of an hastie spirit to be angrie: for anger resteth in the bosome of foolles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better then these? for thou dost not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdome is good with an inheritaunce, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shal rest in the shadowe of wisdom, & in y shadowe of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessers thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make a straight that which he hathe made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, & in the day of affliction confide: God also hathe made this contrary to that, to the intent that mā shulde finde nothing after him.

17 I haue sene all things in the daies of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust ouermuche, nether make thy self ouer wise: wherefore shuldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked ouermuche, nether be thou foolish: wherefore shuldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou late holde on this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shal come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shal strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine heart also to all y wordes that men speake, lest thou do heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wisdom: I thought I wil be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what maie it be: and it is a profound depenes, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, bothe I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to searche wisdom and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of folie, and the foolishnes of madnes,

28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes & snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but y sinner shalbe taken by her.

29 Beholde, saith the Preacher, this haue I founde, seeking one by one to finde y cōte:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not. I haue founde one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde.

31 Onely lo, this haue I founde, that God hathe made man righteous: but they haue fought manie inuentions.

4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that kepeth the commandement, shal knowe none euil thing, and the heart of the wise shal knowe the ^e time and iudgement.

6 For to euerie purpose there is a time and iudgement: because the ^f miserie of man is great, vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tel him when it shalbe?

8 Man is not lord ^g ouer the spirit to re- teine the spirit: nether hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battel, nether shal wickednes deliuer the possesseis thereof.

9 All this haue I sene, and haue giuen mine heart to euerie worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne ^h hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and ⁱ they returned, and they that came from the holie ^k place, were yet forgotten in the cirie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euil worke is not ^l executed spedely, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in the to do euil.

12 Thogh a sinner do euil an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shalbe wel with them that feare the Lord, and do reuerence before him.

13 But it shal not be wel to the wicked, nether shal he prolong his dayes: he shalbe like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whome it cometh according to the ^m worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whome it cometh according to the worke of the iuste: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praised ioye: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the sunne, saue ⁿ to eat and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdom, and to beholde the busines that is done on earth, that nether day nor night the eyes of man take slepe,

17 Then I beheld ^o the whole worke of God, that man can not finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne. for the which man laboreth to seke it, and can not finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he can not finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man knowe whome God loveth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

1 I haue suerly giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuste, & the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God. & no man knoweth ether loue or ^a hatred of all that ^b before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition ^c is to the iuste and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, & to the polluted, & to him that sacrificeth, & to him that sacrificeth not: as ^d is the good, so ^e is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euil among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one ^b condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is ful of euil, and madnes ^c is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing knowe that they shal dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: nether haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, & their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion foreuer, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioye, & drinke thy wine with a cheereful heart: for God now ^d accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be ^e white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 ^{} Reioyce with the wife whome ^f thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, ^g for God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne: all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, & in thy trauail wherin thou laborest vnder the sunne.

10 All that thine hand shal finde to do, do it with all thy power: for there is nether worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whether thou goest.

11 I returned, & I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, nether yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and ^h chance cometh to them all.

12 For nether doeth man knowe his ⁱ time, but as the fishes, which are taken in an euil net, a Meaning, what things he ought to craue or refuse or make knowne: not by these outward things, but by the inward things, which is by propheticke or aduertise, whome God doeth fauour or hate: for he sandereth them as wel to the wicked as to the goodlie. b In outward things as riches, and povertie, sickness, & helth there is no difference betweene the godlie, & the wicked but difference is that godlie are assured by faith of Gods fauour & assistance. c He noteth Epicures, and carnal men, who made their belly their god, & had no pleasure but in this life, without rather to be an abject, & vile person in this life, then a man of authority, and to dye, which is ment by the dog and lyon. d They flatter them selves to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance. e Reioyce, be merry, and spare for no cost: thus speake the wicked belligods. f Ebr. regarde the life. net, & as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euil time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also sene this wisdome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and buylded fortes against it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the citie by his wisdome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdome then strength: yet the wisdome of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wife are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdome then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnes and wisdome. 11 A scelerer is like a serpent that can not be charmed. 16 Of foolish Kings, and drunken princes. 17 And of good Kings and princes.

1 Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apoticarie: so doeth a litle folie him that is in estimation for wisdome, and for glorie.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand. 3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great finnes.

5 There is an euil that I haue sene vnder the sunne, as an error that procedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folie is set in great excellencie, and the riche set in the lowe place.

7 I haue sene seruants on horses and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, & he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 He that remoueth stones, shall hurt himself thereby, & he that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdome.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure him self.

13 The beginning of his wordes of his mouth is foolishnes, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnes.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Manknoweth not what shall be: and who can tel him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the citie.

16 Wo to thee, O land, when thy King is a childe, and thy princes eat in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy King is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eat in time, for strength and not for drunkennes.

18 By slouthfulness the rooffe of the house goeth to decay, and by the ydlenes of the hands the house droppeth through.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the riche in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carry the voice, & that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberal to the poore. 4 Not to doute of Gods providence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

1 Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after manie daies thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, & also to eight: for thou knowest not what euil shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be full, they will poure forth the raine vpon the earth: and if the tre do fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tre falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the winde, shall not sowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy sede, and in the euening let not thine hand be idle: for thou knowest not whether thou shalt prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue manie yeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the daies of his darknes, because they are manie, all that cometh is vanitie.

9 Reioyce, O young man, in thy youth, & let thine heart chere thee in the daies of thy youth: and walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, & caused them to heare, & scarched forth, and prepared manie parables.

The Preacher soght to finde out pleasant wordes, & an vpright writing, eue the wordes of truth.

The wordes of the wise are like goades, and like nailes fastened by the matters of the assemblies, which are giue by one p. a-stour.

And of other thigs besides these, my sonne, take thou hede. for there is none end in making manie booke, and muche reading

Let vs heare the end of all: feare God & whole due of man.

AN EXCELLENT SONG

which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this Song, Salomon by moste sweete and comfortalle allegories and parables describeth the perfecte love of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithful soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste and without re-prehension. So that here is declared the singular love of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benesites wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure lountie and grace without any of her desertings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the love of Christ desireth to be more and more voyued to his own love, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

The familiar talke and mystical communication of the spiritual love betwene Iesus Christ and his Church.
The domestical enemies that persecute the Church.

I like fit with the risses of his mouth: for thy love is better than win.

Because of the fauour of thy good ointments
thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the virgines loue thee.

Drawe me: we wil runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his chambers.

we wil reioyce and be glad in thee:
we wil remember thy love more then wine. the righteous do loue thee.

I am blacke, o daughters of Ierusalem, but comelie, as the frutes of a Ked. ar, &
as the curtines of Salomon.

Regarde ye me not because I am blacke:
for the sonne hath looked vpon me. The sonnes of my mother were angrie against me: thei made me the keeper of the vines:
but I kept not mine owne vine.

Shewe me, o thou, whome my soule lo-ueth.

ueth, where thou fedest, where thou liest at noone: for why shulde I be as she that turneth aside to thy flockes of thy companions?

If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepherdes.

I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in thy charrets of Pharaoh.

Thy chekes are comelie & rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

We wil make thee borders of golde with studdes of silver.

Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenarde gaue the smell thereof.

My welbeloued, as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shal lye betwene my breasts.

My welbeloued, as a clustre of camphire
vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the dooues.

My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is greene: the beames of our house are cedres.

CHAP. II.

The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christ. She heareth his voyce. She is compar ed to the dooue, and the enemies to the foxes.

I am the rose of the field, & the lillie of the vallies.

Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.

Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest: so is my welbeloued among the son nes of men: vnder his shadowe had I delite, & sate downe: and his frute was swete vnto my mouth.

He brought me into the wine celler, and loue was his banner ouer me.

Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

His left hand is vnder mine head, & his right hand doeth embrace me.

I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem,
by the rocs, & by the hundredes of the field,
that ye stirre not vp, nor wakē my loue, vn
til she please.

It is the voice of my welbeloued, behol de, he cometh leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles.

My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong heart: lo, he standeth behinde our wall, lo king forth of the windowes, shewing him selfe through the grates.

My welbeloued spake & said vnto me, A rise, my loue, my faire one, & come thy way.

For beholde, winter is past, the raine is changed, and is gone away.

The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, & the voi ce of the turtle is heard in our land.

The figge hath brought forth the hony figges, & the vines with their small grapes haue cast a saueur: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

My dooue, that art in the holes of the rocke, in thy secret places of thy staires, shewe me thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is swete, and thy sight comelie.

Take vs thy foxes, thy lillie foxes, & destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

My welbeloued is mine, and I am his:
he feedeth among the lillies,

Vntil thy day breake, & the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, & be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountai nes of Bethel.

CHAP. III.

The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her houseband, & her deliuerance out of the wilderness.

In my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I founde him not.

I wil rise therefore now, and go about in the cite, by the streets & by the open pla ces, & wil seeke him that my soule loueth:
I sought him, but I founde him not.

The watchmen that went about the ci tie, founde me: to whome I said, Haue you sene him whome my soule loueth?

When I had past a litle from them, then I founde him whome my soule loued: I toke holde on him and left him not, til I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem,
by the roes and by the hundredes of the field,
that ye stirre not vp, nor wakē my loue vn
til she please.

Who is she that commeth vp out of the wildernes like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, & with all the spices of the marchant?

Beholde his bed, which is Salomons:
threescore strong men are round about it,
of the valiant men of Israel.

Thei all handle the sword, & are expert in warre, euerie one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

King Salomón made him selfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

He made the pillars thereof of silver, & pauement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of thy daughters of Ierusalem.

Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, & beholde the King Salomón with the crow ne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

The praises of the Church. She is without blemish, as his light. The loue of Christ towards her.

Beholde, thou art faire, thine eyes are like the dooues, among thy lockes thine heere is as the flocke of goats.

g Because of thy confession and thanksging.

11 Thy ^g lippes, my spouſe, droppe as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy t^ogue, & the fauour of thy garments is as the fauour of Leban^{on}.

12 My sister my spouſe is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plantes are as an orcharde of pomegranates with swete frutes, as camphire, spikenarde, 15 O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Leban^{on}.

16 Arise, O North, and come O South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flowe out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasant frute.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce. 6 She confesseth her nakednes. 10 She praiseth Christ her husband.

1 I am come into my ^a gardē, my sister, my spouſe: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honie cōbe with mine honie, I dranke my wine with my milke: eat, O friends, drinke, and make you mery, O welbeloued.

2 I slepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my dooue, my vndeſiled: for mine head is ful of dewe, and my lockes with the dropes of the ^c night.

3 I haue put of my ^d coate, how shal I put it on: I haue washed my fete, how shal I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the dore, & mine heart was affected toward him.

5 I roſe vp to open to my welbeloued, & mine hāds did droppe downe myrrhe, & my ^e fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handels of the barie.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, & past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I colde not finde him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The ^f watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: they smote me & wounded me: the watchmen of the walles toke away my vaile from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalēm, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tel him that I am sicke of loue.

9 O the faireſt among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued: what is thy welbeloued more then another loue, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddy, the chiefest of ten thousand.

11 His ⁱ head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, & blacke as a rauē.

12 His eyes are like dooues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, & remaine by the ful vessels.

13 His chekes are as a bed of spices, and as swete flowres, & his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of golde set with the chrysolite his bellie like white yuorie covered with saphirs.

15 His legges are as pillars of marbre, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Leban^{on}, excellent as the cedres.

16 His mouth is as swete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, & this is my loue, O daughters of Ierusalēm.

17 O the faireſt among womē, whether is thy welbeloued gone? whether is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seke him with thee?

ISAIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God, according to his promes Deut. 18, 15. that he wolde neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hitherto from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a special reuelation, but also to interpret & declare the Law, and to applie particularly the doctrine, contained briefly therein, to the vtilitie & profite of those, to whome they thought it chieflly to appertine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to thre things, which were the groundes of their doctrine: First to the doctrine contained briefly in the twotables: secondely to the promises & threatnings of the Law: & thirdely, to the covenant of grace & reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saviour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regarde to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their sauegarde by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation they haue more clearly intreated it then Moses, and set forth the more liuely Iesus Christ, in whome this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophetes, and was moste diligent to set out the same, with moste vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he sawe that the disease of the people required. He declareth also manie notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as moste principal pointes contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certeine daies that they had stand vpon the Temple dore (for the maner of the Prophetes was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certeine daies that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8, 1. & Habak. 2, 2.) the Priests toke it downe and reserued it among their registers: and so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserved as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his persone and time, he was of the Kings stocke: for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree, and prophesied more then 64 yeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasséh, whose father in lawe he was (as the Hebrewes write) and of whome he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophetes this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they colde not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secret counsel, and so reueiled them to his Prophetes.

CHAP. I.

Isaiah reproveth the Jewes of their ingratitude and stubbornnes, that neither for benefites nor punishment would amend. He sheweth why their sacrifices are refused, and where Gods true service standeth. He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem. And of the restitution thereof

A vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he sawe concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the daies of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz & Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

Heare, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath said, I have nourished and brought up children, but they have rebelled against me.

The ox knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters cryb, but Israel hathenot known my people, neither vnderstand.

Ah, sinful nation, a people laden with iniquitie, a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord their prouocake, the holy one of Israel: they are gone backwaide.

Wherefore shulde ye be smitten anie more: for ye fall away more and more the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but woundes, & swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wiped, nor bounde vp, nor mollified with oyle.

Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fyre: strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the outflowe of strangers.

And the daughter of Zion shal remayne like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, & like a besieged citie.

Except the Lord of hostes had reserved vnto vs, euen a small remnant: we shulde haue bene as Sodom, & shulde haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

Heare the worde of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

What haue I to do with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord: I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, & of the fat of fed beastes: and I desire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goates.

Whē ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my countes?

Bring no more oblations, in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me. I can not suffer, our newe moones, nor sabbaths, nor solemne daies (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

My soule hateth your newe moones & your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me. I am weary to beare them.

And whē you shal stretch out your hands, I wil hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make manie prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood.

Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes. cease to do euill.

Learne to do wel: seke iudgement, & relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherles & defend the widowe.

Come now, & let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimson, they shalbe made white as snow: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as woll.

If ye consent and obey, ye shal eat the good things of the land.

But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sworde: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

How is the faithful citie become an habitation? it was full of iudgement, & iustice lodged therein, but now they are as a snare.

Thy siluer is become drossie. thy wine is mixt with water.

Thy princes are rebellious and companions of theues: euerie one loueth gifts, & followeth after rewards. they iudge not the fatherles, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

Therefore saith the Lord God of hostes, the mighty one of Israel, Ah, I wil ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.

Then I wil turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drossie, til it be pure, & take away all thy rynne.

And I wil restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning.

CHAP. V.

Under the similitude of the vine he describeth the state of the people, & of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennes 13 Of their captiuitie

Now wil I sing to my beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard, My beloued had a vineyard in a verie frutefull hill, And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, and he buylt a towre in y middes thereof, & made a wine presse therein: the he looked y it shulde bring forth the grapes: but it brought forth the wilde grapes.

Now therefore, o inhabitants of Ierusalém & me of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betwene me, and my vineyard.

What colde I haue done anie more to my vineyarde y I haue not done vnto it: why haue I looked that it shulde bring forth the grapes, & it bringeth forth the wilde grapes?

And now I wil tel you what I wil do to my vineyard: I wil take away y hedge as it was enidit y they were the cause of their owne ruine. I wil take no more care for it meaning y he wolde take fro the his w o r d e & m u f f l e r s, & all other confortes, & send them contrarie plagues.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiáh comforteth the King. 14 Christ y promised

King 16, 5. And in the dayes of Aház, the sonne of Iothám, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudáh, Rezín the King of Arám came vp, and Pekáh the sonne of Remaliáh King of Israél, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he colde not ouercome it.

And it was tolde the house of Dauid, saying, Arám is ioyned with Ephráim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

Then said the Lord vnto Isaiáh, Go

forthe now to meete Aház (thou and e Siciat-iahub thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

And say vnto him, Take hede, & be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailles of these smoking fyrebrandes, for the furious wrath of Rezín and of Arám, and of Remaliáh his sonne:

Because Arám hath taken wicked counsel against thee, Ephráim, & Remaliáh his sonne, saying,

Let vs go vp against Iudáh, & let vs waiké them vp, and make a breche therein for vs, and set a King in the middes thereof, euen the sonne of e Tabeal.

Thus saith the Lord God, It shal not stand, neither shal it be.

For the head of Arám is Damascus, and the head of Damascus, Rezín and with him e & h therefore yere, Ephráim shal be destroyed from being a people.

And the head of Ephráim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliáh his sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shal not be established.

And the Lord spake againe vnto Aház, saying,

Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, ether in the depth or in the height aboue.

But Aház said, I wil not aske, neither wil I tempt the Lord.

Thé he said, Heare you now, o house of Dauid, Is it a smale thing for you to grieue men, that ye wil also grieue my God?

Therefore the Lord him self wil giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shal conceive and beare a sonne, and she shal call his name Immanú-el.

Butter and honie shal he eat, til he haue knowledge to refuse the euil, & to chuse the good.

For a fore y childe shal haue knowledge to chuse the euil, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shal be forsaken of bothe her Kings.

The Lord shal bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the daies that haue not come fro the daie that Ephráim departed from Iudáh) euen the King of Asshúr.

And in that day shal the Lord hisse for the flie that is at the vttermoste parte of the floods of Egypt, & for the bee which is in the land of Asshúr,

And they shal come and shal light all in the desolate valles, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and be nourished as other men, vntil y age of discretio. Not mean g Christ, but anie childe for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretio, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shal be destroyed. Since the time that the twelue tribes rebeld vnder Robcam. In whome thou hast put thy trust. Mean g, the Egyptians for by reason the countrie is hote and moiste, it is ful of flies, as Assyria is ful of bees.

That is to say, The rish shal retorne w name Ilish gaue it is some, to signifie, that y rest of the people shoulde retorne out of their captiuitie. Which haue but a litle smoke and shal quickly be quenched.

Which was an Israélite & as semeth, came to the house of Dauid. Counting from y fue & twentieth yere of y regne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophesied this thing, and now Isaiáh confirmeth it. The Israélites shoulde be led into perpetuall captiuitie, & thing came to pass in twentie yeres after that Isaiáh did this messige.

Forasmuche as thou art vnworthy, y Lord for his owne premes sake wil giue a signe & shalbe that Christ the Saviour of his Church & the eff & of all signis & miracles shalbe renewed.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes all to- gether Kings?

9 Is not Cainó as Carchemish-Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine had hath founde the king- domes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria:

11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria, & to the idoles thereof, so do to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I wil visit the frute of the proude heart of the King of Asshur, and his glorious and proude lokes,

13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wis- dome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, and haue spoiled their treasures, and haue pul- led downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shal the axe boast it self against him who heweth therewith? or shal the sawe ex- alt it self against him that moueth it? as if the rod shulde lift vp it self against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe shulde exalt it self, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shal the Lord God of hostes send among his fat men, leanenes, and vnder his glorie he shal kindle a burning, like the burning of fyre.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a fyre, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shal burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briars in one day:

18 And shal consume the glorie of his forest, & of his fruteful fields bothe soule and flesh: and he shalbe as the fainting of a stander bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tel them.

20 ¶ And at that day shal the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iakob, staye no more vpon him that smote them, but shal stay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shal returne, euen the rem- nant of Iakob vnto the mightie God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shal the remnant of the returne. The consumption decreed shal ouerflowe with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shal make the consumption, euen determined, in the middes of all the land.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shal smite thee with a rod, and shal lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of Egypt

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shalbe consumed, and mine angre in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hostes shal raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he wil lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shal his burde be taken away from of thy shulder, & his yoke fro of thy necke: & the yoke shalbe destroyed because of the anointing.

28 He is come to Aith: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shal he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeon of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered them selues to- gether.

32 Yet there is a time when he wil stay at Nob: he shal lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusa- lem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shal cut of the bough with feare, and thei of high stature shalbe cut of, and the hie shalbe humbled.

34 And he shal cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, & Lebanon shal haue a mightie fall.

3 And shal make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shal not iudge after the sight of his eyes, nether reprove by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousness shal he iudge the poore, and with equitie shal he reprove for the meke of the earth: and he shal smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, & with the breath of his lippes shal he slaye the wicked.

a Read Chap 33.1
b The chief citie, whereby the whole coun- trey was ment
c The Moabi- tes shal flee to their idoles for succour, but it shalbe to lve
d Which were cities of Moáb e For as in the West partes y people vsed to let their heere growe long, when they mourned, so in the East partes they cut it of.
f The Prophet speaketh this in the persone of the Moabi- tes, or a one that felt the great iudge- ment of God that shulde come vpon them
g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleasure, and neuer felt sorowe.
h He describeth the miserable disipation, and sight of the Moabites.

The burden of Moáb. Surely Ar of Moáb was destroyed & brought to si- lence in a night: surely Kir of Moáb was destroyed, & brought to silence in a night.

2 He shal go vp to the temple, and to Di- bōn to the hie places to wepe: for Nebō and for Medebā shal Moáb howle: vpon all e their heads shalbe baldenes, and euerie beard shauen.

3 In their stretes shal they be girded with sackcloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their stretes euerie one shal howle, and come downe with weping.

4 And Heshbōn shal crye, & Elealéh: their voyce shalbe heard vnto Iáhaz: therefore y warriors of Moáb shal showte: the soule of euerie one shal lament in him self.

5 Mine heart shal crye for Moáb: his fu- gitues shal flee vnto Zōar, & an heiffer of thre yere olde: for they shal go vp w we- ping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shal raise vp a crye of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shal be dried vp: therefore the grasie is withered, the herbes consumed, & there was no grene herbe.

7 Therefore what euerie man hathe left, & their substance shal they beare to y broke of the willowes.

8 For the crye went rounde aboute y bor- ders of Moáb: & the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, & the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elim, 9 Because the waters of Dimón shalbe ful of blood: for I wil bring more vpon Di- món, euen lyons vpon him that esca- peth of Moáb, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

1 Send ye a lambe to the ruler of the Sworde from the rocke of the wilder- nes, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a birde that flyeth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moáb shal be at the foordes of Arnón.

3 Gather a counfel, execute iudgement: make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chafed out: bewraye not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moáb be thou their couert from the face of the de- stroyer: for the extorcioner shal end: the destroyer shalbe consumed, & the op- pressour shal cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shal the throne be prepa- red, & he shal sit vpon it in stedfa- sines, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudg- ing, and siking iudgement, and hasting iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moáb (he is verie proud) euen his pride, and his ar- rogancie, and his indignacion, but his lies shal not be so.

7 Therefore shal Moáb howle vnto Moáb: euerie one shal howle: for the fundacions of Kir-harésérth shal ye mourne, yet they shalbe stricken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heshbōn are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmáh: the lords of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof. they are come vnto Iazér: they wandred in the wildernes: her good- lie branches stretched out them selues, & went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wil I wepe with the weping of Iazér, & of y vine of Sibmáh, o Hesh- bōn: and Elealéh, I wil make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer frutes, and vpon thy haruest a showting is fallen.

l As the Canaanites left their cities, whē God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israél shal no more be able to defend their inhabitants, then bulwarks, when God shal send the enemies to plague them

10 And gladnes is taken away, & ioye out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyardes shalbe no singing nor shouting for ioye: the treader shal not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

11 Wherefore, my ^m bowels shal sounde like an harpe for Moáb, and mine inward partes for Ker-háresh.

12 And when it shal appeare that Moáb shalbe wearie of his hie places, then shal he come to his ⁿ temple to pray, but he shal not preuaile.

13 This is the worde that the Lord hathe spoken against Moáb since that tyme.

14 And now the Lord hathe spoken, saying,

o In thre yerres, as the yerres of a ^p hyreling, and the glorie of Moáb shalbe contēned in all the great multitude, & the remnāt shalbe very smale & feble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophesie of the destruction of Damascus and Ephráim. 7 Calamitie mounth to repentance.

The ^a burden of ^b Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shalbe a ruinous heape.

The cities of ^c Aroér shalbe forsaken: they shalbe for y^e flockes: for thei shal lye there, and none shal make them afraide.

The munition also shal cease from ^d Ephráim, & the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Arám shalbe as the ^e glorie of the children of Israél, saith the Lord of hostes.

And in that day the glorie of ^f Iakób shalbe impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shalbe made leane.

And it shalbe as when the haruest man gathereth ^g the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shalbe as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of ^h Repháim.

Yet a gathering of grapes shal ⁱ be left in it, as the shaking of an oliue tre, two or thre berries are in the top of the vpmoste boughs, & foure or fife in the hie branches of the frute thereof, saith the Lord God of Israél.

At that day shal a man loke to his ^k maker, and his eyes shal loke to the holie one of Israél.

And he shal not loke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, nether shal he loke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

In that day shal the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughs & brāches, which ^l they did forsake, because of the childre of Israél, & there shalbe desolatio.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluacion, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange ^m vine branches:

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy sede to flourish: but the haruest shal be gone in the day ⁿ of possession, and there shalbe desperate sorow.

12 o Ah, the multitude of manie people, they shal make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shal make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters.

13 The people shal make a sounde like the noyse of manie waters: but God shal ^p rebuke them, and they shal flee farre of, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirle winde.

14 And lo, in the euening there ^q trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the porcion of them that spoile vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemies of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

1 O H, the ^a land shadowing with wings, which is beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia,

2 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euē in vessels of ^b reedes vpon the waters, saying,

c Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scatred abroad, and spoiled, vnto a terrible ^d people from their beginning euē hitherto: a nation by litle and litle, euē troden vnder fote, whose land the ^e floods haue spoiled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the worlde and dwellers in the earth, shal se when ^f he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shal heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I wil ^g rest & beholde in my tabernacle, as ^h the heat drying vp the raine, & as a cloude of dewe in the heat of haruest.

5 For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, & the frute is riping in the floure, then he shal cut downe the branches with hookes, and shal take away, & cut of the boughs:

6 They shal be left together vnto the fowles of the mountaines, and to the ⁱ beastes of the earth: for the foule shal sommer vpō it, and euerie beast of the earth shal winter vpon it.

7 At that time shal a ^k present be broght

m Which are excellēt, and brought out of other countreys

n As the Lord threatneth the wicked in his Law, Leuit 26, 16

o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague y^e was prepared against Israél by y^e Assyriás, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations

p He addeth this for y^e consolation of the faithfull, which were in Israél.

q He compareth y^e enemies y^e Assyriás to a tēpest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

a He meaneth that parte of Ethiopia, which lieth toward y^e sea, & was so full of shippes that the scales (which he compared to wings) seemed to shadow the sea

b Which in those countreys were great in so much as they made shippes of the for swiftenes.

c This may be taken y^e they sent other to comfort the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so y^e Lord did threaten to take away their strength that y^e Iewes shulde not trust therein: or that they did sollicite y^e Egyptians, & promised the aide to go against Iudáh.

d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threatneth

e When y^e Lord prepareth to fight against y^e Ethiopians g I wil stay a while from punishing y^e wicked

h Which two seasons are moche profitable for the riping of frutes: whereby he meaneth, y^e he wil seme to fauour them, & giue them abundance for a time, but he wil suddenly cut them of

The deſtruction of the Egyptians by the Affyrians. Of their conuerſion to the Lord.

Read Chap 19, 1

b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their country, in the multitude of their idoles, & in the valiancy of their men, the Lord sheweth that he will come ouer all their munitions in a swift cloude, and that their idoles shall tremble at his coming, and that mens hearts shall faint. c As he caused the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God, 1 Chron 20, 22 chap 49 26 d Meaning, their policies, and wisdom. e He sheweth of the sea & Nilus their great river, whereby he thought the felues most sure, shulde not be able to defend them from his anger, but that he wolde send the Affyrians among them, that shulde keep them vnder as felauces. f For Nilus ran into the sea by seuen streames, as thogh they were so many rivers. g The Hebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring out of the water gusher as out of a mouth. h The Scriptur vs vs to describe the destruction of a country by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, fish, fish, and such other things, whereby countries are enriched. i Cal led also Tanes, a famous citie vpon Nilus. k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh who persuaded the King that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was moste ancient, and so he flattered him self, saying, I am wise. l Or Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Cair. m The principal vpholders thereof are the chiefest cause of their destruction.

THe burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord biddeth vpon a swift cloude, & shall come into Egypt, & y^e idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, & the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her. And I wil set the Egyptians against the Egyptians, so euerie one shall fight against his brother, and euerie one against his neighbour, citie against citie, & kingdom against kingdom. And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I wil destroye their counsel, and they shall seke at the idoles, & at the forcerers, & at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers. And I wil deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruel lords, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hoſtes. Then the waters of the sea shall faile, & the riuier shall be dried vp, and wasted. And the riuers shall go farre away: the riuers of defense shall be emptyed & dried vp: the redes & flagges shall be cut downe. The grasse in the riuers, and at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuers, shall wither, & be driuen away, and be no more. The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuier, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shall be weakened. Moreover, they that worke in flax of diuers sortes, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nettes. For their nettes shall be broken, and all they, y^e make ponds, shall be heauie in heart. Surely y^e princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsel of the wise counselors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings. Where are now thy wise men, that they may tel thee, or may know what the Lord of hoſtes hath determined against Egypt? The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the corners of the tribes thereof. The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of errors and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euerie worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite. Nether shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head maie do, nor the taile, the branche nor the rush. In that daie shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraid & feare because of the mouing of the hand of the Lord of hoſtes, which he shall shake ouer it. And the land of Iudah shall be a fear: vnto Egypt euerie one y^e maketh mention of it, shall be afraid thereof, because of the counsel of the Lord of hoſtes, which he hath determined vpon it. In that daie shall five cities in the land of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, and shall sweare by the Lord of hoſtes: one shall be called the citie of destruction. In that daie shall the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto y^e Lord. And it shall be for a signe and for a witness vnto the Lord of hoſtes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crye vnto the Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliuer them. And the Lord shall be knowne of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that daie, and do sacrifice & oblation, & shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them. So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be intreated of the Lord and shall heale them. In that daie shall there be a path from Egypt to Affhur, & Affhur shall come into Egypt, & Egypt into Affhur. so the Egyptians shall worship with Affhur. In that daie shall Iſaiah be the third with Egypt and Affhur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land. to the counsels of olde, with a stable truth.

2 For thou hast made of a^b citie an heap, of a strong citie, a ruine: even the palace of strangers of a citie, it shal neuer be buylt.

3 Therefore shal the^d mightie people giue glorie vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shal feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, even a strength to the nedie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heate: for the blis of the mightie is like a storme agast the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noise of the strangers, ^t as the heat in a drye place: he wil bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heat in the shadowe of a cloude.

6 And in this^b mountaine shal the Lord of hostes maie vnto all people a feast of fat things, even a feast of fined wines, & of fat things ful of marrow, of wines fined & purified.

7 And he wil destroye in this mountaine the couering that couereth all people, & the vail that is spred vpon all nacions.

8 He wil destroye death for euer: and the Lord God wil^k wipe away the teares frō all faces, and the rebuke of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shal mⁿ say, Lo, this s our God. we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we wil reioyce and be ioyful in his saluacion.

10 For in this mountaine shal the hand of the Lord rest, and^l Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, even as strawe is threshed in^m Madmenah.

11 And he shal stretch out his hand in the middes of the^s (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shal he bring downe their pride.

12 The defense also of the height of thy wall: shal he bring downe and lay lowe, & cast them to the ground, even vnto the dust.

13 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth nere to the trauail, is in sorow, & cryeth in her peines, so haue we bene in thy fight, O Lord.

14 We haue conceived, we haue borne in peine, as though we shulde haue brought forth a winde: there was no helpe in y^e earth, neither did the inhabitants of the worlde fall.

15 Thy dead men shal liue: even with my bodie shal they rise. Awake, & sing, ye that dwell in dust for thyⁿ deweⁿ as the dewe

16 Thy dead men shal liue: even with my bodie shal they rise. Awake, & sing, ye that dwell in dust for thyⁿ deweⁿ as the dewe ciō, which kepeth the trueth, may entre in.

3 By an assured^d purpose wilt thou preferre perfitte peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer for in y^e Lord God is strength for euer more.

5 For he wil bring downe them that dwell on hie. ^e the hie citie he wil abase. even vnto the grounde wil he cast it downe and bring it vnto dust.

6 The fete shal treade it downe, even the fete of the^t poore, and the steps of the nedie.

7 The way of the iuste is righteousness: thou wilt make equal the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy^s iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, & to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me wil I seek thee in the mornig: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the worlde shal learne^b righteousness.

10 Let mercieⁱ be shewed to the wicked, yet he wil not learne righteousness: in y^e land of vprightnes wil he do wickedly, and wil not beholde the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they wil not beholde thine hie hand but they shal see it, and be confounded with^u the zeale of the people, & the fyre of thine^v enemies shal deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other^m lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but we wil remember thee onely, O thy Name.

14 Theⁿ dead shal not liue, neither shal the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, & destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast encreased^o y^e nacion, O Lord: thou hast encreased the nacion: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they^p visited thee. they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth nere to the trauail, is in sorow, & cryeth in her peines, so haue we bene in thy fight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceived, we haue borne in peine, as though we shulde haue brought forth a winde: there was no helpe in y^e earth, neither did the inhabitants of the worlde fall.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithful, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluacion of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

a This song was made to comfort the faithful, when their captiuitie shulde come, assuring them also of the deliuerance, for the which they shulde sing this song

IN that day shal^a this song be sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: ^b saluacion shal God set for walles & bulwarkes.

2 ^c Op'ye the gates that the righteous nation may enter in, for the which they shulde sing this song

3 ^d God's protection and defence shal be sufficient for vs.

4 ^e He assureth the godlie to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem.

of herbes, & the earth shal cast out ^z dead.
 Come, my people: ^z entre thou into thy chambers, and shutte thy dores after thee:
 hide thy self for a very litle while, vntil
 the indignacion passe ouer.
 For lo, the Lord cometh out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitáts of the earth vpon them: and the earth shal disclose her ^z blood, and shal no more hide her slayne.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophecie against the kingdome of Satán, ^z And of the voye of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that ^a day the Lord with his fore & great and mightie ^b sworde shal visite Liuiathán, that percing serpent, euen Li-uiathán, that croked seipent, & he shal slay the dragon that is in the sea.

^z In that day sing of the vineyarde ^c of red wine.

I the Lord do kepe it: I wil watter it e-uery moment: lest anie assaile it, I wil kepe it night and day.

Angre ^d is not in me: who wolde set the briers and the thornes against me in battel:
 I wolde go through them, I wolde burne them together.

Or wil he ^e fele my strength, that he may make peace with me, & be at one with me?

^f Here after, Iaakób shal take rote: Iſaél shal florish and growe, and the worlde shal be filled with frute.

Hathe he smitten him as he smote those that smote him? or is he slayne according to the slaughter of them that were slayne by him?

In ^h measure in the branches thereof wilt thou cōtend wth it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

By this therefore shal ⁱ iniquitie of Iaakób be purged, and this is all the ^j frute, the taking away of his sinne: when he shal make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones, broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

Yet the ^k defensed cite shalbe desolate, & the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shal the calfe fede, and there shal he lie, & consume the branches thereof.

When the boughs of it are drye, they shalbe broken: the women come, and set them on fyre. for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shal not haue compasfion of them, and he that formed them, shal haue no mercie on them.

And in that day shal the Lord thresh frō
 the chanel of the ^m Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, ⁿ children of Iſraél.

In that day also shal the great trumpe be ^o blown, and they shal come, which perished in the land of Asshú: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shal worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalém.

CHAP. XXVIII.

*Against the pride & dronkenness of Iſraél, ^z The vntow-ardenes of them that shulde learne the worde of God.
^z God doeth all things in time and place.*

WO to the ^a crowne of pride, the dronkards of Ephráim: for his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, w^{ch} is vpon the head of the ^b valley of them that be fat, & are ouercome with wine.

Beholde, the Lord hathe a mightie and ^c strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, & a whirlwinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters ^y ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightely.

They shalbe troden vnder fote, euen the crowne and the pride of the dronkards of Ephráim.

For his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the vallei of them that be fat, and as ^d ^y hastie frute afore sommer, which, whē he that loketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

In that day shal the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the ^e residue of his people:

And for a spirit of iudgemēt to him that sitteth in iudgement, & for ^f strength vnto
 the that turne away the battel to the gate.

But ^g thei haue erred because of wine, & are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest & the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine:
 they haue gone astray through strong drinke: thei faile in vision: thei stumble in iudgement.

For all ^h their tables are ful of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.

Whome shal he teache knowledge, and whome shal he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are wei-ned from the milke and drawn from the breasts.

For ⁱ precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle.

For with a stammering ^k tongue & with a strange lāguage shal he speake vnto this people.

Vnto whome ^l he said, ^m This is the rest:
ⁿ giue rest to him that is wearie. and this is the refreſhing, but thei wolde not heare.

 rote spring againe & bring forth in great abundance.
^g He sheweth that God pu-nisheth his in-ſtice.

^h That is, thou wilt not deſtroye the rote of thy Church
 though ^y branches thereof

 winde of affliction.
ⁱ He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, til the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed. ^k Notwithstanding his fauour that he wil shewe them after, yet Ierusalém shalbe destroyed, and graſſe for cattel shal growe in it. ^l God shal not haue neede of mightie engines: for the verie women shal do it, to their great ſhame.

o Because they wil not receiue the worde of God, & then it is fref, it cometh of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before Ch. p. 6, 7 p They thought they had shittes to aoid Gods iudgements, and it at they could escape though all other perished q Though the Prophetes condemned their idoles, & vaine traffick of falshode, & r-mine, yet the wicked thought in their hearts that it woulde last in the things

u He shal recognize Gods iudgements and affliction

y Ferrou and distrust of shal make you to learne that, w exhortations and gentlenes coide not brig you vnto z Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it a When Dauid ouercame the Philistines, 2 Samuel 5, 20 1 chio 14, 11 b Where Ioshua diucon fied the Kings of the Amorites, Ierh 10, 12 c As if plowe man hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hathe the Lord for his vengeance for he punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sorte and some after another, so that his chosen seide is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

13 Therefore shal the worde of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle, that they may go, and fall backward, and be brcken and be snared and be taken.
14 Wherefore, heate the worde of the Lord, ye scornful men, y rule this people, which is at Ierusalém.
15 Because ye haie said, We haue made a p couenant with death, & w hell are we at agicment: thogh a scourge runne ouer, & passe through, it shal not come at vs: for we haue made a faith of our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid,
16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil lay in Zión a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure fundacion. He that beleucth, it shal not make haste.
17 Iudgement also wil I laye to the rule, & righteousness to the balace, and the w hale shal swepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shal ouerflowe the secret place.
18 And your couenant with death shalbe disannulled, & your agicment with hel shal not stand: when a scourge shal runne ouer and passe through, then shal ye be trodde downe by it.
19 When it passeth ouer, it shal take you away for it shal passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shal be onely yfcare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.
20 For the bed is streit that it can not suffice, and the couering narowe that one can not wrap him self.
21 For the Lord shal stand as in mount Pezazim, he shalbe wrath as in the valley of Gibeon, y he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.
22 Now therefore be no mockers, lest your bonds increafe: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.
23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speache.
24 Doeth the plow man plow all the day, to sowe? doeth he open, and breake the clottes of his grounde?
25 When he hathe made it a plaine, wil he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, & the appointed barley and rye in their place?
26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discrecion, and doeth teache him.
27 For fitches shal not be threshed with a threshing instrument, nether shal a cart whole be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread cometh when it is threshed, he doeth not alway thresh it, nether doeth the whele of his cart make any se, nether wil he breake it with the tette thereof.
29 This also cometh from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderful in counsell, & excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

A prophetic against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that followe the traditions of men.

A H altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere. let them kill lambes.
2 but I wil bring the altar into distress, and there shalbe heauines & sorrow, and it shalbe vnto me like an altar.
3 And I wil beseege thee as a circle, & fight against thee in a mount, & wil cast vp ramparts against thee.
4 So shalt thou be humbled, & shalt speake out of the d grounde, and thy speache shalbe out of the dust. thy voyce also shalbe out of the grounde like him that hathe a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shal whisper out of the dust.
5 Moreover, the multitude of thy strangers shalbe like smale dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe as chaffe that passeth away, and it shalbe in a moment, euen suddenly.
6 Thou shalt be visited of y Lord of hostes with thundre, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fyre.
7 And the multitude of all the nations y fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and laye sege vnto it.
8 And it shalbe like as an huge man dreameth, and beholde, he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is empty: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and lo, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is fainte, and his soule longeth: so shal the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zión.
9 Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, & make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.
10 For the Lord hathe couered you with a spirit of slomber, and hathe shut vp your eyes: the Prophetes, and your chief Secreathe he couered.
11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deluer to one that can read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. Then shal he say, I can not: for it is sealed.

A wonderous worke of God. Ifaiáh. In quietnesis strength^{590/1224}

^k Because these are hypocrites & not sincere in heart, as Mat 15:8. I that is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, & not by my worne meaning, y where as God is not worshipped according to his worde, bothe magistrates, and ministers are but fooles, & without vnderstanding. ^m This is spoken of the, w in heart despised Godsworde & mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face. ⁿ For all your craft, saith the Lord, you can not be able to escape mine hands no more then the claye, that is in the potters hande, hath power to deliuer it self. ^p Shal there not be a charge of all thinges, and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in respect of that it shalbe then, may be taken, as Chap 32:15. & thus he speaketh to comfort the faithful. ^q They that went about to finde fautes in the Prophetes wordes, and wolde not abide admonitions, but wolde intagle the end bring the into danger.

^r Signifying, except God giue vnderstanding, & knowledge, man can not but sturte, and murmur against him.

^a Who contrary to their promises, take not me for their protectour, & contrary to my commandement, seke helpe at strangers. ^b They seke helpe to cloke their doings, and not godlie meanes.

- 12 And the boke is giuen vnto him that can not read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. And he shal say, I can not read.
- 13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people ^k come nere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue remoued their heart far fro me, and their ^l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men,
- 14 Therefore beholde, I wil againe do a maruelous worke in this people, even a maruelous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wisemen shal ^m perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.
- 15 Wo vnto them that ⁿ seke depe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darknes, and they say, Who seeth vs, and who knoweth vs?
- 16 Your turning of despises shal it not be esteemed: as the potters claye, for shal ^y worke say of him that made it, He made me not: or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?
- 17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shalbe ^p turned into Carmel: & Carmel shalbe counted as a forest?
- 18 And in that day shal the deafe heare the wordes of the boke, & the eyes of the blind shal se out of obscuritie, and out of darkenes.
- 19 The meke in the Lord shal receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shal reioyce in the holie one of Israél.
- 20 For the cruel man shal cease, and the scornful shalbe consumed: and all that hastened to iniquitie, shalbe cut of:
- 21 Which made a man to sinne in ^y a worde, & toke him in a snare: which reiproued them in the gate, and made the iuste to fall without cause.
- 22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakób, even he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakób shal not now be confounded, neither now shal his face be pale.
- 23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the middes of him, they shal sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holie one of Iaakób, & shal feare the God of Israél.
- 24 Then they that erred in spirit, ^r shal haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shal learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

He reproveth the Lewes which in their aduersitie Used their owne counsels, and sought helpe of the Egyptians. 10 Despisig the Prophetes. 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shal come vpon them. 18 But offereth mercie to the repentant.

WO to the ^a rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of me, and ^b couer with a co-

- ueting, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:
- 2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (& haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen them selues with the strength of Pharaóh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt.
- 3 But the strength of Pharaóh shalbe your shame, & the trust in ^y shadowe of Egypt your confusion.
- 4 For his ^c princes were at Zóan, and his ambassodours came vnto Hanés.
- 5 They shalbe all ashamed of the people ^y can not profite them, nor helpe nor do the good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche.
- 6 ¶ The ^d burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shal come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fyrie flying serpent against them that shal beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bouches of the camels, to a people that can not profite.
- 7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shal helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto ^e her, Their strength ^f is to sit still.
- 8 Now go, & write it before them in a table, & note it in a boke that it may be for the ^h last day for euer and euer:
- 9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, & children that wolde not ⁱ heare the Law of the Lord.
- 10 Which say vnto the Seers, Se not: and to the Prophetes, Prophecie not vnto vs right things but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie ^k eniours.
- 11 Depurte out of the way: go aside out of the path. cause the holie one of Israél to cease from vs.
- 12 Therefore thus saith the holie one of Israél, Because you haue cast of this worde, and trust in ^l violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon,
- 13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breache that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wail, whose breaking cometh suddenly in a moment.
- 14 And the breaking thereof is like ^y breaking of a potters por, which is broke without pittie, and in the breaking thereof is not founde ^m a sheard to take fyre out of the heath, or to take water out of the pit.
- 15 For thus said the ⁿ Lord God, the holie one of Israél, In rest and quietnes shal ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shalbe your strength, but ye wolde not.
- 16 For ye haue said, No, but we wil flee away vpon ^o horses. Therefore shal ye flee. We wil ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shal your persecuters be swifter.
- 17 A thousand as one shal flee at the rebuke of one:

^c The chiefe of Israél went in to Egypt to aske helpe, and a boode at these cities.

^d That is, a heauy sentence or prophetic against the beastes that carried their treasures into Egypt, by the wilderness, & was South from Iudáh signifying that it ^e beastes shalbe not be spared, the men shalbe be punished much more grievously. ^f To wit, to be rualcain.

^h That it may be a witness against them for all posteritie.

ⁱ He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, & bringeth in all miserie to ma to wit, because they wolde not heare the worde of God, but delited to be flattered, and led in errour.

^k Threaten vs not by sworde of God, neither be longorous, nor talke vnto vs in the name of the Lord, as Jer 15:21.

^m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shalbe without recouerie. ⁿ Oft times by his Prophetes he put you in remembrance of this, ^o you shalbe onely deped on him. ^p We wil trust to escape by our horses.

Whereas all the trees are cut downe fawe two or three to make markes.

He commēdeth the great mercies of God who with paciēce waiteth to call sinners to repentance. Not ouely in punishing, but in vñg moderation in the same, as Ier. 10. 24, and 30. 11.

Or, iustitiam. f God shal direct all thy wayes, and appoint thee how to go ether he-ther or the-ther.

Ye shal cast away your idoles, which you haue made of golde, & siluer with all that belongeth vnto them, as a moste filthy thing and polluted.

Shewing that there can be no true repentance except both in heart and dede we shewe our selues enemies to idolatrie.

By these diuerse manners of speache he sheweth y the felicitie of the Church shalbe so great, y none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

When the Church shalbe restored, y glorie thereof shal passe seuē times y brightnes of y sunne: for by the sunne and moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shalbe the glorie of the children of God in the kingdom of Christ.

This threatening is against the Assyrians, the chief enemies of the people of God. To drine thee to nothing: and thus God confumeth the wicked by y meanes, whereby he cleanse his.

Ye shal reioice at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioye of the solempne feast, which be ga in the euening.

of one : at the rebuke of fūe shal ye flee, til ye be left as a shippe mast vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpō an hill.

18 Yet therefore wil y Lord waite, that he may haue a mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that he may haue cōpafion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shal dwell in Ziōn, & in Ierusalēm: thou shalt wepe no more: he wil certainly haue mercie vpō thee at y voyce of thy crye: whē he heareth thee, he wil answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hathe giue you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of afflictiō, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shal se thy raine.

21 And thine eares shal heare a worde behinde thee, saying, This is the way, f walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shal pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, & cast the away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then shal he giue raine vnto thy fede, when thou shalt sowe the groude, & bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and as oyle: in that day shal thy cattel be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that til the grounde, shal eat cleane prouendre, which is winowed with the shoouel and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euerie hie mountaine, and vpon euerie hie hil shal there be riuers & streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shal fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the moone shalbe as the light of the sunne, and the light of the sunne shalbe seuē folde, and like the light of seuē dayes in the day that the Lord shal binde vp the breache of his people, & heale the stroke of their wounde.

27 Beholde, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lippes are ful of indignacion, and his tongue is as a deuouring fyre.

28 And his Spirit is as a riuier y ouerfloweth vp to y necke: it diuideth a fōndre, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there shalbe a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people.

29 But there shalbe a song vnto you as in the night, whē a solempne feast is kept: & gladnes of heart, as he that cometh with a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israēl.

30 And the Lord shal cause his glorious voyce to be heard, & shal declare the lighting downe of his arme with the angre of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fyre, with scattering & tempest, and haile stones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shal Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rodde.

32 And in euerie place that the staffe shal passe, it shal cleaue fast, which the Lord shal lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, & lifting vp of hands shal he fight against it.

33 For Tōphet is prepared of olde: it is euē prepared for the King: he hathe made it depe and large: the burning thereof is fyre & muche wood: the breth of the Lord, like a riuier of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He curseth them that forsake God, and seke for the helpe of men.

W O vnto them that go downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charrettes, because they are manie, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but thei loke not vnto the holie one of Israēl, nor seke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is wisest: therefore he wil bring euil, and not turne backe his worde, but he wil arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, & not God, and their horses flesh and not spirit: and when the Lord shal stretche out his hand, the helper shal fall, and he that is holpe shal fall, and thei shal altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelp roareth vpon his prairie, against whome if a multitude of shepherds be called, he wil not be afraid at their voice, nether wil humble himself at their noise: so shal the Lord of hostes come downe to fight for mount Ziōn, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birdes that flie, so shal the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalēm by defending and deliuering, by passing through & preserving it.

6 O ye children of Israēl, turne againe, in asmuche as ye are sunken depe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euerie man shal cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your hands haue made you, enē a sinne.

a There were two special causes, why y Israelites shuld not ioyne amitie with y Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17. 16. & 28. 38, left they shulde forget the benefite of their redemption: & secondly, left they shulde be corrupted with the supersticio & idolatrie of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Ier. 2. 13.

b Meaning, that thei forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldelie things: for thei can not trust in both.

c And knoweth their craftie enterprises & will bring all to naught.

d Meaning, both the Egyptians and the Israelites.

20 Loke vpon Zión the citie of our solem- ne feastes: thine eyes shal se Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be removed: & the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, nether shal any of the cordes thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord wil be vnto vs, as a place of floods & brode ri- uers, whereby shal passe no shippe with o- res, nether shal great ship passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our iudge, the Lord is our law giuer, the Lord is our King, he wil saue vs.

CHAP. XXXIII.

6 The sworde of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat & with the blood of the lambs and the goats, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hathe a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of E- dóm.

7 And the vnicornes shal come downe with them and the heiffers with the bulls, and their land shal be drunk with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnes.

8 For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the yere of recompence for the iudge- ment of Zión.

9 And the riuers thereof shalbe turned in to pitch, & the dust thereof into brimsto- ne, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch.

10 It shal not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shal go vpeuermore: it shal be desolate from generation to gen- eration: none shal pass through it for euer.

11 But the pelicane & the hedgehog shal possesse it, and the great owle, & the rauē shal dwell in it, & he shal stretch out vpon it the line of vanitie, and the stones of emptines.

13 And it shal bring forth the thornes in y^e pa- laces thereof, nettles & thistles in y^e strong holdes thereof, and it shal be an habitation for dragons and a court for ostriches.

14 There shal mete also Zión and Iim, and the Satyre shal crye to his se, owe, and the shrice owle shal rest there, & shal finde for her self a quiet dwelling.

15 There shal the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatche, and gather the vnder her shadowe: thence shal y^e vultures also be ga- thered, euen one with her make.

¹ The great ioye of them that beleue in Christ, ² Their office which preach the Gospel, ³ The frutes that followe thereof.

^a He propheseth of the full restoration of the Church bothe of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shalbe fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wilderness.

¹ The desert and the wilderness shal reioyce: and the waste groundes shalbe glad and flourish as the rose.

^b The Church was before compared to a barren wilderness, shal by Christ be made moſte plenteous and beautiful.

² It shal flourish abundantly & shal greatly reioyce also and ioy: the glorie of Lebanon shalbe giuen vnto it: the beautie of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shal see the glorie of the Lord, & the excellencie of our God.

^c He sheweth the presence of God is the cause that the Church doeth bring forth the frute and flourish.

³ Strengthen the weake hands, & comfort the feeble knees.

^d He willeth all to encourage one another, and specially the ministers to exhort & streng then the weake, that they may patiently abide the coming of God, which is at hand.

⁴ Say vnto them that are feareful, Be you strong: feare not: beholde, your God cometh with vengeance: euen God with a recompence, he wil come and saue you.

^e To destroy your enemies.

⁵ The shal the eyes of the blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

^f When the knowledge of Christs reuerled.

⁶ Then shal the lame man leape as an hart, & the dõme mans tongue shal sing: for in the wilderness shal waters breake out, & riuers in the desert.

^g They were baren & destitute of graces of God, shal haue them giuen by Christ.

⁷ And the drye grounde shal be as a poole, and the thistle (as springs of water in the habitation of dragons: where thei lay) shal be a place for reedes and rushes.

^h It shal be for the saits of God & not for the wicked.

CHAP. XXXVI.

^a This historie is rehearsed, because it is as a seale & confirmation of the doctrine afore, bothe for the threatnings & promises to wit, that God wolde suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length wolde send deliuerance.

¹ Now in the fourteenth yere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and toke them.

^b When he had abolished supersticion, & idolatrie, & restored religion, yet God wolde exercise his Church to trye their faith and patience.

² And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakẽh fro Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stode by the conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

³ Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

^e For he was now restored to his office, as Ifaiáh had prophesied, Chap. 22, 20.

⁴ And Rabshakẽh said vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

^f He speaketh thus in the person of Hezekiah, falsely charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, where as his onelie confidence was in the Lord.

⁵ I saie, Surely I haue eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

^g Satan labored to pul the goodlie King from one vaine confidence to another, to wit, from trust in his Egyptian power, whose power was weake & would deceiue them: so yelde him self to the Assyrians and so not to hope for any helpe of God.

⁶ Lo, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it wil go into his hand, and perce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

^h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines.

⁷ But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah toke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shal worship before this altar?

ⁱ Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, wil pretend the Name of the Lord but we must trye the spirits, whether thei be of God or no.

⁸ Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Asshur, & I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy parte to set riders vpon them.

^k Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

⁹ For how canst thou despise anie captain of the least of my lords seruants: and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

^l Ebre the words of their fist.

¹⁰ And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, Go vp against this land & destroy it.

^m The Ebrewe word signifieth blessing whereby this wicked captaine wolde haue persuaded the people, that their condition shulde be better vnder Saneherib then vnder Hezekiah.

¹¹ Then said Eliakim, and Shebná and Ioah vnto Rabshakẽh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

ⁿ Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

¹² Then said Rabshakẽh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, & to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eat their owne dounge, and drinke their owne piss with you?

^o Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

¹³ So Rabshakẽh stode, & cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur.

^p Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

¹⁴ Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shal not be able to deliuer you.

^q Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

¹⁵ Nether let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord wil surely deliuer vs: this citie shal not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshur.

^r Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

¹⁶ Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euerie man may eat of his owne vine, and euerie man of his owne figtre, and drinke euerie

^s Thei were afraid, left by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

man the water of his owne well,

28 Lest Hezekiah disciue you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hathe anie of y gods of the naciōs deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshūr?

29 Where is the god of ^m Hamáth, and of Arpád? Where is the god of Sepharuáim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

30 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hathe deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord shulde deliuer Ierusalém out of mine hand?

31 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandment was saying, Answer him not.

32 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancelier, and Ioáh the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rét cloths, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakéh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Hezekiah asketh counsel of Isaiáh, who promyseth him the Victorie 10 The blasphemie of Saneherib 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The arme of Saneherib is slayne of the Angels. 38 And he himself of his owne finnes.

1 AND whē the King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth & came into the House of the Lord.

2 And he sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancelier, with the Elders of the Priests, clothed in sackcloth vnto Isaiáh the Prophet, the sonne of Amóz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulacion & of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hathe heard the wordes of Rabshakéh, whome the King of Asshūr his master hathe sent to raile on y liuing God, & to reproche him with wordes which y Lord thy God hathe heard, then lift thou vp thy praier for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiáh.

6 And Isaiáh said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the King of Asshūr haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde. I wil send a blast vpon him, & he shal heare a noise, and retorne to his owne land, and I wil cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne land.

8 So Rabshakéh returned, and founde the King of Asshūr fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed fro Lachish.

9 He heard also men say of Tirhakáh, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudáh, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Ierusalém shal not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshūr.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what y Kings of Asshūr haue done to all lands in destroying them, & shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the naciōs deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozán, and Harán, and Rézeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Tc-lassar?

13 Where is the King of Hamáth, and the King of Arpád, and the King of the citie of Sepharuáim, Hená and Iuáh?

14 So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and red it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spred it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah praied vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Isaiél, which dwellest betwene the Cherubims, thou art vey God a'one ouer al the kingdome of the earth: thou hast made the heauen & the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, o Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, o Lord, and se, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hathe sent to blasphemie the liuing God.

18 Truth it is, o Lord, that the Kings of Asshūr haue destroyed all lands, & their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fyre: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, even wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, o Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 Then Isaiáh the sonne of Amóz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith y Lord God of Israiél, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib King of Asshūr, 22 This is the worde that the Lord hathe spoken against him, O virgine, daughter of Ziōn, he hathe despised thee, & laughed thee to scorne: o daughter of Ierusalém, he hathe shaken his head at thee.

 29 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore wil I put mine hoke in thy nostrils, and my bridle in thy lippes, and wil bring thee backe againe the same way y^e camest.
 30 And this shalbe a y^e signe vnto thee, o Hezekiah, Thou shalt eat this yere suche as groweth of it self. and the 2^d yere, suche things as grow without sowig:
 and in the third yere, sow ye and reape, & plant vineyardes, & eat the frute thereof.
 31 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shal againe take roote downward and beare frute vpward.
 32 For out of Ierusalem shal go a remnant, & they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shal do this.
 33 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning y^e King of Asshur, He shal not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.
 34 By the same way that he came, he shal returne, and not come into this citie, saith
 the Lord.
 35 For I wil defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, & for my seruants Dauids sake.
 36 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundredth, foure score, and fise thousand:
 so when they arose early in the morning,
 beholde, they were all dead corpses.

Declaring hereby that they that are enemies to Gods Church, fight against him, whose quarrel his Church onely mainteineth. q He boistereth of his policie, in that that he can finde meane to nourish his arme and of his power, in that that his arme is so great, that it is able to drye vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters, & the fewes had closed in. r Signifying that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserve it, & therefore he saith that he formed it of olde, & in his eternal counsel, which can not be changed. s Ebr. are short in hand. t He sheweth that the state and power of moste flourishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Church, which shall remaine for euer, because God is y^e maine teiner thereof. u Meaning, his counsels & enterprises. v Because Sancherib shewed him self, as a deuouring fiend & furious beast, he vseth these similitudes, to teache how he wil take him and guide him. x Thou shalt loose thy labour. y God giueth signes after two sortes: some go before the thing, as y^e signes y^e Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some go after y^e thing, as y^e sacrifice, & they were commended to make three daies after their departure: & these latter are to keepe the benefits of God in our remembrance, of the which sorte this here is. z He promisseth that for two yeres the grounde of it self shulde fede them. a They whome God had deliuered out of the hands of the Assyrians, shal prosper, and this properly becometh to the Church. b For my promises sake made to Dauid.

o God hath declared by his Prophet y I shal aye, and therefore I will yelde vnto him.
p I shal haue no release, but continual sorowes, whiles I liue.
q They that shal ouerliue the men that are now alieue, and all they y are in these yeres shal acknowledge this berche.
r That after that thou hadst condemned me to death, thou restoredst me to life.
s Where as I thought to haue liued in rest and ease, being delivered from mine enemies, I had griefe vpon griefe.
t He esteemeth more the remission of his finnes, & Gods fauour then a thousand lues.
u For as muche as God hath placed man in this worlde to glorifie him, the godlie take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes are shortened, ether because they they liued vnworthie for their finnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glorie, seeing that there is so fewe in earth, that do regarde it as Psal 65, and 115, 17.
x All posteritie shal acknowledge, and according to their ouerue toward their children shal instruct them in thy graces, & merites toward me.

all my bones, like a lion: from daie to night wilt thou make an end of me.

Like a crane or a swallow, so did I mchatter: I did mourne as a doue. mine eyes were lift vp on hie. O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

What shal I saie? for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shal walke weakely all my yeres in the bitterness of my soule.

O Lord, to them that ouerliue them, & to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shal be knowne, that thou causedst me to sinne, and hast giuen life to me.

Beholde, for felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my finnes behinde thy backe.

For the graue can not cōfesse thee: death can not praise thee: they that go downe into the pit, can not hope for thy trueth.

But the liuing, the liuing, he shal cōfesse thee, as I do this day: the father to the children shal declare thy trueth.

The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we wil sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the House of the Lord.

Thé said Isaiáh, Take a lump of drye figges, and laie it vpon the boile, and he shal recouer.

Also Hezekiáh had said, What is the signe, that I shal go vp into the House of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiáh is reproued, because he shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

At the same time, a Merodach Baladán, the sonne of Baladán, King of Babel, sent letters, & a present to Hezekiáh: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered.

And Hezekiáh was glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, & the precious ointement, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiáh shewed them not.

Thé came Isaiáh the Prophet vnto King Hezekiáh, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiáh said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

Thé said he, What haue they sene in thine house? And Hezekiáh answered, All that is in mine house haue they sene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

And Isaiáh said to Hezekiáh, Heare the worde of the Lord of hostes, Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntil this day, shal be carryed to Babel. nothing shal be left, saith the Lord.

And of thy sonnes, that shal procede out of thee, & which thou shalt beget, shal they take away, and they shal be eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.

Then said Hezekiáh to Isaiáh, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he said, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

Remission of finnes by Christ. The coming of Iohn Baptist. The Prophet reprooueth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God.

Speake comfortably to Ierusalém, & crye vnto her, that her warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand double for all her finnes.

A voyce cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.

Euerie valleye shal be exalted, and euerie mountaine and hill shal be made lowe: & the croked shal be streight, and the rough places plaine.

And y glorie of the Lord shal be reueiled, and all flesh shal se it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

A voyce said, Crye. And he said, What shal I crye? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof as y flour of the field.

The grasse withereth, the flour fadeth, because the Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

The grasse withereth, y flour fadeth: but them worde of our God shal stand for euer.

O Zión, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the high mountaine: O Ierusalém, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength. lift it vp, be not affraide: say vnto the cities of Iudáh, Beholde your God.

that they haue not knowen: I wil make to them, and not forsake them.

17 They shal be turned backe: they shal be greatly affamed, that truitt in graue images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regarde,

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnes sake that he may magnifie the Law, & exalt it.

22 But this people is ²robbed and spoiled, and shalbe all snared in dongeons, & they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shal deliuer: a spoile, and none shal say, ^a Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to ^a this, & take hede, and heare for ^b afterwarde^s

24 Who gaue Iaakób for a spoile, and Israēl to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they wolde not walke in his wayes, nether be obedient vnto his Law.

u He setteth forth the obliuiscence and milice of the idolaters, & though they se by daily experience y their idoles are no better then the rest of y matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one parte & make a god of y other, as the papists make their cake, god and the rest of their idoles.

y The Prophet giueth here an answer to all them that wonder how it is possible that anie shulde be so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, y God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts z He is abused as one y would eat ashes, thinking to satisfie his hunger

a Shewing y mans heart is most enclined to idolatrie, & therefore he warneth his people by these examples, that they shulde not cleaue to anie but to the liuing God whē they shulde be among the idolaters take thereof and u warme hi self. he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshipeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fyre, & vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he roseth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth him self and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fyre.

17 And y residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it and worshipeth and praieth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: y for God hath shut their eyes that they can not se, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to saie, I haue burnt halfe of it, euē in the fyre, & haue baked bread also vpon y coles thereof: I haue roasted flesh, and eaten it, & shal I make the residue thereof an abomination? shal I bowe to the stocke of a tre.

20 He fedeth z of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceived him, that he can not deliuer his soule, nor say, Is their not a lye in my right hand?

21 a Remembre these (o Iaakób and Israél) for y art my seruāt: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruāt: o Israél forget me not.

22 I haue put awate thy trasgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 b Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, ye lower partes of y earth: braist forth into praises, ye mountaines, o forest and euerie tre therein: for y Lord hath redeemed Iaakób and wil be glorified in Israél.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redemer & he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my self.

25 I destroye the c tokens of the soothsaiers and make them that coniecture, foolles, & turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnes.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the worde of his d seruāt and performeth the counsel of his messengers, saying to Ierusalém, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudáh, ye shal be buylt vp, and I wil repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the e depe, Be drye and I wil drye vp thy floods.

28 He saith to f Cyrus, Thou art my shepherd:

& he shal reforme all my desire, sayig also to Ierusalém, Thou shalt be buylt: and to the Temple, Thy fundacion shal be surely laied.

¹³ I haue raised him vp in righteousness, & I wil direct all his wayes: he shal buyld my citie, and he shal let go my captiues, not for price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

¹⁴ Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, & of the Sabeans, men of stature shal come vnto thee, and they shal be thine: they shal followe thee, and shal go in chaines: they shal fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

¹⁵ Verily thou, O God, hast hidest thy self, O God, the Saviour of Israël.

¹⁶ All they shal be ashamed and also confounded: they shal go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

¹⁷ But Israël shal be saved in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluacion: ye shal not be ashamed nor confounded worlde without end.

¹⁸ For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God him self, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

¹⁹ I haue not spoken in secret, neither in a place of darkness in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the sede of Iakob, Scke you me: I the Lord do speake righteousness, & declare righteous things.

²⁰ Assemble your selues, and come: drawe nere together, ye abject of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that can not saue them.

²¹ Telye and bring them, & let them take counsel together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath told it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, & a Saviour: there is none beside me.

²² Loke vnto me, and ye shal be saved: all the ends of the earth shal be saved: for I am God, and there is none other.

²³ I haue sworne by my self: the worde is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shal not returne, That euery knee shal bowe vnto me, and euery tongue shal sweare by me.

²⁴ Surely he shal say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: he shal come vnto him, and all that prouoke him, shal be ashamed.

²⁵ The whole sede of Israël shal be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

¹ Bel is bowed downe: Nebó is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beasts, and vpon the cattel: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

² They are bowed downe, & fallen together: for they coulde not rid the of the burden, & their soule is gone into captiuitie.

³ Heare ye me, O house of Iakob, & all that remaine of the house of Israël, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

⁴ Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I wil beare you vntil the home heeres: I haue made you: I wil also beare you, and I wil carye you, and I wil deliuer you.

⁵ To whom wil ye make me like, or make me equal, or compare me, that I shoulde be like him?

⁶ They drawe golde out of the bagge and weigh situer in the balance, and hyre a goldsmith to make a god of it, & they bowe downe, and worship it.

⁷ They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, & can not remoue from his place. Though one crye vnto him, yet can he not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

⁸ Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, O you transgressors.

⁹ Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me, ¹¹ I call a bird from the East, & the man of my counsel from far: as I haue spoken, so wil I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I wil do it.

¹² Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

¹³ I bring nere my iustice: it shal not be farre of, and my saluacion shal not tary: for I wil giue saluacion in Ziō, and my glorie vnto Israël.

⁶ Thou hast heard, beholde all this, & wil

15 I, euē I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue broght him, and his waie shal prosper.

16 Come nere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret frō the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his spirit hathe sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redemer, the Holie one of Israél, I am the Lord thy God, which teache thee to profite, & lead thee by the waie, that thou shuldest go.

18 O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments, thou hadst prospered bene as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy sede also had bene as the sande, and thy frute of thy bodie like the grauel thereof: his name shulde not haue bene cut of nor destroyed before me.

20 Go ye out of Babél flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel and declare this: shewe it forth to the end of the earth: saye ye, The Lord hathe redeemed his seruant Iakób.

21 And they were not thirstie: he led them through the wildecines he caused water to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he cleaue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises of Christ in the saluacion of all that beleue, and wil deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

1 HEARE ye me, o yles, & hearkē, ye people frō farre. The Lord hathe called me from the wombe, and made mencion of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And he hathe made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadowe of his hand hathe he hid me, and made me a chosen shafte: he hid me in his quiver,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, o Israél, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue labored in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my woike with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that formed me frō the wombe to be his seruant, that I maie bring Iakób againe to him (thogh Israél be not gathered, yet shal I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he said, It is a small thing that thou shuldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iakób, and to restore the desolations of Israél. I wil also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluacion vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redemer of Israél, & his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shal se, and arise, and princes shal worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful. and the Holie one of Israél, which hathe chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluacion haue I helped thee. and I wil preserve thee, and wil giue thee for a covenant of the people, that thou maiest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to thy prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in daikenes, Shewe your selues: they shal fede in the wayes, & their prisoners shalbe in all the toppes of the hilles.

10 They shal not be hungry, neither shal they be thirsty, neither shal the heat smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hathe compassion on them, shal lead them. euē to the springs of waters shal he driue them.

11 And I wil make all my mountaines, as a way, & my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shal come frō farre, & lo, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 Reioyce, o heauens: and be ioyful, o earth: braile forth in to praise, o mountaines: for God hathe comforted his people, & wil haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hathe forsaken me, and my Lord hathe forgottē me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her womb? though they shulde forget, yet wil I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue graued thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy walles are euē in my sight.

17 Thy buylders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about & beholde: all these gather the selues together & come to thee. as I haue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put the all vpon thee as a garmēt, & gird thy self wth the like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, & thy waste places, & thy land destroyed, shal surely be now narrow for them: they shal dwell in it, & they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennes shal say againe in thine eares, The place is straite for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 The shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hathe begotten me these, seing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro: & who hath nourished thee? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set vp my standart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be caryed vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings shall be thy nourcing fathers, and Quenes shall be thy nourses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and lick vp the dust of thy fete: & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed to waite for me.

24 Shall the praise be taken from the mightie: or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall be taken awaie: & the praise of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, & I will saue thy children, 26 And will fede them that spoile thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne blood, as with swete wine: & all flesh shall knowe that I Lord am thy Sauour, & thy redemer, the mightie one of Iakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience & victorie.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that subtil of your mothers diuorcement, whome I haue cast off: or who is the creditor to whome I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

Wherefore came I, & there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it can not helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? beholde, at my rebuke I drye vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dyeth for thirst.

I clothe the heauens with darknes, & make a sacke their couering.

The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I shoulde knowe to minister a worde in time to him: y is weary: he will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning he will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned.

The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, nether turned I backe.

I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my chekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shall not be ashamed.

He is nere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come nere to me.

Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? lo, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shall eat them vp.

Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant. he that walketh in darkenes, & hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, & stay vpon his God.

Beholde, all you kindle a fyre, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fyre, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorowe.

CHAP. LI.

To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, & her deliuerance.

Hear me, ye that follow after righteousness, & ye that seke the Lord: loke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, & blessed him, and increased him.

Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioye and gladnes shall be founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people. for a Law shall procede from me, and I will bring forth the my iudgement for the light of the people.

My righteousness is nere: my saluacion goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and loke vpon the earth beneth: for the sea umns shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluacion shall be for euer, & my righteousness shall not be abolished.

Hearken vnto me, ye that knowe righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproche of men, nether be ye afraid of their rebukes.

I did not shrinke from God: for any persecution or calumnie whereby he sheweth, that the true ministers of God can loke for none other recompence of wicked but after this sorte, and also what is their comfort.

I shewing it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring the fire hel to heauen. You haue fought consolation by your owne denises, & haue refused the light, and consolation, & God hath offered therefore ye shall remaine in sorowe, and not be comforted.

He comforteth the Church, that they should not be discouraged for their small number. That is, to Abraham, of whome ye were begotten, & to Sarah, of whome ye were borne.

As plentiful as Paradise. Genes 2.3.

I will rule, & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine.

The time, I will accomplish my promises. My power, and strength.

He forewarneth them of the horrible changes & mutations of all things, & how he will preferue his Church in the mides of all these dangers.

He sheweth, that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, Kings shall be converted to the Gospel and be shew their power, & autoritie for the preservation of the Church.

c Being ioyned with the Church, they shall buble the felues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.

d He maketh this as an obiectio, although the Chaldees were strong, & had them in iuste possession.

e This is the answer to their obiectio, y none is stronger then the Lord, nether hath a more iuste title vnto them.

f I will cause them to destroye one another, as Iud. 7. 22. 2 chro 20. 22. chap. 19. 22.

a Meaning, he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasio, as Hosea 2. 2. b Which should declare, I haue cut her off, meaning, they colde shewe none.

c Signifying, he solde them not for any det or pouertie, but y they solde the felues to sinnesto be their owne lustes, & pleasures.

d He came by his Prophetes and ministers, but they wolde not beleue their doctrine and conuert. e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dryed vp the red Sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, & also as I gerwarde in Iorden?

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod 10. 21. g The Prophet doeth represente here the persone and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministerie of Gods worde. h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie. i As they that are taught, and made me by him.

8 For the mothe shal eat the vp like a garment, and the worme shal eat them like wolfe: but my righteousness shal be for euer, and my saluacion from generacion to generacion.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, & arme of the Lord: rise vp, as in the olde tyme in the generacions of the worlde. Art not thou the same, that hast cut Rana, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, & the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shal retorne, and come with ioye vnto Zión, and euertasting ioye shal be vpon their head: they shal obtayne ioye, & gladnes: & sorowe and mourning shal flee away.

12 I, when I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortal man, and the sonne of man, which shal be made as grass?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heavens, and laide the fundacions of the earth: and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroye: Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that he shulde not dye in the pit, nor that his bread shulde faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that dwelled the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant thee in heauens, and iaye the fundacion of the earth, & say vnto Zión, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, & Ierusalem, which hast drinke at the hand of the Lord the cup of his wrath. thou hast drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all thy sonnes, whome she hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee: who wil lament thee desolation and destruction, and famine, and the sworde: by whome shal I comforte thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the stretes as a wilde bulle in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, & rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath. thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I wil put it into thee had that spoile thee, which haue said to thy soul, Bowe downe, that we may go ouer, and thou hast laid thy bodie as the ground, and as the fire to thine that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God & Of the messengers thereof.

2 Rise, arise: put on thy strength, & Zión: put on the garments of thy beautie, & Ierusalem, the holy cite: for henceforth there shal no more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vnclean.

3 Shake thy self from the dust, arise, and sit downe, & Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, & thou captiue daughter, Zión.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Ye were sold for naught, therefore shal ye be redeemed without money.

5 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe aforetime into Egypt to sojourn there, and Asshur oppressed them without cause.

6 Now therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is takē away for naught, and that that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lord, & my Name all the day continually is blasphemed.

7 Therefore my people shal knowe my Name: therefore they shal knowe in that day, that I am he that do speake: behold, it is I.

8 How beautiful vpon the mountaines are the site of him, that declareth & publisheth peace: that declareth good tidings, & publisheth saluacion, saying vnto Zión, Thy God reigneth.

9 The voice of thy watchmen shal be heard: they shal lift vp their voyce, and shout together: for they shal see eye to eye, when the Lord shal bring againe Zión.

10 O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

11 The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shal see the saluacion of our God.

12 Departe, departe ye: go out from thence and touche no vnclean thing. go out of the middles of her: be ye cleane, that beare the vessels of the Lord.

he shal beare their iniquities.
12 Therefore wil I giue him a portion with the great, and he shal deuide the spoyle with the strong, because he ^t hathe pow-

1 HO, uerie one y thirtieth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no silver, come buy and eat: come, I saie, buy wine and meate without silver and without money.

2 Wherefore do ye lase out silver & not for bread? & your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, & eat that which is good, and let your soule delite in fatnes.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me:
heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euermolting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Beholde, I gaue him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knewe not thee, shall rune vnto thee, because of y Lord thy God, and the holie one of Isaiel. for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seek ye the Lord while he maie be founde:
call ye vpon him while he is nere.

7 Let the wicked forsake his waies, and the vnrightheous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he will haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is verie readie to forgiue.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your waies my waies, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher than the earth, so are my waies higher than your waies, and my thoughts above your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine cometh downe and the snowe from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and budde that it maie giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing where-to I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shall go out with ioye, and be led forth with peace throughe the mountains: and the hills shall breake forth before you into ioye, and all the trees of the field shall clappe their hands.

13 For thornes there shall growe syrrer trees:

and it shall be to the Lord for a name, and for an euermolting signe that shall not be

11 And whome didest thou reuerence or feare, seing thou hast lied vnto me, and hast not remebred me, nether set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I wil declare thy p righteousness & thy workes, and they shal not profite thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but y minde shal take the all away: vanitie shal pul them awaie: but he that trusteth in me, shal inherite the land, and shal possesse mine holie Mountaine.

4 Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednes: ye shal not fast as ye do to day, to make your voyce be ^e heard aboue.

5 Is it sliche a fast, that I haue chosen that a man shulde afflict his soule for a day, & to bowe downe his head, as a bulle rush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this ^y fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take of the heauy burdens, & to let the oppressed go free, and that ye breake euery ^f yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, & that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy self from ^g thine owne flesh?

8 Then shal thy ^h light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shal growe spedely: thy ⁱ righteousnes shal go before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shal embrace thee.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confession of finnes. 16 God alone wil preserve his Church, though all men faile.

2 But ^t your iniquities haue separated betwene you and your God, and your finnes haue hid his face from you, that he wil not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with ^u blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lip- ^v pes haue spoken lies & your tongue hathe murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man ^w contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, & speake vaine things: thei cōceiue mischief, and ^x bring forth the iniquitie.

5 They hatche cockatrice ^y egges, & weaue the spiders ^z webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dyeth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shalbe no garment, nether shal they couer them selues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their fete runne to euil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: defolacion & destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equitie in their going: thei haue made them croked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shal not knowe peace.

9 Therefore is ^{aa} iudgement farre from vs, nether doeth ^{ab} iustice come nere vnto vs: we waite for light, but lo, it is darkenes, for brightness: but we walke in darkenes.

10 We grope for the wall like the ^{ac} blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we stand at the none day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

13 In trespassing & lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away fro our God, & haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, concerning and vttering out of the heart false ^{af} matters.

14 Therefore is ^{ag} iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre of: for trueth is fallen in the strete, and equitie can not enter.

^c Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine preſſe?

I haue troden the wine preſſe alone, and of all people there was none with me: for I wil tread them in mine angre, & tread them vnder force in my wrath, and their blood ſhal be ſprinkled vpon my garments, and I wil ſtaine all my raiment.

⁴ For the daie of vengeance is in mine heart, & the daye of my redemed is come. And I looked, & there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it ſelf ſuſtained me.

a smoke in my wrath & a fyre that ⁱ bur-neth all the day.

not kepe silence, but wil rendre it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities & the iniquities of your fathers ^l shalbe ^l together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mou-taines, and blasphemed me vpon the hil-les: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is foude in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a ^m blessing is in it, so wil I do for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I wil bring a sede out of Iakób, &

CHAP. LXVI.

3 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercie and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles 23 The perpetual Sabbath 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

1 Thus faith the Lord, *The^a heaven is my throne, and the earth is my foote-stole: where is y^e house that ye wil buylde vnto me? & where is that place of my rest? For all these things hathe mine had made, & all these things haue bene, faith the Lord: & to him wil I loke, euen to him, that is poore, and of^c a contrite spirit and trembleth at my wordes.

3 He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he slew a man: he that sacrificeth a shepe, as if he cutte of a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he y^e remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, thei haue chose their owne waies, & their soule deliteth in their abominaciōs. 4 Therefore wil I chuse out their delusiōs, & I wil bring their feare vpon the, because I called, & none wolde answer: I spake and they wolde not heare: but they did euil in my sight, & chose y^e things w^h I wolde not. 5 Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his^f worde, Your brethren that hated you, & cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shal appeare to your ioye, and thei shal be ashamed.

6 A voyce foundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recōpenceth his enemies fully. 7 Before^h the trauailed, she broght forth: and before her peine came, she was deliuered of a man childe.

8 Who hathe heard such a thing? who hathe sene suche things? shal the earth be broght forth in oneⁱ day? or shal a nation be borne at once? for assone as Ziōn trauailed, she broght forth her children.

9 Shal I^k cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shal I cause to brīg forth & shalbe baren, faith thy God?

10 Reioyce ye with Ierusalēm, and be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioye with her, all ye that mourne for her,

11 That ye may sucke^l & be satisfied with the breasts of her cōsolation: that ye may milke out & be delited with the brightnes of her glorie.

12 For thus faith the Lord, Beholde, I wil beare hypocrites and hated them that feared God. 13 The enemies shal thortely heare a more terrible voyce, euen fyre and slaughter, seing they wolde not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance. 14 Meaning, that the restauration of the Church shulde be so suddē & contrarie to all mens opinion as when a woman is deliuered before she loke for it, and that without peine in trauail. 15 This shal passe the capacite of man to se suche a multitude that shal come vp at once, meaning vnder the preaching of the Gospel, whereof thei that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure. 16 Declaring hereby, that as by his power, & prouidence woman trauaileth & is deliuered to haue the power to bring forth his Church at his time appoynted. 17 That ye may reioyce for all y^e benefites that God bestoweth vpon his Church.

extend^m peace ouer her like a flood & the glorie of y^e Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shal ye sucke, ye shal be^o borne vpon her sides, and be ioyful vpon her knees.

13 As one whome his mother comforteth, so wil I comforte you, and ye shalbe comforted in Ierusalēm.

14 And when ye se this, your heart shal reioyce, and your^p bones shal flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shal be known among his seruants, and his indignacion against his enemies.

15 For beholde, y^e Lord wil come with fyre, & his charets like a whirlewinde, that he may^q recōpence his angre with wrath, & his indignacion with the flame of fyre.

16 For the Lord wil iudge with fyre, and w^r his sworde all flesh, & the flaine of y^e Lord shalbe manie.

17 They that sanctifie^r the selues, & purifie them selues in the gardens behinde one tre in y^e middes eating^f swines flesh, & suche abominacion, euen the mouse, shalbe consumed together, faith the Lord.

18 For I wil visit their workes, and their imaginations, for it shal come that I wil gather all nations, and tongues, and thei shal come, and se my^t glorie.

19 And I wil set a^u signe amōg the, & wil send those that^x escape of them, vnto the nations of y^e Tarsish, Pul, and Lud, & to them that drawe the^b bowe, to Tubal and Larān, yles a farre of, that haue not heard my fame, nether haue sene my glorie, & thei shal declare my glorie among the Gentiles.

20 And they shal bring all your^f brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon^s horses, and in charets, and in horse litters, & vpon^o mules, & swift beasts, to Ierusalēm mine holie Mountaine, faith the Lord, as the children of Israēl, offer in a cleane vessel in the House of the Lord.

21 And I wil take of them for^h Priests, and for Leuites, faith the Lord.

22 For as y^e neweⁱ heauē, & the newe earth which I wil make, shal remaine before me, faith the Lord, so shal your sede and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shal all flesh come to worship before me, faith the Lord.

24 And they shal go forth, and loke vpon the^k carkeises of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their^l worme shal not dye, nether shal their fyre be quēched, & thei shalbe an abhorrīg^m vnto all flesh.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiāh borne in the citie of Anathóth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiāh, whome some thinke to be he that founde out the booke of the Lawe, and gave it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, and moste eudent reuelations of propheticie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to propheticie, that is, in the thirtieth yere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yere vnder the said King, and thre moneths vnder Ichoaház, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeres, and thre moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeres vnto the tyme that they were carryed away into Babylon. So that this tyme amounteth to aboue forty yere, besides the tyme that he propheticied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, conetousnes, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the consolation of the Church, reuileth the iuste tyme of their deliuerance. And here chieflie are to be considered thre things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubberne and obstinate, when the Prophetes do admonish them moste plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophetes and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocatio, though they be persecuted & rigorously handlede of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdely, though God shewe his iuste iudgement against the wicked, yet wil he euer shewe him self a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seme to mans iudgement to be abolished, the wil he declare him self victorious in preseruing his.

i Of the eleventh yere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were carryed away into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar.

j The Scripture vseth this manner of speache to declare, that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne.

k For Ieremiāh did not onely propheticie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites, and other nations.

l Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings shulde come vpon the worlde, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pittie them that shulde thus perishe, & on the other side by the infinitie of mans nature knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise suche a charge, as Isa. 6. 11. exod. 3. 11. & 4. 1.

TH E wordes of Ieremiāh the sonne of Hilkiāh one of the Priests that were at Anathóth in the land of Benjamin.

To whome the wordes of the Lord came in the daies of Iosiah the sonne of Amón King of Iudáh in the thirtieth yere of his reigne:

And also in the daies of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh vnto the end of the eleventh yere of Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh, euen vnto the carying awaie of Ierusalem captiue in the fift moneth.

Then the wordes of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee; and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, & ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations.

Then said I, Oh, Lord God, beholde, I cannot speake, for I am a childe.

But the Lord said vnto me, Saie not, I am a childe: for thou shalt go to all that I shal send thee, and whatsoever I commande thee, shalt thou speake.

Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand & touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this daie haue I set thee ouer the nations, and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throwe downe, to buylde, and to plant.

11 After this wordes of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiāh, what seest thou? And I said, I see a rod of an almonde tre.

12 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou hast sene aright: for I wil hasten my worde to performe it.

13 Againe the wordes of the Lord came vnto me the seconde time, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I see a seething pot lokig out of the North.

14 Then said the Lord vnto me, Out of the North shal a plague be spred vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For lo, I wil call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and thei shal come, and euerie one shal set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all cities of Iudáh.

16 And I wil declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednes of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore truffle vp thy loynes, & arise & speake vnto them all that I commande thee: be not afrayed of their faces, lest I destroye thee before them.

18 For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a boyled within lutes. Syria & Assyria were North ward in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion. I wil giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the idolaters, which haue forsaken me for their idoles. Which declareth Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their dutie faithfully, ether for feare of me, or for anie other cause. 1. Cor. 9. 16.

k Which declareth, God maketh them mete, & assureth the, who me he calleth to set forth his glorie: giuing them all meanes necessarie for the same, Exod. 4. 12. 1. Sa. 6. 7.

l He sheweth, what is the autoritie of Gods true ministers, who by his worde haue power to beat downe whatsoever lieth it self vp against God: & to plant & assure the humble, & suche as grieve them felices to the obedience of Gods worde, 2. 2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 2 Against the Priests and false prophetes. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

1 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Go, and cry in the eares of Ierusalém, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the kindnesses of thy youth and y^e loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wilddernes in a land that was not sowed.

3 Israël was as a thing c^halowed vnto the Lord, & his first frutes: all they d^h that eat it, shal offend. euil shal come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the worde of the Lord, o house of Iakób, and all the families of the house of Israël.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in me, that they are gone c^h farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become v^haine?

6 For they said not, Where is y^e Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs through y^e wilddernes, through a desert, and waite land, through a drye land, and s^h by the shadowe of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentiful countrey, to eat the frute thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled h^h my land, and made mine heritage an abominacion.

8 The Priests said not, i Where is the Lord? and they that shulde minister the Law, knewe me not: y^e i^h pastours also offended against me, and the prophetes prophesied in m^h Báal, and went after things that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I wil yet n^h plead with you, saith the Lord, and I wil plead with your childrens children.

10 For go ye to the yles of c^hittím, & behold, and send vnto p^h Kedár, and take diligent hede, and se whether there be suche things.

11 Hathe anie nation changed their gods, That is, spake vaine things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Báal, which was the chief idole of the Moabites, are ment all idoles. n Signifying, that he wolde not as he might, & right way condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed, and repent. o Meaning, the Grecians & Italians. p Vnto Arabia.

which yet are no gods: but my people haue chāged their glorie, for that which doeth not profite.

12 O ye fleauent, be astonied at this: be afrayed and vnterly cōfounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue cōmitted two euils: they haue forsakē me: the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge the pitres, euen broken pitres, that can holde no water.

14 Is Israël a s^heruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The s^h Lyons roared vpon him & yelled, and they haue made his land waite: his cities are burnt without an inhabitant.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, nether haue I b^h followed Baalim: beholde thy wayes in the valley, and knowe, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.

18 In thofe daies the house of Iudáh shal walke with the house of Iſraél, & thei shal come together out of y^e land of y^e North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

22 O ye diſobedient children, returne and I wil heale your rebellions. Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Iſraél.

24 For confuſion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth their ſhepe & their bullockes, their ſonnes and their daughters.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumciſion of the heart. 5 The deſtruction of Iudáh is prophesied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Iſraél, if thou returne, a returne vnto me, ſaith the Lord: & if thou put away thine abóminaciós out of my ſight, then shalt thou not remoue.

And thou shalt ſwear, The Lord liueth in truth, in iudgement, and in righteouſnes, and the nations ſhalbe bleſſed in him, and ſhal glorie in him.

For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Iudáh, and to Ierufalém,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, & ſowe not among the thornes: be circumciſed to the Lord, and take away the foreſkinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudáh, and inhabitants of Ierufalém, leſt my wrath come forth like fyre, and burne, that none can quench it, becauſe of the wickednes of your inuentions.

5 Declare in Iudáh, and ſhewe forth in Ierufalém, and ſay, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crye, and gather together, & ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues, and let vs go into ſtrong citiés.

6 Set vp the ſtandart in Zión: & prepare to flee, & ſtay not: for I wil bring a plague from the North, and a great deſtruction.

7 The Lyon is come vp from his denne, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is departed, & gone forth of his place to lay thy land waſte, and thy citiés ſhalbe deſtroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with ſackcloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, ſaith the Lord, the heart of the King ſhal periſh, and the heart of the princes and the Priests ſhalbe aſtoniſhed, and the Prophets ſhal wonder.

10 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord God, ſurely thou haſt deceiued this people & Ierufalém, ſaying, Ye ſhal haue peace, and the ſworde perceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time ſhal it be ſaid to this people and to Ierufalém, A drye winde in the hie places of the wildernes cometh toward the daughter of my people, but nether to fan, nor to clenſe.

12 A mightie winde ſhal come vnto me fró thoſe places, and now wil I alſo giue ſentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, he ſhal come vp as the cloude, and his charers ſhalbe as a tempeſt: his horſes are lighter then egles. Wo vnto vs, for we are deſtroyed.

14 O Ierufalém, waſh thine heart from wickednes, that thou maieſt be ſaued: how long ſhalt thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publiſherh affliction fró mou^t Ephraim.

16 Make ye mentiós of the heathē, and publiſh in Ierufalém, Beholde, the ſkoutes come from a farre countrey, and crye out againſt the citiés of Iudáh.

17 They haue compaſſed her about as the watchmen of the field, becauſe it hath prouoked me to wrath, ſaith the Lord.

18 Thy waies & thine inuentions haue prouoked me to wrath, ſaith the Lord.

^t By these manner of speeches he sheweth the horrible destruction that shulde come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repented not at the feare of these terrible eydings, seeing that y^e inflexible creatures are moued therewith, as if the order of nature shulde be changed, Isa. 13. 10. and 24. 23. ²⁰ Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tentes destroyed, and my curtynes in a moment.

²¹ How long shal I se the standart, & heare the sounde of the trumpet?

²² For my people is foolish, thei haue not knowen me: thei are foolish childre, & haue none vnderstanding: thei are wise to do euil, but to do wel thei haue no knowledge.

²³ I haue looked vpon the earth, and lo, it was without forme and voide: and to the heauens, and thei had no light.

²⁷ For thus hathe y^e Lord said, The whole land shalbe desolate: yet wil I not make a ful end.

²⁸ Therefore shal the earth mourne, and the heauens aboute shalbe darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and wil not repent, nether wil I turne backe from it.

CHAP. V.

¹ In Iudáh no righteous man found nether among the people nor the rulers. ² Wherefore Iudáh is destroyed of the Caldeans.

³ Vnto & fro by the stretes of Ierusalem, and beholdenow, & knowe, & inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that excuteth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I wil spare it.

² For thogh thei say, The ^b Lord liueth, yet do thei sweare falsely.

⁴ Therefore I said, Surely thei are poore, they are foolish, for thei knowe not the way of the Lord, nor y^e iudgement of their God.

⁵ I wil get me vnto the great men, and wil speake vnto them: for thei haue knowen y^e way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes.

⁶ Wherefore ^f a lion out of the forest shal slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shal destroye them: a leoparde shal watche ouer their cities: euerie one that goeth out thence, shalbe torne iⁿ pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are encreased.

⁸ They rose vp in y^e morning like fed horses: for euerie man^eneyed after his neighbours wife.

⁹ Shal I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? Shal not my soule be auenged on suche a nation, as this?

¹⁰ Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a ful end: take away their batilmets, for thei are not the Lords.

¹¹ For the house of Israél, and the house of Iudáh haue grieuouly trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

¹² Thei haue ^k denied the Lord, & said, It is not he, nether shal y^e plague come vpon vs, nether shal we se sword nor famine.

¹³ And the Prophetes shalbe as ^l winde, and the worde is ^m not in them: thus shal it come vnto them.

¹⁴ Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake suche wordes, beholde, I wil put my wordes ⁿ into thy mouth, like a fyre, and this people shal be as wodge, and it shal deuoure them.

¹⁵ Lo, I wil bring a nation vpon you ^o from far, o house of Israél, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nacion, & an ancient nacion, a nacion whose language y^e knowest not, nether vnderstandest what thei say.

18 Neuertheles at those daies, saith the Lord, I wil not make a ful end of y^e you.

19 And when y^e shal saie, Wherefore doeth y^e Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shal ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakób & publish it in Iudáh, saying,

21 Heare now this, o foolish people, and without vnderstáding, which haue eyes and se not, which haue eares & heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord: or wil ye not be afraid at my presense, which haue placed the sande for the bondes of the sea by the perpetual decre that it can not passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can thei not preuaile, though thei roare, yet can thei not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithful and rebellious heart: thei are departed & gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine bothe early & late in due season: he referueth vnto vs the appointed wokes of the haruest.

25 Yet your iniquities haue turned awaie these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are founde wicked persones, that laie waite as he that setteth snares: thei haue made a pit to catche mé.

27 As a cage is ful of birdes, so are their houses ful of deceit: thereby thei are become great and waxen riche.

28 Thei are waxen fat & shining: thei do ouerpasse the dedes of y^e wicked: thei execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherles: yet thei prosper, though thei execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shal I not visite for these things, saith the Lord: or shal not my soule be auenged on suche a nation as this?

30 As horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land.

31 The Prophetes Prophecie lies, and the Priestes receiue giftes in their hádes, and my people delite therein. What wil ye then do in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

The comming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Lewes to repentance.

O Ye children of Beniamín, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem and blow the trumpet in Tekoá: set vp a standart vpon Beth-haccérem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.

I haue compared the daughter of Zión to a beautiful and deintie woman.

The pastors with their flockes shal come vnto her: thei shal pitch their tents round about by her, & euerie one shal fede in his place.

Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs go vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

Arise, and let vs go vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppresion is in the middes of it.

As y^e fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: & crueltie and spoile is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

Be thou instructed, o Ierusalem, lest my soule departe from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Thei shal gather as a vine, the residue of Israël: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

Vnto whome shal I speake, & admonish that thei may heare? beholde, their eares are vncircumcised, and thei can not hearken: beholde, the worde of y^e Lord is vnto them as a reproche: thei haue no delite in it.

Therefore I am ful of the wrath of the Lord: I am wearie with holding it: I wil powre it out vpon the childre in y^e strete, & likewise vpon y^e assemblie of the yong men: for the housband shal euen be taken with the wife, & the aged with him that is ful of daies.

And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto strangers: for I wil stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

For fró the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euerie one is giuen vnto the Priest, thei all deale falsely.

Thei haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with swete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

Were thei ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, thei were not ashamed, no nether colde they haue anie shame: therefore thei shal fall among the flaine: when I shal visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the waies and beholde, and aske for the olde way, which is the good way & walke therein, d I haue increased her greatly & giuen her abundance of all things.

e She shalbe so destroyed, y^e shepe may be fed in her.

f He speaketh this in y^e person of y^e Babylonians, w^{ch} complain that the time faileth them before thei haue brought their enterprises to passe.

g He sheweth y^e cause why it shulde be destroyed & how it cometh of them selues. h He warneth the to amend by his corrections, & to turne to him by repentance.

i He exhorteth y^e Babylonians to be diligent to searchoe out all & to l. aue none. k Thei delite to heare vayne things & to shut vp their eares to true doctrine.

l As the Lord had giuen him his worde to be as a fyre of his indignatiō to burne y^e wicked, Chap. 5. 14 so he killeth it now whē he seeth y^e all remedies are past. m None shalbe spared.

n When y^e people began to feare Gods iudgements, y^e falsie Prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing y^e God wolde send peace and not warre. o Wherein the patriarches and Prophets walked, directed by y^e worde of God: signifyng y^e there is no true way, but that w^{ch} God prescribeth.

them.

19 Heare, o earth, beholde, I wil cause a plague to come vpon this people; euen the frute of their owne imaginacions: because thei haue not taken hede vnto my wor-des, nor to my Law, but cast it of.

20 To what purpose bringest thou me incense from Shebá, and swete calamus fro a farre countrey? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices swete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shal fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shal perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, a people cometh from the North countrey, and a great nation shal arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield shal they be wea-poned: thei are cruel and wil haue no compasion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, wel appointed,
like men of warre against thee, o daughter Zión.

24 We haue heard their fame, & our hands waxe feble: sorowe is come vpon vs, as the sorowe of a woman in trauail.

25 Go not forthe into the field, nor walke
by the way: for the sworde of the enemy & feare is on euerie side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallowe thy self in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mounning as for thine onely sonne: for the de-stroier shal suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set u thee for a defence & fortresse among my people, that thou maiest knowe and trye their waies.

28 Thei are all rebellious traitors, walking craftely: they are brasste, & yron, thei all are destroyers.

29 The bellowes are burnt: the leade is cōsumed in the fyre: the founder melteth way.

30 Thei shal call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hathe reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ieremiáh is commanded to shewe vnto the people the worde of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The evils that shal come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophetes. 21 Sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they shoulde obey his worde.

THE wordes that came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords House & crye this worde there, and saie, Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye of Iudáh that entre in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, * Améd your waies & your wor-kes, and I wil let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in a lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend & redresse your waies and your workes: if you execute iudgemēt betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the father-les and the widdowe & shed no innocent blood in this place, nether walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then wil I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Beholde, you truste in lying wordes, that can not profite.

9 Wil you steale, murder, and commit adul-terie and sweare falsely and burne incense vnto Báal, & walke after other gods who-me ye knowe not?

10 And come and stand before me in this House, whereupon my Name is calle d, & saie, We are deliuered, thogh we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this House become a dēne of theues, whereupō my Name is called before your eyes? beholde, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But go ye now vnto my place which was in Shiló, d where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednes of my people Israél.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, (& I rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye wolde not heare me, nether wē
I called, wolde ye answer)

14 Therefore wil I do vnto this House, of heauen & to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that thei maie prouoke me vnto angre.

19 Do thei prouoke me to angre, saith the Lord, and not them selues to the confuſion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, mine angre and my wrath shalbe powred vpon this place, vpon man & vpon beaſt, and vpon the tre of the field and vpon the frute of the ground, and it ſhal burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Put your burnt offerings vnto your ſacrifices, and eat the fleſh.

22 For I ſpake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I broght them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and ſacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my voice, & I wil be your God, and ye ſhal be my people: and walke ye in all the waies which I haue commanded you, that it maie be wel vnto you.

24 But thei wolde not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counſels and the ſtubbornes of their wicked heart, & went backward and not forward.

25 Since the daie that your fathers came vp out of the Land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen ſent vnto you all my ſeruants the Prophetes, riſing vp early euerie daie, and ſending them.

26 Yet wolde thei not heare me nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worſe then their fathers.

27 Therefore ſhalt thou ſpeake all theſe wordes vnto the, but thei wil not heare thee: thou ſhalt alſo crye vnto the, but thei wil not anſwer thee.

28 But thou ſhalt ſaie vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiueth diſcipline: trueth is periſhed, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut of thine heere, O Ieruſalem, & caſt it awaie, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected & forſaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iuda have done euil in my ſight, ſaith the Lord: thei haue ſet their abominations in the Houſe, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And thei haue buylt the hie place of Topheth, which is in the vallei of Ben-Hinnom to burne their ſonnes & their daughters in the fyre, which I commanded the not, nether came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore beholde, thou daies come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhal no more be called Topheth, nor the vallei of Ben-Hinnom, but the vallei of ſlaughter: for thei ſhal burye in Topheth til there be no place.

And the carkeiſes of this people ſhalbe meat for the foules of the heauen & for the beaſtes of the earth, and none ſhal fray them awaie.

CHAP. VIII.

The deſtruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendement. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine & the couetouſnes of the Prophetes & Prieſts.

At that time, ſaith the Lord, thei ſhal bring out the bones of the Kings of Iuda, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Prieſtes and the bones of the Prophetes, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem out of their graues.

And thei ſhal ſpread the before the ſunne & the moone, and all the hoſte of heauen, whome they haue loued, and whome thei haue ſerued, & whome thei haue followed, & whome thei haue fought, and whome thei haue worſhiped: thei ſhal not be gathered nor be buried, but ſhal be as dung vpon the earth.

And death ſhalbe deſired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue ſcattered them, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

Thou ſhalt ſaie vnto them alſo, Thus ſaith the Lord, ſhal thei fall & not ariſe? ſhal he turne awaie and not turne againe?

Wherefore is this people of Ieruſalem turned backe by a perpetual rebellion? thei gaue the ſelues to deceit, & wolde not returne.

I hearkened and heard, but none ſpake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, ſaying, What haue I done? euerie one turned to their race, as the horſe ruſteth into the battell.

²¹ For the pastors ^a are become beastes, and haue not fought ^y Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scatered.

²³ O Lord, I knowe, that ^p the way of man is not in him self, nether ^u it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

²⁴ O Lord, correct me, but with ^q iudgement, not in thine angre, lest thou bring me to nothing.

²⁵ Powre out ^r thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, & vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iakób & deuoured him & consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

¹⁰ They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudáh haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

¹¹ Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon them, which they shal not be able to escape, and though they crye vnto me, ^s I wil not heare them.

¹² Then shal the cities of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ierusalém go, and crye vnto the gods vnto whome thei offer incense, but they shal not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

¹⁸ And the Lord hathe taught me, and I knowe it, ^{euen} then ^y shewedst me ^a their practises.

¹⁹ But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not ^y thei had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs ^o destroye the tre with the frute thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

² Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, & speake vnto the men of Iudáh, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalém,

⁵ That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered ^b I & said, So be it, ^o Lord.

⁶ Then the Lord said vnto me, Crye all these wordes in the cities of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém, saying, Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and do the.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueleth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Lewes are forsake of the Lord 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations, that troubled Iudah.

1 O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the waye of the wicked prosper? why are all they in welth that rebelliously transgress?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they growe, and bring forth the frute: thou art nere in their mouth, and farre from their reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast sene me, and tyled mine heart toward thee: pul them out like shepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shal the land mourne, and the herbes of euery field wither, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed and the byrdes, because they said, He wil not se our last end.

5 If thou hast runne with the footmen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou marche thy self with horses? & if thou thoghtest thy self safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iordén?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the derelie beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a lyon in the forest: it cryeth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

God wolde euer be merciful, and not vterly destroy thē. Therefore they hardened them (clues) in thine, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubborne rebellion against God. f Some thinke that God reproveth Ieremiáh in that, that he wolde reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to marche with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the foremen, meane them of Anathóth, & by y horse men them of Ierusalém, which shulde trouble the Prophet worse, then his owne country men did. g God willett the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalém, notwithstanding that they shal bothe by threatnings and flatteries labour to put him to silence. h Euen ramping and raging against me and my Prophecies.

9 Shal mine heritage be vnto me, as a birde of diuerse colours? are not y birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eat her?

10 Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyard, and troden my porcion vnder foot: of my pleasant porcion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

11 They haue laid it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no mā setteth his minde on it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for y sword of the Lord shal deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shal haue peace.

13 They haue sown wheat, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of your fruites, because of the fierce wrath of y Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euil neighbours, that touche the inheritance, which I haue caused my people I Israel to inherite, Beholde, I wil plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I wil reurne, and haue compassion on them, and wil bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they wil learne the wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Báal) then shal they be buylt in the middes of my people.

17 But if they wil not obey, then wil I vterly plucke vp, and destroye that nacion, saith the Lord.

22 And if thou saie in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts^l discovered & thy heles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spottednes? then maie ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euil.

24 Therefore wil I scatre the, as the stubble that is taken awaie with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the parte of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discovered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue sene thine adulteries, & thyⁿ neyings, y^e filthines of thy whoredome on the hilles in^o the fields, and thine abominations. Wo vnto thee, o Ierusalém: wilt thou not be made cleane: when shalt it once be?

1 Of the dearth that shoulde come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The unfaithful people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophetes that seduce the people.

1 The worde of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiáh, concerning the^a dearth.

2 Iudáh hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene^b brought to heaunnes vnto the grounde, and the crye of Ierusalém goeth vp,

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed & confounded, and^c couered their heads.

4 For the grounde was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heades.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsoke^d it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drewe in their winde like^e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, thogh our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are manie, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israël, the sauour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the lād, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as^h a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, o Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

k By seeking to straggers for helpe thou hast made the skilful to fight against thee.

l Thy cloke of hypocrisie shal be pulled of and thy shame sene.

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorowe. d Meaning, y^e brute beasts for drought were compelled to forsake their yong, contrary to nature, & to go seke water, which they coude not finde.

e Which are so hote of nature, that they can not be cooled with drinking of water, but still gape for the aire to refresh them.

f He sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained confession of our sinnes, and returning to him by repentance.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wādre: they haue not refrained their fete, therefore the Lord hathe no delite in the: but he wil now remember their iniquitie, and visit their finnes.

i Read Chap. 7, 16 & 21, 14.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not praye to do this people good.

12 Whē ther fast, I wil not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I wil not accept them: but I wil consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the ^k Prophetes say vnto them, Ye shal not se the sworde, nether shal famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The Prophetes prophecie lies in my Name: I haue not sent them, nether did I commande them, nether spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophetes that prophecie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shal not be in this land, by sworde & famine shal those Prophetes be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these Prophetes do prophecie, shalbe cast out in the streets of Ierusalēm, because of the famine, & the sworde, & there shalbe none to burye them, ^{bothe} they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe ¹ teares night and day without ceasing: for ² y virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I go into the field, beholde the slaine with the sworde: and if I entre into the citie, beholde the that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring ^m into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiecte ⁿ Iudáh, or hathe thy soule abhorred Zión? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we can not be healed? We looked for peace, & there is no good, & for the time of health, & beholde trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednes & the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throns of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there anie among ^y p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauē giue showers? is it not thou, O Lord our God! therefore we wil waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord wolde heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroye them with foure plagues.

1 ^THÉ said the Lord vnto me, ⁴ Though Mosēs and Samuēl stode before me, yet mine affectiō colde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them departe.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whether shal we departe? then tel them, Thus saith the Lord, ^{*} Suche as are appointed to death, vnto death: & suche as are for the sworde, to the sworde, & suche as are for the famine to the famine, and suche as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I wil appointe ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the ^b doggs to teare in pieces, & the fowles of the heauen, & the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroye.

4 I wil ^c scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, ^d because of Manassē the sōne of Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, for that which he did in Ierusalēm.

5 Who shal then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalēm? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shal go to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, & gone backward: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroye thee: for I ^e am wearie with repenting.

7 And I wil scatere the with the fanne ^f in y gates of the earth: I haue wasted, & destroyed my people, yet they wolde not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widdowes ^g are increased by me aboute the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon the, & against the ^h assemblie of the yong men a destroyer at none day: I haue caused ⁱ him to fall vpon them, & the citie suddenly, and ^j spedely.

9 She that hathe borne ^k seuen, hathe bene made weake: her heart hathe failed: the sunne hathe failed ^l her, whiles it was day: she hathe bene confounded, & ashamed, and the residue of them wil I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, saith ^y Lord.

10 ^k Who is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a mā that striueth with ^y whole earth: I haue nether lent on vsurie, nor ^m me haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euerie one doeth curse me.

11 The Lord said, ^m Surely thy remnant shal haue welth: surely I wil cause rhine enemye to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

Lord comforted me, & said ^y my last dayes shulde be quiet: & by ^y enemye he meaneth here, Nebuzardan the capitaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiáh ^y choise ether to remaine in his countrye, or to go whither he wolde: or by the enemye he meaneth the Iewes, which shulde afterward knowe Ieremiāhs fidelitie, and therefore fauour him.

a Meaning, that if there were anie man liuing, moued with so great zeale toward ^y people, as were these two, yet that he wolde not grante this request, forasmuch as he had determined the contrarie, Ezek. 14, 14. Zach. 11, 9.

b The doggs, birdes & beastes shulde deuoure them, ^y were slaine.

c The worde signifieth to rine to & fro for feare, and vniquietnes of conscience, as did Cain.

d Not that ^y people was punished for the Kings sinnes only, but for their owne sinnes also, because they consented to his wickednes, 2. King. 21, 9.

The Lord forbidding Jeremiáh to marie, ſheweth him what ſhulde be the afflictions vpon Iudáh. 13 The capti- uity of Baby lon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

The worde of the Lord came alſo vn- to me, ſaying,

26 And thei shal come from the cities of Iudáh, and from about Ierusalém, and from the land of Beniamín, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from y^e South, which shal bring burnt offerings, & sacrifices, and meat offerings, and incense, & shal bring sacrifice of praise into the House of the Lord.

27 But if ye wil not heare me to sanctifie y^e Sabbath daie, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalém in y^e Sabbath daie, then wil I kindle a fyre in the gates thercof, and it shal deuoure the palaces of Ierusalém, and it shal not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destitute the dispensers of his worde. 12 The conspuration of the Iewes against Ieremiáh. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

1 The worde which came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, sayng,

2 Arise, & go downe into the potters house, and there shal I shewe thee my wordes.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beholde, he wrought a worke on the wheelles.

4 And the vessel that he made of a claie, was broken in the hand of the potter. so he returned, & made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israél, can not I do with you as this potter, saith the Lord? holde, as y^e claie is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, o house of Israél.

7 I wil speake suddenly against a nation or a against a kingdome to plucke it vp, & to roote it out and to destitute it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne fro their wickednes, I wil repent of y^e plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to buylde it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my sight and heare not my voice, I wil repēt of the good that I thought to do for them.

11 Speake y^e now therefore vnto the men of Iudáh, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalém, saying, Thus saith y^e Lord, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euerie one from his euil waie, and make your waies and your workes good.

12 But thei said & desperatly, Surely we wil walke after our owne imaginacions & do euerie man after the stubbernes of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard suche things: the virgine of Israél hath done verie filthily.

14 Wil a man forsake the snowe of Libanon, which cometh from y^e rocke of the field?

15 Or shal the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

16 Because my people hath forgotten me, & haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their

Prophetes haue caused them to stumble in their waies from the ancient waies to walke in the paths and waie that is not trodden,

17 To make their land desolate & a perpetual derision, so that euerie one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head,

18 I wil scattre them with an East winde before the enemy: I wil shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

19 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiáh: for the Lawe shal not perish from the Priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not greeue hede to any of his wordes.

20 Hearken vnto me, o Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

21 Shal euil be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remembre that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

22 Therefore, deliver vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their housbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sworde in the battell.

23 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my fete.

24 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgie not their iniquitie, nether put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine angre.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophesieth the destruction of Ierusalém for the contempt and despising of the worde of God.

1 Thus said the Lord, Go, and bye an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And go forthe vnto y^e vallei of Ben-hinn. Hhh. iiii.

a As the potter hath power ouer the clay to make what pot he wil, o to breake the, when he hath made them: so haue I power ouer you to do with you as seemeth good to me, Isa 45.9 wild 15.7 rom 9.20

b When y^e Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to that which he hath ordered in his secret counsell: but when he threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, y^e threatening (which euerteth a condition in) taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement

c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent so rebellious and to their owne self wil.

d As no man y^e hath thrust, refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to go and seke waters abroad to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seke for helpe & succour at strangers and leaue God, which was present with them. e That is, the way of truth, which God had taught by his Law, read chap 6.16 f I wil thew mine angre & not my fauour toward them.

g This argument y^e wicked haue euer vsed against the seruantes of God, the Church can not erie: we are the Church, and therefore who soeuer speake against vs, they ought to dye. 1. King 22.24, cha 7.4 & 20.2 mala 2.4 and thus the false Church persecuteth y^e true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is known by the graces of the holie Ghost. h Let vs scander him, and accuse him: for we shalbe belieued. i Seeing the obdurate malice of the aduersaries, which grewe daily more & more, the Prophet being moued with Gods Spirit, without any carnal affection praiereth for their destruction because he knew that it shoulde tend to Gods glorie, & praise of his Church.

nóm, which is by the entrie of the East gate: & thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shal tel thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the worde of the Lord, o Kings of Iudáh, and inhabitars of Ierusalém, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, y^e God of Israël, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon this place, the which whoso euer heareth, his eares shal tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudáh (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue buylt the hie places of Báal, to burne their sonnes with fyre for burnt offrings vnto Báal, which I commaunded not, nor spake it, nether came it into my minde)

6 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shal nomore be called Tópheth, nor the vallei of Ben-hinnóm, but the vallei of slaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counsel of Iudáh & Ierusalém to noght in this place, and I wil cause the to fall by the sworde before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seke their liues: & their carkeises wil I giue to be meat for the foules of y^e heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

8 *And I wil make this citie desolate & an hissing, so that euerie one y^e passeth thereby, shalbe astonished & chaffe because of all the plagues thereof.

9 *And I wil fede thē with y^e flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euerie one shal eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and streitnes, where-with their enemies that seke their liues, shal holde them streit.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottle in the sight of the men that go with thee,

11 And shalt saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so wil I breake this people & this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessel, that can not be made whole againe, & thei shal burye them in Tópheth til there be no place to burye.

12 Thus wil I do vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitans thereof, and I wil make this citie like Tópheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalém, and the houses of the Kings of Iudáh shalbe defiled as the place of Tópheth, because of all the houses vpon whose rofes thei haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiáh from Tópheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stode in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, Beholde, I wil bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues y^e I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and wolde not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

2 Ieremiáh is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the worde of God. 3 He propheseth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaneth that he is a mocking stocke for the worde of God 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preache the worde.

1 WHen Pashúr, the sonne of Immér, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in y^e House of the Lord, heard that Ieremiáh prophesied these things,

2 Then Pashúr smote Ieremiáh the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the hie gate of Beniamín which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashúr broght Ieremiáh out of the stocks. Then said Ieremiáh vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashúr, but Magór-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil make thee to be a terrour to thy self, & to all thy friends, and thei shal fall by the sworde of their enemies, & thine eyes shal beholde it, and I wil giue all Iudáh into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal carie them captiue into Babel, and shal slae them with the sworde.

5 Moreover I wil deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof & all the precious things thereof, and all y^e treasures of the Kings of Iudáh wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shal spoyle them, and take them awaie and carie them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashúr, & all that dwell in thine house, shal go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt dye, and shalt be buried there, thou & all thy friends, to whome thou hast prophesied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daiely: euerie one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the worde of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derision daiely.

9 Then I said, I wil not make mencion of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his worde was in mine hcart as a burning fyre shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, & I colde not stay.

He prophesieth that Zedekiah shal be taken, and the citie burned.

1 The worde which came vnto Jeremiáh from the Lord, when King Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashúr, the sonne of Malchiáh, & Zephaniáh, the sonne of Maséáh the Priest, saying, a Not that the King was touched with repentance of his finnes and so fought to God, as did Hezekiah when he sent to Iſaiáh, 2 King 19, 1 Isa 37, 2, but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh fought vnto Moses, Exod 9, 28

b To wit, from your enemies to destroye your schuler.

2 * Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord wil deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Jeremiáh, Thus shal you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Beholde, I wil^b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, & I wil assemble them into the middes of this citie.

5 And I my self wil fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme, euen in angre and in wrath, and in great indignacion.

6 And I wil smite the inhabitants of this citie, bothe man, and beast: they shal dye of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I wil deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and suche as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the had of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seke their liues, and he shal smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shal not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the way of life, & the way of death.

9 * He that abideth in this citie, shal dye by the sworde and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shal liue, and his life shal be vnto him for a pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euil and not for good, saith the Lord: it shal be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal burne it with fyre.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the worde of y Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, * Execute iudgement^f in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fyre and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednes of your workes.

And I wil d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shal cut downe thy chief e cedre trees, and cast them in the fyre.
f And many nations shal passe by this citie, & they shal say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hathe y Lord done thus vnto this great citie?
Then shal they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of y Lord their God, and worshipped other gods & serued them.
¶ Wepe not for the dead, & be not moued for them, but wepe for him s that goeth out: for he shal returne no more, nor se his natie countrey.
For thus saith the Lord, As touching h Shallúm the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, which reigned for Iosiáh his father, which wēt out of this place, he shal not returne thether,
But he shal dye in y place, whether they haue led him captiue, and shal se this land no more.
¶ Wo vnto him y buyldeth his house by vnrighteousnes, & his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages and gueth him not for his worke.
He saith, I wil buylde me a wide house and large chambers: so he wil make him self large windowes, and siling with cedre and pante them with vermelon.
Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy self in cedre? did not thy k father eat and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

But thine eyes and thine heart are but o-nely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, & for oppression, and for destruction, euen to do this.
Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, They shal l not lamēt him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: nether shal they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

Thou that dwellest in Lebanón, and makest thy nest in the cedres, how beautiful shalt thou be when forowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauail?
As I liue, saith the Lord, thogh r Coniáh the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, were the signet of my right hand, yet wolde I plucke thee thence.
And I wil giue thee into the hand of the that seke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, eue into the hand of Nebuchad nezzá King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.
And I wil cause them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, & there shal ye dye.
But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shal not returne thether.
Is not this man Coniáh as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure? Wherefore are they carryed away, he and his fede, & cast out into a land that they knowe not?
O earth, earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord.
Thus saith the Lord, Write this t man deliuered of children, a man that shal not prosper in his dayes: for there shalbe no man of his fede that shal prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudáh.

Against false Pastors. s A prophete of the great Pastor Iesús Christ.

¶ W O vnto a the Pastors that deliuer and scatter b the shepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.
Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Iisraél vnto the Pastors that c feede my people, Ye haue scattred my flocke and thrust them out, & haue not visited the: beholde, I wil visite you for the wickednes of your worke, saith the Lord.
And I wil gather the d rēnant of my shepe out of all countreys, whether I had driuen them, and wil bring them againe to their foldes, and they shal growe and encrease.
And I wil set vp shepherdes ouer them, which shal fede them: and they shal dread no more nor be afraid, nether shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

22, 24.

3 Beholde, The daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil raise vnto Daud a righteous^e branche, & a King shal reigne, and prosper, and shal execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his daies^{} Iudáh shalbe saued, and Is-raél shal dwell safely, and this is the name whereby thei shal call him,^{} The Lord our righteousness.

7 Therefore beholde, the daies come,
saith the Lord, that thei shal no more say,
The^f Lord liuerh, which broght vp the children of Israél out of y land of Egypt,

8 But the Lord liuerh, which broght vp and led the sede of the house of Israél out of the North countrey & from all contreys where I had scattered them, and thei shal dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the^s Prophetes, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (& like a man whome wine hathe^o ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holie wordes.

10 For the land is ful of adulterers, and because of othes y land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildeynes are dryed vp, and their^h course is euil, and their force is not right.

11 For bothe the Prophet and the Priest do wickedly: and their wickednes haue I founde in mineⁱ House, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their waie shalbe vnto them as superie^u waies in the darkenes: thei shal be driuen forth and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yere of their visitacion, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue sene foolishnes in the Prophetes of Samaria, y prophecied in Báal and caused my people Israél to erre.

14 I haue sene also in the Prophetes of Ieru-salém^k filthines: thei commit adulterie & walke in lies: thei strengthen also the háds of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednes: thei are all vnto me as So-dóm, and the inhabitants thereof as Gommoráh.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophetes, Beholde, I wil fede them with^m wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from y Prophetes of Ierusalém is wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, and teache you vanitie:
thei speake the visiõ of their owneⁿ heart
e not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 Thei saie stil vnto them that despise me,
The Lord hath said, Ye^o shal haue peace:
& thei saie vnto euerie one that walketh after the stubbernes of his owne heart,
No euil shal come vpon you.

18 For^p who hathe stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hathe perceiued & heard^q his worde: Who hathe marked his worde and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, & a violent whirlwin-de shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The angre of the Lord shal not returne vntil he haue executed, and til he haue performed the thoghts of his heart: in the latter daies ye^q shal vnderstand it plainely.

21^{*} I haue not sent these Prophetes, saith the Lord, yet thei ranne: I haue not spoke to them, and yet thei prophecied.

22 But if thei had stand in my counsel, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they shulde haue turned them from their euil waie, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God^f farre off?

24 Can anie hide him self in secret places, that I shal not se him, saith the Lord?
Do not I fil heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the Prophetes said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long^o Do the Prophetes delite in prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke thei to cause^a my people to forget my Name by their dicames, which thei tel euerie man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgottē my Name for Báal^b

28 The Prophet that hathe a dreame, let him^a tel a dreame, and he that hathe my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: y what is y chaffe to the wheat, saith
the Lord?

29 Is not my worde euen like a fyre, saith the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, that^a steale my worde euerie one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, which haue swete tongues, and saye, He saith.

32 Beholde, I wil come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, & do tel them, and cause my people to erre
by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I send them not, nor cõmanded them: the-fore thei bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the Prophet, or a Priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I wil euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

39 Therefore beholde I, euen I, wil vtterly forget you, and I wil forsake you, & the cite that I gaue you & your fathers, and cast you out of my presence,

CHAP. XXIII.

¹ The vision of the baskets of figges. ² Signifieth that parte of the people shoulde be brought againe from captiuitie. ³ And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people shoulde be carryed away.

1 The Lord shewed me, & beholde, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel had carryed away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: & the other basket had verie noghtie figges which coulde not be eaten, they were so euil.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Ieremiáh? And I said, Figges: the good figges verie good, & the noghtie verie noghtie, which can not be eaten, they are so euil.

4 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so wil I knowe them that are carryed away captiue of Iudah to be good, whome I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I wil bring them againe to this land, and I wil buyld them, and not destroy them, and I wil plant them, and not roote them out,

And I wil giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shal be my people, and I wil be their God: for they shal returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the noghtie figges which can not be eaten, they are so euil (saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, & them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I wil euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a commune talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shal cast them.

10 And I wil send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, til they be consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

¹ He prophesieth that they shalbe in captiuitie seuentie yeres, 12 And that after the seuentie yeres the Babylonians shoulde be destroyed. 14 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

1 The worde that came to Ieremiáh, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yere of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiáh the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, & to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Ammon King of Iudah, euen vnto this daye (that is the thre and twentieth yere) the worde of the Lord hathe come vnto me, & I haue spoken vnto you, saying early and speaking, but ye wolde not heare.

4 And the Lord hathe sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophetes, rising early and finding them, but ye wolde not heare, nor encline your eares to obeie.

5 Then said, Turne againe now euerie one from his euil waie, and from the wickednes of your inuencions, & ye shal dwell in the land that the Lord hathe giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And go not after other gods to serue them, & to worship them, and prouoke me not to angre with the workes of your hands, & I wil not punish you.

7 Neuertheles ye wolde not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to angre with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

26 And all y Kings of the North farre, and nere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the worlde, which are vpon the earth, & the King of Shephách shal drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I wil send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take y cup at thine hand to drinke, then tel them, Thus saith y Lord of hostes, ye shal certainly drinke.

29 For lo, I begynne to plague the cite, where my Name is called vpon, & shulde you go free? Ye shal not go quite: for I wil call for a sworde vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophecie thou against them all these wordes, and saie vnto them, The Lord shal roare from aboue, and thrust out his voice from his holie habitacion: he shal roare vpon his habitacion, & crye aloud, as they that presse the grapes against all y inhabitants of the earth,

31 The sounde shal come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hathe a controuersie w the nations, and wil entre into iudgement with all flesh, & he wil giue them that are wicked, to the sworde, saith the Lord.

Jeremiáh moueth the people to repentance. He is taken of the false Prophetes and Priestes and brought to iudgement. 23 Uriáh the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the wil of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the ^acourt of the Lords House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudáh, which come to worship in the Lords House, all the wordes ^yI commād thee to speake: kepe not ^ba worde backe,

3 If so be they wil hearken, and turne euerie man from his euil way, that I may ^crepent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednes of their workes.

4 And ^ythalt say vnto thé, Thus saith the Lord, If ye wil not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophetes, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending ^{them}, and wil not obeye ^{them},

6 Then wil I make this House like ^dShilóh, and wil make this citie ^ea curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people heard Ieremiáh speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiáh had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded ^{him} to speake vnto all the people, thé the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people toke him, and said, Thou shalt dye the death.

9 Why hast thou prophecied in the Name of ^yLord, saying, This ^fHouse shalbe like Shilóh, & this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant: & all the people were gathered against Ieremiáh in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudáh heard of these things, they came vp from ^yKings house into the House of the Lord, & sate downe in the entrie of the ^{newe} gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priestes, and the Prophetes vnto the princes, & to all ^ypeople, saying, " This man is worthie to dye: for he hathe prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiáh vnto all the princes, & to all the people, saying, The Lord hathe ^hsent me to prophecie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amēd your waies & your workes, & heare the voice of ^yLord your God, ^ythe Lord may repent him of ^yplague, ^yhe hathe pronounced against you:

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But knowe ye for certeine, ^yif ye put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truerh ^yLord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes & to the Prophetes, This man is not worthie to dye: for he hathe spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certeine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Micháh the Morashite ^{*propheciēd in ^yMicháh 1, 2, & 3, 12.} dayes of Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and spake to all the people of Iudáh, saying,

Thus saith ^yLord of hostes, Ziōn shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalēm shalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the ^{House} shalbe as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and all Iudáh put him to death: did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the ^kplague, that he had pronouced against them: thus might we procure great euil against our foules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in ^yName of the Lord, ^{one}Vriáh the sonne of Shemaiáh, of Kiriát-iarem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the wordes of Ieremiáh.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, & all the princes heard his wordes, the King soght to slae him. But when Vriáh heard it, he was afraied and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Thé Iehoiakim the King ^lsent men into Egypt, ^{euen}Elnathán the sonne of Achbár, and certeine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Vriáh out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slewe him with the sworde, and ^mcast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikám ⁿthe sonne of Shaphán was with Ieremiáh ^ythey shulde not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Jeremiáh at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudáh and to the other Kings that were nere, whereby they are monished to be subiectes vnto Nebuchad-nazár. He warneth the people & the Kings & rulers that they beleue not false Prophetes.

IN the beginning of the reigne of ^aIehoiakim ^ysonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which shulde be after, and contrarie wise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoide many doutes, & make the readinge muche more easy.

^a That is, in that place of the Temple whereunto the people resort out of all Iudáh to sacrifice
^b To the intent that they shulde pretend no ignorance, as Act 20, 27.
^c Read Chap 38, 2.

^d Read Chap 7, 12
^e So ^y when they wolde curse any, they shal say, God do to thee as to Ierusalēm.

^f Because of Gods promise to the Temple, Psal. 132, 14. ^y he wolde for euer remaine there, ^y hypocrites thought this Temple wolde neuer perishe, and therefore thought it blasphemie to speake against it, Mat 26, 61. act 6, 13, not considering ^y this was ment of ^y Church, where God wil remaine forever.
^g So called, because it was repaired by Ioshám, 2 Kings 22, 35.
^h For judgement of death belongeth to thierman.
ⁱ He bothe sheweth the cause of his doings plainly, and also threatneth them ^y they shulde nothing auoide, though they shulde put him to death, but keepe greater vengeance vpon their heads.

¹ That is, of the House of ^y Lords: to wit, Ziōn, and these examples the goulie alledged to deliner Ieremiáh out of the Priestes hands whose rage wolde not haue bene satisfied, but by his death.

^k So that the citie was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Saneherib.
^l Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods worde declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the end they procure nothing, but proue Gods iudgements so muche ymore.
^m As in the first Hezekiahs example is to be followed, for in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his house holde ⁿ Which declareth that nothing wolde haue appeased their furie, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

^a As touching the disposition of these propheties, they that gathered them together, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which shulde be after, and contrarie wise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoide many doutes, & make the readinge muche more easy.

b By suche signes & Prophetes vnto some times to confirme their prophecies, w^{ch} not withstanding they coulde not do of them selues, but inasmuch as they had a reuelation for the same, Isa. 20.2. and therefore the false prophetes to get more credit did vse also suche visible signes, but they had no reuelation, 1. - dáh came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,
- 2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bondes, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,
- 3 And send them to the King of Edóm, & to the King of Moáb, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidon, by the hád of the messengers which come to Ierusalém vnto Zedekiah the King of Iudáh,
- 4 And commande them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israél, Thus shal ye say vnto your masters,
- 5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the grounde, by my great power, & by my outstretched arme, & haue giuen it vnto whome it pleased me.
- 6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hád of Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babél my seruant, and the beastes of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.
- 7 And all nations shal serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntil the verie time of his land come also: then manie nations and great Kings shal serue them selues of him.
- 8 And the nation & kingdome which wil not serue y^e same Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, and that wil not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, the same nation wil I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntil I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.
- 9 Therefore heare not your Prophetes nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your forceiers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the King of Babél.
- 10 For their prophecies a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I shulde cast you out, and you shulde perish.
- 11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, & serue him, those wil I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shal occupie it and dwell therein.
- 12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudáh according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.
- 13 Why wil ye dye, thou, & thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spokē against y^e nation, that wil not serue y^e King of Babél?
- 14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the Prophetes, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shal not serue the King of Babél: for they prophecies a lie vnto you.

- 15 For I haue not sent the, saith the Lord, yet they prophecies a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, bothe you, and the Prophetes that prophecies vnto you.
- 16 ¶ Also I spake to y^e Priestes, & to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your Prophetes that prophecies vnto you, saying, Beholde, the vessels of the House of the Lord shal now shortly be brought againe from Babél, for they prophecies a lie vnto you.
- 17 Heare the not, but serue the King of Babél, that ye may liue: wherefore shulde this cite be desolate?
- 18 But if they be Prophetes, and if the worde of the Lord be with the, let them s^e in treat the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, & in the house of the King of Iudáh, & at Ierusalém, go not to Babél.
- 19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this cite,
- 20 Which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél toke not, when he caried away captiue Iechoniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh from Ierusalém to Babél, with all the nobles of Iudáh and Ierusalém.
- 21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes y^e God of Israél, concerning the vessels y^e remaine in the House of the Lord, & in y^e house of the King of Iudáh, and at Ierusalém,
- 22 They shalbe brought to Babél, and there they shalbe vntil the day that I visite the, saith the Lord: then wil I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophecies of Hananiah 12 Ieremiáh repro- ueth Hananiah, and prophecies.

- 1 And that same yeere in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudáh in the fourth yere, and in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azúr the Prophet, w^{ch} was of Gibeon, spake to me in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said,
- 2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babél.
- 3 Within two yeres space I wil bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, y^e Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél toke away from this place, and caried them into Babél.
- 4 And I wil bring againe to this place Iechoniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, with all the that were caried away captiue of Iudáh, and wēt into Babél, saith the Lord: for I wil breake the yoke of the King of Babél.

Ambicion and rage.

Ieremiáh. To prophecie lyes.

^d He was so effected, though he was a false Prophet.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiáh said vnto the ^e That is, I wolde with y same for Gods honour, & welthe of my people, but he hath appointed the contrarie.

6 Eue the Prophet Ieremiáh said, So be it: the Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lords House, and all that is caried captiue from Babél into this place.

7 But heare thou now this worde that I wil speake in thine cares and in the cares of all the people.

^f Meaning, that the Prophetes that did either denounce warre or peace, were tryed either true or false by the successe of their prophcies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trye the faith of his, Deut. 13.3.

8 The Prophetes that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, ^f prophecied against manie countreys, and against great king domes, of warre, & of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet shal come to passe, then shal the Prophet be known that the Lord hathe truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiáh the Prophet toke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it.

^g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale so the truth, but are led w ambition to get the fauour of me, & therefore can not abide any, that might discredit them, but burst forth into rages and contrarie to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they do, so they may mainteine their estimation

11 And Hananiáh spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith y Lord, Euen so wil I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, frõ the necke of all nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiáh went his way.

^h That is, a hard, and cruel seruitude.

12 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh the Prophet, (after that Hananiáh the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiáh) saying,

13 Go, & tel Hananiáh, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood: but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon y neck: of all these natiõs, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél: for ther shal serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the field also.

ⁱ Signifying, that all shoulde be his, as Dan. 2.38.

15 Thẽ said the Prophet Ieremiáh vnto the Prophet Hananiáh, Heare now Hananiáh, the Lord hathe not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye.

^k Seeing this thing was euident in the eyes of y people, and yet they returned not to y Lord, it is manifest, that miracles can not moue vs, neither the worde it self, except God rouch the heart.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil cast thee from of the earth: this yere thou shalt dye, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiáh the Prophet ^k dyed the same yere in the fuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

^l Ieremiáh writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after seuentie yeres. 16 He prophecieth the destruccion of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem.

^{lim. 21} He threatneth the prophetes that seduce the people 25 The death of Semeiah is prophesied.

^{Or, Ierme} Now these are y wordes of the booke that Ieremiáh the Prophet sent frõ Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophetes, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzár had caryed away captiue from Ierusalem to Babél.

^c To intreat of some equalled persons.

4 Thus hathe the Lord of hostes the God of Israël spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue caused to be caryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babél

^d To wit, the Lord, whole worke this was.

5 Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beger sonnes, and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to housbands, that they may beare sonnes & daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

^e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affliction that he bare to the tyrant, but that they shoulde pray for the commonwealth, and quietnes, y their troubles might not be increased, and that they might w more patience and lesse grief waite for the tyme of their deliuerance, which God had appoynted mozte certeyne: for els not onely the Iſraelites, but all the worlde: yea, & the insensible creatures shoulde reioyce when these tyrants shoulde be destroyed, as Isa. 14.4.

7 And seke the prosperitie of the citie, whether I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shal you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Let not your prophetes, & your sothes, yers that be amõg you, deceiue you, nether giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeres be accomplished at Babél, I wil visit you, and performe my good promes toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I knowe y thoughts, that I haue thought towardes you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shal you crye vnto me, and ye shal go and pray vnto me, and I wil heare you,

13 And ye shal seke me and finde me, because ye shal seke me with all y heart.

^f When your oppression shalbe great, & your afflictions cause you to repent your disobedience, & also whẽ y seuentie yeres of your captiuitie shalbe expired, 2 Chr. 36.22 Ezra 1.3. chap 25 10. dan 9.2.

14 And I wil be founde of you, saith y Lord, and I wil turne away your captiuitie, and I wil gather you from all the nations and from all the places, whether I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and wil bring you againe again vnto the place, whence I caufed you to be caryed away captiue.

^g As Aháb, Zedekiah, and Shemaiáh, ¹⁵ ¶ Because ye haue faid, The Lord hath raised vs vp 8 Prophetes in Babél,

¹⁶ Therefore thus faeth the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, & of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

¹⁸ And I wil perſecute them with the ſworde, with the famine, & with the peſtilence: & I wil make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, & a curſe, and aſtoniſhment and an hiſſing, and a reproche among all the nations whether I haue caſt them,

^l Read Chap. 7. 13 & 25. 1 & 26. 5.

¹⁹ Because they haue not heard my wordes, ſaith the Lord, which I ſent vnto them by my ſeruants the Prophetes, ^l riſing vp early, & ſending them, but ye wolde not heare, ſaith the Lord.

²⁰ ¶ Heare ye therefore the wordes of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue ſent from Ieruſalem to Babél.

²² And all they of the captiuitie of Iudáh, that are in Babél, ſhal take vp this curſe againſt them. & ſay, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Aháb, whome the King of Babél burnt in the fyre, ^m Because they gaue the people hope of ſpedy returning.

ⁿ Which was adulterie, and falſifying the wordes of God.

²³ Because they haue committed a vilenie in Iſraél, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue ſpoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, & teſtifie it, ſaith the Lord.

^o Or, dreamer

²⁴ ¶ Thou ſhalt alſo ſpeake to Shemaiáh the ^o Nehelamite, ſaying,

²⁵ Thus ſpeaketh ^ſ Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, ſaying, Because thou haſt ſet letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ieruſalem, & to Zephaniáh the ſonne of Maſeráh the Prieſt, and to all the Prieſts, ſaying,

^p Shemaiáh ^ſ falſe prophet flattereth Zephaniáh the chief Prieſt, as though God had giuen him the ſpirit and zeale of Iehoiadá to puniſh whomeuer treſpased againſt the wordes of God, of the ^ſ he wolde haue made Ieremiáh one, calling him a rauer & a falſe pphet

²⁶ The Lord hath made thee Prieſt, for ^o Iehoiadá the Prieſt, that ye ſhulde be officers in the Houſe of ^ſ Lord, for euery mā that raueth & maketh him ſelf a Prophet, to put him in priſon and in the ſtockeſ.

²⁷ Now therefore why haſt not thou reproued Ieremiáh of Anathóth, which prophecieth vnto you?

²⁸ For, for this cauſe he ſent vnto vs in Babél, ſaying, This captiuitie is long: buylde houſes to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

²⁹ And Zephaniáh the Prieſt red this letter in the eares of Ieremiáh the Prophet.

³⁰ Then came the wordes of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, ſaying,

³¹ Send to all the of the captiuitie, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of Shemaiáh the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiáh hath propheciéd vnto you, & I ſent him not, & he caufed you to truſt in a lye, ³² Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil viſite Shemaiáh the Nehelamite, and his ſede: he ſhal not haue a man ^p to dwell among this people, nether ſhal he beholde the good, that I wil do for my people, ſaith ^ſ Lord, becauſe he hath ſpoken rebellioſly againſt the Lord.

^p He & his ſede ſhalbe deſtroyed, ſo that none of the ſhulde ſe the benefite of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

¹ The returne of the people from Babylon. ¹⁶ He menaceth the enemies, ¹⁸ And comforteth the Church.

¹ The wordes, that came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, ſaying,

² Thus ſpeaketh the Lord God of Iſraél, ſaying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue ſpoken vnto thee in a booke.

³ For lo, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I wil bring againe ^ſ captiuitie of my people Iſraél and Iudáh, ſaith the Lord: for I wil reſtore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, & they ſhal poſſeſſe it.

^a Because they ſhulde be assured and their poſteritie comforted in the hope of this deliuerance promiſed.

⁴ Again, theſe are the wordes ^ſ the Lord ſpake concerning Iſraél, and concernig Iudáh.

⁵ For thus ſaith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare & not of peace.

⁶ Demande now & beholde, if man trauail with child: wherefore do I beholde euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauail, & all faces are turned into a paleneſ?

^b He ſheweth that before ^ſ this deliuerance ſhal come, the Caldeans ſhulde be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and ^ſ they ſhulde be in ſuche perplexitie & ſorrow as a woman in her trauail, as Iſa. 13. 8.

⁷ Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet ſhal he be deliuered from it.

⁸ For in that ^d day, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, I wil breake ^e his yoke from thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and ſtrangers ſhal no more ſerue thee ſelues ^f of him.

^c Meaning, ^ſ the time of their captiuitie ſhulde be grievous

⁹ But they ſhal ſerue the Lord their God, & ^s Dauid their King, whome I wil raiſe vp vnto them.

¹⁰ Therefore feare not, ^o my ſeruāt Iaakób, ſaith the Lord, nether be afraid, ^o Iſraél: for lo, I wil deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy ſede from the land of their captiuitie, & Iaakób ſhal turne againe, & ſhal be in reſt and proſperitie & none ſhal make him afraid.

thee by iudgement, and not vitterly cut thee of.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wounde is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medecines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wounde of an enemye, & with a sharpe chaſtise méet for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy finnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy finnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shal be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shal go into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shal be spoyled, & all they that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed.

17 For I wil restore helth vnto thee, & I wil heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zión, whome no man seketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Iakóbs tentes, and haue compaſſion on his dwelling places: and the cite shal be buylded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shal remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shal procede a thankesgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I wil multiplie them, and they shal not be fewe: I wil also glorifie them, and they shal not be diminished.

20 Their childré also shalbe as afore time, and their congregacion shalbe established before me: & I wil visite all that vexe thé.

21 And their noble ruler shalbe of them selues, and their gouernour shal procede from the middes of them, and I wil cause him to drawe nere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto me, saith the Lord?

22 And ye shalbe my people, and I wil be your God.

23 Beholde, the temple of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlwinde hangeth ouer, shal light vpon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shal not returne, vntil he haue done, and vntil he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter daies ye shal vnderstand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 When this noble gouernour shal come: meaning Christ, not onely Iudáh & Iſraél, but the rest of y world shalbe called.

At the same time, saith the Lord, wil I be the God of all the families of Iſraél, and they shalbe my people.

Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sworde, founde grace in the wilderness: he walked before Iſraél to cause him to rest.

The Lord hath appeared vnto me of olde, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawn thee.

4 Again I wil buyld thee, and thou shalt be buylded, o virgine Iſraél: thou shalt stil be adorned with thy tymbrels, and shalt go forth in the dance of thé that be ioyful.

5 Thou shalt yet plát vines vpon the mountaynes of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shal make them commune.

6 For the daies shal come that the watchmen vpon the moú: of Ephráim shal crye, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zión to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnes for Iakób, and shoute for ioye among the chief of the Gentiles: publish praise, an I say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Iſraél.

8 Beholde, I wil bring thé from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the worlde, with the blinde & the lame among them, with the woman with childe, & her that is deliuered also: a great companie shal returne hether.

9 They shal come weeping, and with mercie wil I bring them againe: I wil leade them by the riuers of water in a straight way, wherein they shal not stumble: for I am a Father to Iſraél, and Ephráim is my first borne.

10 Hear the worde of the Lord, o ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles a farre of, & say, He scattered Iſraél, wil gather him and wil kepe him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iakób, & rāſomed him from the hand of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shal come, and reioyce in the light of Zión, and shal runne to the beútifulnes of the Lord, euen for y wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of shepe, and bullockes: and their soule shalbe as a watered gāden, and they shal haue no more sorow.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremiáh is cast into prison because he prophesied that the citie should be take of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth, that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

1 THe worde that came vnto Jeremiáh from the Lord, in the tenth yere of Zedekiáh King of Iudáh, which was the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzár.
2 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Jeremiáh the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, & was in the King of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiáh King of Iudáh had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore dost thou prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shal take it:
4 And Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh shal not escape out of the hand of y Caldeans, but shal surely be deliuered into the háds of the King of Babel, and shal speake with him mouthe to mouthe, and his eyes shal beholde his face,

5 And he shal lead Zedekiáh to Babel, and there shal he be, vntil I visite him, saith the Lord: thogh ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shal not prosper.
6 ¶ And Jeremiáh said, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
7 Beholde, Hanameél, the sonne of Shalúm thine vncle, shal come vnto thee and saie, Bye vnto thee my field, that is in Anathóth: for the title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee to bye it.

8 So Hanameél, mine vnclcs sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I praie thee, that is in Anathóth, which is in the countrei of Beniamín: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.
9 And I bought the field of Hanameél, mine vnclcs sonne, that was in Anathóth, and weighed him y siluer, euen seuē shekels, and ten peces of siluer.
10 And I writ it in the boke and signed it, & toke witnesse, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

11 So I toke the boke of the possession, being sealed according to the Law, and custome, with the boke that was open,
12 And I gaue the boke of the possession vnto Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, the sonne of Maaseráh, in the sight of Hanameél mine vnclcs sonne, and in y presence of the witnesse, written in the boke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Barúch before them, saying,
14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this boke of the possession, bothe that is sealed, and this boke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that thei maie continue a long time.
15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyardes shalbe possessed againe in this land.
16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the boke of the possession vnto Barúch, the sonne of Neriáh, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying,
17 Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauē and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.
18 *Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompencest the iniquitie of the fathers into y bosome of their childre after them: o God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,
19 Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are opē vpon all the waies of the sonnes of men, to giue to euerie one according to his waies, and according to the frute of his workes)
20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, & in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this daie, 21 And hast broght thy people Israel out of the lād of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,
22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou didest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and honie,
23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, nether walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.
24 Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sworde, and of the famiue, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.
25 And thou hast said vnto me, o Lord God, Bye vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesse: for the citie shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.
26 ¶ The came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremiáh, saying, 27 Beholde, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there anie thing to hard for me?
28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of the Nebuchad-nezzár

29 And the Caldeans shal come and fight against this citie, and set fyre on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offred incense vnto Báal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto angre.

30 For the children of Israél, and the children of Iudáh haue surely done euil before me from their youth: for the children of Israél haue surely prouoked me to angre with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hathe bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine angre, and of my wrath, from the daye, that they buylt it, euen vnto this daye, that I shulde remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euil of the children of Israél, and of the children of Iudáh, which they haue done to prouoke me to angre, euen they, their Kings, their princes, their Priests, and their Prophetes, and the me of Iudáh, and the inhabitáts of Ierusalém.

33 And they haue turned vnto me the backe & not the face: thogh I taught them, rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obediēt to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they buylt the hye places of Báal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnóm, to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to passe through the fyre vnto Moléch, & I commaunded them not, nether came it into my minde, that they shulde do suche abomination, to cause Iudáh to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hathe the Lord God of Israél spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sworde, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 Beholde, I wil gather the out of all countreis, wherein I haue scatred them in mine angre, & in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I wil cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shal be my people, and I wil be their God.

39 And I wil giue the one heart & one way, y thei may feare me for euer for the welth of them, & of their children after them.

40 And I wil make an euerlasting couenāt w the, that I wil neuer turne away frō the to do the good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, y thei shal not departe frō me.

41 Yea, I wil delité in the to do the good, & I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, & with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue broght all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shal be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Mé shal bye fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witness in the land of Beniamín, and round about Ierusalém, & in the cities of Iudáh, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

3 Call vnto me, and I wil answer thee, and shewe thee great & mightie things, which thou knowest not.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fil the selues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue flaine in mine angre and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

6 Beholde, I wil giue it helth & amendment: for I wil cure them, and wil reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudáh, and the captiuitie of Israél to returne, & wil buyld them as at the first.

8 And I wil cleanse them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardone all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a boy, a praise, and an honour before all the nacions of the earth, which shal heare all the good that I do vnto them: and they shal feare, & tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the welth, that I shewe vnto this citie.

*He propoſeth the obedience of the Rechabites, & there-and euerie one his handmaide, and that none ſhulde ſerue them ſelues of them any more, thei obeyed and let them go.

¹⁰ Ebr returned. 11 But afterwarde thei repented and cauſed the ſeruants & the handmaids, whome thei had let go ſie to returne & helde the in ſubiection as ſeruants and handmaidens.

12 Therefore the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith $\hat{y}$ Lord God of Iſraél, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of ſeruants, ſaying,

14 *At the terme of ſeuen yeres let ye go, euerie mā his brother an Ebrewe which hath bene ſolde vnto thee: & when he hath ſerued thee ſix yeres, thou ſhalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my ſight in proclaiming libertie, euerie man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in the Houſe, whereupon my Name is called.

⁸ Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a moſt ſolemne & ſtreit couenant, made in the Name of $\hat{y}$ Lord.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue cauſed euerie man his ſeruant, & euerie man his handmaide, whome ye had ſet at libertie at their pleaſure, to returne, and holde them in ſubiection to be vnto you as ſeruants and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming ſiedome euerie man to his brother, and euerie man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, ſaith $\hat{y}$ Lord, to the ſworde, to the peſtilence, and to the famine, & I wil make you a terrour to all the kingdoms of the earth.

⁸ That is, I giue the ſworde libertie to deſtroy you.

18 And I wil giue thoſe men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which thei had made before me, when thei cut the calfe in twaine, and paſſed betwene the partes thereof.

² As touching this manner of ſolemne couenant which the Ancients vſed by paſſing betwene the two partes of a beaſt, to ſignifie that $\hat{y}$ tranſgreſſor of the ſame couenant ſhulde be ſo diuided in pieces, read Ge 37, 31.

19 The princes of Iudáh, and the princes of Ieruſalém, the Eunuches, and the Priſtes, and all the people of the land, which paſſed betwene the partes of the calfe,

20 I wil euē giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of the that ſeke then life: and their dead bodies ſhalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beaſtes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah King of Iudáh, and his princes wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of the that ſeke their life, & into the hand of the King of Babels hoſte, who are gone vp from you.

³⁷ To fight againſt Egyptians, as Chap. 37, 31.

22 Beholde, I wil comāde, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to returne to this citie, and thei ſhal fight againſt it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I wil make $\hat{y}$ cities of Iudáh deſolate without an inhabitant.

The worde which came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, in the daies of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Joſiah King of Iudáh, ſaying,

^a For the diſpoſition and order of theſe prophecies, read Chap 27.

2 Go vnto the houſe of the Rechabites, & ſpeake vnto them, & bring them into the Houſe of $\hat{y}$ Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

^b Thei came of Hobab Moſes father in law, who was no Iſraelite, but after ioyned with them in the ſeruice of God.

3 Then toke I Iazaniah, the ſonne of Ieremiáh the ſonne of Habazzaniah, and his brethren, and all his ſonnes, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the Houſe of the Lord, into the chamber of the ſonnes of Hanán, the ſonne of Igdaiah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboute the chamber of Maafetiah the ſonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treaſure.

^c That is, a Prophete.

5 And I ſet before the ſonnes of the houſe of the Rechabites, pottes ful of wine, and cuppes, and ſaid vnto them, Drinke wine.

^d Or, deere.

6 But thei ſaid, We wil drinke no wine: for Ionadáb the ſonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, ſaying, Ye ſhal drinke no wine, neither you nor your ſonnes for euer.

^d The Prophet ſaith not, The Lord ſaith thus: for then thei ought to haue obeyed. but he tendeth to another end: is, to declare their obedience to man, ſeing the Iewes wolde not obey God him ſelfe. ^e Whome Iehu the King of Iſraél ſauored for his zeale, 2 King 10, 15.

7 Neither ſhal ye buylde houſe, nor ſowe ſede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your daies ye ſhal dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be ſtrangers.

^f Teaching them hereby to ſee all occaſions of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that thei might knowe that thei were ſtrangers in $\hat{y}$ earth, and be ready to depart at all occaſions.

8 Thus haue we obeyed $\hat{y}$ voice of Ionadáb the ſonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, neither we, our wiues, our ſonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither buylde we houſes for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyarde, nor field, nor ſede,

10 But we haue remained in tētes, and haue obeyed, & done according to all that Ionadáb our father commanded vs.

^g Which was now for the ſpace of thre hundredth yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we ſaid, Come, and let vs go to Ieruſalém, from the hoſte of the Caldeans, and from the hoſte of Arám: ſo we dwell at Ieruſalém.

^h Which declarereth that thei were not ſo bound to their vowe, that it coulde not be broke for any neceſſitie: for where thei were recomanded to dwell in tētes, thei dwell now at Ieruſalém for feare of $\hat{y}$ warres.

12 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Go, and tel the men of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, Wil ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, ſaith the Lord?

ⁱ Whome I haue choſen to be my childre, ſeing theſe were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandment of their fathers?

14 The comādemēt of Ionadáb the ſonne of Rechab that he comāded his ſonnes, that thei ſhulde drinke no wine, is ſurely kept: for vnto this day thei drinke none, but obey their fathers comādemēt:

R I haue most diligently exhorted & warned you bothe by my selfe & my Prophetes.

notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye wolde not obcie me.

I haue sent also vnto you all my seruantes the Prophetes, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, *Returne now euerie mā from his euil waie, and amende your workes, and go not after other gods to seue them, & ye shal dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye wolde not incline your eare, nor obcie me.

Surely the sonnes of Ionadáb the sonne of Recháb, haue kept y^e cōmandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obciēd me.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, y^e God of Israél, Beholde, I wil bring vpon Iudáh, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalém, all y^e euil that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue¹ spoken vnto them, but thei wolde not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but thei wolde not answer.

And Ieremiáh said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith y^e Lord of hostes the God of Israél, Because ye haue obciēd the cōmandement of Ionadáb your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath cōmanded you, Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, Ionadáb the sonne of Recháb shal^m not want a man, to stād before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Barúch writeth, as Ieremiáh enditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudáh and Israél. 9 He sent vnto the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all, 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before the also. 23 The King casteth it in the fyre. 28 There is another written as the cōmandement of the Lord.

a Read Chap. I 25¹.

And in the fourth^a yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

Take thee a roole or boke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israél, & against Iudáh, and against all the nacions, from the daie that I spake vnto thee, euen^b from the daies of Iosiáh vnto this daie.

b Which were twenty and thre yere, as Cha 25, 3 counting from the thirteenth yere of Iosiáhs reigne.

It maie be that the house of Iudáh wil heare of all the euil, which I determined to do vnto them that thei may returne euerie man from his euil waie, that I maie forgiue their inquitie and their sinnes.

c As he did iudice.

Then Ieremiáh called Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, and Barúch wrote^c at y^e mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpō a roole or boke.

And Ieremiáh cōmanded Barúch, saying,

I am shut vp,^d & can not go into y^e House of the Lord.

d Meaning, in prisō, through the malice of the Priestes.

Therefore go thou, and read the roole wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the^e fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudáh, y^e come out of their cities.

It may be that thei wil^f pray before the Lord, and euerie one returne from his euil way, for the angre & the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their custome was when this fast-redware or any great plague of God t^e He sheweth that fasting without prayer and repentance availerh nothing, but is mere hypocritie.

So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh did according vnto all, that Ieremiáh y^e Prophet cōmanded him, reading in the boke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

And in the fift^s yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalém, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudáh vnto Ierusalém.

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Barúch red this roole, which was a litle before that Ierusalém was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his cōpanions were led away captiues.

Then red Barúch in the boke the wordes of Ieremiáh in the House of the Lord, in the chambre of Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the^h newe gate of the Lords House, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is y^e East gate of the Temple.

When Michaiáh the sonne of Gemariáh, the sonne of Shaphán had heard out of the boke all the wordes of the Lord,

Then he went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and lo, all y^e princes sate there, euen Elishamá the Chancellour, & Delaiáh the sonne of Shemariáh, and Elnathán y^e sonne of Achbór, and Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán, and Zedekiáh the sonne of Hananiáh, and all the princes.

Then Michaiáh declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard whē Barúch red in the boke in the audience of the people.

Therefore all the princes sent Iehudí the sonne of Nethaniáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, the sonne of Chushí, vnto Barúch, saying, Take in thine hand the roole, wherein thou hast red in the audience of the people, and come. So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, toke the roole in his hand, and came vnto them.

And thei said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Barúch red it in their audience.

Now when thei had heard all the wordes, they whereⁱ afrared bothe one and other, and said vnto Barúch, We wil certifie the King of all these wordes.

i The godhe were afrared, seing God so offend. d. & the wicked were anonied for y^e horror of the punishment.

And thei examined Barúch, saying, Tels vs now, how didest y^e write all these wordes at his mouth.

13 Then

18 Then Barúch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the boke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Barúch, Go, ^k hide thee, thou and Ieremiáh, and let no man knowe where ye be.

^k Theſe y were godlie among the princes, gaue this counſel, by whoſe meanes it is like that Ieremiáh was deuoured: for theſe knewe the rage of y King and of y wicked to be ſuche that they coulde not eſcape without danger of their liues.

20 ¶ And thei wēt in to the Kig to y court, but thei laied vp y roole in the chābre of Eliſhamá the Chancellour & tolde y King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King ſent Iehudí to ſet y roole, & he toke it out of Eliſhamá the Chancellors chambre, and Iehudí red it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princis, which ſtoode beſide the King.

22 Now the King ſate in the winter houſe, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fyre burning before him.

^k Which continued parte of Nouember & parte of Decēber.

23 And when Iehudí had red thre, or foure ſides, he cut it with the penknife, and caſt it into the fyre, that was on the herth vntil all the roole was coſumed in the fyre, that was on the herth.

^m Shewing, y the wicked in ſtead of repenning, when thei heare Gods iudgements, grow into farther malice againſt him and his worde.

24 Yet thei were not afraid, nor rent ^m their garments, ⁿither the King, nor any of his ſeruants, that heard all theſe wordes.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathán, and Delaſáh, and Gemariáh had beſought the King, that he wolde not burne the roole: but he wolde not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeél the ſonne of Hammélech, & Seraſáh the ſonne of Azriél, & Shelemiáh the ſonne of Abdiél, to take Baruch the ſcribe, and Ieremiáh the Prophet, but the Lord ^a hid them.

^a Thus we ſe the continual care, that God hath euer ouer his to preſerue them from the rage of the wicked.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiáh (after that the King had burnt the roole and the wordes w^t Barúch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiáh) ſaying,

^c Though the wicked thinke to haue aboliſhed the worde of God, when they haue burnt the boke thereof: yet this declarerh that God wil not onely raiſe it vp againe, but alſo increaſe it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verſ. 32.

28 Take thee againe ^o another roole and write in it all y former wordes that were in the firſt roole which Iehoiakím y King of Iudáh hath burnt,

^p Theſe are Iehoiakims wordes

29 And y ſhalt ſay to Iehoiakím Kig of Iudáh, Thus ſaith y Lord, Thou haſt burnt this roole, ſaying, Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying, that the King of Babel ſhal certainly come and deſtroye this land, and ſhal take thence bothe man and beaſt

^q Though Iehoiachin his ſonne ſucceeded hi, yet becauſe he reigned but thre moneths, it was eſteemed as no reigne
^r K ad Chap. 23. 19.

30 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of Iehoiakím King of Iudáh, He ſhal haue ^q none to ſit vpon the throne of Dauíd, and his ^r dead bodie ſhalbe caſt out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the froſt.

31 And I wil viſite him and his ſede, and his ſeruantes for their iniquitie, & I wil bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, & vpon the men of Iudáh all the euil that I haue pronounced againſt them: but they wolde not heare.

32 Then toke Ieremiáh another roole, and gaue it Barúch the ſcribe y ſonne of Ne-riáh, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the boke which Iehoiakím Kig of Iudáh had burnt in the fyre, and there were added beſides them many like wordes.

13 And when he was in the ^g gate of Benjamin, there was a chief officer, whoſe name was Iriſáh, the ſonne of Shelemiáh, the ſonne of Hananiáh, and he toke Ieremiáh the Prophet, ſaying, Thou ^h fleeſt to the Caldeans.

ⁱ That is, so long as there was any bread, in the citie: thus God promised for his ^y he wil cause their enemies to preferre them to ^y end whereunto he hath appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

¹ By the motion of the rulers Jeremiáh is put into a dongeon. 14. At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Jeremiáh to be broght forth of the dongeon. 17. Jeremiáh sheweth the King how he might escape death.

1 Then Shephatiáh the sonne of Matán, and Gedaliáh the sonne of Pashúr, and Iucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, & Pashúr the sonne of Malchiáh, heard the wordes that Jeremiáh had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shal dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shal liue: for he shal haue his life for ^b a pray, and shal liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shal surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shal take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto ^y King, We beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ^{weakeneth} the hands of the men of warre ^c that remaine in this citie; and the hands of all the people, in speaking suche wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiáh the King said, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the King can ^{denie} you nothing.

6 Then toke they Jeremiáh, and cast him into the dongeon of Malchiáh the sonne of Hammélech, that was in the ^{part} of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiáh with coards: and in the dongeon there was no water but myre: so Jeremiáh sticke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ^{blacke} More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiáh in the dongeon (then the King fate in the ^{gate} of Beniamín)

8 And Ebed-melech wét out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, ^{these} men haue done euil in all ^y they haue done to Jeremiáh the Prophet, whome they haue cast into ^y dongeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech ^y blacke More, saying, Take fró hence thirtie men ^{with} thee, and take Jeremiáh the Prophet out of the dongeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-melech toke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and toke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dongeon to Jeremiáh.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Jeremiáh, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne vnder thine arme holes, betwene the coardes. And Jeremiáh did so.

13 So they drewe vp Jeremiáh with coardes and toke him vp out of the dongeon, and Jeremiáh remained in ^s the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke Jeremiáh the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the House of the Lord, & the King said vnto Jeremiáh, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiáh said to Zedekiáh, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slaye me? and if I giue thee counfel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Jeremiáh, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I wil not slaye thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seke thy life.

17 Then said Jeremiáh vnto Zedekiáh, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, ^y God of Israël, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then shal this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and thei shal burne it with fyre, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiáh the King said vnto Iere-miáh, I am careful for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest thei deliuer me into their hands, and thei mocke me.

20 But Jeremiáh said, Thei shal not deli-uer thee: hearken vnto the voice of the Lord, I beseeche thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shal it be wel vnto thee, and thy soule shal liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the worde ^g the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are ^k left in the King of Iudahs house, shal be brought forth to ^g King of Babels princes: and those women shal say, Thy friendes haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy fete are fastened in the myre, and thei are turned backe.

^k When Iero-

23 So thei shal bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fyre.

24 Then said Zedekiáh vnto Jeremiáh, Let no man knowe of these wordes, and thou shalt not dye.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and thei come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the King, hide it not from vs; and we wil not slay thee: also what the King said vnto thee,

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly ^l besoght the King that he wolde not

27 Thei came all the princes vnto Jeremiáh and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that ^g King had commanded: so thei left of speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiáh abode still in ^g court of the

IN the ninth yere of Zedekiáh King of Iudah in ^g tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalém, and thei besetged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiáh in the fourth moneth, the ninth ^{daie} of the moneth, the citie was broken ^a vp.

^a The gates & walles were bre-
ken downe.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babél came in, and sate in the middle gate, ^{euen} Neregál, Sharézer, Samgar-nebo, Sarféchím, Rab-saris, Neiegál, Sharézer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh sawe them, and all the men of warre, then thei fled, & went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, & by the ^g gate betwene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertoke Zedekiáh in the de-him, thei broght him to Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel vnto ^c Ribláh in the land of Hamáth, where he gaue iudgemēt

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes also the King of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudáh.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bounde him in chames, to carye him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fyre, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalém.

9 Then Nebuzar-adán the ^g chief steward caryed away captiue into Babel the rem-tie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that re-

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that daie, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest.

18 For I wil surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shalbe for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles,

CHAP. XL.

1 Ieremiáh hath licence to go whether he wil. ^a He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliáh.

1 THe worde which came to Ieremiáh from the Lord after that Nebuzaradan the chief steward had let him go fro Ramáth, when he had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were caryed awaie captiue of Ierusalém and Iudáh, which were caryed awaie captiue vnto Babél.

a From this se code vers vnto chap 42, 7 it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: & there this storie be- ginneth againe, & this visio is declared what it was. b God moued this insidele to speake this, to declare the great blindness and obdurance of the Iewes, which coulde not see that which their heathen man coufessed. c Or, as thy commandment.

2 And the chief steward toke Ieremiáh, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, & done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now beholde, I lose thee this daie from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babél, come, and I wil loke wel vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babél, tary stil: beholde, all the land is before thee: whether it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thether go.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, whome the King of Babél hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudáh, and dwell with him among the people, or go wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to go. So the chief steward gaue him vitayles and a rewarde, and let him go.

6 Then went Ieremiáh vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, to Mizpáh, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaynes of the hoste, which were in the fields, euen thei and their men heard, that the King of Babél had made Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caryed away captiue to Babél,

Then they came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, euen Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and Iohanán, and Ionathán the sonnes of Karéah, and Seraiáh the sonne of Tanehuméth, and the sonnes of Ephái, the Netophathite, and Iezaniáh the sonne of Maachathí, thei and their men.

And Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the King of Babél, and it shalbe wel with you.

10 As for me, beholde, I wil dwell at Mizpáh to serue the Caldeans, which wil come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer frutes, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, & dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moáb, and among the Ammonites, and in Edóm, and that were in all the countreis, heard that the King of Babél had left a remnant of Iudáh, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where thei were driuen, and came to the land of Iudáh to Gedaliáh vnto Mizpáh, and gathered wine and sommer frutes, very muche.

13 Moreouer Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh,

14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh to slay thee? But Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám beleued them not.

15 Then Iohanán the sonne of Karéah spake to Gedaliáh in Mizpáh secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I wil slay Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and no man shal knowe it. Wherefore shulde he kyl thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shulde be scattered, and the remnant in Iudáh perishe?

16 But Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám said vnto Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, Thou shalt not do this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmaél.

CHAP. XLI.

Ishmaél killeth Gedaliáh guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanán followeth after Ishmaél.

sonne of Elishamá of the sede royal, and the princes of the ^b King, & ten men with him, vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám to Mizpáh, and there thei did ^c eat bread together in Mizpáh.

2 Then arose Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh with these ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán with the sword, and slew him, whome the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmaél also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliáh at Mizpáh, & all the Caldeans that were founde there, & the men of warre.

4 Now the seconde daie that he had slaine Gedaliáh, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, fró Shilóh, & from Samaria, euen foure scoremen, hauing their bearded shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with ^d offerings and incense in their hands to offre in the House of the Lord.

7 And when thei came into the middes of the citie, Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh slewe the, and cast them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were founde among them, that said vnto Ishmaél, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he staied, and slewe them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmaél had cast the dead bodies of the men (whome he had slaine because of Gedaliáh) is it, which Asá the King had ^f made because of Balthá King of Israël, and Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh filled it with them that were slaine.

13 Now when all the people whome Ishmaél caryed away captiue, sawe Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmaél had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanán the sonne of Karéah.

15 But Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, escaped from Iohanán with eight men, and went to the ^h Ammonites.

16 The toke Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him all the remnant of the people, whome Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, (after that he had slaine Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, & the eunuches, whome he had broght againe from Gibeón:

8 Then called he Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the moste.

9 And said vnto the, Thus saith the Lord God of Israël, vnto whome ye sent me to present your prayers before him.

10 If ye wil dwell in this land, then I wil buyld you, and not destroye you, and I wil plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

d Read Chap. 18.8.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whome ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand,

12 And I wil grant you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shal cause you to dwell in your owne land.

e Because all Kings hearts and waies are in his hands, he can turne them & dispose them as it pleaseth him, and therefore they neede not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prou. 21.1.

13 But if ye say, We wil not dwell in this land, nether heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we wil go into the land of Egypt, where we shal see no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hungre of bread, and there wil we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudáh: thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, If ye set your faces to entre into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

16 Then the sworde that ye feared, shal take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for y^e which ye care, shal there haue vpon you in Egypt, & there shal ye dye.

17 And all the men that set their faces to entre into Egypt to dwell there, shal dye by the sworde, by the famine & by y^e pestilence, & none of them shal remaine nor escape fro the plague, that I wil bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes y^e God of Israël, As mine angre and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shal my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shal entre into Egypt, & ye shal be a detestation, & an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproche, and ye shal see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudáh, the Lord hath said concerning you, Go not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

g Read Chap. 26.6 & 24.22. shewing that this shoulde come vpon them for their iniquities & stubbornnes.

20 Surely ye haue dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto y^e Lord our God and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shal say, and we wil do it.

h For you were fully minded to go into Egypt, wharsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor anie thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, knowe certainly that ye shal dye by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to go and dwell.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanán carryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Ieremiáh. Ieremiáh prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

Now whē Ieremiáh had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which y^e Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes,

23 Then spake Azariáh the sonne of Hosai, and Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the proude men, saying vnto Ieremiáh, Thou speakest fallacy: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there, a Who was also called Iezaniáh, Chap. 42.1.

b This decreth that pride is the cause of rebellion, & contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrite of the wicked is discovered, he bragge forthe into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries.

d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to fame that they wolde obey God and embrace his worde, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though in deed they be moste farre from all obedience.

e Thus the wicked do not onely commende, & hurt the messengers of God, but slander, and speake wickedly of all the that support or fauour the godlie.

25 So Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudáh.

26 But Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste toke all y^e remnant of Iudáh, that were returned from all nacions, whether they had benedried, to dwell in the land of Iudáh:

27 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euerie persone, that Nebuzar-adán the chief steward had left with Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, and Ieremiáh the Prophet, & Barúch the sonne of Neriáh.

28 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes.

29 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh in Tahpanhes, saying,

30 Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the bricke kil, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudáh,

31 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Beholde, I wil send and bring Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babel my seruant, and wil set his throne vpon these stones y^e I haue hid, and he shal spreade his pauillion ouer the.

32 And when he shal come, he shal smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, & such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sworde, to the sworde.

- 12 And I wil kindle a fyre in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shal burne them and carye them awaie captiues, and he shal araye him self with the land of Egypt, as a shepheard putteth on his garment, and shal departe from thence in peace.

- 4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruantes the Prophetes rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.
- 5 But thei wolde not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.
- 6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine angre was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém, and thei are desolate, & wasted, as appeareth this daye.
- 7 Therefore now thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Wherefore commit ye this great euil against your soules, to cut of from you man and woman, childe & suckeling out of Iudáh, and leaue you none to remaine?
- 8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whether ye be goneto dwell: y ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproche among all nations of the earth.
- 9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the Kings of Iudáh and the wickednes of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which thei haue committed in the land of Iudáh and in y stretes of Ierusalém?
- 10 Thei are not humbled vnto this daie,

- neither haue thei feared nor walked in my Lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.
- 11 Therefore thus saith y Lord of hostes y God of Israël, Beholde, I wil set my face against you to euil & to destroy all Iudáh,
- 12 And I wil take the remnant of Iudáh, that haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and thei shal all be consumed & fall in the land of Egypt: they shal be consumed by the sworde & by y famine: thei shal dye from the least vnto the moste, by the sworde, & by the famine, & thei shal be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche.
- 13 For I wil visit them that dwell in the lād of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalém, by y sworde, by the famine, & by the pestilence,
- 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudáh, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shal escape or remaine, that thei shuld returne into the lād of Iudáh to the which thei haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shal returne, but as suche as shal escape.
- 15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathró, answered Ieremiáh, saying,
- 16 The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we wil not heare it of thee,
- 17 But we wil do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Quene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, as we haue done, bothe we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the citie of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém: for then had we plenty of vitales and were wel and felt none euil.
- 18 But since we left of to burne incense to the Quene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, we haue had scarcenes of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sworde and by the famine.
- 19 And when we burnt incense to the Quene of heauen & powred out drinke offrings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without our housbandes?
- 20 Then said Ieremiáh vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all y people w had giue him y answer, saying,
- 21 Did not y Lord remeber the incense, that ye burnt in y cities of Iudáh, & in the stretes of Ierusalém, bothe you, & your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of y lād, & hathe he not considered it?

24 Moreover Jeremiáh said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudáh that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue bothe spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We wil performe our vowes the we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke-offerings to her: ye wil performe your vowes and do the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudáh that dwell in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudáh, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Beholde, I wil wathe ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudáh that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sworde, and by the famine, vntil they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a smale nombre that escape the sworde, shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudáh: and all the remnant of Iudáh that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall knowe whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that ye maie knowe that my wordes shall surely stand against you for euil.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue Pharaoh Hophrá King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudáh into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel his enemy, who also soght his life.

¶ Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Beholde, that which I haue buylt, wil I destroy, & that which I haue planted, wil I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

5 And sekest thou great things for thy selfe: seke them not: for beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life wil I giue thee for a pray in all places, whether thou goest.

He prophesieth the destruction of Egypt. The deliverance is promised to Israel.

¶ The wordes of the Lord, which came to Jeremiáh the Prophet against the Gentiles,

¶ As against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh.

¶ Make readie buckeler and shield, and go fourth to battel.

¶ Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, & stand vp with your fallers, fourbush the speares, and put on the brigandines.

¶ Wherefore haue I sene them afraide, & driuen backe: for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, and loke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

¶ The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumbe, and fall toward the North by the riuer Perath.

¶ Who is this, that cometh vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

¶ Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he saith, I wil go vp, & wil couer the earth: I wil destroye the citie with them that dwell therein.

¶ Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charrets, and let the valiant men come forth, & the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle & bend the bowe.

¶ For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, & a day of vengeance, that he may aduenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shall be satiat, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath a sacrifice in the North

p He sheweth the means whereby they should be destroyed: to assure them of the certainty of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie til they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10 de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth, that five yere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzár the younger, hauing overcome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, & slew the King, & brought these Jewes, and other into Babylon.

CHAP. XLIX.

ⁱ The words of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 ⁱ Damascus, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 & Elam

^a They were separated from the Moabites by the river Arnon, & after that the ten tribes were carryed away into captiuitie, they invaded ^ŷ country of Gad ⁱ Vnto the children of ^a Ammón thus saith the Lord, Hathe Israël no sonnes: for hathe none heire: Why then hathe their ^b King possessed Gad? and his people dwell in ^c his cities?

^b To wit, of ^ŷ Ammonites

2 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil cause a noyse of warre to be heard in ^d Rabbáh of the Ammonites, and it shalbe a desolate heape, & her daughters shalbe burnt with fyre: then shal Israël possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

^c Meaning, of the Israelites

3 Howle, ^o Heshbón, for Ai is wasted: crye ye daughters of Rabbáh: girde you with sackcloth: mourne & runne to & fro by ^ŷ hedges: for their King shal go into captiuitie, & his Priests, and his princes likewise.

^d Which was one of ^ŷ chief cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbón and Ai: there was also a citie called Heshbón among ^ŷ Moabites

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the ^e valles? thy valley floweth away, ^o rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shal come vnto me?

^e In thy plentiful countrey

5 Beholde, I wil bring ^f a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scarred euerie man ^ŷ right forthe, & none shal gather him that fleeth.

^f That is, without looking backe and as euerie one can finde away to escape

6 And, ^h afterward I wil bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammón.

7 [†] To Edóm thus saith the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in ⁱ Temán? is counsell perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished?

ⁱ Which was a citie of Edom called by the name of Iemá Eliphaz ionne who came of Esáu

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedán (^k they are turned backe; and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esáu vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

^k The enemies that shal dissuade as thogh they fled away, shal turne backe, & invade your land, and possesse it

9 If the ^l grape gatherers come to thee, wolde they not leaue some grapes? if theues come by night, they wil destroye til they haue ynough.

^l Meaning that God wolde utterly destroy them, and not spare one, though the grape gatherers leaue some grapes, & theues seke but til they haue ynough, Obad.

10 For I haue discovered Esáu: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shal not be able to hide him self: his sede is wasted, and his brethré and his neighbours, and there shalbe none to say,

11 Leaue thy ^m fatherles children, & I wil preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

^m The destruction shalbe so great, that there shalbe none left to take care ouer ^ŷ widowes, & fatherles

12 For thus saith the Lord, ⁿ Beholde, thei whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunkē, and art thou he that shal escape fre? thou shalt not go fre, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

ⁿ I haue not spared mine owne people, & how shulde I pittie thee?

13 For I haue swoine by my self, saith the Lord, that ^o Bozrah shalbe waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shalbe perpetual desolations.

^o Which was a chief citie of Edóm.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, & an enibassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against ^p her, and rise vp to the battel.

^p That is, Bozrah

15 For lo, I wil make thee but smale among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ^q feare, and the pride of thine heart hathe deceued thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and kepest the height of the hill: thogh thou shuldest make thy nest as hie as the egle, I wil bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

^q Ois, idola

17 [†] Also Edóm shalbe desolate: euerie one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, & shal hiss at all the plagues thereof,

18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomoráh, and the places thereof nere about, saith the Lord: no man shal dwell there, nether shal the sonnes of men remaine in it.

^r To wit, Nebuchad-nezzár after he hathe ouercome Iudáh, & is ment by the swelling of Iordén, shal come against mount Seir & Edóm.

19 Beholde, ^r he shal come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iordén vnto the strong dwelling places: for I wil make Israhel to rest, euē I wil make ^s him to haste away from her, & who is a chosē mā that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? & who wil appoint me ^ŷ time? & who is the ^t shephér that wil stand before me?

^r That is, the Israelites, whom the Edomites kept as prisoners to haste away from thence 20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hathe deuised against Edóm, & his purpose ^ŷ he hathe conceiued against ^ŷ in Minm. ii.

^t The captain and gouernour of the army, meaning, Nebuchad-nezzár.

^a They shal not be able to resist his petie captaines. ^u To wit, the enemye.

²¹ The earth is moued at the noyce of their fall: the crye of their voyce is heard in the red Sea.

²² Beholde, he shal come vp, and flie as the egle, ² and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shal the heart of the strôg men of Edóm be as the heart of a woman in trauail.

²³ ¶ Vnto ^y Damascus ^{he} saith, Hamáth is confounded and Arpad, for thei haue heard euil tidings, and they are faint hearted ^{as} one on the feareful sea that can not rest.

²⁴ Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her self to flight ² and feare hathe seased her: anguish & sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauail.

²⁵ How is the glorious ^a citie not reserued, the citie?

²⁶ Therefore her yong mé shal fall in her stretes, and all her men of warre shalbe cut of in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.

²⁷ And I wil kinde a fyre in the walle of Damascus, which shal consume the palaces of ^b Ben-hadad.

²⁸ ¶ Vnto ^c Kedár, and to the kingdomes of Hazór, which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél shal smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, ^e go vp vnto Kedár, and destroye the men of the East.

²⁹ Their tentes and their flockes shal they take away: yea, they shal take to the selues their ^d curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels & they shal crye vnto them, Feare is on euerie side.

³⁰ Flee, get you farre off ^e thei haue consulted to dwell ^o ye inhabitants of Hazór, saith ^y Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél hathe taken counsell against you, and hathe deuised a purpose against you.

³¹ ¶ Arise, ^e get you vp vnto the welthie nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue nether gates nor barres, ^{but} dwell alone.

³² And their camels shalbe a boutie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I wil scatter the into all windes, and to the vmoost corners, and I wil bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

³³ And Hazór shalbe a dwelling for dragons, ^e desolation for euer: there shal no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

³⁴ ¶ The wordes of the Lord that came to Jeremiáh the Prophet, concerning ² Elám, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudáh, saying, ³⁵ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil breake the ^b bowe of Elám, ^{euen} the chief of their strength.

³⁶ And vpon Elám I wil bring the foure winds frô the foure quarters of heauen, & wil scatte the towardes all these windes, and there shalbe no nation, whether the fugitiues of Elám shal not come.

³⁷ For I wil cause Elám to be afraied before their enemies, and before them that seke their liues, and wil bring vpon them a plague, ^{euen} the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I wil send the sworde after them til I haue consumed them.

³⁸ And I wil set my ¹ throne in Elám, and I wil destroye ^{bothe} the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but ^k in the latter dayes I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elám, saith the Lord.

CHAP. I.

^{He} prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

^The worde that the Lord spake, concerning Babél, ^e concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministerie of Jeremiáh the Prophet.

² For out of the North there ^c cometh vp a nation against her, which shal make her land waste, and none shal dwell therein: they shal flee, and departe, bothe man and beast.

⁴ In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israël shal ^d come, they, and the children of Iudáh together, going, and ^e weeping shal they go, and seke the Lord their God.

⁵ They shal aske the waye to Ziôn, with their faces thetherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetual couenant that shal not be forgotten.

⁶ ¶ My people hathe bene ^{as} loit shepe: their shepherdes haue caused them to go astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from ² mountaine to hil, ^e forgotté their resting place.

⁷ All that found them, haue deuoured the, and their enemies said, We offend not because they haue sinned against the Lord, ^h the habitation of iustice, ^{euen} the Lord the hope of their fathers.

⁸ ¶ Flee from the middes of Babél, and departe out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the he goates ^k before the flocke.

⁹ For lo, I wil raise, and cause to come vp against Babél a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrye, and thei shal set them selues in aray against her, whereby she shalbe taken: their arrows shalbe as of a strong man, which is expert for none shal returne in vaine.

¹ I wil place Nebuchad-nezzár there, and in these prophesies Jeremiáh speaketh of those countreies, which shoulde be subdued vnder the first of those foure monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.

^k This may be referred to the empire of the Persians, and Medes after ^y Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap 48, 47.

^u Abr. had.

^a After that God hathe vsed the Babylonians seruaice to punish other nations, he sheweth that their turne shal come to be punished. ^b These were two of their chief idoles.

^c To wit, the Medes, and the Persians.

^d When Cyrus shal take Babél ^e Read Chap. 33, 9.

^f Their gouernours & ministers by their examples haue prouoked them to idolatrie.

^g They haue committed idolatrie in euerie place.

10 And Caldea shalbe a spoile: all that spoile her, ¹ shalbe satisfied, saith the Lord.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, & because ye are grown fat, as the calves in the stable, & neyed like strong horses,

^m For ioye of the victorie, y^e had against my people.

12 Therefore your mothers shalbe sore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: beholde, the vttermoſt of the nations shalbe a desert, a drye land, & a wildeynes.

^o He ſpeaketh to the enemies the Medes and Perſians
^p Though the Lord called y^e Babylonians his ſeruants, and their worke his worke in puniſhing his people, yet becauſe they did it not to gloriſie God, but for their owne malice, & to profite them ſelues, it is here called ſinne.

14 Put your ſelues in aray againſt Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, shoote at her, ſpare no arrowes: for ſhe hath ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 Crye againſt her round about: ſhe hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallē, & her walles are deſtroyed: for it is y^e vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as ſhe hath done, do vnto her.

16 Deſtroye the ſower from Babel, and him that handleth the ſiech in the time of harueſt: becauſe of the ſworde of the oppreſſour they ſhal turne euerie one to his people, and they ſhal flee euerie one to his owne land.

17 Iſraél ſhall be ſcattered ſhepe: the Lyons haue diſperſed them: firſt the King of Aſſhur hath deuoured him, & laſt this Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel hath broke his bones.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil viſite the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue viſited the King of Aſſhur.

19 And I wil bring Iſraél againe to his habitation: he ſhal fede on Carmél and Baſhán, and his ſoule ſhalbe ſatisfied vpon the mount Ephraím and Gileád.

20 In thoſe dayes, and at that time, ſaith the Lord, the iniquitie of Iſraél ſhalbe ſoght for, and there ſhal be none: and the finnes of Iudáh, & they ſhal not be found: for I wil be merciful vnto them, whome I reſerue.

21 Go vp againſt the land of the rebelles, euen againſt it, and againſt the inhabitants of Pekód: deſtroye, and lay it waſte after them, ſaith the Lord, and do according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A crye of battell ſhall be in the land, & of great deſtruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole worlde deſtroyed, and broken! how is Babel become deſolate among the nations!

1 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vaine of idolaters.
49 Jeremiah gaueh his booke to Seraiah.

Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying winde,

2 And wil send vnto Babel fanners that shal fanne her, and shal emptie her land:
for in y^e day of trouble thei shal be against her on euerie side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himself vp in his brigandine, wil I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroye all her hoste.

4 Thus the flaine shal fall in the lād of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streres.

5 For Israel hath bene no widow, nor Iudáh from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their lād was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 Flee out of the middes of Babel, & de-liuer euerie mā his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he wil rendre vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage.

* Babel is suddely fallen, & destroyed: how-le for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We wolde haue cured Babel, but she wil de not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euerie one into his owne countreie: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, & is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought forth the our righteousnes: come and let vs declare in Zión the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather y^e shil-des: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroye it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watche strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath bothe deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come,
euen the end of thy couetousnes.

waters in the heauen, and he caueth the cloudes to ascend fro the ends of y^e earth:

them: for he is the maker of all things,
and Israel is the rod of his inheritance:
the Lord of hostes is his Name.
